Mr. Sweatt bought the place he is living on now around 39 years ago. He owns 329 acres which includes his nice home. Although a Kentuckian by birth he has made a fine West Texas farmer. He is a member of the Gillispie Baptist church and has always taken an active part in the work of the church. He is now, in spite of his 75 years, a very energetic individual.

K C Gets Three New Homes

Knox City is nearer the building boom now than it has been in the past number of years. Three new homes are in the making with a good number of improvements being made to various other homes over the city.

Mrs. C. A. Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Denton and widow of the late Reverend C. A. Allen of Westbrook, is completing her little home this week. It is located just west of the E. B. Denton place.

Mrs. Allen has made her three room cottage both attractive and convenient, the interior features being a fire place, a handsome built in closet in the bed room and a nice built in china closet in the kitchen. Mr. Steve Powell has done this work by contract.

Benedict Building Brick

Mr. W. H. Benedict announced recently that he intended destroying his old home and erecting a nice brick cottage. Well, this week began the destruction of the old home. Half of the old building and has torn away and Mr. and Mrs. Benedict are camping in the remaining half while carpenters work on the new home. However, it is not the brick home yet. Mr. Benedict is building a four room rent cottage on the lot just west to his home. This house will have a complete bath room with nice built in features. As soon as this cottage is finished, Mr. and Mrs. Benedict will move into it until their home is built.

The brick home will be placed where the old home now stands. It will be a six room house with attractive interior finishings and convenient fixtures.

Mr. Steve Powell is doing the Benedict work.

Improvements

Among the other improvements being made on Knox City homes now is that just completed on Mother Clonts place. She has had her entire house repapered and painted. Mr. Ed Campsey has recently made valuable improvements on his home in the city. Guy Milford has recently redone the interior of his home.

Mr. L. W. Swift, after moving into the old E. E. Ackey place, made extensive improvements on the house. Mr. Swift just finished a number of improvements about the place last week. Mr. Lon Sibbey, who lives west of the city, is adding two new rooms to his home.

Ben Farmer has made some improvements and repairs on his house in the city. It is occupied by the Silman family.

Sims Oilers Defeat Locals

To Play Rochester Sunday

Knox City went down in defeat at the hands of Mose Sims Oilers last Thursday afternoon. Although the locals couldn't win the game they did play, according to the Sims manager, one of the finest, cleanest sportsmanship games the Oilers have played against this year.

To fans, the Oilers did not appear to be such a fast team, however, if the locals had played a better game it goes without saying that Mose Sims boys would have picked up considerably.

The game was an enjoyable one. Umpire Shaver did a swell job.

Truscott Game Forfeited

Knox City failed to play a league game Sunday. They were scheduled to play Truscott here but Truscott forfeited the game. Players were too busy harvesting there to play ball.

Knox City plays Rochester here Sunday. It is interesting to know that Rochester holds first place in the Brazos Valley League and Knox City second. The game Sunday promises to be a good one.

Mrs. P. B. Baker, Mrs. Park Wood ward and Mrs. H. B. Sweeney spent a most enjoyable day Saturday in Abilene.

The young ladies of the Methodist church acting as Folgers Coffee Hostess in the grocery stores Saturday state that their earnings for the day totaled $10.56. They greatly appreciate every purchase of Folgers made Saturday.

Mrs. George Raburn of Corpus Christi and Mrs. Rosa Quintance of Amarillo are here this week with their mother Mrs. Hobson. Mrs. Hubert Hobson of Corpus Christi was here over the past weekend.

Little Miss Hazel Simmons entertained 18 of her friends last Friday afternoon with a party honoring her natal day. She received many nice little gifts. A variety of games were played after which refreshments of cakes, cream and candy were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Dickerson and on Billy of Los Angeles are moving this week to Knox City. Until they find a home they are staying with Mr. and Mrs. Lawson White. Mr. Dickerson and Mr. Louie Powell are taking over the Griffith service station and garage.

Mrs. Dickerson is a sister to Mrs. White and Mrs. A. W. McDeath.

GUEST DAY PROGRAM SPLENDID

The Methodist Missionary women enjoyed an attendance of between 40 and 50 at the guest day program Monday afternoon at the church. A very beautiful devotional was given by Brother McCowan. He presented his message in the form of a string of pearls, each pearl being found in the Beatitudes. Miss Mable Clonts gave a clever reading called "The Ladies Aid" which poem, although amusing, carried a great deal of truth as well as poetry.

The main speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. McCowan. She made an interesting talk on Love, Brotherhood and Worship, in which she gave her own experience as a member of this Missionary Society.

Brother Butterfield responded to his invitation for a short talk and gave an interesting account of Missionary work among the Indians.

Following the adjournment of the meeting punch was served by several young ladies of the church.

The Society meets next Monday with Mrs. W. E. Benedict in a social. Capsule sisters will be revealed and new names drawn. Every Missionary woman is invited to attend this meeting.

Mr. P. P. Cooper of Idalou and Mr. Ed Green of Roby were here last Saturday visiting in the home of Mr. Cooper's sister, Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Bridges.

Jack Wilson Wins Tri-County Golf Tournament

Second Win for Wilson in Three Years and Third Win for Knox City in Five Years

In the sensational finale of the fifth annual tournament of the Tri-County Golf Association played on the beautiful fairways of the Seymour County Club, Jack Wilson won over Bryon Shupee, Seymour's portly schoolboy golfer, in the hotly contested 36 hole match, the outcome of which was ever in doubt until the last ball was played on the 19th green. Neither player was ever more than two up during the entire match, playing all square during the 18 hole morning round. Both players started off with a nice par on the 19th hole about three o'clock p. m., but Jack having trouble on the incoming holes of the first nine and losing the 18th to start the last lap, found himself two down with eight to play; coming back gamely he took the 29th and 30th to even the count, halved the 31st, then took the 32nd and 33rd to go two up and three to play. He faltered on the 34th and the fighting Bryon seizing the advantage took the hole with a beautiful drive and approach, cutting the champ's lead in half, a slender one hole which he held to the end, being forced to pitch his fourth stroke in the cup from off the rim of the last green. Bryon still fighting gamely missed a long put for a birdie three.

Wilson has won fourteen matches out of fifteen in Tri-County Tournament play, winning the second flight in Seymour three years ago, the championship flight in Haskell two years ago, losing in the semi-finals in Munday one year ago and winner again this year, he is the only winner who has ever repeated.

The Tri-County witnessed the best golf since its organization this year, several match plays showing real championship stuff in the players. Joe Withrow, the youngest playing golfer in the association, carried Jack Wilson into extra innings to give Jack the greatest scare of the tournament. Both played par golf through the eighteen holes, Jack winning with a par on the nineteenth. Perhaps the prettiest match of the tournament was Panny Farmer's loss to Shupee in the semi-finals. Panny appeared to be winner until the very last, losing on the eighteenth green.

G. T. Hardberger made a trip to Waxahachie last week for a prisoner Buck Bales, whose suspended sentence was revoked.

The Essentials of Greatness

We have been thinking about the men whom the world calls great, and wondering how many of them will be so regarded half a century from now. In these days of wide-spread and instant publicity, any man who does spectacular and gets his picture into the newspapers is acclaimed by the unthinking as a great man. He may have done nothing more important than to go up in a sky-rocket or sit on a flagpole, but a foolish world does not discriminate between notoriety and greatness.

We would hardly try to list the men of real greatness now alive but think there is a critical test which, if applied, would eliminate many who regard themselves as great men. We do not find many enshrined in history as great men who were not equipped with certain qualities of character, that have nothing to do with the positions in which chance or fate placed them.

It is somewhat increasingly the fashion among the young to sneer at the old-fashioned "copy book" maxims of conduct. But there is only one sure foundation of character that will stand the test of time, and that is adherence to those very principles Honor, integrity, truthfulness, diligence, thrift, sobriety, modesty, may be old-fashioned virtues but they are still the only rules of life which can lead to real greatness.

It is a mistake that the men who rose to the top in great affairs do so by chicanery and dishonesty. It is one of the commonest of errors to think that a man achieves success without working harder and more faithfully at whatever task he has in hand than do the lazy and envious around him. And we have never seen a man whom we believe to be on the path to greatness who spent his money recklessly, who wasted his energy in dissipation or who bought self advertisement.

The very few men of great affairs who have been disclosed in these recent times as men of no character are the glaring exceptions. If all leaders of business and industry were crooks, there could be no surprise at the disclosures of the offenses of a Kruger or an Insull. Men like these when their true character is disclosed, get into the headlines because they are different from the general run. Nothing can be more destructive to individual character than to fall into the belief that it is useless to strive, since high place can be won only by trichery. We felt that the failure of the Senate investigation to disclose a single act of dishonesty on the part of the House of Morgan should go a long way toward offsetting the shock of the disclosures of less honorable conduct on the part of bankers like Mitchell and Harrison.

"Juneteenth" was rather a mild day in Knox City; in fact, the big celebration in this territory was held in Aspermont. A majority of the colored people of Knox City managed to get to Aspermont and "a big time was had by all".

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Rev. Chas. E. Dunn

Jesus Our Lord and Saviour.
 Lesson for June 25th. Peter 1:3-9
 Golden Text: Matthew 28:18-20

This is a review lesson, where we pause to summarize the meaning of the lessons of the Second Quarter, dealing with the drama of the life of Jesus from the middle of His ministry to His death and resurrection.

At the beginning we saw the Master, with His disciples, pushing into Syria. There he met the Greek woman who sought and found His healing touch for her afflicted daughter. Note the absence here of either sex or race prejudice.

Then we studied one of the most critical episodes in the career of Jesus, the conference of Caesarea Philippi, where the Master, apparently for the first time, openly acknowledged that He was the Messiah, and demanded of His disciples sacrificial obedience after the pattern of the Cross.

There followed the thrilling episode of the Transfiguration. In the darkness of the night Jesus, with His three most intimate disciples, trudged up a mountain, and there, at its summit, was He transformed. His whole person assuming an unearthly splendor.

Then we watched the Saviour rebuke the self-seeking of His ambitious followers by placing a little child in their midst; we studied the exceedingly suggestive story of the rich young ruler; we walked with our Lord as He journeyed toward Jerusalem to face His Cross; we shared in the enthusiasm of the crowd as they hailed Him upon His entrance into the city so close to His heart as King; we delighted in His skill in confounding those who tried to entrap Him with their captious questions; we rejoiced in the devotion of the woman who poured costly ointment upon His head; and we noticed the startled look upon the faces of the twelve, and heard their nervous query, "It is I?" as He announced His betrayal.

Finally, we saw our King on His Cross, crucified at Calvary. It is a bitter but glorious Cross, a throne fit for a matchless Master. And soon we saw the grip of death released, and a risen Lord who reigns forever in the hearts of all who love Him.

GENERAL MOTORS BUILDING AT CHICAGO WORLD FAIR

Chicago, June 21.—The General Motors Building rears its bulk aloft, a giant shaft of gold", says one writer describing the magnificent panorama of the Century of Progress Exposition by night. With the fair but a few days old, the General Motors Building is recognized as one of the most thrilling spectacles at night.

Three hundred and fifty flood and projector lamps bathe the orange, yellow, red, silver and blue building. The orange-gold tower is the focal point of attention, rearing its 175 foot height conspicuously into the many-hued heaven created by the genius of Joseph Urban, supervisor of color and lighting for the Century of Progress.

Exterior lighting of the General Motors Building alone consumes enough electricity per night to pump water for a city of 25,000 inhabitants, or to provide home and street lighting for a city of 7,500 inhabitants. An average of two million three hundred thousand watts of electricity a day is used. Monthly consumption amounts to sixty-nine million watts. This is equal to 2,600 horsepower a month.

Approximately three times this amount of current is consumed in the interior of the giant structure for power in the Chevrolet-Fisher Body assembly plant and other exhibition exhibits and to light the seven main rooms.

Irman Messer and Jimmie Ashcroft put on a good exhibition Wednesday morning when neither won in the "Ford Chevrolet" argument in front of the Ashcroft station. The controversy ranged from the shoe level to the peak of fine Chevrolets.

Stamford Reunion

Stamford, June 21 A contest which tests the skill of the horse rather than of the rider will be a feature of the cowboy rodeo to be held in connection with the Fourth Annual Texas Cowboy Reunion here July 2, 4 and 5. The test is known as the cutting-horse contest and as far as can be learned here is not held in any other rodeo.

The contest to decide the best cutting-horse was inaugurated at the Reunion last year and proved so popular that it is being repeated this year with changes in rules which will make the competition more difficult. The test has proved popular with the cowboys due to the great pride which they take in their horses. While the ability of the rider is considered by the judges, the winning of the contest depends for the most part on the horse.

In the contest, a herd of cattle is placed in the arena and each contestant is required to cut out five animals marked by colored ribbons. Each cow must be put across the dead line designated by the judges, but on the first two attempts to put the animal across the dead line, the riders holding the herd will turn the animal back on him. Each time the animal is turned back, it is more difficult to cut out the next time. Speed, as well as the skill of the horse and rider, will be considered in judging.

An elimination contest will be held in this event on the morning of July 4 and the finals will be held before the rodeo spectators on the afternoon of July 5. The entrance fee is $5.00. First prize is $60.00, second $40.00, third $30.00 and fourth $20.00.

Rodeo performances will be held afternoon and night during the three days of the Reunion with a total of $1455.00 in cash prizes offered. Contests will be held in calf-roping, wild-cow-milking, bronc-busting and steer-riding twice daily. Ranking in interest next to the cutting-horse contest will be the oldtime calf-ropers' contest for cowboys over 55 years of age which will be held on July 2 and 4. First prize will be a saddle, second a pair of boots and third a pair of spurs.

It is amusing to know that local bankers failed to get a holiday "Juneteenth". We wonder why?

other two demonstrations being carried by club women in Knox County. She has made a foundation pattern and is using this pattern to make a dress for the contest, June 21. Mrs. Matlock also has a nice garden and is beginning to fill her canning budget for next year.

Gilliland Home Demonstration Club Works on Bedrooms

The bedroom that is being improved by Mrs. Elmer Horne, demonstrator in the Gilliland Home Demonstration Club is a southeast corner room with plenty of natural light. There are four windows and two doors in this room with a closet built back in the wall. Mrs. Horne plans to clean the room thoroughly, rearrange the furniture and improve the walls and floors. "The thing I am most interested in is improving my storage space," stated Mrs. Horne "and I believe I will be able to do that by putting a substantial rod in the closet for hanging clothes and by building some shelves for hats shoes and linens." The closet is long and narrow and can be used very successfully by adding shelves in both ends and using the center for hanging clothes.

Story of Doris McGuire, Vera 4-H Club Winner of Third Place in the Bedroom Contest in Knox County

I was in my third year of club work when our Home Demonstrator asked us to choose a bedroom demonstrator. I was chosen to be this demonstrator.

As I already had a bedroom of my own, I didn't have to bring up the idea of planning for a separate bedroom, although my bedroom needed a great many repairs. The worst repairs my bedroom needed was papering, painting, new curtains, and shades.

In this contest there were five things that I had to do. These five things were fix a place for dressing, a place for sleeping, storage for my clothes, a place for washing, and a place for study. With these five things in mind my mother and I began to study what to do first.

The first thing that we decided to do was to build a closet. Instead of buying new lumber, as my aim was to keep down expense we took down a partition between the front hall and the living room to build my closet. There was a closet in the living room; so I took it down and used the door of it for my closet.

Next we decided to paint all of our woodwork because we were afraid that we would get paint on our wall paper if we papered first. I also painted the study table and touched up my bedroom suite which was straw and pale green color. I also painted the moulding that had been around the baseboard and put it at the ceiling. I did the papering next, with the assistance of my brother and mother.

As I had plenty of natural light, I could not worry about fixing any more windows. I had one single window on the east and a double window on the south. My curtains were a little too small for my window I had to think about getting new ones. I finally decided to get the material and make my curtains. After cleaning the floor with a lye solution, I used an oak stain on it.

I arranged the furniture with the lines of the room so as to make it more appropriate, accessible and comfortable. In arranging the furniture, I kept in mind such principles as having my table in such a place so the light would come over my left shoulder. On my study table I had a reading lamp and a book case.

I had a bathroom therefore I did not have to plan for washing facilities. The bathroom had to be improved however and this we did by removing the partition between the hall and bathroom and making it larger. The position of the bathtub and lavatory was changed and a closet for storage of linens was built in the room.

My expenses were as follows:

Paper	1.50
Paint	.50
Closet	.50
Floor Paint	.40
Refinishing Furniture	.10
Curatins	1.00
Total	4.00

I paid for most of the things I had to have to fix my room by selling eggs. I have some baby chickens and turkeys and plan to have a great many.

A COMPANY THIRTY YEARS OLD

Last Friday the Ford Motor Company completed 30 years of automobile making.

It is also my fortieth year at the same job. I made my first engine in 1893, and it still runs. This is the engine that won the Selden Patent Suit—which took the motor car out of the exclusive class, and opened the automobile industry to hundreds of manufacturers who started during the last 30 years.

Some of the men who began with me that June day in 1903, are working here yet. All of the principles we laid down then, are still operative; we find that they have great survival value for the future. To date they have produced and sold over 21,000,000 Ford cars.

Although we created the automobile market we have never thought it was good for anyone to monopolize it. We have always believed that before business could be good for one, it must be good for all. Our discoveries and improvements have always been open to other manufacturers without patent restrictions.

Of course, there is one thing we cannot share—everyone must get it for himself—and that is experience. Money could duplicate our buildings and machines, but it cannot duplicate 40 years of experience. And it is experience that makes a motor car.

But the past does not especially concern me; it has all been a preparation for the future. For myself, I feel that I have just been gathering the tools to do something worth while, and that my real task is still ahead.

Great changes are upon the world. False ideas of every kind are vanishing in the general upheaval. Those who built truly on principle will survive—their service will carry over. Business integrity and commodity honor will be fully justified. And newer and better ways of living will appear.

That is the outlook for this young thirty-year old Company of ours.

THE MODERN MARKET PLACE

"You mean that we ought to do street preaching," a preacher once asked me.

But street preaching is not at all analogous to what Jesus did. The cities in which He worked were both small and leisurely; the market was a gathering place where everybody came at some time—the transfer place for all merchandise and for ideas. Where will you find such a market place in modern days? A corner of Fifth Avenue? A block on Broadway? Only a tiny fraction of the city's people pass any given point in the downtown district on any given day. A man might stand and preach for years at Fifth Avenue and Thirtieth Street, and only one in a hundred thousand would ever know that he lived.

No, the present day market-place in the newspaper and magazine. Printed columns are the modern thoroughfares; published advertisements are the cross-roads where the seller and the buyer meet. Any issue of a national magazine is a world's fair, a bazaar filled with the products of the world's work. Clothes and clocks and candlesticks; soap and soap and cigarettes; lingerie and tinousness the best of all of them are there, proclaimed by their makers in persuasive tones. That every other voice should be raised in such great market-places, and the voice of Jesus of Nazareth be still—this is a vital omission which He would find a way to correct. He would be a national advertiser today. I am sure, as He was the great advertiser of His own day. To the minds of those who hurry through the bustling pages, He too would send his call:

What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul; or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?

This would be His challenge in every newspaper and magazine; and with it would be coupled an invitation to share in the joyous enterprise of His work.

A very successful publisher has a rule that no photograph shall ever be printed in his newspaper unless it contains human beings. You and I are interested most of all in ourselves; next to that we are interested in other people. What do they look like? How did they do? What have they done and said? With unerring instinct Jesus recognized and used this trait in human nature. One of the most revealing of all verses to those who would understand the secret of His own power is this: "All these things spake Jesus unto the multitude in parables; and without a parable spake He not unto them." A parable is a story. He told them let the stories carry His message. He might have adopted very different methods—many teachers and would be leaders do. He might have dealt in generalities.

CURTIS

There are just as many opportunities now as there ever were for the right man to achieve independence by the use of his own talents and not much else. Of course, he must have the talents and the will to use them.

That is what I think of in thinking of my old friend, Cyrus H. K. Curtis, who died the other day at 83. He started his business career with three cents, which he ran up to nine cents the first day, buying and selling newspapers in his native Portland, Maine. He died leaving an estate of many millions, owner of the Saturday Evening Post, Ladies Home Journal and three daily newspapers.

Mr. Curtis prospered because he had the essential qualities of success in himself. He was honest, industrious, modest, religious, quick-witted, sober, generous and cheerful. His life was a complete disproof of the notion many lazy folks have, that men only get rich by robbing the poor. He gave the people of America more, in shape of wholesome good reading, than he ever took from them.

CONSTITUTIONS

I confess to a lack of sympathy with the idea that our nation or any nation must always be fettered by the dead hands of the past. I am willing to admit that the Constitution of the United States is the greatest charter of government ever set down on paper, but greater than any written document is the spirit of the people, and when that changes it is time to change the document or discard it.

Constitution is that it is not written. It includes all the fundamental laws that have been enacted since Magna Charta; the Act of Succession, the Bill of Rights and a few other basic statutes that must not be violated, as that's all.

The best state constitution I know of is that of my Commonwealth of Massachusetts. It sets down a few things which the General Court may not do and says in substance that the Legislature can do anything else that may be necessary to be done. And the worst constitution I have ever read is that of Oklahoma, which tries to prescribe every detail of government.

TEXAS and foreign affairs

Anybody who thinks the American people are not concerned about foreign affairs had better not say that too loud in Texas. Peter Mosy, editor of the Texas Weekly, has been making Texans understand that the prosperity of all of them depends directly on international trade.

Few people think of Texas in connection with foreign affairs, but that big state she more good abroad than even New York. About 90 percent of Texas cotton goes abroad, and a third of the population is off or poor, depending upon the foreign price of cotton. Texas oil is another big item in foreign trade.

Peter Molynaux believes, and is getting other Texans to believe, that we've got to compromise the war debts and reduce our tariff if we want to continue selling our goods abroad. Europe can't buy from us unless we buy from them, he says, and I think he's just about right.

KING speaks to world

George the Fifth, the most popular king England has had for more than a century, opened the World Economic Conference in London with a speech which was heard by radio around the world. Every nation on the globe, 64 of them, was represented there. No monarch ever presided over such a truly world-wide gathering.

The conference was called by the League of Nations, supposedly the most democratic organization in the world. But the man who presided is the only authentic and powerful emperor who remains upon a throne.

One secret of George V's popularity is that he doesn't act as if he were a monarch. He knows that he is King only so long as the English people want him to be. He is said to have intimated that the heir to the throne, the Prince of Wales, stands a much better chance of becoming President of the British Republic than King.

STICKS the flurry

Anybody who thinks that speculation in stocks can be stopped by law has another guess coming. There is no limit to the desire of human beings to gamble. Most of the transactions on the Stock Exchange in normal times are on behalf of legitimate investors, who have bought and paid for their stocks and sell only when they can make a material profit by doing so and not always then, if the dividends continue.

Investors buy intelligently and sell carefully. But the ordinary person who does not make a business of looking after his money thinks he can beat the stock-market game while still carrying on his ordinary business. It can't be done, and it is nobody's fault but his own if he loses.

Make Perfect Coffee... EVERY TIME... with These Automatic "Electrical Servants"

Authorities agree that the only perfect brew requires three things. First, that coffee should come in contact with water that the contact should be of definite duration. Third, that the coffee-making should not be held at a temperature above the boiling point. Here are two appliances that make perfect coffee EVERY TIME. The Manning-Bowman French Drip Coffee Maker and the Hoopstet Coffee-Maker.
