

Uncle Ben from Benjamin says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where this scientist in the Pentagon building says if them space gadgets can land men on the moon, it'll be easy to explore Mars from there. He has the opinion that we'll find some sort of folks living on Mars.

Now I ain't got no objection to a feller having a opinion, because you newspaper folks has 'em all the time whether you got any facts on hand or not. But if them science fellers think folks is living on Mars they ought to keep quiet about it. They ought to turn their attention to inventing beter striking matches and easier riding cultivators and let Mars alone.

We can't even run the world we got, let alone taking on an other one. Right now half the world we got is starving to death and luxury is about to git the best of the other half. And we don't git through with one war 'till we start stockpiling for the next one.

And fer all we know, the folks on Mars ain't no better off than us, and about the second or third trip we make up there, after we git communications established, the Government on Mars will be trying to git a loan from us. And after we finish financing the world we got, I don't think we could stand another one. Of course, there's a chanct that the folks on Mars is in gooder shape than we are, and in that case we might swing a loan from them. But that's mighty risky and I think we'd be playing the percentages if we'd let Mars alone.

We had a exciting session up at the country store Saturday night. Ed Doolittle's grandpaw is visiting him and he was the center of attraction. He's 94 year old and can shake out more philosophy than a long-haired, wet dog can shake out water. Grandpaw says that with all these wonder drugs and vitamin pills, this generation coming on now ain't got no excuse fer ever dying. He allowed as how if he'd had them things when he was coming along he'd live to be older than Methuselar.

Grandpaw told the fellers that he'd been going to church regular fer 80 year and not once had a preacher ever writ him a letter asking about his immortal soul without adding a postscript requesting he git his pledge paid up. But he's a mighty religious feller, said he tried to live so's the preacher that preached his funeral wouldn't have to ask the Lord's forgiveness fer lying. That's a pritty good creed, Mister Editor, and I think I'd trust Grandpaw with my pocketbook.

Your truly,
Uncle Ben

 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Texas — If you can't beat it, don't knock it. That sentiment, in varying forms, is being often expressed by legislators struggling to write tax bills to fill the yawning holes in the state's money supply.

People who come before the Legislature to oppose a money-raising proposal usually get a tart invitation to come up with a better one.

Opponents of a tobacco tax plan got short shrift before the House Committee. If you come criticizing, don't you think you should come up with some solution to the tax problem?" asked Rep. H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock.

Similarly, anyone who comes to push a money-spending bill is challenged to produce a money-making bill to match it.

Rep. Don Gladden of Fort Worth drew cheers from fellow House members when he criticized the approach of a teachers' letter writing campaign. Gladden said the teachers had been instructed to ask for higher pay but make no statement on what taxes they would favor.

ROCKY ROAD — Overall, the tax picture is still "all shook up."

Rep. Jamie Clements' bill to remove the tax exemption on cigarettes sold on military bases was sent by the House Taxation Committee to Atty. Gen. Will Wilson. Question to Wilson is whether the state can collect a tax from a federal agency.

A proposed liquor tax hike suddenly gained redoubled potency when the sponsor, Rep. Pete LaValle tacked on an amendment that would legalize liquor-by-the-drink sales. Gov. Daniel, who had urged the original bill, promptly protested. Bill was sent to subcommittee for study.

House Appropriations Committee apparently is taking note of the Tax Committee's rock road. It is reportedly doing some painful paring of spending requests.

WIDE OPEN FIELD — Meanwhile, many more "little tax" ideas are swirling about. Most apparently are aimed at avoiding a bitter deadlock over a new "big tax."

Rep. Rufus Kilpatrick of Beaumont introduced a bill to tax gross receipts of scrap metal sales, and Rep. W. T. Oliver of Port Neches, a five per cent gross receipts tax on advertising sold by newspapers, radio and TV stations and billboards. Oliver also is said to be considering taxes on phonograph records and parking lots.

Other possibilities being discussed are (1) a 1.5 per cent general sales tax, exempting food, feed and fertilizer, by Rep. Frates Seeligson of San Antonio (2) an across-the-board increase in the omnibus tax system which includes almost all present levies, (3) a registration fee for airplanes, similar to auto licensing.

Rep. Homer Koliba of Columbus said he would prefer to raise money through legalized liquor by-the-drink and horse racing heavily taxed, than by a general sales tax.

Great Plains Program Gains Interest in Area

Interest in the Great Plains Conservation Program continues to gain momentum in the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District, Bill Sladek reported. As of March 2-25 applications had been received by technicians in the W-B district. Sladek said some of these applications were low priority and had to be put on the inactive list.

Sydney Alexander has begun carrying out some of the practices on his Great Plains Contract. During the 1959 program year Alexander plans to do the following: Construct seven farm ponds, construct two diversion terraces, control brush on 1362 acres by chaining and by spraying, and start construction on one waterway. For these practices Alexander will draw cost share assistance.

In addition to the above listed practices, Alexander will carry out several other practices. Some of these are: contour farming, carry out a conservation cropping system, practice deferred grazing and proper range management and several others. Alexander's contract will run through the 1962 program year.

Other contracts that are being processed and are almost complete include Jack Idol of Benjamin; Knight Key of Munday; and Elmo Todd of Truscott.

The following practices are approved for Knox County with the following rates for various practices:

1. Initial establishment of a permanent cover—80%.
  2. Establishing shelterbelts or farmstead windbreaks—80%.
  3. Establishing Waterways—80%.
  4. Artificial reseeding of native rangeland—80%.
  5. Construction of terraces and Diversion terraces—70%.
  6. Chiseling or pitting on rangeland—50%.
  7. Erosion Control Structures—50%.
  8. Reorganizing irrigation systems—50%.
  9. Land Leveling—50%.
  10. Constructing farm ponds—50%.
  11. Constructing permanent fences as a means of protecting vegetative cover—50%.
  12. Controlling competitive shrubs to permit growth of desirable vegetative cover on range land and pasture land—50%.
- Additional information can be obtained from the technicians of the local Soil Conservation Service office.

friendly House subcommittee. A spokesman for "drys" irritated committee members from beer drinking areas by implying use of beer "separated the saved from the unsaved."

Senate Transportation Committee approved the ban of Sunday auto sales, after dealers presented a solid front of support. Only opponents were representatives of Seventh Day Adventists, who observe Saturday as their day of worship.

COLLEGE EXPANSION okayed — Elevation of two junior colleges—Arlington State and John Tarleton—to full four-year status has been approved by the House.

Economy advocates protested that "we have 16 fully supported state four-year colleges now—more than any other state."

But supporters replied that no additional appropriations would be needed immediately.

"LITTLE HOOVER" BILL — Creation of a state commission to conduct an efficiency study—similar to the Hoover Commission for federal government—has gained House approval.

Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria, sponsor, pointed out that the Hoover Commission resulted in a seven billion dollar savings in its first year.

Opponents protested the Cory commission would be just another money-spending state agency. Cory contended the $100,000 it would cost would be regained many times.

Commission would be made up of one senator, one representative and ten persons from private life.

HIGH VOLTAGE ISSUE — House State Affairs Committee will take on a supercharged issue March 16—the long struggle between private utilities and REA co-ops.

REAs are seeking a law that would assure their being able to continue to operate in a one rural area after it is annexed by a city. Under the measure sponsored by Rep. Alonzo Jamison of Denton, the co-ops could serve old customers and recruit new ones for a period of 10 years. After this, a municipal franchise would be required.

Private power companies, offering stiff opposition, say the non-tax-paying co-ops want to spread through the cities, socialize the power industry. Co-ops retort they are the ones being swallowed up—by spreading cities.

RE-REORGANIZATION ASKED — A bill has been introduced to reorganize the State Insurance Department, which was reorganized by the Legislature two years ago.

Rep. George Cook's measure would set up a part-time board of nine members familiar with the insurance field.

Cook indicated the proposal was in answer to complaints that the present three-member board (1) does not represent industry and (2) serves full-time, contrary to "legislative intent."

KEEPING THE SABBATH — Sunday beer buying seems likely to continue, but not Sunday auto buying.

A bill to ban beer sales on Sunday and after 10 p. m. on weekdays has been sent to an unfriendly House subcommittee. A spokesman for "drys" irritated committee members from beer drinking areas by implying use of beer "separated the saved from the unsaved."

Local Firms Offer Aid In Soil Tests

Dr. Firman E. Bear, one of the nation's leading agricultural scientists, points out that a soil test is one of the most important factors in arriving at a decision as to what fertilizer to use. In his recent book, "The Soil That Feeds You," he emphasizes the fact that soil tests enable you to select the fertilizer most economical and beneficial for your soil and crops. By letting you know which nutrients are most abundant in your soil or which are in shortest supply, you can make a wise economical selection of right fertilizer ratio and grade.

Dr. Bear also reminds us that to be reliable, the soil tests must be made on carefully taken soil samples. Each sample submitted for testing should be a mixture of about ten samples taken at different spots in the soil area. Each part of your farm where the color of the soil differs or where there is a change in slope or drainage is a different soil area. Each field or area where different liming, fertilizer or cropping practices have been followed should be sampled separately.

Deadline Nears On Cotton Program

The Agriculture Department reminded cotton farmers today that they have only until March 16 to decide whether they want to overplant 1959 cotton allotments.

A farmer choosing to overplant and accept a lower support price must notify his County Agricultural Stabilization Committee in writing by March 16. Otherwise he will be required to stay within his allotment. This year's cotton program offers growers a choice between two plans.

Under the first, growers must comply with planting allotments assigned them. Such growers will be eligible for price supports at 80 per cent of parity, which averages 30.40 cents a pound for the base grade.

Under the second choice, growers may overplant allotments by 40 per cent. Those taking this choice will be eligible for supports at 65 per cent of parity or a base average of 24.70 cents.
