Girls Orchestra Steals the Show

The big attraction from Knox City was the high school musicial organization known as "Mary and Her Lambs". These girls made their first appearance in the lobby of the Crazy Hotel. A large crowd was in the lobby and the program received much applause.

Clad in velveteen slacks and satin blouces the ten girls left the Crazy hotel and went to the Baker, headquarters for the convention. They scre accompanied to the Baker by the entire deligation from Knox City.

Being music mufded the Knox City girls sought to entertain themselves with a few low numbers but soon discovered they had a large and appreciative audience. And ther second pro gram was given which received equally as much applause as that given at the Crazy oHtel.

At 5:30 o'clock the girls were featured on the program proper at the Baker. Here they were formally introduced by the Mayor of Mineral Wells, and the extra large crowd preent received them and their talent with much enthusiasm.

At the close of the Convention sesion the Knox City deligation retured to the Crazy Hotel. With the aprance of the first pair of velveeen slacks in the Crazy lobby requests were made for another program from the Knox City girls. Be- Precincet 1: ing of generous dispositions the ten

The Way of Inflation

If a merchant, or a farmer, or the average householder persistently spends more than he carns, he goes broke. He pays for his folly in the wreck of his business, his property, and, perhaps, his

With governments it can be differen-From time to time various nations have induiged in continued reckless expendiedy of inflation-whether of currency

The difference is that the individual bears the brust of the blow himself, while governments pass it on to their

History has demonstrated this on many occasions. Perhaps the best re-membered example of recent years is that of Germany, where post-war in-flation brought hardship and hunger to millions of workers. Records do not show that the dever politicians who brought it all about or the very rich, went hungry. That was reserved for the average run of ettizens, who saw prices rise so swiftly that neither earn ings nor savings could keep pace with

For a while the situation grew so serious that workmen found it necessary to demand pay for their services at the end of each day's labor. They knew that if they waited, prices might mount so rapidly that even a week's pay couldn't buy one bowl of soup.

Dermany's experience was not an isolated one. It has been duplicated to a lesser degree in many countries and in many periods of history. It is because of the evidence such experiments offer, that an increasing number of thoughtful Americans oppose the course of reckless government expenditure that causes inflation.

The concern of such citizens is not for the very rich and the very shrewd —who know just when to buy and sell, or how to rig or play the stock market. It is rather for the average family that depends on a weekly or monthly wage for income, and a savings account or life insurance policy for security. Those are the people who shoulder the burden and suffer the turts of inflation.

And those are the people who can stop its course.

They face a great responsibility. Un-der our Constitution the conduct of national affairs reets ultimately in their

We overheard a conversation the other day here in our store which proved that our efforts to build a store on service had not been in vain. A customer said to her friend as she entered the store that she was sure to get what she wanted in here, -at least she always had in the past. She wanted a package of sewing machine needles. Believe it or Not we had them. After all we are here to herve. That is the reason contore is open early and late and that we are available by 'phone after closing hours. . . we feel it our duty to "open up" at any hour in case of emergency.
