The sprint relay of Charlie Flye, Eddie Johnson, Jimmy Lynn, and Al Bateman started the day off right by taking first with a new school record of 43.7. Eddie Johnson continued by winning the 440

with a new record of 48.7. Al Bateman was third in the 100 with a time of 10.1 (Bateman had already tied the school record of 10.0 earlier). ## RC & D Program Is Detailed At Benjamin

The Big Country Resource Conservation and Development resource committee of Knox County met in Benjamin on April 18.

Twenty-five persons from Gilliland, Munday, Goree, Knox City, Truscott, and Benjamin attended the meeting. Judge Sam E. Clonts, chairman of the county committee, in cooperation with Arche E. Lieb, Soil Conservation Service, Knox City, called the meeting to discuss the RC&D program and potential projects.

Von Kleibrink, project coordinator, of the Four Winds RC&D Project that includes the counties of Childress, Cottle, Foard, and Hardman was present to discuss the RC&D program. Kleibrink explained the RC&D program and items that could be funded through the project. Community projects eligible for RC&D funding through the project. Community projects eligible for RC&D funding are critical area treatment along county roads; agricultural irrigation systems; drainage of agriculture land; flood prevention structures; water based fish, wildlife, and recreation projects; soil and water management for agricultural projects; and water quality management.

Color slides were shown by Kleibrink on work proposed in the Four Winds RC&D Project area.

The role of a project coordinator as explained by Kleibrink is to work with the local people in identifying their problems and coordinate with various funding agencies for ways to solve their problems.

Projects other than those funded by RC&D may be and are not limited to items such as libraries, museums, city parks, rural water systems, housing, fire protection facilities and city facilities such as water, sewer, and solid waste disposal systems.

Those present were shown several completed RC&D Project Plans. Project proposal sheets were distributed and discussed. Members of the county committee were encouraged to hold meetings in their local communities to determine their needs, set priorities on these projects, list each on a separate proposal sheet and present them to either Judge Clonts or Arche Lieb.

A second meeting of this county resource committee will be held at a later date to discuss the RC&D project proposals for Knox County.

CHARLENE BROTHERS

The following are the students at O'Brien School from 7th grade through 12th that made the last six-weeks honor roll. This is a grade average of 90 or above on all subjects. Seventh Grade: Nancy Adkisson, Joseph Godsey, and Angelia Reid; Eight Grade: Jonathan Godsey, Donna Holmes, David Walling, and Shane Johnston; Nine Grade: Dorothy Jackson and Peggy Gutierrez; Tenth Grade: Craig Brothers, Debbie Del Hierro and Pam Stockton; Eleventh Grade: Devey Holmes and Vicki Hewitt; Twelfth Grade: Sharon Adkisson, Trudy Covey, Rita Jackson, and Keith Rowan.

We had two more entries in the regional events at Brownwood last week. Craig Brothers went as second place winner in tennis, but he did not win anything. Mel Reed was entered in the long jump and he did not place. These two may not have won any place at regional, but it was good experience for them to go. We are very proud of all the students that were entered in all the events at Brownwood the past two weeks.

There are only three weeks and a few days left of this school year. I think everyone over here will be glad when it is over. This has been one more year as far as school is concerned, in fact, it has been kind of different where nearly all other things are concerned.

HERE AND THERE

Wayne Rowan, a student at Tarleton University at Stephenville, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Rowan and Keith Mrs. Bert Davis of Loop visited with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Coy Hewitt, Vicki and Toni, a few days last week. Also visiting in their home was their daughter, Rhonda, from Haskell.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Brothers, Jeremy and Tommy of Springtown visited in the homes of their parents, the J.O. Brothers family and the Humberto Gutierrez family. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gothard, Courtney and Brandy of Highland visited in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Gothard during the weekend.

Mr. A.A. Cox is in the hospital at Lubbock. At this time, I do not know if he is in for surgery or not. I'm sure he would appreciate a card or letter from anyone, as I know this really helps pass the time.

SSS

The seniors and their sponsors will leave next Sunday on their trip. Seniors are Sharon Adkisson, Rita Jackson, Trudy Covey, Carmen Conn, Elida Alsides, Lillie Washington, Keith Rowan, Mel Reed, Lalo Garcia, and Steve Rojas. Their sponsors are Mrs. Veeta Reid and Rose Mary Dodd. They will be going to various places in Colorado. We hope they enjoy the trip very much and be sure and take some warm clothes. I'm sure at this time of the year it is going to be kinda cool up there after all the hot weather we are having here.

KC Senior Signs Letter of Intent

SNYDER -- Temi Baker, 5-8 senior forward on the Knox City Houndette basketball team, has signed a letter of intent with Western Texas College, Dr. Sid Simpson, WTC athletic director, said.

Miss Baker was recently named to the third All-State Team selected by the Amarillo Globe-News. She was a unanimous choice for District 7-A All District basketball team this year. During her high school career, she played on four district championship teams, two bi-district championship teams, and one regional runner-up team.

During her senior year, Miss Baker hit on 56 per cent of her field goals and 71 per cent of her free throws to score a total of 885 points. She averaged 27.8 points per game, 8.8 rebounds per game and had a total of 96 assists.

"Temi is not only an excellent ball player but has a tremendous attitude," Dr. Simpson said. "Despite her scoring ability, she is an unselfish player and has the mobility to adapt easily to college basketball. We think Temi will give us the ball handling and outside shooting to make us a real contender for NJCAA Region V honors."

Miss Baker, daughter of Knox City School Superintendent and Mrs. W.R. (Bill) Baker, plans to enroll at WTC for the Traveling Seminar in American Studies set for June 11-30 before beginning the 1975-76 semester.

The Buffalo Crisis

(Editor's Note: We think this article was written by Don McElreath of Signal Oil Field Service Inc., Casper, Wyoming, and was first published by Wester Oil Reporter, December, 1974. We're taking the liberty of re-running it for the enjoyment of our readers.)

Many years ago there was a western type town called Wildcat, Wyoming. This was a very prosperous town and everyone had all they needed. A tribe of Indians lived on the outskirts of town who were buffalo hunters and they kept the town supplied with meat.

The townspeople always had plenty of meat to eat although they did not have much in storage. The town also got meat from other buffalo hunters who brought in buffalo from faraway lands.

This made it very hard on the local tribe, as they only received $3 per buffalo and with the imported meat, there was not much demand for local hunts. The townspeople did not care too much for the Indians anyway and didn't want them coming into their town.

The town also had a Government agency that was supposed to help the townspeople and the Indians. But it seemed the agency was always against the Indians. Although some leaders in the agency were good to the Indians, others like 'Trader Jackson' sought to destroy the local tribe.

Then it happened! The faraway buffalo hunters got mad at the town and would not deliver any more buffalo meat to them. Panic hit the town as there was very little meat in storage and everyone would have to be rationed. The local tribe was at a loss, as they had no way to meet this sudden demand. The Indians also were rationed and had to wait in long lines and sometimes, after hours of waiting, find out they had run out of meat.

Most townspeople were not informed on what went on in this busy town and blamed the local Indian tribe for the shortage. (Some were so stupid they said the local tribe had purposely made unsuccessful hunts and had stamped the buffalo over cliffs to create the shortage.)

The Agency then came to the Indians and said, 'We must have more Buffalo Per Day.' (Now known as BPD). 'We must make our town independent so we will not have to rely on faraway buffalo hunters anymore.'

The Indians agreed (as this is what they had tried to do all along), but they had many problems. The bows and arrows were old and had been stacked in a teepee for years. They would have to be repaired, if arrowheads and twine could be obtained. New ones were ordered, but the bow and arrow makers were running two years in back orders. Inexperienced braves would have to be recruited as many of the old braves had left when the buffalo hunts were low and wages were so low -- never to return. The buffalo also were not as plentiful as before and the hunters would have to travel longer distances, into deeper canyons at more expense. The bows and arrows would cost more money and they would have to pay higher wages to the braves. The buffalo would have to be raised to $10 each to cover the expense of the hunt. Some of the townspeople cried, 'Excessive Profits'. Others said let's use canned foods -- but cans were not to be invented for another 25 years. The buffalo hunts were carried on at a fast pace. The Indians worked very hard.

Many moons before the crisis, the Agency had set it up so that the Tribe had to give them part of their buffalo earnings each year. But the tribe returned from many, many hunts without even the smell of a buffalo. The Agency would then return a small amount of their earnings so they could invest it in other buffalo hunts.

This was called a 'Depletion Allowance.' Most of this had already been taken away from the tribe. This was another reason the tribe had slowed investments in the hunts.

Although the Indians worked hard, the townspeople still complained. They said the hunters' horses messed up their land and smelled up the air, even though most of them had never been to the hunting grounds. They complained that the wagons that hauled the buffalo meat and the hunting gear should not be allowed on the main road, even though the tribe paid the town for road permits and road use tax.

Some of the Indians started hunting from the water in canoes. This was great expense to the tribe, but they felt this might increase the supply of buffalo. The townspeople cried that the Indians would ruin the rivers.

Although the tribe took every precaution, one buffalo did fall into the water. The Indian who had shot the buffalo cleaned up the mess by himself and paid all the expenses while the townspeople stood on the bank and complained.

The Indian was required to take his canoe and leave town. All the buffalo that were taken from water hunting has been forgotten, but the 'Buffalo Splash Story' is still talked about today.

The Agency formed a committee and sent them to the Indian village. They told the tribe that this group would make their hunting safer. They would put saddles on the horses, tie the braves to them, put safety tips over arrowheads and hard-toed moccasins to wear. (All at the expense of the Indian tribe.)

The Indians protested that this would greatly hamper the buffalo hunt and the tribe had always had safety regulations. Why they even had their own safety council and safety braves that checked every hunting party. But the Indian's argument fell on deaf ears and the new group stayed in command. The group was formed by townspeople consisting of storekeepers, bartenders, blacksmiths, etc., none of whom had ever been near a buffalo hunt.

Although the hunts became more and more expensive, it looked as if the tribe might find enough buffalo for everyone to eat and maybe they could store some for the long cold winters. Then an evil spirit came upon the tribe. It was a leader from the Agency, good old 'Trader Jackson.' He said the depletion allowance should be taken away from the tribe and the price should be rolled back to $3 per buffalo. The Agency and the townspeople agreed and it was done.

The beaten Indian tribe put away their bows and arrows and returned to the reservation. Never to hunt buffalo again. The winter was bad and all the townspeople starved to death. The town of Wildcat perished.

The troops, divided into patrols of eight or less, competed in twenty events which ranged from such scouting skills as knot tying, first aid, and building a fire using flint and steel instead of matches, to fun-type games of Frisbee tossing and throwing and catching water balloons. Each event was scored on a scale of 20 points.

The KC patrols, Turtle Bax led by Mindy Hutchinson and Great Magicians led by Jeanna Richards, were presented the 'Award of Merit' for their showing in the events. This was the second highest award given. The higher 'Award of Merit and Honor' went to troops of older boys and girls with more scouting experience.

Those attending included Kim Rhodes, Mindy Hutchinson, Jeanna Richards, Diane Helms, Jill May, Karae Beason, Angie Quintana, Bonnie Stewart, Jerri Grimsley, Lou Ann Weatherall, and Brownies Shonda Peterson and

J.B. Tabor Has A-One Week

J.B. Tabor found every golfer's dream on Saturday -- the elusive "hole-in-one". Even more remarkable was the fact that he missed it by only inches the first time around, hitting the pin and rolling on by. The feat was accomplished on #5 hole and the foursome was made up of Ted Alexander, Mat Verhalen, Gene Griffin, and Tabor.

If he can do this with the wind blowing the way it was, fellows, beware of Tabor on a nice day!

By the way, not only did J.B. get his "hole-in-one", he also caught the biggest bass he had ever caught. What a week!

STREAMS IN DESERT PLACES by Ozeile Stephens

"He restoreth my soul," Psalm 23.3
Why did David need to have his soul restored? Because we all like sheep sometimes stray away from the straight and narrow path. We fail to pray continually, read the Bible daily, and keep love in our hearts for our fellow man. In times like these, it is easy to miss an opportunity to serve our Lord and witness for Him. We let evil thoughts enter our mind and break our fellowship with the Holy Spirit which causes us to slip into a state of depression and unhappiness, thus blinding us to God's great love, His truth, and His mercy.

We need only to stop, listen, and hear His tender voice calling us back to Him. Yes, God does show us our error, He gives us repentance and brings us back to our duty. He restores our soul. Blessed be the Name of our Lord, for when He forgives, we are made perfect in His love.

Range improvement work on the A.L. Cox family ranch near Benjamin will soon be paying dividends to the landowners as well as our environment.

The Coxes are doing their range improvement work under the Great Plains Conservation Program. Their plans for 1975 include 275 acres of rootplowing, 410 acres of seedbed preparation with range seeding, one farm pond and management practices.

Additional rootplowing, seedbed preparation with range seeding, waterways, terraces, and management practices are scheduled for 1976 and 1977.

As the treated areas become established, they will be more productive, prevent erosion from wind and water, and become better habitats for wildlife.

TRIM AND BRAID DECORATE SUMMER CLOTHING

Trims and braids are an important part of the '75 spring and summer look.

There are several ways to help the home seamstress achieve a professional look.

--Preshrink trim before applying. Handle trims loosely and without tension when stitching.

--Use thread that matches the trim.

--Mark the exact location for a professional look.

--Use trims compatible with fabric. Permanent press and synthetic trims are available, as well as cotton and rayon.

--Use a light thread tension if applying trim by machine.

--Polyester thread often gives better results since it doesn't shrink when laundered.

--Pin or baste in place, working with a full length of trim. This avoids cutting the piece too short.

If the doesn't call for trim, the seamstress can determine yardage necessary by measuring the pattern pieces at the exact location of the trim.

Add a half yard or more to allow for joinings, curves, or corners. It's better to have a few inches left over than to be a few inches short.

DIFFERENCE IN WATER-BATH AND PRESSURE PROCESSING IN HOME CANNING

Have you wondered about the differences in water-bath and pressure cooker processing of foods in home canning?

The water-bath method is used for processing fruits, rhubarb, and tomatoes and is done using a pan with a lid and rack. The rack is used to hold the jars off the bottom of the cooker. The pan is large enough to cover the jars with one to two inches of water, so that the jars are surrounded with boiling water. The lid is used to help retain the heat. The acid in some fruits and vegetables helps prevent the growth of some bacteria which is the reason the water-bath process can be used.

However, the low acid fruits and vegetables must be canned using the pressure cooker. The spores ("seeds") of some bacteria are highly resistant to heat, which makes it necessary for them to be destroyed by high heat. This is accomplished with the pressure cooker.

What are foods processed by these methods? The water-bath is used for such foods as peaches, plums, and tomatoes. The pressure cooker is used for such foods as beets, peas, corn, beans, greens, and okra.
