Another Step Forward Made In Brazos River Reclamation Project

Another step forward in the Brazos River Reclamation Project was made last week when an office was set up in Knox City, over the J. M. Edwards Grocery, by the National Reclamation Service. Three men, Robert Busher, Mr. Hoff and Mr. Johnston, have begun an analysis of soil in the district, to determine its suitability for irrigation. They will be joined by two other Soil Conservation technologists, and the work is expected to take some time.

This Brazos River Reclamation District, of which B. B. Campbell is president, includes portions of Knox and Haskell counties. The eastern edge of the district, when established, will be between Goree and Munday, and will cover approximately 55,000 acres of No. 1 land.

A group of engineers, of which H. M. Seipt is local area engineer, have just completed a diversion project whereby they can prevent the water from crossing the salt flats of Stonewall county that poison the waters of the Brazos River.

The Baskin Dam project is the second of 13 proposed projects on the Brazos River. The Whitney Dam in Hill County has already been approved by government engineers and money has been set aside to begin construction on it. The Whitney Dam will be for power production, while the Baskin Dam will be for irrigation purposes.

Return As Pastors Of Foursquare Church

It was announced this week that Rev. and Mrs. Floyd Bailey, former pastors of the Foursquare Church, will return to the pastorate here, effective Nov. 17.

Each day discussions were held and reports on progress were made to benefit every phase of the organization.

The conference is held every two years, but was discontinued during the war.

Representatives from the West Texas Area, which includes Knox, Jones, Haskell, Stonewall, Shackelford and Kent counties, were Mrs. Fred Stockdale, Area Council president, Mrs. R. E. Pardue of Stamford, and Mrs. Jones.

Chairmen for more than 150 counties have been named in Texas, and solicitation will get underway on the opening day of the campaign. However, George C. MISS REED, JOE KING MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

The marriage of Miss Eva Joe Reed of Tahoka, Texas, and Joe King, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. King of Knox City, was performed Friday afternoon, November 8, at the University Baptist Church in Abilene.

The couple plan to make their home in Abilene, where both are enrolled in McMurry College.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Bowden are spending several days this week in Munday visiting relatives.

The Texas State Teachers Association has just completed a survey among city and county school superintendents to determine the condition in the public schools of Texas. Replies were received from 1,038 superintendents representing 35,874 teaching positions or about 78 per cent of the total in Texas. The turn-over in the teacher personnel in the public schools for this year is the greatest in our history. 9,272 teachers or more than 25 per cent were new in their job when school opened this fall.

Of the teachers included in the survey, 5,730 were listed with sub-standard qualifications. This represents one out of each six in the state. Superintendents reporting stated that they had in their school systems 2,157 classes with a student enrollment of 40 or more. The national standard for enrollment is 27 students in high school classes and 30 in elementary classes. This over-crowded condition has resulted from the shortage of teachers and, in many instances a lack of adequate classrooms.

The association stated that today Texas needs at least 9,000 qualified teachers to relieve our over-crowded classrooms, to add to the curriculum many subjects that have been eliminated during the war years, and to replace sub-standard personnel.

Supt. Charles M. Rogers of Amarillo, retiring president of the Texas State Teachers Association commented that: "Today if our public schools could employ immediately all of the students in the colleges and universities of Texas that are preparing to be teachers, we would not relieve our great shortage. I am sure that we do not have in our Texas institutions of higher learning 9,000 people today who are preparing to become teachers. We must raise salaries in Texas high enough to encourage those now in college to enter teaching as their chosen profession. I cannot see any other solution to the problem."

SPECIAL MEETING CALLED FOR AMERICAN LEGION

There will be a special meeting of the American Legion Monday night, November 18, at 7:00 o'clock.

Post Commander C. J. Reese urges all members to be present at the meeting, stating that very important business will be discussed.

Bi-District Game With Dickens To Be Played Here

Final arrangements for the Bi-District Football game to be played at Knox City were made at a meeting of the Dickens school officials with Supt. T. E. Holcomb of Knox City Friday.

This game, which will be played November 22, will bring together two outstanding six-man teams of the State, both of which have won their respective districts without having been defeated or tied in this season's play. The Knox City team only lost one game last year and it was to the strong Dickens team. Knox City will be desiring vengeance for the spoiling of their perfect record of last year.

The Dickens team promises to be as good this year as it was last season, and the Greyhounds may be called upon to give their best ounce of energy to win the Bi-District title.

On Monday night, November 18, the Greyhound B Team will play the Paint Creek team on the local field.

Fowl Pox Outbreak In Knox County

Several farmers in Knox County have reported to the county agent's office that their flocks of chickens are suffering from attacks of fowl pox. This contagious disease, characterized by small eruptions on the comb and wattles of the bird, spreads rapidly, according to County Agent J. M. Carpenter. The only practical method of combatting against outbreaks, he added, is the use of a fowl pox vaccine distributed by makers of poultry medications.

This vaccine should not be used, however, except when it is known that the disease exists, or the flock has been exposed to a neighboring diseased flock. Assistance has been given by the county agent, and it is expected that the disease will be well under control within two weeks.

Study Club to Have Open House Program

As a climax to National Education Week, the Knox City Study Club will present Chas. H. Tennyson, Director of Public Relations, Texas State Teachers Association of Austin, in the school auditorium Friday evening, November 15 at 8:00 p. m. Two Slightly Injured In Plane Crash Sunday

Two soldiers, Marion Cooper and Rayford Halsey, were hospitalized Sunday night for injuries received when the plane they were flying crashed near the local airport Sunday at 2:00 o'clock. It was reported that they were flying a rented Cub which belonged to a San Antonio flying school, and the crash resulted from reckless flying.

The boys had visited in their homes in Oklahoma and had stopped in Knox City for refueling. They were on their way to San Antonio where both are stationed.

Only minor cuts and bruises were suffered from the crash and the soldiers were released from the Knox County Hospital Monday morning after receiving first aid treatment.

Sudan Seed Crop Short This Year

Knox County farmers should store their Sudan seed for next year now to avoid searching for seed later on, J. M. Carpenter, county agent, stated this week. "Texas is estimated to have its smallest crop of Sudan seed since 1929," Mr. Carpenter added, "and the entire nation's supply is 24 per cent smaller than in 1945."

Harvesting of the seed from Sudan killed by the frost will give a few growers seed to store and sell, but not enough to meet demand. Some farmers, including J. C. McGee of Knox City, are now ordering certified seed to produce more certified in Knox County for sale next year.

A survey of the county shows that sweet sudan is favored by most farmers and seed growers.

SGT. GLOVER ARRIVES FROM OVERSEAS

Sgt. Elmer G. Glover arrived in Knox City last week after spending 13 months in Korea. He will receive his discharge from the Army on December 19.

Sgt. Glover is the husband of the former Miss Lillian Hutchinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salem Hutchinson.

COTTON GINNING REPORT

The number of bales of cotton ginned to date this season by the local gins is as follows:

Brazos Valley Gin	629
Cotton Growers Co-Op	1,130
Knox City Gin	904
O'Brien Co-Op	3,515

B. F. Vance, State Director of the Production and Marketing Administration, accompanied by a sub-committee of the House Agriculture Committee of Congress, have completed a 1,500 mile trip throughout Texas. The sub-committee was composed of Congressmen Steve Pace, Georgia, Tom Abernathy, Mississippi, George Grant, Alabama, and Bob Poage of Waco, Texas. The group held hearings at Vernon, Lubbock and Cameron. Other groups of farmers were contacted at Wichita Falls, Childress, Haskell, Eastland, Gorman, Waco, Walnut Springs, College Station and Houston.

The purpose of the hearings was to get first hand information on the cotton situation and the thinking of cotton producers. Heard at the meetings were owner operators, share croppers, and farm laborers participating in the production of cotton.

Subjects discussed at these meetings were: Cotton Acreage Controls, Price Supports, Parity Payments, Soil Conservation Practices, One-Variety Cotton Program, Marketing Quota Allotments, Methods of Making Allotments to States, Counties and Individual Farms, Cotton Carry-Over, Bale Sampling, Marketing Quota Referendum and Research, and Synthetic Fabrics.

It was the unanimous opinion of farmers that marketing quotas should be in effect when needed. Under this program each cotton producing farm is given an acreage allotment representing his share in the national allotment and if the farm is over-planted the producers must pay a tax to market the excess cotton. Marketing quotas can never be placed in operation until approved by two-thirds of the cotton farmers voting in a referendum. Heretofore farmers have voted on one-year control at a time, but farmers attending the hearings indicate that they favor voting on a 3-year basis. That is if quotas are approved, they would be approved for three years without another referendum.

It was the belief of the farmers that each State should be given their allotment on a baleage basis and then handed down to counties and individual farmers on an acreage basis, with the State PMA Committee having the privilege of transferring acreage that would not be used between counties.

Farmers seemed to favor a four million bale carry-over, and expressed themselves as being in favor of keeping production and consumption on an even keel in order to maintain a fair price.

All farmers favored continuing of price supports. There were some differences in opinions as to whether loans should be based on 92 1-2 per cent parity or 100 per cent. It was unanimous that Parity Prices should be arrived at by including labor cost.

All farmers favored the continuation and expansion of the Soil Conservation Practice Program and many expressed the opinion that in order to meet competition of synthetics, that yields per acre must be increased through the use of fertilizers and minerals and through other conservation practices. It was also believed that cotton must be produced at lower cost.

Farmers in general expressed their interest and approval of the one-variety cotton program and bale sampling to be done at the time the cotton is ginned. Much discussion was given to the subject of research for new uses of cotton and better marketing of cotton.

ATTEND WTCC MEETING IN ABILENE FRIDAY

Knox City representatives at the 29th convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which was held in Abilene Friday, were L. W. Graham, B. B. Campbell and W. M. Rowan, who attended as proxy for Director Ancil Waldrup.

The delegates reported an enjoyable program and much interesting discussion on the eight policy planks of the WTCC.

County Agents Outlook Next Year

County Agents and Demonstration Agents will present "Outlook Information 1947" at the District III in Wichita Falls, Nov. 14-15, by Specialists Chester and Florence Low of Colton.

Set up, the following is outlook in agriculture. Cash receipts from farm and government pay will be five per cent less in 1946, and there may be increase in production numbers are likely to be for more manufacturers than farm products. Demand for farm products is likely to be small.

Statistics indicate that the yield of cotton in 1947 should be the lowest since 1929, should help keep the cotton up. The cattle in 1947 may decline in number and fall of 1947 as increases from cattle, particularly if general activity should be that time. The poultry is brighter with prospective higher prices on eggs. An estimated increase in price of 7 per cent is expected. Wheat prices may be off the currently high taper off and a good wheat is made next year. Feed will be larger in 1947 and may increase the number marketed. Supply of farm equipment will be very little, but the use of tires is expected to be large.

Now Being In Dip By Ranchers

Advantage of one of the uses of DDT, ranchers Benjamin are now using dip to control lice and ticks on cattle. The McFadden, near of Benjamin, so much of this method by have now constructed dipping vats in their range, according to Fred Glover, assessor of the ranch. This has been used by many ranchers of Knox County, including the League which, under the management of Jack Idol, has reported gratifying results in a situation using one part DDT to nine parts kerosene, to control summer lice.

High this year it is almost impossible to treat flies, since breezes will soon kill them. It is the time to treat for the house fly, the stable fly, and the tick. The same dip used for flies, 2 of 1 per cent dip, controls cattle ticks and the house fly. This dip must be repeated every two weeks.

Estimated that many of the flies will be saved by the use of DDT, since lousy animals which in severe cases die, leaving bare patches on the neck.

Strengths for dusts, dips and dips may be obtained from J. M. Carpenter, county agent.

Veterans' News

The Veterans Administration this week urged veterans who have National Service Life Insurance to designate beneficiaries for their insurance if they have not already done so.

Don Pray, VA's director of insurance in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi, explained that the Insurance Act of 1946 completely changed the situation with respect to beneficiaries. The old provision for an automatic order of succession, in the event no beneficiary was named, is no longer in effect for insurance maturing after July 31, 1946.

Under the new law, Pray said if the insured is not survived by a designated beneficiary, the insurance proceeds will be paid in a single sum to his estate at his death.

A veteran who does not designate beneficiaries exposes his dependents to the risk of unnecessary expense and delay, Pray pointed out.

A 200-bed general medical and surgical hospital at Marlin, Texas was among new Veterans Administration hospital-approved last week by President Truman.

This brings the total of new VA hospitals planned for the Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi area to ten. Additions to existing installations also are planned.

New hospitals previously announced will be erected at New Orleans and Shreveport, La.; Big Spring, Bonham, Dallas, El Paso and Houston, Texas; and Tupelo, Miss. Another hospital will be built in Mississippi at a site to be selected later.

Questions and Answers

Q Does the amount of money I make on the job affect the subsistence I receive while attending school, under Public Law 346?

A. Yes. While taking a full-time course in school, you are entitled to subsistence of $65 per month if without dependent or dependents, and $90 a month if you have a dependent or dependents. But if you are employed, the rate of such allowance plus compensation received, shall not exceed $175 per month if you are without a dependent or dependents and $200 per month if you have a dependent or dependents.

Q I sold my home on which I had a GI loan with a VA guarantee of $1500. Can I get another guaranteed loan to purchase a larger home for myself?

A. Yes, but since you've used up $1500 of your $400 guarantee entitlement, your entitlement on any future real estate loan cannot exceed $2,500.

Q Does a discharge "under conditions other than honorable" mean any kind of discharge except a dishonorable one?

A. Yes. An honorable discharge or discharge under honorable conditions qualifies a veteran for benefits under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act (GI Bill); a dishonorable discharge disqualifies him, but a discharge that is neither honorable or dishonorable may qualify or disqualify him, depending upon the determination of the "conditions" under which he receives it. Veterans Administration determines all such cases.

Q What is the National Service Life Insurance Fund?

A. National Service Life Insurance is mutual insurance. All premiums paid on this insurance and all interest earned thereon are deposited and covered into a separate trust fund in the United States Treasury designated as the NSLI fund. The Government derives no profit from its administration and acts in the capacity of trustee of the fund for the sole benefit of the policy-holders and their beneficiaries.

Mrs. J. E. Clarke of Roswell, New Mexico, is visiting in the home of her son, Bill Clarke and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Saunders of Knox City were called to Beeville Sunday to attend the funeral of her sister, Miss Jimmie Maxine Bevel.

Household Hints

White woolen toys which are not too soiled can be freshened by cleaning them with a paste made of white starch and a little cold water. Rub in and let dry thoroughly, then brush off.

Don't let a few pieces bear the brunt. Rotate the use of your sterling silver to distribute wear.

New clotheslines are clumsy to put up. To make them more soft and durable, try first boiling the line for a few minutes in soapy water.

To hold a stained spot tight while trying to remove it from a cloth, use embroidery hoops.

Place linens on the shelf with the big fold to the front so that at a glance you can see the number of pieces of linen on the shelf.

A crack between the edge of the bathtub and wall can be mended with a wide strip of adhesive tape. Paint the mended spot the same color as the wall. This is not a permanent method.

It's easy to keep your dresser from becoming stained and spotted from perfume and toilet water bottles. Place a piece of wax paper under your dresser drawers for sure protection.

Wash rag rugs in rich suds and warm water. Rinse carefully, and dip into a light starch solution. Press out the water by hand or put them through a loose wringer. To dry, lay the rugs flat on a paper. The starch will give them more body and cause them to lie flat.

Stock Water Dams Are Benefit To Range Lands

By constructing livestock water dams and reservoirs, Knox County farmers and ranchers can obtain better use of their range and pasture area, says Emmett Partridge, chairman of the Knox County Agricultural Conservation Association Committee.

More water facilities permit livestock to graze wider areas more evenly, he said. Where there are too few watering places, some areas will be overgrazed.

The removal of cover caused by overgrazing also gives erosion a chance to get started. Land without grass to slow and stop water from running falls peas, hairy vetch, common vetch, ryegrass and crimson clover. The seeds are being re-sold to local dealers for retail to farmers, mostly in the Southern states. Seeds valued at approximately 2.3 million dollars were handled in 1944.

Committeemen also assisted in the administration of other purchase programs and performed certain marketing services, serving as a liaison between the program administrators and farmers.

An outstanding example of marketing service was assistance to farmers in marketing surplus fresh vegetables which were not covered by Government price support commitments. The committeemen helped move the vegetables into consumption channels by prompt reporting of surpluses to Government marketing agencies and to trade groups which were in a position to find markets.

Under the processing vegetable program, committeemen certified canners who contracted to pay support prices to growers. This certification made the canners eligible for protection of their inventories against price declines by means of Government purchases at specified prices.

requested an expanded production, legislation assures prices for two years after the January 1st following the declaration that war has ended. Support is also provided for basic (cotton, corn, wheat, rice, tobacco, and peanuts for nuts) and other vital war crops.

Producers received loans in 1945 (made available through the Commodity Credit Corporation) on barley, corn, cotton, dry beans and peas, flaxseed, grain sorghums, hay and pasture seeds, naval stores (turpentine and rosin) potatoes, sweet potatoes, soybeans, rice, wheat, rye and tobacco.

The price support program, which helped farmers meet increased operating costs and gave them a fair return for their products, was a major factor in the record wartime food production.

In administering Commodity Loans in the field, county AAA committeemen approved applications on all loan commodities except cotton stored off the farm and peanuts and tobacco, prepared loan and liquidation papers, approved storage facilities, inspected and sampled storage commodities, and supervised the erection and sale of storage bins.

Commodities for which price supports are provided are divided into two main groups—basic and Stegall. As required by legislation, prices for basic commodities were supported at 90 per cent of parity (except cotton, for which prices were supported at 95 per cent for the 1944 crop and 92 1-2 per cent for the 1945 crop).

Stegall commodities (those for which increased production was formally requested by the Secretary of Agriculture) were supported at not less than 90 per cent of parity or a comparable price. Stegall commodities include hogs, eggs, chickens (except broilers and those weighing over 3 pounds) turkeys, milk and butterfat, dry beans and dry peas of certain varieties, soybeans for oil, flaxseed for oil, American Egyptian cotton, potatoes, and cured sweet potatoes.

Commodity Purchaser Record quantities of cover-crop seed were made available to farmers through the purchase program handled in the field by AAA committeemen. These seeds produced cover crops that (1) helped farmers produce record quantities of hay and pasture, (2) increased crop yields by adding fertility and organic matter to the soil, and (3) protected against erosion and leaching fields which had been overworked by successive war crops.

About 189 million pounds of cover-crop seed from the 1944 and 1945 crops were purchased by AAA committeemen, who handled the buying, certification, storage and distribution of the seed. Most of the purchases were in Oregon, California, Idaho and Washington. The program included Austrian Winter

How to Handle a Fortune

Some months ago I reported in the Clarion how Mel Bate's uncle died up north, and left him with a tidy fortune.

Naturally, our town was curious to see how Mel would spend it: Traveling around the world... getting a new house or car... wearing fancy clothes... or dining on cold pheasant and champagne...?

We can now report, Mel hasn't changed a bit! Drop in on him any night, and you'll find him in his shirt sleeves by the fire, chatting with the Missus, sharing a mellow glass of beer with friends.

From where I sit, Mel has learned the art of handling money—as well as handling people. You don't let cash-in-the-bank push you around any more than you let people push you around. If you like the simple, homey life; companionship and quiet ways; a glass of beer and friendly talk—that's worth a fortune, after all!

If Isabella had ice cubes...

Christopher Columbus would never have discovered America!

Isabella, Queen of Spain, had caskets full of jewels. She had velvet robes and silken gowns and handsome hand-made shoes. But she had no electric refrigerator! So the jewels were pawned. Three little ships set out against the sea. And Columbus happened on America back in 1492.

Fantastic? Not really. In Isabella's day, they tried to keep food from spoiling by spices brought overland at great expense from India. Columbus believed he could reach the Indies by sailing westward on the unknown Atlantic. The rest is in history books.

Poor Isabella, with all her clumsy luxuries, never dreamed of ice cubes—nor any of the miracles of modern electric living!

Though electricity plays such a great part in today's comforts and conveniences—you're scarcely conscious of electric service. That's because it's always on hand—all you want—at little cost.

New Control For Peach Tree Borers Is Announced

The County Agent's office this week received information from College Station indicating that a newly discovered chemical known as Ethylene dichloride emulsion is superior to other known control methods for the Peach Tree Borer.

This new chemical is more effective at low soil temperatures and can be used later in the fall and earlier in the spring when it is too cool for PDB. The Ethylene dichloride treatment requires less soil preparation, is safer on trees, and costs a little less than Paradichlorobenzene. This new emulsion can be applied either by spray or pouring around the base of the tree any time during the winter. Best results, however, are obtained about this time of year. Small quantities are used around each tree ranging from one-fourth pint for two year old trees to one-half pint on six year old trees.

For information as to where to obtain this solution, consult your county agent.

Lee Smith has planted seven acres, and the League Ranch has planted four acres, of Canadian Wild Rye grass. These plots will be used for seed increase so that more of this fine grass may be planted in the

Improved Uniform International LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for November 17

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

PAUL MINISTERS TO THE THESSALONIANS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 17:1-7; 1 Thessalonians 1:2-3. MEMORY SELECTION—Be not weary in well-doing.—II Thessalonians 3:13.

A great city, commercially active, religious to a high degree, a military center and a harbor so fine that it is important to this day—such was the city of Thessalonica. It presented a challenge to the preachers of the gospel and, in the name of Christ, Paul accepted and won a great victory.

In the face of persecution, bitter and persistent, the believers in this city remained faithful. The reason for that appears in our lesson. Rooted and grounded in Christ, they had brought forth the fruit of real Christian living under circumstances which were difficult and trying. Our lesson tells of both the preaching of the gospel by Paul and the living of the gospel by the Thessalonians.

I. The Gospel Preached—Accepted and Rejected (Acts 17:1-7).

Paul began his long and successful ministry in Thessalonica in the synagogue. It was to the Jews who worshiped the one true God that he came with his message about their expected Messiah—Christ the Lord. Here he established a strong church.

What was the message which so signally succeeded in this great strategic center? Well, it was not (as some modern preachers in large cities seem to think necessary) a series of social, political, or literary discourses. Paul preached Christ. He reasoned with them and presented the Saviour (v. 3) as One who was

1. Dead for our sin. These people were like us in that they needed a solution for their sin problem.

Without the death of Christ there is no salvation for any man. Only through the shedding of blood can there be remission of sin (Heb. 9:22). Paul had no part in the folly of a "bloodless gospel"—as though there were any such gospel.

2. Raised for our justification. It was not enough that Jesus died, marvelous as that is in our sight. For many a man has died for his convictions, but none has risen from the dead. Christ could not be held of the grave. He arose the victorious Redeemer.

3. Declared to be the Christ. He is more than a man, more than a great leader and an earnest teacher. He is God's anointed One, himself divine—and our Lord.

Some believed (v. 4), including many devout Greeks, and not a few of the leading women. The gospel does have life-giving power as the Holy Spirit applies it to the hearts of willing men and women.

Others opposed (vv. 5, 6). Note that they were "of the baser sort." They always are, even when they appear to be cultivated and educated, for there is something fundamentally wrong in a life which rejects Christ.

It was a serious charge they made against the Christians (v. 7), for it was treason punishable by death to have any other king but Caesar if one lived in a Roman colony.

But the thing which they hated worst in these Christians was the fact that their topsy-turvy world was in danger of being set right (they put it the opposite way, v. 6), and they did not want to be made right. It is interesting to note that these early preachers had divine power to turn over the social order. Would that we showed more of that power in the church today!

Accepting the truth is good, but it must go on in daily living. The Thessalonians knew that and they are models of

If the Gospel Lived—Followers and Examples (I Thess. 1:2-3).

Paul, the missionary, was a courteous preacher. He recognized the faithfulness of Christian brethren and did not hesitate to commend them. We could do more of that when we meet true and faithful believers.

They were followers of Paul, but only because he followed Christ (v. 6). His power was from above (v. 5), even as they also were chosen from above (v. 4).

Following Christ meant affliction to them (v. 6), but it also meant the joy of the Holy Spirit, which is entirely independent of the circumstances of life—and above them.

These Thessalonian believers were examples of what it meant to be Christians. Wherever Paul went their faith toward God was recognized and he did not need to explain or argue for his gospel. People knew the Thessalonian Christians, and thus they knew real Christianity.

There could be no finer witness to the faith of anyone than to be able to bear testimony that it is an example—a model—to which others may look and not go astray. Do we dare to measure our Christian

She has nursed what she calls "the cruel injustice of Mama's will."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

SOME years ago an elderly woman died, leaving two daughters, both married. When her will was read it was discovered that she had left most of her estate, which approximated about $40,000, to her elder daughter, who was unmarried at the time the will was written.

The younger daughter, Dolores, whose husband was a prosperous man, got her fair share of rugs, laces, china. She got a store and the flat above it, valued at about $10,000. Everything else went to Yvonne.

But Yvonne had married well, too. She complementarily took her large share of the inheritance, even though a good many persons felt that under the circumstances Dolores should have had half. Things went on for a year or two, and then, lost in a book, another later will was found making a fair even division of the estate. This was awkward for Yvonne and her husband; they had spent, invested, shifted things about, they had to put up far more security than was normal for this was in the heart of the depression, and values were low. It seriously cramped and embarrassed them; in the end Dolores got the old homestead, too.

That was more than 20 years ago. The sisters have never been friends since. Dolores would be amiable enough, for she has no grievance, but Yvonne is adamant. She has nursed what she calls the "cruel injustice of mama's will." Her husband tells her gravely that she "never will get over it." Her daughter repeats resentfully that once "Aunt Dolores did something horrible to mama." If you ask Yvonne straight out what was unjust, what was horrible about it, she purses up her lips, sighs and says that no one will ever know what it did to her nerves, and she never can forgive Dolores.

Smouldering Bitterness.

Yvonne and Alan have done well. They have a handsome home, two cars, country club membership, a large circle of friends. Their only son had a good war record; their only daughter is married well. But Yvonne grieves on. That Dolores should have gotten the amythyst set and the store, and then, when Alan's fortunes were at their lowest, should have come in with this claim for so much more—it's just not bearable. Yvonne has ruined her own life, smouldering for all these years over Dolores' luck.

Had her mother been without means and dependent upon Alan and Yvonne, no such situation could have arisen. Thousands of old persons are entirely without financial resources; that might have been her case. Her son might have been lost in the war, as so many thousands of boys were. Her daughter's painful cold and fever last winter might have been infantile paralysis. Alan might fall in love with some younger and more fascinating woman. She herself might be told, by the family doctor, that the annoying little lump in her side meant long and agonizing illness. There are real troubles in this life and these are a few of them.

But to go on brooding over a property division that was decided unfairly in her favor in the first place, exaggerate it and dwell on it, to embitter family relations and convince her own family that mother received a staggering and unforgettable blow—this is sheer stupidity. This life for most of us is a trip over perilous rapids; we have to steer through dangerous waters from the time we leave mother's

ALLEGED INJUSTICES

Most everyone has some bad luck, has suffered some losses or disappointments. Often it is nobody's fault. On the other hand, the misfortune may be directly attributable to someone's greed, or ambition, or malice. In any case, after it is over there is seldom much that can be done. Worst of all is regretting, complaining, making oneself miserable with self-pity.

In the story Miss Norris relates today, the woman involved has no just cause for complaint. She has received from life all that she is entitled to, and probably a good deal more. But because she couldn't keep the major part of her mother's property, awarded to her by an early will, she is nursing a perpetual grudge against her sister.

This woman has everything she needs, being well-to-do. She is still pretty, although her children are grown. There is no sickness, no scandal, no difficulty that matters. Her daughter is happily married, her son has returned safely from the war. She should be happy, but she cannot be with this gnawing resentment against "the injustice of Mama's will." The "injustice" was in the second will—the testament that divided the property equally between herself and her sister.

Thousands of people are unhappy about alleged injustices. If they would only look about them, and see how bravely and uncomplainingly others are trying to go along who have suffered cruel misfortunes of all sorts, sickness, poverty, disgrace, accidents and deaths of loved ones, they would realize how well off they are.

protecting wing. Unless we can forget the lost ring, the missed opportunity, the bad investment, the careless sentence overheard, we are leading queer and twisted lives.

She Sees Weakness in Others.

In other words, self-pity and useless regret are corrosive elements. They destroy us. Yvonne sees this fast enough when a whining beggar comes to her door.

She sees a ragged, unshaven man, she hears the story of the lost job, illness, of the wife who deserted and the money that was lost.

His partner cheated him; he broke his arm; his overcoat was stolen.

She smiles deprecatingly as he tells her all this. He makes no impression upon Yvonne, except one of distaste. A big strong man going from door to door with his hat in his hand—he ought to be ashamed of himself!

She never sees the similarity between him and herself; that she is always asking for pity and sympathy. She never knows that her friends see a strong, healthy, pretty woman surrounded by comforts and interests, and are bored to death with the old, old story.

"Why, of course, Dolores got her share—and that nice store on Lake street that has practically doubled in value. What Henry and Dolores wanted with more money—why they didn't simply destroy that second will, I never will know! I'll never forget poor Alan coming in and telling me that they'd found it. I never will get over the shock to my nerves, not as long as I live—"

STRANGE NERVE AFFLICTION

A mysterious nerve disease which concentrates particularly in the fingers, legs and toes, has been reported by Dr. Robert Wartenberg of the U. of California. He said the unnamed disease was no handicap but was very stubborn.

The neurologist said he had studied the disease for 10 years but still could not trace its cause. He said it apparently was the result of a virus of low virulence which attacks the skin or superficial nerves.

Convincing Speaker

During their long, bitter rivalry in the house of commons, British Statesman Benjamin Disraeli and William Gladstone rarely had a kind word for each other. On one occasion, Gladstone was delivering a speech on one of his pet reforms.

One elderly member, carried away with admiration, leaned over and whispered to Disraeli: "What an inspiring orator! He can convince others of so many things!"

Disraeli, in violent disagreement with what Gladstone was expounding, nodded absently.

"Yes," he said. Then he added: "And he can convince himself of anything at all!"

New Disease Affects Some Oat Varieties

The fact that a new disease has taken as much as half the crop of certain new oat varieties and did no damage to others emphasizes the safety factor of having plant variety "eggs" in several types of baskets, the Department of Agriculture points out. The fungus-caused blight, known variously as "footrot," Helminthosporium or H-96, was previously unrecognized but has caused losses from New York and Pennsylvania to Montana and Texas.

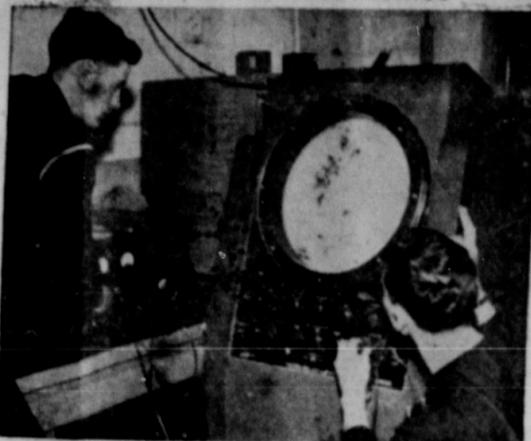

By using breeding material from various sources, plant breeders provided a safety factor against widespread crop disaster from the new disease. Had they confined their efforts to the development of the productive Vieldand, Tama, Boone, Cedar, and Control varieties, the big oats regions would face the prospect of being no farther ahead than many years ago.

Fortunately, oat breeders did not put all their eggs in one basket. While farmers in North Central states are already in the midst of this new disease, as well as against the rusts and smuts, another variety, Marion, resistant to this disease, smuts, stem rust, and moderately resistant to crown rust, has been grown in the area for several years. With Marion and the better new varieties coming on, in two or three years there should be no need to suffer loss from this cause, although, in all likelihood, there will be other setbacks to correct.

When the fungus of Helminthosporium is already on the seed at planting time it may reduce germination or destroy the plant in the seedling stage. If the infected plant isn't killed at once it may be stunted in early growth, with blackening of the lower parts; death of the roots, and premature drying of the stem.

Indications are that all oats varieties that received their crown rust resistance from the South American variety, Victoria, are susceptible to this Helminthosporium blight. These new varieties, all spring-sown ones, are Boone, Cedar, Control, Forvic, Osage, Overland, Tama, Ventura, Vieldand and Vikota.

NAVY BOOSTS ELECTRONICS

Navy Day, 1946, heralds a new step forward in the United States Navy's expansion of its electronic development program, which is designed to equip it as a Guardian in Peace, just as electronic progress enabled it to emerge a Victor in War. The Bureau of Naval Personnel has announced that, beginning November 4, 1946, the basic course of Electronic Technicians' Mates and Aviation Electronic Technicians' Mates will be broadened from 20 to 42 weeks under a program aimed at filling 7,900 billets now open in these ratings. There are more than 2,700 different types of modern, complex electronic equipment aboard ships of the Fleet, in Navy planes and at shore stations.
