

LEON CLUB OF C. HOLD JOINT SESSION

Business Mens Luncheon Social Chamber of Commerce a joint session in the hall last Monday evening. The time the annual election of C. officers was also following officers been: O. L. Jamison, President; E. Wall, Vice-President; Reese, Secretary.

A large number of business men were present during the evening and some splendid Progress talks were made. It was decided that a budget of more than $400.00 be raised by donations and that a fund be held on reserve to meet emergencies in committee work. Dues of $6.00 per year were also voted and it is hoped a large number of rural areas as well as those living in town will join the organization that has for its purpose a general community movement.

E. Robbins, cashier of the State Bank, this city, has every look of a man who is always in a good humor. As for as the Herald writer knows, leads a life burdened with few serious moments or drama, added a bit of cheer to the Herald office by joining the staff for another year. Robbins' vocation is banker but for which he is amply qualified, but he has other qualities that commend him to his friends and associates in his home and Sunday School work which he is a leader, punctual, prompt and efficient. Some time ago when the bank at this city was absorbed by the State Bank of this city, Mr. Robbins became cashier of the bank and has made a host of friends who remember pleasantly the occasion that brought into our midst.

T. Hardberger, Knox City's chief of Police and one of the foremost of West Texas, who many difficult "catches" to credit, is among those who are an advance date on the old reading. Mr. Hardberger is a detective of rather rare type but prefers to remain in his home town among old friends in preference to city work with its larger pay and greater reputation. He is glad he feels that way about it, for he is doing a valuable work in this section of the country and we hope he continues to render that service.

On Friday, March 22nd, 7:20 p. m., the pre Easter revival starts. Keep the date, the occasion and the speaker in mind and let no other appointments interfere with them. Come one come all.

Did This Ever Happen to You?

Bitter cold morning—
Cold in his chest,
Had planned to go hunting
So put on a warm vest
And went!
And enjoyed it.
Day hot and dusty—
Hay fever and sneezing;
Golf clubs getting rusty,
So in spite of his wheezing
He went!
And enjoyed it!
Loveliest dry of the year—
Had promised to go to church;
Found queer feeling in his ear
So he left his wife in the lurch.
Didn't go
And he rued it!
Many people have yet to learn the joy of worth of true worship. This lesson must come through desire and not compulsion.
H. N. Solliday.

Strayed from the J. W. Smith farm about Feb. 1st, one black and red spotted gilt, about 3 months old. Probably tried to return to McGraw place. Please notify J. W. Smith.

METHODIST REVIVAL DATE SET FOR FIRST SUNDAY IN AUGUST

At a church conference held Sunday evening March 3rd, among other business, plans for our revival meeting were discussed. The first Sunday in August was the time set. Keep this date in mind and lets make our plans so that we will be ready to enter into these services. J. A. Scoggins, Pastor.

A. J. Gore, president of the Farmers Co-operative Gin, which has just turned back to its stockholders about $22,000.00 as rebates on ginning, handed the Herald another year's subscription this week. Mr. Gore states that plans for the addition to the gin are now complete and construction work will begin at once. A plant similar to the one now in use will be constructed and the driving machinery and a fire wall be placed between the two units, affording a most convenient power at a nominal cost and removing fire hazards as well. The entire plant when complete will have a capacity of 10 bales per hour or about 8,000 for the season. Mr. Gore states that the driving machinery will be geared in such a fashion that either or both plants can be connected by a clutch device without any inconvenience to the engineer.

Prof. J.W. Cloud, newly elected Superintendent of the Knox City Schools, hands in a year's subscription to the Herald. Prof. Cloud was elected to fill the unexpired term in the place of Prof M. E. Noble, who resigned, and his successful management of the school won him the position for the coming year. The Herald predicts another fine school year for the Knox City Independent District under Prof. Cloud's supervision.

AGRICULTURAL CLASS AND OTHER STUDENTS ATTEND STOCK SHOW

Quite a number of the vocational agricultural class of the school chartered the E. F. Herring truck and in company with the teacher, Prof. C. B. Gaston, attended the Fat Stock Show. Several pupils of other departments of the school also accompanied the class.

B. C. Anderson did some shopping in the Herald office this week by placing $1.50 to push his subscription date quite a bit into the future. B. C. is one of the home boys who, though being equipped for clerical work, chose the great open spaces, close to the heart of nature, and so each year brings his wares to the gin instead of handing them across the counter. He is doing well in cotton farming on his mothers farm west of town.

S. J. Reeves, who owns a farm of fine sandy loam mixture, well adapted to all seasons and degrees of rainfall, will receive the Herald for another year. In spite of last year's semi-drought Mr. Reeves made an average crop and so avoids any financial strain incident to partial crop failure. Mr. Reeves is a solid friend of the local paper and a good citizen of our community.

Notice

Trespassers are notified that the farms belonging to the undersigned are posted against hunting, fishing and swimming, and parties seeking such recreation are requested to seek other places or legal procedure will be resorted to.

J. P. CLONTS, AGED AND ESTEEMED CITIZEN CALLED BY DEATH.

Our entire community was grieved, on last Friday afternoon, March 8th, when it was learned that Grandpa J. P. Clonts had passed from this life at his home in this city at the age of 74 years 6 months and 19 days. Deceased was a native of Georgia, but migrated to Texas in 1895, settling in Limestone county near the city of Mart. In 1905 he moved to Baylor county, living at Seymour until his coming to Knox City in 1907, when he purchased a large tract of land and became an appreciated citizen in this community. His entire life had been lived on the higher plane of exemplary citizenship. He early became a member of the Methodist Church and maintained his Christian faith through all the vicissitudes of life. He had been a Mason for 50 years and had filled many offices in that order. In 1878 Mr. Clonts and Miss Savannah McLarty were happily married, and to that union was born 5 children, two of whom died in infancy, the 3 sons living being S. M. and W. H. Clonts of this city and T. P. Clonts of Muskogee Okla. In 1887 his former companion preceded him in death and in 1889 he was again married to Miss Hattie E. Guyton who survives him, and who so tenderly cared for him in his invalid years when stricken with paralysis, which took him from active association with us, but he was respectfully remembered and the many inquiries regarding his health showed the esteem in which he was held.

The funeral was conducted at the residence, by Rev. J. A. Scoggins, after which the Masons performed their impressive burial ceremony at the cemetery. The floral offering was extremely beautiful. Active pallbearers were: E. B. Shaver, J. C. Reeder, Ray Willis, H. M. Jones, W. V. Favor, Roy Smith, B. L. Leaverton, J. A. Wilson. Honorary pallbearers were: J. P. Henderson, E. O. Jamison, S. E. Youngblood, C. C. Hoge, T. E. Robbins, T. P. Frizzell, J. W. Smith, J. E. Clarke, E. L. Park, W. S. Tarver and Will Chapman, of Thadla. Relatives from out of town attending the funeral were T. P. Clonts, Muskogee, Okla., J. J. Clonts, Thornton, Texas and D. B. Clonts, Mart, Texas.

GOOD RAIN OVER KNOX CITY TRADE TERRITORY

Knox City community was fortunate indeed in receiving the heavy rain of Monday night just as the time of planting is approaching. More than two inches of rain fell over all our trade territory, placing a fine season in the ground. Combined with the moisture received from February precipitation this season will carry farm work well into growing time.

L.W. Cybert who owns a farm here and one near Munday, insuring him an ample income, does not forget his Herald subscription in his fortunate circumstance but puts the date in advance. Mr. Cybert no doubt, believes in the "double chance" system, hence his ownership of farms in two sections of the country. In case one fails the other comes to his rescue, whereas the editor has but one chance. But if everyone was as loyal to the local as Mr. Cybert that one chance would, in the language of the street, be a "chinch."

R. K. McBrayer, of Route 2, thinks enough of community welfare and public events to take his home paper and keep it paid in advance. He was in this week and signed a check to that effect and therefore receives our thanks. Mr. McBrayer is a successful cotton raiser and finds this section of the country a pleasant and profitable place to live.

W. E. MOODY DIES HERE

William Ervin Moody was born in the state of Tennessee, Aug. 14th, 1858. Moved to Texas Aug. 14, 1860. After he became of age he went into Oklahoma and spent several years in what was then known as Indian Territory, but the greater part of his life was spent in Texas.

Four years ago he united with the Christian church and was also a Mason. Mr. Moody had been in failing health for several years during which time he has been making his home with his two brothers, Pete Moody, of Knox City and J. A. Moody of Truscott.

All through his afflictions, Mr. Moody exemplified a strong desire to live and never admitted that he thought death was near until Saturday morning.

He departed this life Monday at 4:00 p. m. at the home of his brother Pete Moody in Knox City.

A LIVING ON THE FARM

When the farmer can sit down to a table abundantly supplied with home-grown fruits and vegetables; milk, butter, meat and eggs from his own farm, then he may well say, in all content, "THIS IS LIVING."

A living at home means just that, and no farmer who gives his home wants his first attention need worry about a "hard winter" or a "lean year."

It is the aim and ambition of this bank to help every farm customer so that he may enjoy the independence and contentment of an assured living at home, with year-round profits all along the way.

Remember, the farm is, first of all, "a place to live and make a living. Please bear in mind, that Intensive Farming, and a living at home, is the best possible basis for credit accomodation.

Optimism is contagious. Cheerfulness promotes health and prolongs life. The good-natured man is a constant benefactor. There is a sunshine of mind that defies and destroys doubt, disappointment and discouragement. Good humor is a tonic for the mind and body. Laughter is medicine for the soul. The intelligent optimist diffuses hope, courage and confidence. Gladness is akin to goodness. The world needs all the help you can give by way of cheerful, optimistic, inspiring thought and personal example.

A common cause of poor growth and high mortality in chicks is contaminated soil. To keep the chicks free from intestinal worms and various diseases, do not let them on land where old stock has been allowed to range. Chicks should never be brooded on bare land; a good grass range is essential. Treat the land immediately in front of the brooder house with lime or acid phosphate, cultivate it, and sow it to some crop.

E. L. Huntsman who came to our town a year ago and who has tried the Herald for that length of time will receive the paper another year by his recent order to that effect. Mr. Huntsman bought the Withrow interest in the cotton gin formerly managed by J. L. Withrow, now deceased, and being of long experience in that line of work has been able to please all who chanced to gin with him this year. Mr. Huntsman indulges no tactics in business other than fair and impartial treatment of all customers and the best service that it is possible for him to render. He believes the results will take care of themselves.

J. T. Watson, of Route One, whom the Herald likes to number among its friends and readers, renewed this week for another year. Mr. Watson praises Knox Prairie soil because it has been so good to him. Man's natural inclination is to produce the necessities of life and sufficient surplus to buy that which he cannot conveniently provide. In that Mr. Watson has been successful and is of course satisfied with his surroundings.

Fertilizing Sugar Beet Fields.

Into this country duty free, has increased by 419,157 long tons, or 163.8 per cent, according to Harry A. Austin, secretary of the U. S. Beet Sugar Association.

"Output of beet sugar totaled 927,000 long tons in 1928, compared with 930,419 long tons in 1920," said Mr. Austin. "Production of Philippine cane sugar reached 675,000 long tons in 1928, compared with only 255,843 long tons in 1920."

A statement of General Motors' Policy

by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., President

THE public has been visiting the automobile shows in the larger cities of the country to see new models.

Suppose you could drop a curtain over the 1929 automobile shows and raise it immediately upon the shows of ten years ago. How vividly the changes would then appear!

Go back five years, or even three, and the contrasts are amazing. So fast have the improvements followed one another that every year has offered you more for your automobile dollar—in performance, in comfort, in safety, in beauty and in style. Never was this fact quite so impressive as in the cars now on display.

This is real progress, and inevitably General Motors has been a leader in it. You cannot have hundreds of engineers, in one organization, thinking and working day and night without knowing more about making automobiles than was known the year before. You cannot have great Research Laboratories, the Proving Ground and the unmatched resources and skill of Fisher body without developing constantly better processes and new ideas. The patronage of the public makes possible all this machinery of betterment; so the public is entitled to each improvement as promptly as it has been proved.

In this way came the self-starter, the closed body, durable Duco finish, four wheel brakes. By the same process one of the remarkable feats in industrial history has just been effected: Chevrolet has been transformed into a six-cylinder car within the price range of the four—almost overnight. Similarly, the new brakes and transmissions of Cadillac and LaSalle are a fundamental improvement; while the new models of Buick, Oldsmobile, Oakland and Pontiac all represent values that could not have been offered before.

Such progress, born of the inherent ambition of an organization of active minds to do better and to give more, is of benefit to all. It offers you more for your money with each succeeding year. It gives you more value for your present car when you trade it in.

This is our policy. This is real progress.

Alfred P. Sloan

OBITUARY

In memory of my dear niece, Mrs. Fay Morgan [nee Earp] who died at her home in the Long Branche community, in Eastland Co. Sunday March 3rd. She was born July 6th, 1897, died March 3rd, 1929, at the age of 31 years 8 months and 24 days. She was the daughter of G. L. and Sallie B. Earp. Her father died when she was only four years of age. She was married to W. M. Morgan at the age of 16 years. To this union were born five children, two of whom are still living, Minnie Joe age 13, and Ray age 3. Laverne and Leo died a few years ago.

Nudy Fay, died a few hours before her mother and was buried with her mother. Fay was converted at the age of nine years and joined the Missionary Baptist church in which she lived a consecrated christian life until her death. She was a faithful B. Y. P. U. worker, and taught a Sunday School class most of the time since she was seventeen years of age. She was buried on a beautiful Sabbath day, amid tears and flowers, with a host of relatives and friends to mourn her departure. The flowers and memory of one so sweet and good took away the sting of death for her loved ones, and the great company who paid her the loving tribute.

She spoke to her loved ones of going and gave the sweet assurance that she was ready to go Home. She has gone but how we miss her for there is a vacant chair, she has gone to live with Jesus. We will meet her over there. It was a sad hour that night, when the death bell rang out its toll and a great vision came down from Heaven and took care of our sweet Fay's soul. It's so hard, here with us now, for we live in grief and sorrow but to Jesus we must bow. The nurse and the doctor her life tried to save But God reached down from Heaven and took her home to stay. The place where she was taken, there were friends everywhere, they spoke words of consolation, for our burdens were so hard to bear. Sleep on Sweet Fay you are resting beneath a flower silent tomb. Away from this world of trouble, in that city where there is no gloom. Oh! yes some day we will see you, in that beautiful land far away, by the side of that beautiful river, with Jesus forever to stay.

You can't retire at your first piece of good fortune, for the rain that makes the crops grow brings up the weeds, too.

OBITUARY

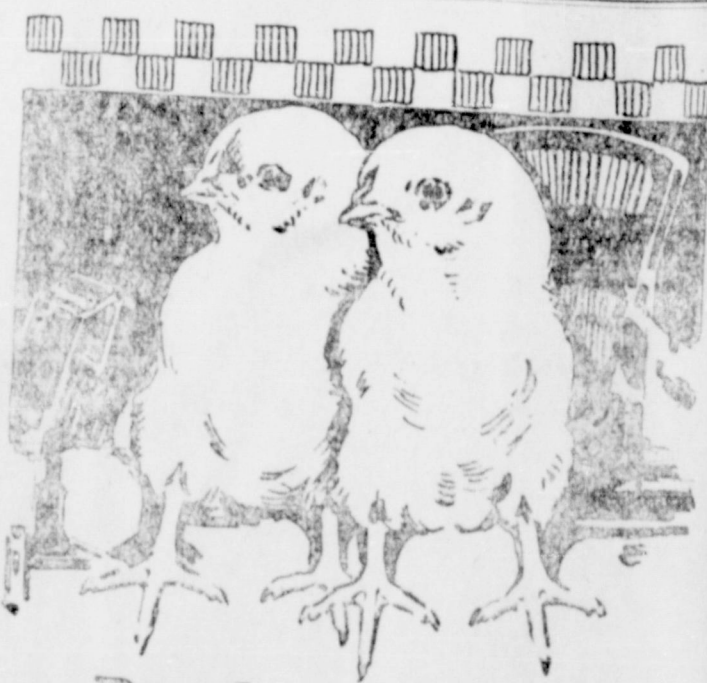

In memory of my dear mother, Mrs. J. J. Roberts [nee-Gage], was born in Carroll Co., Ark., Dec. 5th, 1847. Departed this life Feb. 26, 1929. At the age of 81 years 2 months and 21 days. She was married to J. J. Roberts at the age of 18 years. To this union were born ten children seven of whom are still living. Her husband died March 20, 1919, in Ft. Worth, Tex. She had made her home with her daughter Mrs. C. A. Hull for almost ten years until a few months ago she went to Midland to visit her sons. She died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. G. L. Earp, six miles south of Carbon in Eastland Co. where she had gone to spend the winter. She was converted and joined the Methodist Church at the age of 10, in which she lived a consecrated christian, until her death. She loved to welcome the care worn Preachers of all denominations into her home as long as she was able to keep house. She often spoke to her loved ones of going home, and always gave the assurance that she was ready. She died a triumphant death. A few days before she died, she sang that sweet old song. "Oh, come, O come, let us adore thee, angel band, come and adore thee, stand."

To my sister, who waited for her in her last days of suffering. She has gone but Oh! how we miss her. But her life will be a light to guide her children safely home. We'll not think of her as dead, only waiting to come us home.

It was a cold cloudy day she left us, And we wonder how this could be borne. She stopped a moment and listened to a sweet voice who seemed to say, "I'll guide your Mother safe homeward, feeble so old and so gray, that beautiful mansion within, For He guides her step of the way. Oh! yes! I was down at the river, death did call her away, to that city, with Jesus, what a wonderful day, will rest by that beautiful path beneath the wide spreading And dwell in the light of presence at home forever to Oh! yes we will see you mother, some day in the sky, bye and bye, where all our aches and troubles are ended, rest in that beautiful land.
