Stovall's Report

Reverend Stovall returned home Monday of this week after concluding two excellent revival meetings. The last one, held at Five Mile, near Lamesa, was equally as fine as the first states Brother Stovall.

Another interesting feature of these meetings, says the preacher was the good things given him to eat. The people of Lamesa and the country thereabout have done an unusual amount of canning this year and such foods as were being canned are those so enjoyed by the preacher. During his sojourn at Five Mile the people of Lamesa canned for the Red Cross, 5999 cans of food. Brother Stovall also states that Lamesa will give another week to canning for the Red Cross which will no doubt total them 10,000 cans.

It is interesting to know that he also met with several families who were former residents of Knox City and all of whom send their regards to the people here, especially the "old timers".

Brother Stovall states that the regular services will be held at the Baptist church Sunday and that he hopes to meet all his members there.

Mrs. C. C. Hoge, chairman of the Junior Red Cross of the Knox county chapter, received a communication from Mrs. Stella M. Christie, chapter service of the Midwest Branch office in Saint Louis Missouri, stating that the booklet of Texas made by pupils of Miss Mary Reeder, in school this last year, has been received at Ecole de filles rue Vivq d'Arx Paris, Xe, France. National Headquarters informed Mrs. Christie of the arrival of the booklet, who in turned expressed appreciation to Mrs. Hoge and the Junior Red Cross members.

He will appreciate a portion of your interest and patronage.

C. W. A Selects City Flower

To Plant Garden in Park

The members of the Christian Women's Association met Monday afternoon at the Methodist church, at which meeting an official flower for Knox City was selected. Following an interesting, intelligent discussion, the Crepe Myrtle (dark pink in color) was decided upon. It is hoped that every one will try to have at least one plant of the Crepe Myrtle in yard another year.

The ladies also made plans to have the city park cleaned up, plowed and planted in a fall garden. The purpose of the turnip green patch is to help feed the needy about the town and community.

The program for the afternoon Monday was led by Mrs. Pressa Clarke, Mrs. A. B. Reese giving the devotional. The association will meet the next fifth Monday at the Baptist church.

Word is received this week that Claud Stovall of Knox City was among the fifteen of the five hundred boys in the National guard at Palacios this summer who stood the test given them and passed. He made one of the highest grades of the fifteen. He is now entitled to attend Sam Houston this year.

H. E. Wall attended the funeral services of W. O. Killingsworth in Kaskell Tuesday. Mr. Killingsworth died in Childsday but was buried in Haskell. He and Mr. Wall have been close friends for a number of years.

The deceased is also the brother of Mr. Killingsworth, manager of this district of the telephone exchange.

Man Killed In Rochester

Sunday morning a man, identified as Fred J. Baker of Fletcher Oklahoma, was killed by a Santa Fe freight train in Rochester. His body was badly bruised and his left arm was broken at the elbow something apparently having been jabbed through it. It was believed that the man attempted to alight from the rapidly moving train and fell, being caught and run over for some distance.

No one witnessed the accident and the body was found about an hour later, by one of the crew of the north bound passenger train which arrived in Rochester at 8:28 Sunday morning. Identification cards were found on the body of the man, showing that he was a member of Typographical Union number 633 of Lawton Oklahoma.

Mrs. Baker, wife of the identified man, is a telephone operator in Fletcher Oklahoma.

Another printer has answered that last and final call "30".

Girl Scouts at Leuders

Worked Hard During Summer

Tuesday morning a string of cars, carrying the Girl Scouts of Knox City and a goodly number of parents to Leuders, left here to return home Thursday afternoon.

Of the twenty-five scouts, twenty one of them left in the crowd. Other girls of scout age, but who are having to wait until another division is organized in order to become scouts and the mothers and fathers present, totaled the number in the camping party at about forty.

They left in gay spirits, anxious to arrive at Leuders and enjoy the program of entertainment and camping which their scout captain and mothers had arranged for them. A definite program is being followed, stated Mrs. Cash, Scout Captain. The program was arranged by Mrs. Cash, Mrs. T. S. Edwards and Mrs. Jim Stevenson. It included before breakfast hikes, camp work, ball games, swimming, general assembly games and singing, quiet hours and patrol programs.

The scout captain, Mrs. Cash, also stated that the girls worked hard all summer completing the project which they selected for themselves for the summer. Mrs. O. L. Jamison, first Lieutenant, did splendid work with the group. She was among those who accompanied the girls to Leuders.

Meet With Mrs. Hoge

The last meeting of the scouts was last Saturday in the home of Mrs. C. C. Hoge. Practically all the girls were present and ten mothers. The purpose of the meeting was two fold, first to present to their captain a quilt which was made in addition to the one they made to sell. The project of the group for the summer was to make and quilt a Dutch Doll-quilt, which they had hoped to exhibit in a quilt show and then sell. To the surprise of Mrs. Cash, each girl instead of making one block, made two and used the second one in completing a quilt for her honor. The gift quilt was completed and presented to the captain while the other one was ready to be quilted.

The second purpose of the meeting was to discuss with the parents, the camping trip which the group is enjoying this week. Complete plans were made Saturday, with a hearty response of approval and cooperation on the part of the parents.

A FARMER'S PRAYER

An Illinois farmer wrote the following prayer and sent it to the Illinois State Journal for publication:
"Oh, Lord: I am thankful I am not like other folks; and that I am not a Pharisee. I am thankful I am not the owner of city real estate. I am thankful that I own no stock and bonds which I had bought for guidance that kept me out of the speculative grain market. I have not drilled an oil well and I am thankful that it is good not to have to read the stock market quotations each morning before prayer and breakfast to learn how much poorer I am than I was the day before. I am thankful that I am not in retail merchandising with a bulging ledger of unpaid bills. I thank thee, O Lord, that I am not a laboring man without a job or in danger of losing it. I wear no white collar to the office, wondering whether I am to remain until night. I surely am fortunate that I am not a coal operator nor steel manufacturer nor a railroad official hawking trade where there is no trade.

I am only a poor farmer with 150 acres of Illinois gumbo, all paid for. Once it was worth more, but I didn't sell it and thank thee, I did not buy more at that price.

Give me, O Lord, my pigs and cows and chickens, my health and my strength and my faith. I am not making money but I am not losing so much that I face disaster and hunger. I live on three bounteous meals a day. These, thou hast provided me whatsoever happens.

Once I looked with envy upon these, my fellow citizens. I thought they lived in luxury and peace. This morning, O Lord, bless them and comfort them and give them divine grace to face their plight. May the day of upturn and better things come for all of us. I am grateful to thee for the small blessings that fall upon me and mine and my kind. Forgive my sins and overlook my hypocrisy and my shortcomings and believe me, O Lord, I am content that I am not as others are.

The Way of Life

By Bruce Barton

THEY ARE NO INDIVIDUALS

I was invited to speak before the officers and salesmen of a large industrial organization, and the other speaker was Dr. Abraham Myerson, the distinguished psychiatrist.

He wanted to make those men understand how every member of an organization reacts and is reacted upon subconsciously by every member how none of us is a mere society is a separate individual, but, all as the Bible says, "members of each other."

He used this illustration: "A camera motion picture, which I saw some years ago, showed a section of a house with the various rooms exposed and the people who were in those rooms.

In the front room was the mother, waiting at the table to have the meal served. In the next room were the father and the maid engaged in what we should call a "petting party." In the kitchen one observed the cook feeding the butcher boy some crackers and milk, while on the back porch the cat slept peacefully. Here we was, apparently, a happy domestic scene. But see what happened.

"The father came in with the food which apparently did not please the mother of the house. He spoke his mind freely and harshly to the mother, who, offended, returned to the kitchen and, instead of kissing the maid, straight-armed her into a corner.

"The maid burst into tears," she went in to scold the cook, and during the subsequent argument, slapped the cook's face. The cook, in her anger, snatched the food away from the butcher boy, who, on his way out, kicked the cat down the back stairs.

"A graphic example," said Dr. Myerson, "of how an emotion of fear or ill will or meanness spreads through an entire organization. Cheerfulness and courage can spread just as far and fast."

You and I are not individuals. Every Robinson Crusoe ceased to be an individual with the arrival on the scene of his faithful man Friday. He became then a member of a society of two, each living the life of the other.

I imagine that Dr. Myerson could tell us many cases of men who have come downtown and worked faithfully all day, only to utter a word or cast a glance on their way out of the office which more than nullified their whole day's work.

"What you are," said Emerson, "thunders so loud I can't hear what you say."

What we are inside changes the inner life of our families, our business associates, and our fellow citizens. We can not harbor fear or anger or selfishness without diluting the emotional blood-stream of the race.

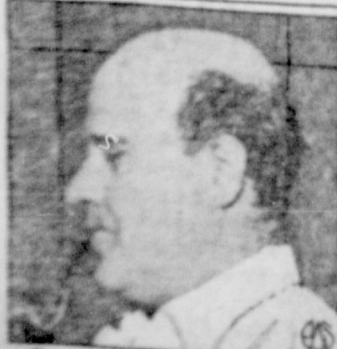

and every courageous or unselfish emotion builds up the whole world's stock of courage and faith.

LOW-COST ADEQUATE DIETS

Grace Nelson Co. Home Dem. Agent

For many families the problem of providing an adequate diet with limited resources is always present. For others it arises only when for some reason money incomes are reduced. Thus the general business depression forces hundreds of families to face the problem of securing adequate food with unusual low incomes.

To provide for good nutrition the diet must furnish in an attractive palatable and digestible form enough of the carbohydrates, fats, and proteins to yield energy food bodily activity; a liberal supply of softable proteins; enough of all the essential mineral elements; and enough of each of the necessary vitamins.

In planning the low-cost diet, food materials which yield energy cheaply must be used as extensively as possible without displacing unduly the foods necessary for building and maintaining the body. This means that the proportions of grain products in the low-cost diet will be higher than in diets of moderate cost. Although some forms of fat and sugar are cheaper sources of energy also, they contribute relatively less to the diet as a whole, than do the grain products, and the effect of increased amounts upon appetite and digestion is probably less favorable.

Milk supplements the nutritive qualities of the grain products at more points than does any other food, and does this effectively and at relatively small expense. Then when there is little money to spend the diet will be most satisfactory for good nutrition if it is built around grain products and milk.

Family Food Guide

BURIAL FLAGS FOR DECEASED VETERANS

It is the desire of the Postal Administration to assist to the fullest extent possible the Administration of Veterans' Affairs in administering the act of 1924 (known as the World War Veterans act) as amended by section 12, of the act of July 3, 1930 which provides:

"Where a veteran of any war, including those women who served as Army nurses under contract between April 21, 1898, and February 22, 1901, who was not dishonorably discharged, dies after discharge or resignation from the service, the director shall furnish a flag to drape the casket of such veteran and afterwards to be given to his next of kin regardless of the cause of death of such veteran."

To that end it is directed that post masters at all county seat post offices cooperate with the Veterans Administration so that upon the decease of a veteran his next of kin or other person acting in the interest of the deceased veteran shall, upon compliance with certain rules, receive a burial flag.

Rules and regulations governing the issuance of flags, together with an initial supply of flags, will be issued from the Veterans' Bureau.

Make Prosperity a Family Habit

Among our depositors are many families whose three living generations habitually bank with us. We have found that those who have learned, and have taught their children, to save regularly, are among the most prosperous families in Knox City. Saving regularly involves self sacrifice—to ascertain—healthful—extent. It involves close adherence to a principle—but it results in a safe and sane prosperity. A bank, which has earned the confidence of three generations of many families, tells you this—and invites you to duplicate their prosperous history. Mother Ship-ton's Prophecy

Born at Norfolk, England. Died at Chilton, Yorkshire, England, A. D. 1449. With mine smothered, but since let undisturbed, this most remarkable poem is reconstructed by F. H. Lehman. The automobile is foretold in the first verse, the submarine and airplane in the third verse. The fourth verse was fulfilled in 1915, in the Balfour Declaration.

A carriage without horses shall go. Chastice fill the world with woe; In London Primrose Hill shall be. Its center hold a Bishop's see, Around the world men's thought shall fly. Quick as the twinkling of an eye.

And waters shall great wonders do— The oceans, and yet it shall be. Through leveling hills proud man shall ride. No horse or man move by his side.

Beneath the water shall walk. Shall life, shall sleep, and even talk. In the air men shall be seen. In white, in black, as well as green. A great man then shall come and go. For prophecy declares it so.

In water from their shall float. As easy as a wooden boat. God shall be found in streams or stone.

In land that is yet unknown. Water and fire shall wonders do, And England shall admit a Jew.

Now that once was held in scorn. Shall of a Christian then be born. A home of glass shall come. In England—but alas, alas, A war will follow with the work. Whose deeds the signs and the Turk.

The states shall lock in fiercest strife. And seek to take each others life: When North shall then divide the South.

The eagle builds in Dan's mouth. Then tax and blood and cruel war. Shall come to every humble door.

Three times shall stony, lovely France. Be led to play a bloody dance.

Before the people shall be free, Three tyrant rulers, shall she see, Three rulers, in succession be— Each spring from different dynasty.

Then when the fiercest fight is done, England and France shall be one, The British olive nest shall twine in marriage with the German vine. Men walk beneath and over streams. Fulfilled shall be our strange dreams.

All England's sons that plow the land. Shall off be seen with Book in hand. The poor shall now, most wisdom know.

And water wind where corn doth grow; Great houses stand in far-flung vale. All covered o'er with snow and hail.

And now a word in uncouth rhyme. Of what shall be in future time; For in those wonderous far-off days. The women shall adopt a craze, To dress like men, and trowsers wear. And cut off all their locks of hair.

They'll ride astride with brazen brow. As witches do on broomsticks now. Then love shall die and marriage cease.

And nations wane as babes decrease. The wives shall fondle cats and dogs. And men live much the same as hogs.

In nineteen hundred twenty-six. Build houses light of straw and sticks. For then shall mighty wars be planned.

And fire and sword shall sweep the land— But those who live the century through.

In fear and trembling this will do. Flees to the mountains and the sea. To bog and forest and wild dews— For storms will rage and oceans roar. When Gabriel stands on seashore; As he blows his wonderous horn. Old worlds shall die and new be born.

MOFFETT FAVORS COTTON ACREAGE REDUCTION

George Moffett, member of the Legislature from the 11th District, composed of Hardeman, Foard, Knox and King counties has recently returned to his home at Chillicothe, from Austin, where he attended a Special Session of the State law-making body. Mr. Moffett had the following to say:

"My honest belief is that a large majority of the members of the Legislature are both willing and anxious to pass whatever legislation that would really benefit the cotton farmer. But it is mighty hard to look into the future and foretell just what would be best. Many of the members believe that regulation of the people's private affairs by law has gone entirely too far already, and therefore they are slow to pass any kind of a law telling a man what to plant or what not to plant.

"Personally, I am strongly opposed to toping up every third row of cotton, and I doubt very much if I would favor a law prohibiting the planting of any cotton at all next year. The plan of planting not over half the land in cotton, and rotating seems to be the most practical and sensible solution yet offered and it adopted at once, it would undoubtedly mean an immediate and substantial increase in the price of cotton.

FROM CONGRESSMAN MARVIN JONES

Announcement was made today by Congressman Marvin Jones that every schoolroom in his district will within a few weeks after the opening of the new term, receive a beautiful portrait-poster of George Washington, executed in colors.

The portrait to be used in these posters is a reproduction of the famous Gilbert Stuart painting and will be 22 inches by 28 inches in size. This poster was selected after a great deal of study, and is considered the finest example of poster making available.

The poster-pictures featuring George Washington are being distributed by Congressman Jones in cooperation with the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, D. C. in order to stimulate interest among the thousands of school children of the district of the Birth of the Father of Our Country.

Mr. Jones is in constant touch with the activities of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission which was created by Congress to formulate and execute plans for the great celebration in 1922.

The United States Commission is placing a good deal of emphasis on the cooperation of the school children of America in this historic event. This poster-picture is just one feature of its work.

Congressman Jones announced that he will see to it that the schools, clubs, churches, and fraternal and patriotic organizations in his district will be adequately supplied with literature to be issued by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission.

The George Washington Bicentennial Celebration will begin on February 22 1923, and last until the following Thanksgiving Day.

"AND THEN"

A salesman sent into the tropics to sell agricultural machinery, came back with a story which illustrates a number of things.

He found the natives contentedly sitting around while abundant Nature grew all their food with the slightest possible effort on their part.

"If you had a plow and a harrow you could grow more food, said the salesman.

"And then—" asked the native.

"Then you could get money for it and buy more land."

"And then?"

"Why then you could buy more machinery and grow still more food and get more money."

"And then."

Why, then after a while you would have so much money you wouldn't have to work.

"But I would be no better off, Senor, I don't work now!"

To those who hold to the Puritan doctrine that work is a virtue in itself and that he who does not work is asinner, the spectacle of anybody getting a living without working is abhorrent. But when you consider that in every religion the ideal of Heaven is the same—a place where nobody has to work—it raises the question whether that point of view is entirely sound.

There is no doubt that the habit of work builds character, even though the work itself may not be congenial. The happiest men and women are those who have found work with interest them so much that they prefer it to anything else. But work merely for the sake of making money so you won't have to work is something else again.

Perhaps a lot of us are as foolish as that native thought he would be if he spent a lot of time and effort merely to avoid working.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dalton, who have been in Knox City most of the summer, left Wednesday for Alplais. He is employed by the U. S. Government.

A group of young people enjoyed an ice cream supper Monday night at the home of Miss Bernice Raper. They were, besides Miss Raper, H. C. Armstrong, Maurine Able, Doris Stoker, Leo Park, Elizabeth Dwyer, Kenneth Edwards, and Claud Stowell. They report having an unusually enjoyable evening.

Miss Amboline Forman, a factory teacher in the Knox City school, has accepted an appointment from the United States Government to work on the Hoopa Indian Reservation at Eureka, California. Friends of Miss Forman will be glad to learn of this appointment for her.
