Services for Lordsday April 19 at the First Christian church in Knox City.

Bible 10:00 a. m.
 Preaching 11:00 a. m.
 Subject: "How the Jewish Educational System was conducted."

Come and hear this. It is a subject on which people in general have very little information. To prepare a message like this necessitates the reading of thousands of pages in history and literature dealing with this great subject. Don't fail to come and hear it.

Preaching 7:30 p. m.
 Subject: "Being World Minded". This message is a "follow up" for the 11:00 o'clock message. Come and let us learn something new. Why? because there is always "something new under the sun," all are welcome.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS ATTEND GRAND COUNCIL

Sunday, the Camp Fire Girls were guests of the Wichita Falls Camp Fire Organization.

Although they were a few minutes late in arriving they witnessed part of the Grand Council Fire which is held semi-annually in Wichita Falls. The Camp Fire Girls celebrated this year their nineteenth birthday day this year, and the principal study was world friendship. Each group of Wichita Falls selected a certain country to study. In doing this, each girl in the group wins an honor. Only one group of Wichita Falls had completed this birthday honor, but all of the rest were nearly completed. Two splendid talks, by Dr. Horst, and Mr. Creighton, boy Scout executive, were enjoyed. A great number of Wichita Falls girls were initiated. Camp Fire Girl songs were sung, and the group marched out of the circle singing "Now the Sun is Shining in the West".

Then the girls spent their time viewing the city and then ate their picnic lunch and came home. Those accompanying the Camp Fire Girls were: Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wall, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Jones, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Q. Warren.

BENEDICT INSTALLS COOLER BOX

It will be seen in an advertisement elsewhere in this issue of the Herald that Benedict and Benedict Market and Grocery have installed a new cooler box, in other words, a huge ice box, in their store.

This box is 8 by 6 by 19, with a capacity of 2100 pounds of ice and from 1500 to 2000 pounds of meat. It is a large, white, enamel box. A pretty thing as well as a useful, preserving box. It is located in the rear of the building, facing the front. Benedicts invite you in to inspect the box and will appreciate your comment there on. Read their ad in this paper.

IMPROVING ROAD TO CEMETERY

Under the supervision of Mr. William Griffith, county road commissioner of the Knox City precinct, the road at the Cemetery was improved Tuesday. The improvements consisted in smoothing the entire plot of ground north of the Cemetery fence. This is for the accommodation of car parking. Now cars can park, head in, double lined, at the fence and all trouble of parking and turning around is over.

The girls debating team, Constance Browning and Sydna Virginia Edwards, went to Truscott Tuesday where they met Crowell in a practice debate.

NOTICE TO AUTO DEALERS

Under Senate Bill number 46 passed by the 10th Legislature, pertaining to the sale and transfer of motor vehicles, there are certain penalties attached which carry a fine of $200 for failure to observe the rulings. Failure to file applications for transfer within ten days after the date of the sale and failure to give complete information are the two most frequent violations of this law. Miss Wright, Tax Collector asks all who have transfers file them whether you wish to register the title now or later.

Gardens and farms are at just the place where a good rain is needed. That falling is ideal.

WHAT BECAME OF THE DEBT PAYING CHECK

The question has been asked "what became of the debt paying check" that was soon to be in circulation in Knox City. Those according to get it going but upon investigation it is feared that to circulate such a check is against the law forbidding the written law.

Article 536 issuing bills to pass as money. If any person within the State shall issue any bill, promissory note, checks or other paper intended to circulate as money, he shall be fined not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars for each bill, promissory note, check or other paper so issued.

The money raised here to be used this way was, in the beginning, to be given to the Christian Women's Association. Since it is unlawful to issue the checks as desired, the money is being turned over to the C. W. A. and the project no further continued.

SUNSET P. T. A.

The Sunset P. T. A. organized a few weeks ago with thirty members. This shows that the people of this district are interested in the welfare of the student body.

April 19th was designated as P. T. A. Clean-up-day. The school is very grateful to this organization for the work done in erecting swings, saws, basket ball goals and various other improvements.

At our next meeting the second and third grades, under the direction of Misses Grensted and Parks, will give a short program on health.

There is much work that the organization may do. If you are interested in the school and its work, you are invited to meet at the school building at 2:45 on the first and third Tuesdays in each month. Come, we need your help.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

You have been told on numerous occasions the value to be derived from newspaper advertising. Doubtless, it is a subject you tire of discussing, but as the same time, as you will also doubtless admit, one you should consider, Mr. Merchant.

Any town where a group of the leading stores are not advertising are hurting the town and hurting themselves. You may not be able to see the writing on the wall at this particular moment, but gradually your sales volume grows less, and you wonder what's the trouble; decide, in most cases, that business everywhere is on the toboggan.

Sometimes, perhaps, you may be correct, but in most instances you are wrong. Any firm supposedly a leader in its town, fails to make known what it has to offer for sale, and fails to draw people to the town, is heading for the grave just as sure as anything. These same people will be attracted, as being shown daily to stores elsewhere who are after the business.

If you were considering the purchase of a piece of property and wanted advice as to whether you should invest, you wouldn't go to a poor man, but you would consider advice offered by successful men. Being offered day in and day out by the large firms who foster advertising their products is a mighty good advice. You wouldn't hardly call them "suckers" would you? After continuing such a policy year in and year out they could not hardly be classed as a group of "nuts."

If you are not advertising because you think it costs too much, then you certainly are afraid of yourself, afraid to tell the people about what you have to sell, or better still, you just simply don't have the staff to advertise, because if it be something the people want they will buy it. You don't compete with others, and when you are in that position, it isn't the cost of advertising that is holding you out of the paper, but it is because you are busy digging your grave, and can't take the time to write your ad or have newspapermen do the job.

But some of these days you will have to take time to write something or leave it to the newspaper man—it won't be an advertisement altogether, but it will be an epitaph informing the public "competition was too keen, and creditors had no mercy." Exchange

A MESSAGE TO MERCHANTS

When one is out motoring and comes to a steep hill, one does not shut off the gas and expect the car to climb the steep incline on the same power that we required to propel it along the level road.

Quite the contrary is true. In every instance of this kind the driver "steps on the gas" as we say, and furnishes the motor with the extra power required to carry it to the top of the hill.

The same thing is true of business as long as everything is rolling along and conditions are normal, business comes in a good volume without a great deal of effort, but when a depression comes, or hard times, as we say, it requires more effort, it takes more power to get the same amount of business.

"Stepping on the gas" in business is equivalent to larger advertising appropriations. When business is low, more pressure in the way of advertising must be applied.

Advertising is more important to business in times of depression than it is when all business is at a high tide.

The American buying public has become a race of newspaper readers. They have become trained to read the advertisements and to look to the advertisements for guidance and information in the matter of their purchases.

That advertising increases sales has become too well proven to admit of argument.

When the readers of a paper pick up at a time like this and scan its pages and find no advertisements, two reactions take place: No new merchandise is offered for sale, no descriptions of desirable food products or furniture or clothing greet the eye or tempt the appetite or a wakens the desire to buy. The possibility of a sale is lost.

The other reaction which perhaps means more at this time than actual sales of merchandise, is, that if merchants are not advertising, times must really be hard and unconsciously the strings of the household pocketbook are tightened and expenditures reduced whether the individual conditions warrant it or not.

Now is the time to "step on the gas."

SOIL CONSERVATION CALLED IMPERATIVE GOVERNMENTAL DUTY

Austin, Texas, April—The futility of taking precautions for the welfare of future generations while allowing profligate waste of the nation's greatest asset was pointed out today by J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture, in a statement urging serious consideration by the legislature and Texans generally of pending legislative measures for soil conservation.

McDonald declared that agricultural experience of the last twenty years shows incontrovertibly the direful agriculture is taking. In the last twenty years, he stated, statistics disclose the alarming fact that production per acre of cotton on Texas lands has declined 65 per cent.

The rate of decline has grown rapidly as the soils are sapped of their strength, he asserted. Twenty years ago, all Texas cotton was superior in staple and quality. Today a large portion is unmarketable which means that improper crop rotation is impoverishing the soils and owners of the soils.

"It is imperative," McDonald stated, "that we conserve our soil, using definite and positive means. Futility of the program we have been following, of educational efforts, has been demonstrated in the last fifty years by the decline, both in soil fertility and in the economic condition of our agricultural classes.

"In the past when we possessed fee simple title to land, we considered it our privilege to do with that land as we pleased, allow it to erode and be washed away, drained of its fertility. It would be fully as logical under that out-dated conception to a land owner to render his land unfit for plant life by applying some chemical reagent, without being held responsible for his actions.

"In these modern days when men think of the future as well as the present, it is generally accepted that we are merely trustees of the soil, and should be held accountable for our trusteeship. It is also commonly accepted that it is the duty of the government to preserve society.

"To this end our legislatures establish schools and colleges for the education of future generations. The outer man, as well as the inner, should be considered.

"In House Bill 46, by J. J. Olsen and others, the legislature has under consideration a bill in which I am intensely interested. If passed, it will add materially in the conservation of soils. If Texas leads, other states will follow. Even now Mississippi is marking time, waiting for the Texas legislature to act. Ancient prejudices should be forgotten and honest thinking brought into play when the Texas legislature takes up this measure for consideration."

Miss Elizabeth Myers, a teacher in the Benjamin school, spent Sunday afternoon here with Mrs. Louise Finley. The two were friends in Simmons University.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaston McReynolds of the Needmore community are the happy parents of a new baby boy, Gaston Junior. He came last Friday.

Texas spent $62,000,000 on its public schools in 1930, 46 millions for teachers and 16 millions for main tenance, free textbooks. Fifteen years earlier the total spent was $12,766,000 a per capita of $12.19 against a per capita of $43.70 in 1930 (Authority: Texas Weekly).

Texas produced $11,505,000 worth of asphalt, $6,000,000 worth of clay products, $1,500,000 worth of lime, $322,600 worth of gypsum, $828,000 worth of lime, $1,038,000 worth of miscellaneous minerals, including graphite, mercury, magnesia, basalt and greensand, not to mention $67,772,000 worth of natural gas, $25,760,000 worth of natural gas, $222,540,000 worth of petroleum. (Authority: University Bureau of Economic Geology).

Erzell Clarke of Levelland was here this past weekend.

Mrs. G. T. Hardberger is spending a few days this week with her sister in Abilene, during which time she is attending the State Sunday School Convention.

The Sunday School Day program will be given Sunday, April 26 at the eleven o'clock hour at the Methodist church. Plan to hear that program.

The play presented by the local Unions was very good. The next meeting of the association will be held in Rule on month from the day of this meeting.

Mrs. Holland and daughter, Mrs. Green and Mrs. Edelman all of Estelene were recent visitors in Knox City. Mrs. Green is a sister to Mrs. M. A. Reeder.

Parents of the town are looking forward to a good display of canned foods this fall, all of which will help in more than that of training the children.

Reverend Libos of Vera preached a good sermon at the Knox City Methodist church Sunday. Reverend Vera conducted the service at the Vera church.

Mrs. O. L. Jamison is in Memphis this week visiting with her parents during which time she is also attending the District meeting of the Federated Clubs of Memphis.

Mrs. J. C. Goodson and daughter and Mrs. O. R. Jones of Stamford spent last Saturday night here in the home of relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Fortenberry.

Mrs. H. Darnell and Mrs. F. O. Jamison were among the twenty five of the Knox City Baptist who attended the Baptist State Sunday School Convention in Abilene this week. These ladies were present for the day session Tuesday.

SMELL

Scientific research has developed the mechanical sensitiveness to touch. There are electrical and chemical devices which can discriminate between the taste of different substances. The only one of the five senses which hasn't been reproduced in the laboratories is the sense of smell. Nobody has yet invented a mechanical nose.

Smelling involves a very delicate chemical operation. The nose detects minute traces of chemical substances whose presence cannot be discovered by any other means. There is no odor which cannot be reproduced chemically, but so far science has been baffled in every effort to detect odors by means of any kind of machine or chemical process.

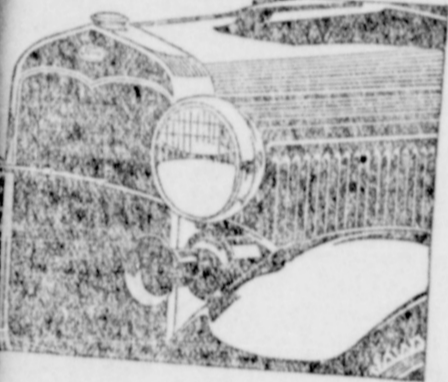

That is not to say that the mechanical nose is an impossibility. As yet, there is no apparent necessity for such a device. Once let the necessity arise, and it is better than an even chance that some chemist or electrical engineer will find a way to do the job.

THE RICH MAN AND LAZARUS
Luke 16: 19-24

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Jesus kept on teaching by means of parables as he made His way through Perea, en route to Jerusalem for the Feast of Passover. Some had just "scoffed at him" and He purposed to show them more about true and abiding values. The "Certain rich man" is without an indicated name. We call him Dives because therein we have the Latin word for rich. He was the kind to stir up class antagonism. He would not have given anything of value to help the man out of employment during the winter through which we have just passed. He lived to eat and made himself a candidate for gout by the way in which he "fared sumptuously every day." Though he did not invite even his fellow aristocrats to share in the banquets this selfish vagabond sat clothed in garments suitable for a king.

If he looked at the beggar who lay at his gate it was with disdain. There was Lazarus, the man full of sores and attended during the day by dogs only. This wretched bit of humanity eagerly hoped that crumbs be his portion, and he would have thanked Jehovah for even such limited food.

Death must come to all and in time both characters passed into the beyond. An expensive funeral was accorded the man of wealth, though his attendants were paid to mourn officially. Once ignored Lazarus had the angels to attend his spirit into the divine presence. When Dives beholds the beggar better off than he is, he thinks that he can have him as a servant to bring a cooling drop of water, for now the miseries of full retribution are upon the man who was rich in gold only. Facts concerning the future world should make every one meditate at length. We fix our place for eternity by the way we live in this world.

Melvin Jones spent the past week end in Benjamin.

Save or Spend

A bank is the only institution in the world that ask its customers to save their money rather than spend it. Saving is a principle that can be applied to effort and energy as well as money. It is our mutual interest for the progress, and upon this basis we offer our facilities to our customers and the community.
