MEMORIAL DAY

It is now nearly seventy years since the last shot was fired in that tremendous conflict between the North and South which history records as the American Civil War. The pitiful little handful of survivors of that great struggle are now old old men. Whatever hatred or bitterness they felt for each other has long been resolved by the kindly, soothing hand of time.

It is not necessary here to go into the causes of that titanic struggle. Leave that to the historians and interpreters, who will not have finished in another seventy years, nor in seventy times seventy, their efforts to make the events of the 1860 prove this, that or the other theory. The fact remains that the survivors and the descendants of both sides have equal cause for pride.

We believe we are right in saying that all the rancor, all the sectional bitterness that that great struggle engendered, and which hung for so long like a funeral pall over the reunited Nation, vanished long since. It began to disappear when the sons of men who had worn the Northern blue marched in the ranks in '98 with those whose fathers had worn the Southern gray; its last trace disappeared when the boys from Texas and Mississippi swung into action at Chateau-Thierry alongside their khaki-clad brothers from Vermont and Minnesota.

On the 20th day of this month, all over the North and in many of the States of the South, the Nation will again play its annual tribute of remembrance to the brave men who fought for their native land in three great wars. In some states there have been or yet to be held special memorial services for those who fought for the Confederacy. But the tears that are shed and the wreaths that are laid are, all of them, a nation's tribute to what we must still regard as the highest possible expression of the nobility of the human character, which does not hesitate to risk dear life itself, not for any possible selfish gain but for the sake of others.

"Under the sod and the dew,
waiting the Judgement Day—
Tears and love for the Blue, love and tears for the Gray."

UNKNOWN SOLDIER
By Wattie Norris-Owen

Brave soldier boy, unknown, sleep on, sleep on
In peace. Of noise and din you knew your share
And more, in the great conflict over there;
So now, rest on, rest on—Those days are gone.
No lovelier spot could shelter you; at dawn
With rising sun you are the first to wear
Her badge of gold. As twilight falls, with care
She slips it from your breast, each morn, to don.
The birds sing sweetest o'er your quiet place
As with bared head and gentle tread, the wreath
Of love and honor close we lay. With face
Toward blood-bought flags we hear the taps. Beneath.
Your spotless white sleep on, our boy! We trace
Through you the sword of war within its sheath.

At last the grades have been averaged and the lucky girls announced with the highest honor going to Faye McAuley with an average of 90.37 and second honor going to Essie Mae Leaverton with an average of 90.27.

Both girls are to be highly commended for their successful achievements, for such honor is not to be taken lightly nor is it to be gained as a mere whim, but comes rather as the fruits of persistent effort and toil. Knox City High School, the faculty, everyone is proud of them and are glad that this honor may be justly afforded them.

"The Kennel" joins all others in congratulating them on their success and wishing them many such successes in the future.

EDITOR'S NOTE

In as short space as possible I wish to express my appreciation of the opportunity of being Editor-in-Chief of my High School Paper, The Kennel. I have felt from the beginning that it has been a trust and an honor, of a necessity granted to few; and therefore, I have cherished the position and endeavored to make 'The Kennel' of this year true to the old standard and even excel if possible past records. Perhaps I haven't done quite this, but let that be as it may, with no apologies or excuses, I have done my best.

The association with Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney has been pleasant at all times they have been willing to aid our school and paper in every way possible by giving us ample space, offering helpful suggestions; in short, aiding us to make "The Kennel" better in every way. One less grateful than myself could not fail to appreciate such loyal friends.

Also let me say that the sponsor of our paper has been a live wire in aiding its progress and much credit for its success rightfully belongs to Mrs. Cash. Not only do I wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney, and Mrs. Cash, but also every person on "Kennel" staff anyone who has at any time contributed anything to the paper.

Since next week will be Senior week this weeks "Kennel" will be the last edited by the present Editor and I relinquish my position with no few regrets and feel that if my feeble efforts have afforded even one person a source of a few moments enjoyments, I have been amply repaid for the time I have cheerfully given. Of course it has had its ups and downs, as all things do, nevertheless, the position has been a source of enjoyment to me and I consider the experience gained invaluable.

"The Kennel" of next week, the last for this year, will be edited by the Assistant Editor, Marilyn Herring.

MARDIGRAS BANQUET

The happy voices of Juniors, seniors and faculty members were plainly audible from the Methodist church last Friday evening at 7.00 o'clock. The group that eagerly awaited entrance in the gaily decorated "circus tent" was believed to be the largest assembled for a Junior-senior banquet in several years.

The pretty, colorful evening dresses, balloons, animals, and various of crepe paper mingled together formed a very pretty picture. Following the invocation by Mr. Dean, toast master, John Elbert Smith, took charge. After a very impressive welcome given by Viola Daniels, everyone responded to the familiar expression "let's eat". The following menu was attractively served:

Grapefruit cocktail, Baked chicken, dressin, hot rolls, creamed potatoes, buttered peas, Baravian Salad, Ice cream, Rolled Wafers and iced tea.

At convenient interludes a very interesting program was featured. James Dotson voiced the sentiments of the seniors in his talk on "Impression after 4 years Training." Animal trainer O. B. King gave an interesting talk and plenty of good jokes. O. L. Jamison, a spectator, followed suit. Mrs. E. F. Branton appropriated intruded upon the comics and contributed some serious thoughts. She brought the seniors to full realization of the fact that the "circus tent" is about to be moved and that high school will soon become a pleasant memory rather than an existing condition. Other predominate features of the evening were: Travis Gaither's jokes on "Circus Performers," Marjory Sue Kay's violin solo, and the vocal solo of Kenneth Edwards, Marilyn Herring, and Lloyd Huntaman. The Knox City orchestra furnished the usual snappy music for the occasion.

One of the most interesting of the evening's entertainment features was the "uncalled for" speeches delivered by senior foot ball boys who were influential in the startling defeat of Munday, room mothers of the senior class, and the responses of the sponsors of the junior and senior classes when they were presented tokens of appreciation by the respective classes.

The words "All Done" came too soon for the participants in the circus. The "dignified" Seniors went home grateful for an enjoyable evening while the Juniors were eagerly anticipating next year's banquet when someone else will do the work. We imagine members of the faculty are thinking of the lack of manner displayed by their students but we hope they haven't forgotten that every dog has its day. At any rate a great many dogs had a swell night Friday night thanks to the Juniors.

MRS. TEAFF ENTERTAINS SENIORS

Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Teaff entertained a grateful bunch of seniors and their escorts on the second floor of the Thomas building in O'Brien last Tuesday evening. The room was very attractively decorated as a park and thus our "circus banquet" was followed by a park picnic.

Upon entering the park one crossed a very picturesque bridge on the right side of which was a crystal fountain with a lovely yellow duck dominating its silvery surface and on either side banked by green grass. Upon examining the park further one penetrated farther into its delightful features. The walls of a bridge lined with a fusion of colors everywhere. Balloons suspended from the bridge while from the water came a row of trees, lovely green, were floated. There were various objects of interest with unique signs near by. For instance an inviting stretch of grass held a formidable warning to keep off (the seniors didn't keep off though) a ferocious looking bull dog had a sign of warning by him, the patient parrot had his sign Don't tease Polly while the evidence of his wisdom tucked securely beneath his wing, wearing a cap similar to that all seniors are hoping to wear soon, stood proudly beneath a senior pennant, a fitting representative of the seniors. There were many other points of interest too numerous to mention.

One of the most interesting games played was the finding of who's who in the Senior class by trying our luck at recognizing the baby pictures of some sixteen members of the class and Mary Lou Graham won the prize "duck" off the fountain in token of a perfect paper.

Refreshments of sandwiches, punch, angle food cake and ice cream were served to the group. Other than the seniors and their escorts those present were the members of the faculty, friends assisting the hostess and Miss Sue Bell Teaff, and the musical entertainers.

The seniors join all others present in expressing their gratitude to Teaffs for one of the most enjoyable evenings of the school year.

The Seniors plan to have a fountain constructed between the buildings which they intend to leave as the Senior Memorial of '34.

SENIOR DAY AT JAMISON-CLONTS

Saturday was Senior Day at Jamison-Clonts Hardware Store. The Seniors received a commission on all the gross sales made during the day which amounted to $12.50. This will go on the Senior Memorial Fund.

We wish to thank the store and also the patrons who made it possible through advertising and buying during Senior Day for us to receive this fund.

SAFETY FIRST

"Safety First," that snappy, up to date, three-act comedy will be presented Tuesday evening May 29, in the school auditorium, instead of Friday evening, as was planned. On account of the tent show being in town.

Jack Wetzel will play the part of the comedian, which is an "enraged Turk" who is trying to find his "leette daughter, who is supposed to have eloped." All of the other characters are equally as good. The play a full of excitement, and comedy from the time the curtain rises until the play ends.

The fund from this play will go to the Basketball girls and they will appreciate your presence at this play. Admission 15 and 25 cents. Don't forget the date Tuesday May 29.

DECORATION DAY

By Frank Chester Cheever

Above the silent city of the dead Where sleep the brave and true, Our flag of freedom proudly waves —The red, and white, and blue.

We hear again the muffled drums, The bugle calls so clear, While softly rests a nation's dear With those we love so dear.

No strife or bitter pain is theirs, Their battle days are o'er, And now eternal peace prevails Where war is known no more. To us hold the torch of life They speak from unknown graves And plead for loyalty and right Where freedom's flag still waves.

Look for Better Flavor with Electric

You wouldn't believe that Electric Cooking could make a difference in flavor! Meats and vegetables cook to melting tenderness in their own juices — with the addition of practically no water. The electric oven heat rapidly sears, roasts, and broils — without shrinkage. Baked foods are deliciously and uniformly browned. Steak has the flavor of charcoal broiling!

Electric Cooking retains so much more of the natural flavor of the food that you can actually buy less meat or vegetables still have just as much to put upon the table!

Electric ranges cook food with a speed and economy that compare favorably with any other kind of fuel! Let us demonstrate the advantages of course, there is no obligation — and you can be assured.

This is the "Electrical Age." A Hotpoint range will step to your All-Electric Kitchen.
