COUNTY MEN VISIT SPUR EXP. STATION

Forty-seven Knox and Haskell county farmers and ranchmen made a trip to the Spur Experiment Station today, April 28, according to R. O. Dunkle, County Agent, to study mesquite eradication by the use of the power saw, the application of sodium arsenite poison as a spray, and by using a paint brush applying the poison to the stump.

Roundtable discussion was held in the laboratory prior to making the field trip. Mr. Dickson, superintendent of the station, led an interesting discussion of their past experience in poisoning mesquite. Several kinds of poisons have been used and rates of kill have been recorded for each month of the year. Contrary to the opinion of many farmers the rate of kill is about the same for each month when stumps of the mesquite are painted with the poison. Mr. Dickson explained. The stump painting method is best if done properly.

When sodium arsenite was used as a spray on the sucker growths after the tops were cut off, the application was much more effective when the day is cloudy or short time after a rain when evaporation of the poison from the leaf surface is at a very low rate.

A visit was also made to the northwest part of the field where two ten-acre blocks of land had been planted continuously in cotton for 19 years. One block was terraced and the other part unterraced. The terraced piece of land during the 19 years has produced $105.00 more cotton during the period. Mr. Dickson explained that the $105.00 would buy the land twice.

Farmers and ranchmen from Knox County visiting the station were: W. T. Ward, W. A. Moore, J. B. Hendrix, B. B. Campbell, Pitzer Baker, J. B. Hendrix, Charlie Dowling, Fred Broach, Homer T. Melton, B. Hendrix, Doyle Thomas, Togo Moorhouse, M. D. Hardwick, W. C. Taylor and R. O. Dunkle.

Delegates Report On Lions Convention

Five members of the Knox City Lions Club attended the District 2-E convention in Fort Worth Tuesday and Wednesday. Those making the trip were Pres. O. W. Chausse, Sec'y Chad Wilson, Guy Steen, B. R. Campbell and J. S. Tierce.

Guy Steen reported at the luncheon today that it was a highly successful convention with several addresses by prominent men. Reports were made on the splendid work of Lions Clubs throughout the State. Mr. Steen was presented with several valuable gifts for his work in the organization and was accorded the second place prize in the recent membership campaign.

Not much tangible evidence was to be had on the behavior of the other delegates but they all report a fine time.

A round-table discussion was made at the luncheon, covering the subject of a possible negotiated peace between the United States and Axis powers. Several good ideas were expounded under the leadership of Lion Tierce but time was much too short to reach a definite consensus of those present.

PRECINCT CONVENTION TO BE HELD HERE SATURDAY

The local Democratic Precinct Convention will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in the American Legion Hall at Knox City. Delegates to the county convention will be elected at this meeting.

J. V. Jones, precinct chairman, is anxious to have a good representation on hand to help select the delegates. The county convention dates will be set at a later time.

W. W. Hyde, J. R. Wooley and Pete Whitten left Thursday for some fishing at Lake Kemp.

The entire community welcomes the Powers family to our midst.

Inaccurate Advice Deprives Workers of Security Benefits

Inaccurate advice from well-meaning but inadequately informed friends may be costing some retired workers money in the form of old-age and survivors insurance benefits. R. L. Surles, manager of the Wichita Falls office of the Social Security Board, said today. The same kind of advice also may be keeping benefit checks from widows, children and parents of workers who die.

Each worker who is 65 or over and has been working in covered employment should get in touch with the nearest office of the Social Security Board as soon as he quits his job. If he is qualified for benefits, the Board will assist him in filing a claim.

Similarly when a worker dies, the widow or other close relative should immediately contact the Board field office where complete assistance will be given in filing for survivor's benefits. Contacts may be made by personal visit, by letter or by telephone. Several retired workers who have delayed filing their claims have informed the Board that friends had told them they were not eligible. The best thing to do is to go to the Social Security Board office and secure correct information.

Many workers of retirement age tell the Board that they did not realize that they may continue to earn credits toward benefits after reaching age 65, or that they may work in covered employment, even after benefits start, without sacrificing their retirement insurance rights.

The true facts are that a worker may qualify for retirement benefits at any age above 65. He merely gives up his benefit for those months in which he earns as much as $15 in covered employment.

Knox City Soldier Returns From Italy

Charleston, S. Carolina—When the hospital ship Acadia docked at this harbor recently it brought 38 men and one nurse, all Texans, back from overseas duty. Most of the patients were veterans of the Italian campaign.

Included among the patients is the name of Sgt. Jack T. King of Knox City.

County Agent Says Low Priced Eggs Can Make Producer Profit

There's still a small profit in producing eggs at present prices, says R. O. Dunkle, County Agent. Efficient operation is the key to profit. He believes that a small flock of high producing hens will bring a higher return to a poultryman than a larger flock of irregular hens. This is a direct attack upon the feed problem. A high layer eats no more of the current expensive feed than one which does not earn her keep.

"The two best things I can recommend now," Mr. Dunkle says, "are to inspect the flock daily and cull out non-layers and replace them with chicks from hens which have been bred for high egg production."

Many hens are not in production now. Generally, they are identified by bright yellow shanks and yellow beaks, and some are showing signs of sickness, he explains. Others are crippled or paralyzed, while a large number have grey eyes which is a form of leucosis, or range paralysis. All such birds are feed wasters and a source of disease infection for other birds of the flock. Much feed, time and labor can be saved if these specimens are removed now.

Nearly all birds so affected are not laying and probably have a reproductive disorder or an internal form of range paralysis. Birds which have noticeably low weight are affected by the same disease.

Keeping poultry houses clean and comfortable is another safeguard against disease and consequent loss of production. Wormy flocks should be given some remedy to reduce the round worms, and most birds need delousing with sodium fluoride or nicotine sulphate. Young birds to be kept for laying should be separated from cockerels between the ages of 6 to 12 weeks and vaccinated for fowl pox.

FIGHT BEAN BEETLE

In Victory gardens the bean beetle is a real rival of the tomato for all-round value, and the crop is well worth protecting, says R. O. Dunkle. The worst a n d most widespread enemy of the beans—snap beans, wax beans and limas—last season, was the bean beetle. This is emphasized in the requests to the county agent's office and the Department of Agriculture for copies of the Victory gardener's handbook on insects and diseases.

Get ready for the bean beetle, the county agent advises. Wherever it gave trouble last year, it is likely to repeat—and that covers most of the garden area.

Bradberry Re-enters Grocery Business

Milton Bradberry announced Monday that he had purchased the Bud Norris Red & White Food Store and had taken possession Tuesday morning.

Mr. Bradberry had been in the grocery business for years in Knox City but had sold out in February of 1942 and was operating his farm east of town.

He plans to continue the business under the Red & White banner and to offer the same high quality merchandise as in the past.

Mr. Norris plans to stay here until the present school term expires and then move his family to Aspermont where he has some farming interests.

Knox City Students In Piano Tournament

The National Piano Tournament for this region was held in Abilene April 26, with M. Gogulawski of Chicago acting as judge. The day was a very inspirational one for all the students who played.

Those attending from Knox City were LaRue Malouf, Marie Robins, Paul Green, Mary Jocille Watson and Zana Ann Hamm. These young people played from six to twenty numbers and were judged on all the points of good musicianship. They all made a splendid showing and some were rated as outstanding in their ability for their age.

Paul Green was the only entrant with a repertoire of twenty numbers and he was commended very highly by Mr. Gogulawski. Robbie Lou Johnston of O'Brien was also an entrant as were Betty Bullock, Barbara Leon, and Elizabeth Geer, of Rule.

Canning School Here May 8th Will Show Latest Improvements

Recipes and instructions on food preservation to offset possible home-front shortages due to the war's crucial year will be given by Miss Carra Lee Gist, Lone Star G. S. Company home economist, at a canning demonstration to be held at 2:00 p. m. on Thursday, May 8, at the Knox City High School, according to S. A. Mitchell, district manager.

Lone Star's entirely new and complete canning booklet is just off the press and those attending the demonstration will be among the first to receive free copies, Mr. Mitchell said. The booklet contains 36 pages of canning instructions, recipes, charts and illustrations.

The canning course is open to the public, no fees will be charged and advance registration is not required.

By actual demonstration, Miss Gist will show the pressure cooker, open kettle and water bath methods of canning. She will can fruits and vegetables and explain the correct method of putting up meats, preserves, jellies, jams, butters, pickles, relishes and juices.

The pressure cooker method will be stressed as the most desirable for canning meats and non-acid vegetables, because it is the "nearest approach to the method of commercial canners." She will use recipes calling for minimum sugar and those eliminating all sugar. Miss Gist will explain the different types of jar lids and show how to apply them.

"Our government has asked us to fill pantry shelves with home-canned goods," Miss Gist said. During the crucial year of the war, we must make every ounce of food count for victory. It has been estimated that two out of every ten acres of food production are wasted somewhere in the line from harvesting to eating in the home. This is a tragic waste of vital war material which can be minimized by canning and preserving as much fresh and perishable food as possible."

How many of the young men who have left the farms for the military service for work in the shops will go back to these rural locations after the war? They may not all be needed for agricultural production when the armed services are largely demobilized and as the needs of our allies decrease and the people of liberated countries become a ble to support themselves.

The enormous demand for food that now exists will not continue long after the war. Many of the servicemen and war workers may feel that there is little chance for them on the farm, and they would better find some shop or business job.

Many of these fellows have been earning high pay in war work and not working as hard as they did back on the farm. The rewards of farm work may not seem very attractive to them.

Some folks who talk about the good old days want all the modern improvements.

"NAVY"

I can't say a thing, the war is to blame;
Just write that I'm well and send you my name.
Can't tell where I am, can't mention the date;
Can't even remember the meals that I ate.
Can't say where I'm going, don't know where I'll land,
Can't even inform you just how I stand.
Can't mention the snowflakes, not even the rain;
All Navy maneuvers must secrets remain.
Can't use a flashlight to guide me by night;
Can't smoke a cigar except out of sight.
Can't keep a diary, for such is a sin;
But can keep the envelope your letters come in.
Can't say for sure, sis, these words that I write,
Will be passed by the censor, so I'll close for the night.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS
by
BOYCE HOUSE

A heavy drinker in prohibition days was warned by a friend that, if he persisted in drinking bad booze he was liable to go blind, but he replied, "Oh, well, I've seen everything, anyhow."

There are various explanations as to why the creator of Huckleberry Finn and Tom Sawyer adopted the pen name of Mark Twain but that was a familiar term in gauging the depth of a steamboat's course and the famous author was a Mississippi River pilot. His actual name, of course, was Samuel L. Clemens.

It was related that a book agent rang his door bell one day and said, "Mr. Clemens, I would like to sell you the complete works of Mark Twain." Without a word, the author led the visitor into his library, pointed to the shelves containing all the editions of Twain's works, then opened the first volume of a set and pointed to a picture of himself and to the words under the picture—"Mark Twain (Samuel L. Clemens)."

History does not record what, if anything, the book agent said.

May 28 marks the 21st birthday of the Santa Rita well on the University of Texas lands. As a result of that well in the wilderness, the University has received $43,000,000 in oil revenue and the shacks have long since disappeared from the campus, replaced by the tower and other magnificent buildings, thus transforming that institution into the realization of the dream of the founders of Texas, "a university of the first class." Tens of thousands of students already have benefitted, as will countless others through all succeeding generations.

West Texas was considered a "graveyard" for oil hopes. Then the Santa Rita well blew in, not only producing miraculous benefits for the University but saving a railroad, opening up a vast region to oil development, building thriving towns and paying millions of dollars in taxes.

Helping Early Growth Of Plants Will Boost Final Production

A gardener's responsibility doesn't end with preparing the soil and planting the seeds. If this work is to be rewarded with good yields he must give nature a hand in nursing the tender plants, says Lucille King. He should fight weeds which rob vegetables of plant food, moisture and sun light, with frequent shallow cultivations, and prune and water and re-plant when necessary.

Tomatoes should be watered every other day for the next 10 days. A pint to a quart around each plant will counteract retarded growth caused by high winds and dry soil. Cucumbers and english peas also respond to added moisture. If the bottom leaves of the pea plants are yellowing they need plenty of water to maintain production through the next few weeks. At the same time, watch for signs of mildew—a powdery appearance of the leaves, which later look rusty and dying. Control it by dusting once a week with sulphur.

Miss King suggests thinning squash and cucumbers by cutting off the smaller plants at the ground line with a sharp knife after they have begun to make a vine. One plant every three feet is suitable spacing. She urges a second planting of green bush beans before the end of May and advises gardeners that it is also time for planting a second crop of lettuce. Mustard greens is another vegetable which should be planted again. Mixing some radish seed with the Tendergreen mustard saves space and hedges against too many radishes.

Warmer soil in most parts of the state points to okra planting time. And if green pepper plants aren't to be had, sow the seed in the open garden. Sprinkling the soil after seeding and keeping it thoroughly moist for five or six days will get the plants up quickly.

How long will sugar rationing continue? According to the figures, there is not enough in sight to increase the rations. A lot of sugar is used in the manufacture of ethyl alcohol used in the production of synthetic rubber and smokeless powder. It takes 66 pounds of sugar to make the ammunition to fire one shot from a five inch cannon.

Vacationists Warned To Use Precaution In Summer Sports

Seasonal advice to vacationists concerning the proper precautions to be used in water sports was released from the State Health Department today by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

It was pointed out that, in view of the wartime travel restrictions, vacation pleasures are apt to be limited to excursions and picnics at nearby lakes and ponds of unknown depth, and rivers and streams of unfamiliar currents. The usual lifeguard supervision associated with bathing beaches and commercial swimming pools is, of course, not available in such places.

"Swimming and water sports are beneficial to good health provided one's physical condition justifies this type of exercise," Dr. Cox asserted. "Nevertheless, they possess dangerous possibilities if the rules of safety are disregarded."

The State Health Officer outlined the following simple rules for bathing and swimming safety: at least one hour should elapse after a meal before entering the water; upon the first indication of fatigue, come ashore, call it a day and don't re-enter the water; if chilled, leave water immediately; do not enter the water when overheated; learn to float—this is important; never attempt to rock a boat in a spirit of fun; never swim in water that may be polluted; swimming close to or even a few miles below sewage outlets is inviting the possibility of acquiring disease.

"Excursions, picnics, and swimming parties contribute much to healthy, happy, normal life, which is especially desirable at this particular time when the whole nation is tense and under a strain," Dr. Cox said. "It is by no means advisable to eliminate these pleasures from our summer program, but it is important that they prove beneficial and not disastrous."

FORMER MUNDAY-ABIENE OFFICER WINS HIGH PRAISE
Special mention of heroic capture of a group of Germans in Italy by Capt. Paul Stanley, Munday, is given in a delayed Associated Press dispatch. Stanley, former auditor of the J. M. Radford Co. of Abilene and son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Stanley of Munday, is mentioned in connection with an ultimatum to surrender or be killed given over a loudspeaker system. "Capt. Stanley posted some of his doughboys at the entrance of a mine-fort to receive the surrendering men. Four appeared," the story read. Another ultimatum was broadcast. "Five minutes later Stanley charged the hilltop with his riflemen and Bangalore assault torpedo crews while Sherman tanks with sirens wailing rumbled into No Man's land. "In 20 minutes the Texan's forces cleaned up the hilltop, took 8 or 10 prisoners and began a planned withdrawal, carrying back their own casualties." "All in all, it was said, "the Germans had a bad morning."

10% OF INCOME IS OUR QUOTA IN WAR BONDS

Saving Paper Is Also Job of Texas Housewives

Texas 1,678,674 housewives could conserve enough paper daily to make 87,431 containers for 75 mm. shells by saving one paper grocery bag a day, according to an announcement by the War Production Board. This daily saving would amount to 157,375 pounds and over.

Paper conservation also releases supplies for ammunition and food containers, practice bombs, bomb bands, blood plasma cartons, protection for ambulances in shipment, camouflage materials and many other items. More than ten times as much tonnage of munitions, food and materials is being shipped overseas in this war as in the 1917-1918 conflict.

The paper shortage is creating a critical scarcity of bags in grocery stores, so far during the emergency bags have been available because of inventories and the elimination of variety bags, but in the future stores will have to depend entirely upon current reduced production and buyers' cooperation.

Food buyers and other shoppers are asked to conserve bags by having several items put in one sack, bringing their own bags for re-use, or carrying home packaged items unwrapped. If all housewives in the United States saved one ounce and a half bag each day, the saving would amount to nearly 600,000 tons annually.

Allocations of pulp for the manufacture of wrapping paper and bags during the second quarter of 1944 have been set by WPB at less than one third the quantity used during a comparable pre-war period. Labor shortages in the wood pulp industry and the loss of pulp imports, as well as military demands, have caused the paper scarcity.

During times of prosperity people spend money they will need later, and during bad times many of them save money they could afford to spend.

"Play Ball!" in Old Kentucky!

Private Esther Will of Bridgeville, Pennsylvania, Wac on duty at the athletic and recreation office at Fort Knox, Kentucky, issues baseball equipment to Sergeant Eugene Walker of Rainelle, West Virginia, catcher on one of the Army nines at the Kentucky post.

When the cry of "Play ball!" rings out at Army camps during off-duty hours, it may now come from a soprano voice.

Members of the Women's Army Corps have added the job of assistant to the Army athletic and recreation officer to the long list of key jobs which they are now filling. These jobs range from airplane mechanic and armorer to jeep driver and weather observer.

Under the triple-choice plan, just announced by the Women's Army Corps, Wacs now have the privilege of making three important choices when they enlist.

From the list of 239 Army jobs open to them, Wacs can now pick the jobs they like best. The result of this plan is that Wacs with special backgrounds, such as a Wac who had been a physical education instructor in civilian life, can now continue in the line of work for which they have been trained. For Wacs who want to learn new jobs, the Army has opened new specialized and highly technical schools.

As the second feature of the triple-choice plan, Wacs can now choose their branch of service from the Army Air Forces, Army Ground Forces and Army Service Forces.

The third feature of the plan is that Wacs can choose their initial assignment at any post, camp or airfield in the Service Command where they enlist.

Why did the Jerusalem Church have more force to spread the gospel to the world than does the church today? The people in the church then did not have more sense, as they were spoken of as ignorant people. They were not more educated for they all lacked the education of an average man. They did not have more wealth as they were usually referred to as needy. They were not greater men socially, as they had no social position of importance.

They did use the power that was given them. The apostles were told to tarry in Jerusalem until they received the power from on high. When they received the power, they began to use it. Do we use the power we have today? We are not inspired men as they were, but we have the same word, the gospel, that they gave. Rom. 10:16 tells us that it is the power of God to save.

State Health Officer Says Immunizing Will Stamp Out Diseases

Dr. Geo. Cox, State Health Officer, endorsing the President's proclamation that May 1 be set aside as Child Health Day, has issued an urgent appeal to all Texans to cooperate in this health conservation program.

"While it is true that science has provided for years the means to reduce almost to the vanishing point the occurrence of diphtheria and smallpox," Dr. Cox stated, "nevertheless, the actual control of these two diseases is largely in the hands of parents. If children are not immunized, these diseases will continue to take their toll in young lives."

Children should receive diphtheria toxoid treatment between the ages of six and nine months, the State Health Officer advised and pointed out that the necessity for immunizing at this early age was based upon the fact that nearly two-thirds of all diphtheria deaths occur in children under six years of age.

"I can't emphasize too strongly that to deprive children of the protection that science has made available is almost criminal negligence," Dr. Cox warned. "The family physician and the public health workers can only point the way and urge action, but the essential factor still lacking in most diphtheria illnesses and deaths is parental cooperation."

The doctor stated further that smallpox can be completely stamped out by universal vaccination.
