

John A. Smith Announces For Commissioner

Just when it looked like—the other candidates—that the door was locked for good, one more name was added to the list of aspirants for the office of Commissioner, Precinct 1.

John A. Smith of Knox City announced early this week that he had beat the deadline and would be a candidate for the office.

Born and reared in Knox County, John needs little introduction to the voters. He is one of the "Smith boys", a son of the pioneer J. W. Smith family.

In making his announcement, John said he would try to see all the voters of the precinct before the July primary. "I am familiar with every nook and cranny of this precinct, and know almost every resident within its limits, as well as the whole county. I think I can impartially administer the duties of the office and give the people a fair deal. I have had quite a lot of business experience, and know how to properly care for the roads and other material requirements that go with the job. I ask your vote and support, and hope to see each of you before the primary," he said.

Red Cross Gives Information About Removal War Dead

The Knox County Chapter of the American Red Cross passes on to the general public information to those who lost sons and husbands in the recent war.

On May 16 the War Department announced complete plans for the repatriation of 328,000 World War II deceased military personnel buried outside the continental United States.

Under the law families will have option of:

Having the remains returned to the United States for final interment in a National Cemetery near their home. The cost of this will be borne by the government.

Returning the remains to the United States or American Territories for burial by next-of-kin in a private cemetery. The government will pay $50.00 toward the local burial expense and bear all cost of shipping the body home.

Creating at government expense is authorized if desired.

Burying the dead in a permanent American Military Cemetery overseas.

Caskets will be available this fall however it is possible that the earliest return of remains will not take place before the end of the year. It is planned that the first remains to be returned will be from Hawaii and Belgium, where the records of eight temporary military cemeteries have already been checked and rechecked.

The first inquiries to next of kin will be mailed within a few weeks. This form should be returned within 30 days. Letters will not be received by all next-of-kin at the same time. They will be mailed as records in the various overseas cemeteries are verified. No letter will be sent until positive verification has been made.

All general information about the progress of the repatriation program will be made available to the public by the War Department through press and radio. Further information can be obtained from your county Red Cross office.

RAIN WEDNESDAY NIGHT UPS TOTAL TO 9.86

Blowing in with a strong wind from the north, Knox City got 76 inches rain Wednesday night, bringing the years total up to 9.86. The rain fell quickly and running water was high in some places.

Last year's total at this time was 7.54 inches. With more than 2 inches to spare, it looks like a "wet year" according to western standards.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith and daughter, Ava Nell, of Ralls spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hamm. Mrs. Smith and daughter remained for a longer visit.

Approval Received On Vet Training School In County

The Secretary of the Knox Board for Vocational Education, G. S. Dowell, is in Lubbock this week completing plans with the Veterans' Administration for the school to start early in July.

The board's applications to the State Board of Education and the Veterans' Administration, and the application to the Commissioners Court to set up a revolving fund to help finance the school until the government money is received, have been approved.

The County Vocational School is planned for veterans who do not go away to college. Any veteran who had as much as three months in the service will be eligible to enroll and by taking twelve hours a week in class work may continue his present job and draw the $65.00 for single people or $90.00 for a veteran with one or more dependents. Courses will be offered in Agriculture, Trades and Industries, and Distributive Education which will be largely business administrative courses to begin with. Classes will be held in different communities of the county.

Mr. Dowell stated that he thought they would be able to enroll veterans by the first of July and probably start classes by the 10th to the 15th. "There is a lot of detail work which must be done, but we are getting that behind us rapidly and the program will be in position to progress more rapidly after this week."

Annual 4-H Camp To Be Held At Seymour July 19-20

The next annual 4-H boys club camp will be held at Seymour, July 19th and 20th, according to R. O. Dunkle, county agent.

All 4-H Club boys in Knox County, who are regularly enrolled as a 4-H member, and who have demonstrations of filed crops, beef calves, pigs, dairy cows, or poultry are invited to attend the camp, which will be held in the Seymour City Park.

Each boy attending the camp must bring sleeping and eating equipment, personal equipment, towels and swimming trunks and enough food for three meals.

Adult 4-H leaders from the different communities are urged to attend the camp with club members from their respective communities, and to assist with camp activities, such as swimming, base ball games, boxing, and many other events that are being planned.

O. K. Hoyle, county agent of Baylor County, is making arrangements for the boys to have free use of the swimming pool and to have permission to stay at the City Park.

The registration for all boys attending the camp will begin at 2:30 p.m., Friday, July 19th. Further announcements will be made concerning the camp, and it is possible that the 4-H club girls will have their regular camping period, if Knox County has a Home Demonstration agent by that time.

Joe Reeder, Jr. Making Strong Bid For Office

With the Democratic primary a month away, county and district politics are stirring up of a slump and getting down to a hot-weather job of "seeing the voters." Ice cold drinks have replaced the proverbial cigar when candidate meets voter, and the mercury is playing tag with the century mark on the thermometer.

Making an active bid for the office of District Attorney for the 50th Judicial District, Joe Reeder, Jr. Knox City's only candidate for a district or state office, is covering his territory thoroughly with personal appearances and speeches in some towns. The 50th Judicial District comprises Knox, King, Baylor and Cottle counties.

Serving as County Attorney of Knox County, Joe is 30 years old and was born and reared in his home county. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reeder of Knox City. After finishing school here, he entered TCU where he received a B. A. degree, and later received a law degree from SMU.

A 4½ year hitch in the Army, two years overseas, interrupted his first term as county attorney. He was re-elected while serving overseas with the military intelligence branch of the Army. Joe was discharged last fall and resumed his duties at the county seat.

Hubam Clover Thriving Crop On Claude Reed Farm

The cotton root rot control demonstration that is being conducted on the E. O. Jamison farm by Claude Reed, shows considerable promise in the production of Hubam clover seed that is being used in the crop rotation to control the root rot, according to R. O. Dunkle, county agent.

The Hubam clover is now in full bloom and will perhaps be ready for harvest about the middle of July. Two sources of revenue can be realized with a crop rotation with Hubam clover, a seed crop the first year, and almost 100% in cotton yield the second year. Hubam clover seed is very high in price and it is hoped that Mr. Reed will harvest a good seed crop, as many other farmers of Knox County are planning a similar demonstration for 1947.

Results of the experiment stations of Texas have proven that the attack of cotton root rot upon cotton can be reduced downward from a 54% to a 2% with a Hubam clover rotation.

Farmers of Knox County who are interested in this demonstration should visit the plot of Hubam clover just two and one half miles east from Knox City on the left side of the road.

Check plots adjoining the Hubam clover plot are being used to determine the difference in yield of continuous cotton and the yield of cotton that has been rotated with a legume crop. The effect of grain sorghums on root rot control is also being tried out and increased cotton yields will be determined in 1947.

Rev. and Mrs. J. W. English of Glenrose spent Saturday night with their daughter, Mrs. Horace Finley and family. Rev. English resigned his church at Truscott the first of May after fifty years in the ministry and they are making their home in Glenrose.

Carver Bros. Et Al, Beat Mattson 4-1, Lose To Oilers, 4-2

Knox City's Lions Club softball team defeated Mattson last Thursday night with a score of 4 to 1.

Mattson got their only run in the first inning. Knox City got one to tie them in the first, brought in two more runs in the second and another score in the fifth. The Lions Club pitcher, "Lefty" Carver, struck out 14 men and walked 2. Mattson's pitcher got three strikeouts and walked two.

Monday night Abilene's Onyx Oilers nosed out a victory over Knox City in a nine inning game played on the local diamond. No score was made until the sixth when each team got in two runs. Abilene's pitcher, who got 12 strikeouts, brought in their first two runs when he knocked a home run in the first half of the sixth. Knox City evened things up when Don Ratliff, relief pitcher for Lefty Carver, slugged out a hard-hit three bagger that bounced off the right field fence and brought Roberts and Collier in. In the seventh the Oilers got two more runs to make the score 4-2.

Lefty Carver pitched for the Lions Club team the first six innings and struck out 10 men. Ratliff relieved him during the sixth and did a nice job pitching the last three innings.

Manager Kyle Carver hopes to get a return game with the Oilers soon.

Virginia Parkhill, Norris Duncan Marriage Told

Virginia Parkhill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Parkhill, and Norris Duncan, son of Mrs. H. T. Dewees of Hopkinsville, Ky., were married Saturday evening in the Knox City Methodist church. Rev. C. B. Stovall of Stanton read the ceremony.

Tall baskets of white gladioluses, vinca and white tapers in candelabra were used in the church decorations.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white spider-web net over satin. A ruffle of plain net outlined the deep yoke of the fitted bodice and the sleeves tapered to points over her wrists. The full skirt, which extended into a long train, was of alternate panels of spider-web net and plain net. Her fingertip length veil of net was held by a seed pearl tiara and she carried a white Bible, topped with a white orchid and ribbon streamers.

Katie Swett, maid of honor, wore a pink dotted swiss frock designed in basque style with a full skirt and ruffles outlining the neckline and sleeve sleeves. Wynell Lowery, cousin of the bride, and Jeanette Partridge, bridesmaids, wore blue dotted swiss frocks. Zana Ann Hamm, cousin of the bride and junior bridesmaid, was costumed in a yellow dotted swiss frock. The attendants carried nosegays of daisies.

Best man was E. G. Parkhill Jr., brother of the bride, and ushers were Wendell Partridge and Randall Stogner.

E. Edwin Young, dean of the school of music at Hardin-Simmons university, played the pre-nuptial music and accompanied Rose Shirley Walkow, who sang Grieg's I Love Thee and Cadman's At Dawning.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. J. O. Hamm, Mrs. Wallace Boyd, aunt of the bridegroom, served the three-tiered wedding cake, decorated by a miniature bride and bridegroom, and Grace Crump ladled punch.

The bride is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons university and has done postgraduate work at North Texas State Teachers College in Denton. For the past semester, she was a member of the piano faculty and accompanist in the voice department at Hardin-Simmons.

Mr. Duncan attended the University of Kentucky before entering the army air corps. He was in the South Pacific 18 months. He is now employed in Houston, where the couple will live.

Capt. Atterbury Home On Leave

Capt. John H. Atterbury Jr. arrived home from Germany last Thursday, June 13. He is now on terminal leave and will get his discharge in about 30 days.

Capt. and Mrs. Atterbury and baby daughter, Joan, are spending a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Atterbury Sr. of Knox City. Later they will be at home in College Station, where Capt. Atterbury plans to re-enter A & M. College.

Early Planting Is Secret of Best Grain Yields

Farmers in Knox County who planted early grain sorghums in order that a maturity date will be in advance of the dry period that can be expected in the latter part of July and the first part of August, are realizing for the third successive year that it is a profitable practice. Present indications favor a very satisfactory yield, since the high rainfall period of the year usually occurs during the months of May and June, according to a 40 year rainfall record, says R. O. Dunkle, county agent.

This rainfall record very definitely indicates that two satisfactory planting dates can be selected in Knox County that will miss the dry period of the summer, and the result in yields of grain sorghums will be from 20% to 50% more than when planted during the month of May, when the critical stage of development occurs in the latter part of July and the first of August.

The selection of these planting dates were first demonstrated by 82 4-H club members throughout the county, and especially in the Sunset community, where a demonstration team composed of Joe Edd Sweet and Charles Hardin gave demonstrations throughout the county and adjoining counties proving by examples what will occur when no attention is given to the planting date that will result in the critical stage of development during the dry period of summer.

The two most satisfactory planting dates, according to 4-H club demonstrations, prove conclusively that an early date of planting beginning about April 10th through the 25th, and the second planting date beginning June 15th and ending July 15th, will, in most every instance, result in increased grain production.

Approximately 10,000 acres of early planted grain sorghums in Knox County has promise of producing a very satisfactory yield. The planting of late grain sorghums is now in progress, and the critical stage of development will occur in the latter part of September and the first of October, when increased rainfall and cooler nights can be expected.

FORMER KNOX RESIDENT BURIED AT ABILENE

Funeral services were held yesterday in Abilene for W. E. Raney, 73, of Iraan. The funeral was at 10 a. m. at the Iraan Methodist church and at 6 p. m. at the graveside in Cedar Hill cemetery. The Rev. O. F. Clark officiated.

Mr. Raney died Tuesday in an Iraan hospital following a heart attack.

Resident of Iraan since 1936, Mr. Raney moved there from Knox City, where he and his wife formerly resided.

Miss Pauline Wilbanks daughter of Mr. F. Q. Wilbanks of Palestine, Texas, and Paul L. Hoge, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hoge of Knox City, were married Sunday evening, June 23rd at six o'clock in a double ring ceremony in the Chapel of the Presbyterian Seminary in Austin, Texas. The rites were read by Dr. James McCord, dean of the Seminary in the presence of relatives and friends.

The altar was decorated with baskets of white daisies and fern. Fine wrought iron candelabra held white tapers. The pews were marked by magnolia leaves and white satin bows.

Providing nuptial music was the sister of the groom, Miss Mary Leone Hoge, of Victoria, Texas, playing "I Love You Truly", "Because", and "Oh Promise Me", and the wedding professional and recessional on the Chapel organ.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. A. D. Perkins of Kearney, Nebraska, as her bridesmatron. She wore a blue crepe dress and her corsage was pink carnations.

The bride wore a two-piece tulle, with black accessories. Her corsage was white orchids.

Best man to the groom was Walter Lewis Jr. of Austin.

Ushers were Roy Cates of Graham and R. D. Pattillo of Waco.

Following the wedding a reception was given by Miss Rosalie Godfrey and staff of Residents Hall of the University of Texas, in the Driskell House. The lace laid table was decorated with a large bowl of lilies and magnolias.

The three sectioned wedding cake was served by Miss Betty Huckabee of Waxahatchie. Mrs. A. D. Perkins presided over the punch bowl. Mrs. R. D. Pattillo had charge of the guest register.

After a short wedding trip the couple will return to Austin and will continue their work at the University of Texas.

Big Potato Crop Is Boon To Grain Shortages

An early potato crop, so huge that in ordinary years it would be millions of bushels more than Americans would eat, comes as a boon in this famine-emergency year to replace the wheat being sent abroad. Prospects are that across the country generally the early and midseason potatoes will be the best ever in quantity and also in quality, according to marketing specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Overplanting by growers and high yields per acre are bringing an all-time record production which may run to as many as 70 to 75 million bushels, all coming to market before September, with the peak in late June and early July.

Early potatoes, which the housewife generally calls "new" potatoes are perishable, and thus cannot be shipped as "late" or "old" potatoes can. Therefore they are unsuitable for shipment abroad but can be used in this country to take the place of wheat and rice.

Distribution of this great crop so that every American household may have a plentiful share is the problem which growers, shippers and marketing specialists of the Department of Agriculture have been working. Some 30 million bushels of California potatoes—about 35,000 carloads—are washed and then shipped under refrigeration to prevent spoilage. Those coming from the Southeast are shipped largely by rail but not refrigerated except in emergencies. These must move to market rapidly to prevent spoilage. To move both the western and southern crops some 85,000 cars will be needed—27,000 cars for the month of June alone. In July, rail shipments taper off as trucks take the big load of potatoes going from North Carolina and on up through the northern producing states.

In spite of the great crop and the effort being made for proper distribution, some localities are and probably will be short of potatoes from time to time, because of car shortages, rainy weather preventing harvesting, and shortage of ice in the South and East to keep carloads from spoiling.

The Department's price-support program is arranged to allow only good quality potatoes to go to market. Culls and low grades will be used mostly for cattle feed.

Isn't it peculiar how a woman can dash through a department store aisle that's only a few feet wide and never upset anything; then drive home and knock the doors off a 12-foot garage?

E. J. Miller Is Candidate for Court Civil Appeals

E. J. Miller, former district judge of the 35th Judicial District, announces his candidacy for associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, 11th Supreme Judicial district, Eastland, in the following statement:

For some years I have entertained an ambition to serve upon the Court of Civil Appeals but had no idea of becoming a candidate for such position this year, until Judge Gray withdrew.

I regret very much the circumstances and conditions which impelled him to announce his withdrawal, and will conduct an active campaign from now until the July Primary.

This district is composed of 23 counties; extending from Dawson county on the northwest to Erath county on the southeast. With about 30 days for the campaign, I cannot hope to see personally more than a small percent of the voters. I solicit your investigation and consideration and will appreciate your interest and support.

I was reared on a farm in Callahan county, spent two years in Simmons college, two years in a State Teachers College, taught school five years, for many years an active Odd Fellow, am a deacon in my church, a member of the Howard Payne College Board, and was for five years president of Comanche Trail Council Boy Scouts.

Having been in active private practice 25 years, practicing in all State courts, and in the District court and Circuit Court of Appeals of the United States, and having served 12 years as district judge with a record above the average, I feel that I could render satisfactory service upon the Court of Civil Appeals and thereupon submit my candidacy.

Respectfully,
E. J. MILLER

FARM NEWS

East Central Region

Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, Kentucky, and Tennessee.

Farm lands of the East Central Region have been in production since minimal days. This long period of constant cropping has depleted the soil and caused serious erosion. Most farmers must apply limestone and fertilizer and carry out other soil-building practices to operate at a profit.

The drain on soil fertility speeded up during the war because of the need for larger acreages of cultivated crops. Principal crops grown in the region are corn, tobacco, cotton, peanuts, vegetables, including potatoes and sweet potatoes, hay and small grains. All of these except hay and small grains sustain erosion, especially if the farmers fail to follow good soil practices.

AAA notes read—

Because most of the farms in these states are small, many farmers cannot afford to carry out needed practices without assistance. Since AAA assistance was first offered in 1936, however, there has been a growing conviction among East Region farmers that good soil management pays off in higher yields and soil saving.

Under the 1945 AAA program, East Central farmers received out payments totaling an estimated 60 million dollars, compared with about 37 million dollars in 1944 and 42 million in 1943. From one-fifth to one-half of these amounts came out of farmers' pockets, since AAA assistance does not cover the full cost of the practices.

Farm plans—

Allowance limitations were set up for each farm in 1946 because available funds were small compared with conservation needs. In addition, AAA help above the farm allowance could be earned for certain specially needed practices.

Besides helping to develop a list of approved practices, AAA community committees encourage more than 625,000 farm operators in setting up conservation plans for their farms.

County AAA committees have improved the quality of practices by (1) requiring prior approval for certain practices, and (2) verifying the proper maintenance of permanent practices like terraces.

AAA practices—

Practices most encouraged in the East Central Region are winter cover crops, establishing permanent pastures, contour plowing of row crops, construction of terraces, and applying lime, phosphate, and potash to legumes and grasses. Although considerable conservation has been achieved under the AAA program, much remains to be done.

Since 1936, when AAA assistance was first offered, farmers have increased the use of phosphate fertilizer. In 1946 they spread 4,322,498 tons of limestone on cropland and pastures and 349,000 tons of 20-percent superphosphate on legumes and grasses. It is estimated that 4,628,498 tons of limestone, nearly 2 million tons of superphosphate, and 347,000 tons of 20-percent equivalent potash need to be applied in the region annually.

Soil striping program—

While farmers have accomplished much with the help of this program, we have only started on the job. Furthermore, our objective must be beyond the simple restoration or maintenance of what we consider normal productivity. We must build the productive capacity of our land to new peaks. Conservation farming is sound and necessary. It benefits consumers by giving them more nutritious food, and producers by making the soil more fertile. To get a measure of the actual conservation needs of our farms and ranches, AAA committees, in cooperation with State technical committees and soil specialists at land-grant colleges and State experiment stations, recently made a statewide survey. The volume of practices which should be performed in each state as a minimum program of sound soil conservation was estimated.

Government aid—

Why should the Government assist farmers in soil conservation?

The entire history of land use in the United States demonstrates that most farmers must be encouraged by public and private agencies to take proper care of their land. Without Government assistance, only farmers with ample resources can apply limestone, conserve water on their farms, and carry out other conservation measures. The big majority lack either the skill or the resources to take the steps necessary to safeguard the welfare of themselves and of the whole people. A program of financial assistance makes educational work more effective by helping farmers bear the cost of carrying out the best conservation measures.

Often the short-time interest of the man who works on a farm conflicts with the long-time interest of the public. Were there one-half of our farm operators as smart, many of them work land knowing that next year they may be gone from that farm. Many farmers, both tenants and owners, cannot afford the entire expense of carrying out better farming practices. Still others do not understand the benefits. Under these circumstances, farmers all their land for 1 year alone. They are not concerned greatly about how their methods may affect future production.

But the fate of the land's productivity is really the concern of all of us. It concerns us in the price of food and clothing we buy, in the quality of the food we eat, in the productivity of the land we pass on to our children. Administered by farmer committees, the agricultural conservation program reaches every agricultural county, so the assistance is easily available to every farmer. The educational work of the Agricultural Extension Service and the technical service of the Soil Conservation Service have been important in showing farmers the benefits of good land management. The AAA practice payments provide the incentive so that the educational work is put into actual practice on farms.
