Two Men Charged In Recent Thefts Of Batteries

A Rochester man and former resident of that city who has been living in Levelland recently, have been named in complaints charging theft over $50 in connection with thefts of automobile and tractor batteries in Haskell County last week.

Sheriff Bill Pennington said the two men taken in custody during the weekend and named in the complaints are George Loftis, 23, of Rochester and Richard Goble, 19, Levelland. The men were arrested by Stamford officers on information furnished by the sheriff's department.

The wave of thefts occurred Tuesday night of last week, when batteries were taken from tractors and irrigation water pumps in the O'Brien and Rule areas. Also stolen were two heavy duty batteries taken from Prec. maintainers, while the batteries on the two maintainers owned by Prec. No. 4 were damaged and practically ruined. Abilene engineer will provide information required in an application for water rights, city ficials said. Data assembled in the survey will indicate the ap-proximate watershed and the amount of water which could be impounded. If the proposal is deemed feasible on the basis of information developed in the survey, a more detailed study will likely follow to determine cost of the project, city officials said.

Yeatts was present at the special meeting of the Council. He has done considerable engineering work for the City of Haskell. The Abilene man was city engineer on the sewer disposal plant built several years ago, and previously supervised the paving project here in 1951-52.

In reviewing the tentative pro ject being considered by the C. of C. group and the Council, Yeatts estimated that location and description of the proposed lake site would create a reservoir of some 7,000 or 7500 acre feet. He made it clear, however, that this was purely an estimate. The reservoir would have a watershed America needs trained reserves of around 65 square miles, as this year more than at any compared to the approximately 300 square miles in the watershed of the 60,000 acre feet reservoir built by Stamford, he said.

Soil Bank Revisions Mr. Greene, 41, died Wednesday night, June 27, at Harris Hospital in Fort Worth. To Hike Payments

Haskell County's drouth-plagued cotton farmers will be able to qualify for several thousand doltars in additional revenue as the result of important revisions in the emergency provisions of the recently-enacted Soil Bank program made by ASC officials at a meeting here Tuesday.

Attending the meeting, which had been arranged by Lloyd Feemster, County ASC secretary, were G. C. Carothers, Jr., State Administrator of ASC, Ward Tay-lor, ASC Field Manager of Dis-trict 3, Feemster, and County

Committeemen. Most important change affects cotton farmers, who have been hardest hit by the drouth.

Revised provisions will assure every cotton producer a minimum payment of 75 per cent per pound on land placed in the Acreage Reserve. This applies to cotton planted but destroyed by weather or plowed up. Until Tuesday's revision ayment for cotton planted but destroyed by weather could run as low as $6 per acre on an appraisal basis. Under the revised regulation, for example, minimum payment for the cotton grower whose normal yield is 100 pounds per acre would be $11.25 per acre on land placed in the acreage reserve if the planted crop is destroyed by drouth, hail, or plowed up. This would mean an increase of $5.25

More Time Given For Qualifying In Farm Program

The Agriculture Department at Washington gave farmers more time to remove crops from land in order to qualify for payments under the soil bank acreage reserve program

The department wired all state committees directing them to fix no deadline earlier than July 15 for removing crops. Previously the state committees had been empowered to fix a deadline as early as June 30.

State committees still may fix deadlines later than July 15, but to reduce the acreage below the farm allotment.

Besides permitting farmers to incorporate into the soil, by plowing or disking an acreage of acreage of cotton within the allotment, the 1956 Acreage Reserve contains several other special provisions which enable farmers to take part in the program this year.

Thus, a farmer may earn a payment for underplanting cotton if he can certify that he underplanted either in anticipation of complying with the program or because of adverse weather con-ditions and if he designates an equivalent acreage in the Acreage Reserve; or the farmer may comply with his farm allotment for cotton and earn a payment if he does not harvest an acreage of the crop because of de-struction by natural causes. Land placed in the Acreage Reserve must not be cropped, cut for hay, or grazed during 1956. Noxious weeds must also be controlled. Payments on cotton acreage dren of the Haskell couple.

designated for participation in the Acreage Reserve will be based on 15 cents per pound on either the normal or appraised yielddepending on how the land quali-fies under the program, but not less than $6 per acre for destruct-ion due to natural causes or for plowing or cutting the cotton

In order to participate in the Acreage Reserve of the Soil Bank, a farmer must generally comply with all allotments es-tablished for his farm.

Wheat Vote Will Decide Vital Questions

How wheat farmers vote in the July 20 referendum on wheat marketing quotas will actually af-fect only two parts of the 1957 wheat program, according to R. G. Shrauner, chairman of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. Whether or not quotas are approved, acreage allotments will remain in effect for the crop, the chairman declared.

The two points at issue in the vote are (1) whether marketing quotas shall be in effect, with penalties on "excess" wheat from farms (with more than 15 acres of wheat harvested as grain) not in compliance with the acreage allotment; and (2) the level of allotment; available to those ones eligible to vote in the refer-penalties for excess production will be in effect, and price support on the crop will be avail-able at a level between 75 and 90 percent of parity to those who comply with the farm wheat al-

If more than one-third of the voters disapprove the quotas, there will be no marketing quotas and no penalties for excess production, and the available price support will drop to 50 per cent of parity, as provided by law.
Whether or not quotas are in effect, acreage allotments will remain in effect for the 1957 wheat crop. Chairman Shrauner explained acreage allotments operate only in commercial wheat States, including Texas. Since the quotas affect only those growers in the commercial wheat states including the commercial wheat states including the commercial wheat states including the commercial wheat states and commercial wheat states are commercial wheat states are commercial wheat states and commercial wheat states are commercial wh affect only those growers in the commercial area who will have letter written to President Dwight D. Eisenhower by Mrs. J. R. Boggus of Eastland, who is a former nurse of Jimmy's in his infancy, after she had read about the President being a patient in Walter Reed Army Hospital. In a letter she asked that Mr. Eisenhower send a word of cheer to Jimmy, who had had polio and had recently undergone surgery at the hospital in an effort to correct damages to his leg.

Things started happening fast after that. President Eisenhower sent an aide. Capt. Dale J. Crit-tenberger, to Jimmy's room with greeting from him personally. Mrs. Boggus received a letter this week from Capt. Crittenberger describing the trip. It follows:

"I have been directed to reply "During the President's stay at

Walter Reed. I have had the occasion to go to the hospital from time to time. Over this past week end I had the opportunity to visit Jimmy in Ward 17 and chat with him a few minutes. During this visit I expressed the President's interest in Jimmy's case and conveyed his best wishes. As the operation on Jimmy's left leg had already been performed and the leg was in a cast, I took the liberty of writing a small mes-sage from the President on the plaster. This seemed to please

Farm Accidents Take Heavy Toll

Accidents are never cheap. Farm accidents in the U. S. every year claim the lives of about 14,000 farm people; injure more than a million and cause economic losses of $1,500,000. Last year points out W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer and secretary of the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, more farm workers died by accident than workers of any other major in-

are the reason why President Eisenhower has proclaimed the week of July 22-28 as National Farm Safety Week and is re-questing all persons and organi-zations interested in the welfare of farm people to join in a campaign to reduce all farm acci-

The staggering losses, he adds,

The President said that in nearly every accident human failure is associated with the tragic loss of life and that experience in industry has proved accident prevention measures always pay. Engineer Ulich points out that specific studies in other states show that as high as 86 per cent of all farm machine accidents involve tractors and tractor equip-ment. This might be a mighty good place to start a safety program on most farms, says Ulich.
