TEACHERS SHOULD WARN PUPILS

School teachers of Knox City should not hesitate to take a few minutes out of their work every week to discuss with their pupils the dangers of the highway, with modern automobiles whizzing by and children being accidentally killed at the rate of eighty a week.

Not only should this slaughter have the attention of school teachers but other organizations in Knox City should help in the fight against this terrible toll. Children must be repeatedly warned to avoid the dangers that lurk in careless use of the highways of the nation.

It's time for us to quit taking for granted the deaths of eighty children a week and almost that many adults every day. The price is too much to pay for speed and concerted effort can cut down the death toll appreciably.

WEAK AND SKINNY MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN

Save by new Vitamins of Cod Liver Oil in tasteless tablets.

Pounds of firm healthy flesh instead of flabby scraggy bones! New vigor, vim and energy instead of tired listlessness! Healthy quiet nerves! That is what thousands of people are getting through scientific latest discovery—the Vitamins of Cod Liver Oil concentrated in little sugar coated tablets without any of its horrid, fishy taste or smell. McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, they're called! "Cod Liver Oil in Tablets", and they simply work wonders. A little boy of 3, seriously sick, got well and gained 10 lbs. in just one month. A girl of thirteen after the same disease, gained 5 lbs. the first week and 2 lbs. each week after. A young mother who could not eat or sleep after baby came got all her health back and gained 15 lbs. in less than a month. You simply must try McCoy's at once. Remember if you don't gain at least 2 lbs. of firm healthy flesh in a month get your money back. Demand and get McCoy's—the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablets—approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Because all substitutes are on the original McCoy's—there are some letters.

HAVE TOO MUCH GOVERNMENT

Now that the election is over and the officials named for the ensuing term it might not be amiss to direct attention to the cost of our system of government.

According to recent census figures the tax-payers of the United States support 3,062 county governments, 16,659 city governments, 128,548 school districts and 19,769 township organizations. The question before the citizens of this country is whether there are too many organizations for modern needs.

We have no objection to any of these arms of government if the tax-payers are willing to pay for them. However, the average citizen of this republic pays $71.09 each year to support them, when many of them could be eliminated without crippling government in the least.

Subscribers of ours, send in the coin!

What do you think you have to be thankful about this year?

The gossip is the individual who puts the "and" in scandal.

Few farmers will join in giving thanks for bumper crops.

What became of the war that was certain to begin in Siberia last spring?

One of the easiest things in the world is to tell other people their mistakes.

Our advice to winners and losers: Don't forget, there will be other elections.

Every community has individuals worthy of aid who get none from the government.

What kind of a town is Knox City in the estimation of the boys and girls here?

The average father has a hard time at night when his sons are studying for examinations.

Honorary of Jewell Faulkner, County Home Demonstration Agent for 4-Week in November

4-H PANTRIES JUDGED

The organized pantries of the demonstrators in the Home Demonstration Clubs were judged Friday, November 8 by Mar Dillingham, Monday, November 12 by Mrs. J. H. McGee, Union Grove, and third place to Mrs. Clyde Warren, Hefner. Other pantries judged and awarded much praise were: Mrs. Marion Ryder, Gilliland, Miss Mary Howell, Knox City and Mrs. J. J. Stark, Benjamin.

In entering this contest these demonstrators pledged themselves to make a budget for their family for a year, make plans for providing, either by raising or buying the necessary foods in order for their family to have an adequate diet the entire year, keep records of food raised, eaten, fresh, soup or canned and report and write a story of their years work. This was done in most every case and these stories as written by the demonstrators will appear in print from time to time.

When I was appointed pantry demonstrator for the Munday Home Demonstration club for the year 1934, I scarcely knew where to begin. I had always tried to give my family an adequate diet, but living so far from town it was very hard to do at times, especially during the non-productive seasons.

The first thing I did after being appointed pantry demonstrator was to take an inventory and fill out a canning budget. My family consists of my husband, two sons and myself and I figured my budget accordingly. I added about 100 feet of shelving. The cost of the improvements was $5.10. Lumber for the shelving was $4.90 and lime for white washing was 20 cents.

The vegetables I grew in my garden consisted of beans, okra, redishes, mustard, lettuce, melons, cucumbers, canteloupes, spinach, turnips, tomatoes, peas, carrots and beets. I have 745 pints of food on my pantry shelves valued at $158.90 and I intend to can a beef very soon. I have had more food than this in my pantry but because of the shortage of fresh vegetables, I have been using on it all along.

In organizing my pantry, I labeled the containers and have them placed where I know exactly where to find them at any time. This, to me, is one of the most important things I have done.

I have really enjoyed being pantry demonstrator and feel that I have accomplished a lot in having the foods on hand that are required for a balanced diet. My family, too, has enjoyed this demonstration as much as I have.

AUTOMOBILES AND SAFETY

We understand that the makers of the 1935 automobiles will put less stress on the speed of which their cars are capable and more on such safety features as unshatterable glass, low center of gravity, reliability of brakes and ease of control, as well as economy in gas and oil consumption. It seems to us that they have gone about as far as necessary in the matter of speed. There are few, if any, cars now on the market that cannot be pushed up to 60 or more miles an hour. And for most drivers on most roads that is faster than considerations of safety warrant.

There is a steadily growing number of fatal automobile accidents, as the speed of cars increases and the mileage of hard-surfaced roads multiplies. Most of these accidents are unnecessary. Leaving out of consideration the fools who try to drive after they have had a few drinks, there is an irresistible temptation, particularly to the young reckless, to step on the gas when the road ahead seems clear, regardless of what may be approaching from the cross-roads.

Some bright fellow remarked that the weakest point of every car is "the nut that holds the steering wheel." Even the most careful driver has to reckon with the "nut" who may be driving another car on the same road.

As winter sets in the risk of driving is increased. Careful analysis of some thousands of motoring accidents shows that more of them occur between daylight and dark, in the twilight hours, than either in broad daylight or after dark. Headlights do little but confuse in the half-light just after the sun has set, and the driver's instinct is not to rely on them.

We think that the greatest room for improvement in automobiles is in this matter of headlights. The genius who will discover a way to light one's own road without blinding approaching drivers has a fortune waiting for him to pick up.

THE BOOK

By Bruce Barton

PAUL'S GREAT WRITINGS
 That white-hot letter to the Galatians, product of Paul's intense moral indignation, whose remain untranslated because the translators had feared to put them into plain English, is the Magna Chart of Christian liberty. It is the rebuke of bigotry and the battle cry of freedom.

Paul soon set forth on his third and last missionary journey. He started northward as he had done before, passing from Antioch by land around the end of the Mediterranean, preaching as he went, till he came to Ephesus. There he seemed to find an opening in the Jewish synagogue, but after three months a sharp clash arose, and he rented a schoolroom from a philosopher named Tyrannus, the philosopher using it half a day and Paul the other half. He took a two years' lease of this place and developed his extension service so full that all they which dwelt in Asia (the province, not the continent) heard the word of the Lord Jesus, both Jews and Greeks.

The growth of his body of adherents was so remarkable that in this city, where the beautiful temple of Diana stood, and her shrine was sacred, the idol makers were almost out of work. A largemass meeting of the silversmiths and allied trades convened in the theatre. There was a great shout for two hours, "Great is Diana of the Ephesians." But then, as often, the more part knew not wherefore they were come together. So the crowd shouted itself tired without voice, and the town clerk said a tactful word that dismissed the assembly.

In Ephesus, before this riot his withdrawal wise Paul heard occasionally from his churches in Macedonia and Achaia, and he kept in touch with them by means of his letters, which were increasingly comprehensive.

From here he wrote his two letters to the Corinthians. If you will read them you will see that he canvassed pretty nearly every subject of church organization and of practical sociology: Ought the church to retain in its membership a fornicator? Ought Christians to observe the festivals of the moon? Ought Christians to marry? Ought women to have part in public worship? Ought Christians to have lawsuits?

Prompted in part by questions submitted to him, his letters grew to include more and more of doctrinal instruction and of practical application of truth to life. Read these letters and see how there come into them such subtle passage as the chapter on charity (1 Cor. 13):

TO EDUCATE OR NOT TO EDUCATE

It is related of a certain king, that, when embarked on a voyage, attended by some of his courtiers, and carrying some of his treasures a storm arose, which made it necessary to lighten the ship; whereupon he commanded his courtiers to be thrown overboard, but saved his money. How is it with parents who are embarked with fortune and family on this voyage of life; when they need a better schoolhouse to save their children from ill health, or a better teacher to rescue them from idleness and ignorance, or even a pen or a shilling worth of paper to save them from idleness, have we any parents who, under such circumstances, will fling the child overboard to save the shilling?

The football boys and Coach Wetzel appreciate the cooperation of the citizens and those who took part in the play "Widows and What-Nots" given Friday night. Besides the choruses, in the play, Mrs. Mary Lou Graham and Mildred Dutton entertained the audience by playing songs on two pianos.

Greyhound Field, November 12, Rochester fell before Knox City's Greyhounds today by a score of 12-2. The Greyhounds gave Rochester a sound trimming, outplaying them in every department of play. First downs were 19 and 14 in favor of Knox City.

The Greyhounds scored first in the 2nd quarter. Lloyd Huntsman taking the ball over from the two yard line, after a drive came late in the fourth quarter on another drive from midfield with Lloyd Huntsman carrying the ball every play. A pass was incomplete on the 2 yard line, but on the next play Huntsman went over right guard for the score.

Rochester made two points in the fourth quarter when Bryan touched the ball to the ground behind the line for an intentional safety.

The Steers threatened to score in the last quarter when they had first down and goal to go on the 5 yard line, but the Greyhounds threw them back to the 6 yard line and the ball went over, after they had tried 4 line plays. The Greyhounds then took the ball and gave them a safety. The ball was moved to the 20 yard line where it was punted out of danger.

ARMISTICE PROGRAM GIVEN IN ASSEMBLY

A very interesting program was given in assembly last Friday morning. The subject was Armistice. Reverend GIBBON gave a speech telling us why we should be reverent on Armistice and gave us a description of some of the horrors of war. Mr. King also told some interesting stories of war and Armistice.

The song "The Star Spangled Banner" and "America" completed the program.

The basketball girls are planning to beat Rochester Wednesday evening in the O'Brien Gymnasium. This will be the first game of the season.
