The band is from the high school in Wink, Texas. The local band organization is sponsoring the concert and will make a small admittance fee. In exchange for the concert the local band is arranging home for the guest band for the night, giving both supper Monday night and breakfast Tuesday morning.

Parents over the entire town have been generously in offering the homes to members of the visiting band.

The Wink High School band is the best in the state and will be a thrill and inspiration to members of Knox City's new organization. It is predicted that the church auditorium will be overflowing Monday night so plan now to be early and get a seat.

May every one who can attend the services, be present Sunday morning and evening.

Sunday evening at the B. T. U. hour, 6:45, Reverend Brannan will speak to the young people. This talk will be a real treat to the youth of the church.

Those of you who have one of the song books that is used in all church services, are asked to bring the book to service with you so that there may be plenty of books for all and good singing.

Next Sunday is the day set apart for the Sunday School offering for Missions. Bring your extra offering and send it afar, with the message of Christ who said "go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature".

PARDON for Roger
 by Frank Parker Stockbridge
 In my home state of Massachusetts, Justice may sometimes move slowly, but wrongs are usually righted in the course of time. For instance the Great and General Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts has just pardoned Roger Williams, after 300 years!

Williams' offense was that he held and taught in his church school at Salem such subversive doctrines as that the civil power could not control a man's conscience, and that the Indians be paid for lands.

For such teachings he was sentenced to banishment from the colony. He escaped deportation to the West Indies by fleeing with some friends, in 1636, across the border to a pleasant spot at the head of Narragansett Bay, where he bought some land.

That was the beginning of the state now named "Rhode Island and Providence Plantations," which is celebrating its 300th anniversary this year. And when the tricentenary committee discovered that Roger Williams was still under sentence of banishment, an appeal was made to the Massachusetts authorities, who formally recorder that Williams was at last pardoned for his crimes.

WEASELS and cats
 Nothing can happen anywhere without affecting somebody somewhere else. King George V. died the other day and the royalty and nobility of Europe will have to attend the coronation of King Edward VIII next year. If you're in that class, you've got to wear an ermine robe or cape or they won't let you in. Fur-dealers are now securing the world for ermine furs.

The ermine is nothing but the ordinary weasel in his white winter coat. It takes 150 ermine skins for an ordinary cape. So up in the Northwest the fur buyers are bidding up these winter weasel furs and the trappers are reaping a harvest. If you've got a white kitten that you're fond of, keep in indoors until all those cornatin robes have been made.

"BEEN" your're right
 I have heard folk deride the great Quaker poet, John G. Whittier, as uncouth and uncultured because he wrote in "Maud Muller" these lines: "Of all sad words of tongue or pen the saddest are these: 'It might have been.'" Probably Whittier never heard any one in his New England home pronounce "been" in any other way than to rhyme with "pen." That was the way I always heard it "Down East."

 ed in New York, said "bin." But when I went to High School in Washington, I learned to pronounce it "bean."

It must have been a rude shock to the purists and pedants who think that good English is spoken only in England, when Dr. A. Floyd James, professor of phonetics in the University of London, arrived in New York the other day and remarked that "bin" is just as permissible as "bean" and that all our other "Americanisms," so long as they are intelligible, are as good English as the King's English itself.

RELIGION
 The of the great religious sects of the world have neither priests nor ministers. They are the Mohammedans and the Society of Friends, or Quakers. But the particular sect of Mohammedans known as Ismailians acknowledge the spiritual leadership of the descendants of Mohammed, who founded their religion.

The Aga Khan, a Knight of the British Empire and an international sportsman, is a direct descendant of Fatima, daughter of the Prophet. So every faithful Ismailian pays two per cent. of his income to the Aga Khan.

The other day he celebrated the fiftieth year of his accession to Ismailian leadership by standing in one of a pair of scales while his followers piled gold into the other pan until the scales balanced. His weight in gold was 152 pounds, worth around $125,000 which he gave charity.

NATIONALISM
 From all I can learn, from friends who keep in touch with Europe, the nations that have been trying to run on the principle of buying nothing from other nations are having a hard time of it.

I hear that the German people are hard put to it for food and clothing and are getting restive under the Hitler dictatorship. From Italy, I get similar reports of internal unrest and a strong movement to restore to the King the power which Mussolini now wields.

France, Holland and Switzerland are having trouble in maintaining their currencies on the gold standard.

When the present national barriers break, I look to see some new international combinations that will it up to America to take a larger part in world affairs or get run over.

Texas Woman Helps Edit Big Magazine

MRS. BEN C. BALL OF DALLAS

SHE has been selected as a "typical American homemaker" by the Woman's Home Companion, and is spending two weeks in New York as one of the editors of the magazine. Her selection is part of a plan to keep the contents of the magazine closer to its average reader. Twelve "reader-editors" are being selected, each from a different section of the country. They will each spend two weeks in New York, where they will work with the regular magazine staff on problems which confront any woman in her home, particularly in the kitchen.

Mrs. Ball went to Texas as a baby, graduated from the Hillsboro High School and then from Baylor University. In 1925 she married Mr. Ball, a banker. They have two children. Her indoor hobbies are cooking and sewing; outdoor hobbies, golf and swimming.

WILLIAM E. HOLLER MADE A TEXAS CENTENNIAL RANGER

Dallas, Texas, March 19—Governor James V. Allred of Texas has commissioned William E. Holler vice president and general sales manager of Chevrolet Motor Company, a Texas Centennial Ranger in recognition of his eminence in the automobile industry and his friendship for Texas.

The official presentation of Mr. Holler's commission took place Saturday in Dallas at the grounds of the Texas Centennial Exposition. General Manager Webb of the exposition made the presentation.

"I deeply appreciate the honor conferred upon me by Governor Allred," said Mr. Holler at the ceremony. "The magnitude of the Texas Centennial is much greater than I had realized before seeing it. Millions of visitors from all parts of the United States will unquestionably see this magnificent exposition during the summer. I hope to be one of them and think the whole Southwest should be complimented for arranging such an interesting and instructive exposition."

The celebration and exposition will start June 6. Twenty-five million dollars are being spent on grounds and buildings. Most of the buildings are being constructed for permanency. The site is the grounds of the Texas State Fair.

A beautiful and permanent stadium seating 50,000 people will attract sports of high caliber. The exposition counts on 12,000,000 attendance this summer.

TANGIBLE RESULTS OF NEWS-PAPER ADVERTISING

Tangible evidence that the Continental Oil Company's heavy use of newspaper space in its marketing territory during 1935 was a sound advertising move is indicated in the figures of the Company's annual report for 1935 just issued.

These show that the Company increased the volume of its general business as well as its profits, and that it enjoyed a notable gain in the sales of its patented "kerm-processed" motor oils. This product which was especially stressed in the Company's advertising, had an increase in sales of over 14 per cent, in comparison with the figures for the previous year.

Continental recently announced that it would again expend the larger part of its 1936 advertising appropriation for newspaper space.

Local Citizen Donates Books to Library

MR. JOE RUSSELL GIVES BOOKS

Mr. Joe Russell has donated a complete set of books to the high school library this past week. We, the student body, feel greatly indebted to Mr. Russell for his interest and generous and helpful gift to the school.

The books are the works of Alexander Dumas, a French writer. Dumas wrote both novels and dramas, the novels numbering about three hundred. Twelve of these novels have been compiled into a set under the name of The Works of Alexander Dumas. These Historical novels were written with the plots laid during the reigns of Francis I., Henry II., Charles IX, and Henry 3. It is a like set that Mr. Russell has given to the library.

The library has undergone many changes this year and has been greatly improved in the size as well as in the arrangement. A large number of new books on Texas History and Texas subjects have been purchased recently.

A new accession record has just been completed which aids the librarians in being quick and exacting in checking books to the students. The repair work on "sick" books was begun this week and they are getting the medicine thick and fast so perhaps they will soon be well re-bound and readable.

Interest in the library shown on the part of the citizenship of the town encourages the students to "dig deeply into the hidden thoughts." We sincerely appreciate any material given to the school and hope, if anyone has books he is not using, that he will follow Mr. Russell's splendid example and donate to library and, thus help build our school to be bigger and better.

FRESHMEN HAVE PICNIC AT "NARROWS"

Last Friday afternoon the Freshmen set out for the "Narrows," where they had an excellent time. Nearly all of the Freshmen were present.

Probably the most interesting thing was the Indian graves, we stopped at the Narrows before we went to the Indian graves, and climbed the hills and made pictures. Many curious things were found and some were brought back for souvenirs we had quite a time on deciding just what place was the "Narrows," because there were so many pretty places, but we decided on a pretty spot and stopped there to eat our supper. We then went out and gathered in some wood, which was plentiful and roasted the wieners. Then we were served wieners bread, red beans, pickles, onions, lemonade and marshmallows.

The sponsors for this picnic were: Mary Francis Reeder, Junior Montandon, James Gopson, R. E. Humphries, Carl Cochran and Doyle Graham.

The people who took cars were: Wynette Farmer, Mrs. Cash, Bobbie McCarty, Lincoln Bolin and J. W. Coates. Those present for the enjoyable occasion besides the class and its sponsor were: Mrs. B. M. Farmer, Mrs. Benton Anderson, and Iris Coates.

THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL HISTORICAL CONTEST

Texas, with its rich historical background, has countless hidden relics, documents and pictures, which may be important links in Texas History lying in homes, their value possibly unsuspected. Many important historical materials already have been lost and others are being lost daily. In order to bring these materials to light and make additional information available to historians, teachers, and possibly, to thousands of people who will visit Texas this year, the Historical Exhibits Department of the Centennial Exposition in Dallas, is conducting a statewide contest to uncover interesting and important Texas relics, documents and pictures which were in existence before 1900.

Complete rules for this contest may be secured from Mrs. Ottis Cash. Maybe you will win one of the cash prizes offered if you submit an old document, or an old picture.

HOME EC. GIRLS MODEL DRESSES

Friday afternoon during the assembly the Home Economics girls modeled their dresses on which they have worked very hard this term. This being their first dress this year, personally, we think they looked really nice. And even the girls themselves think so too.

THE FRIZZELL SPECIAL

I have noticed that every afternoon the "Younger set" gathers at Frizzell's Drug Store. Promptly at 4:30 they arrive.

"Hi, Elmer!"
 "Lo, short stuff."
 "How you doin' Junior?"
 Elmer: "What will yo have, Laddies?"
 "Let me see. Suggest something. That's what you're here for."
 "Well, ah," says Claude Sue.
 "Coupla' Handred", says Marion.
 "Cherry-coac," says Dot.
 "Lime," says Mary Leone.
 "Lime," Says Marilyn.
 So the drinks go round and round.
 "Elmer! Bring the almonds please!"
 "I want some ice, please."
 "Candy-candy!"

Finally they parade out. The drug store is quite midst a fountain of dirty glasses.

A BIRTH-A DEATH

Spring to me, is like the beginning of a new life—everything is fresh, innocent, happy and carefree, without any knowledge whatsoever of the crime infested world. Slowly it matures into summer and into the knowledge of the world and its surrounding, and ever so slowly it changes into autumn, it is dying a slow beautiful death, not callous and radical, because of the things it has learned, but broadened and made beautiful. Older and older it becomes until it is winter and then it dies in quiet splendor. A wonderful life is gone—another has started on into eternity, the infinite duration, and unending existence.

Chevrolet's high-compression valve-in-head engine gives economy without equal!

CHEVROLET

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

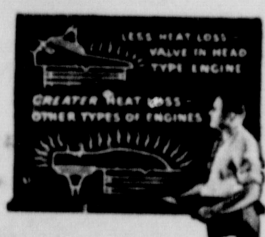

The Chevrolet engine is the most economical automobile engine produced today, because (1) it is a six-cylinder engine, and (2) it is a valve-in-head six-cylinder engine.

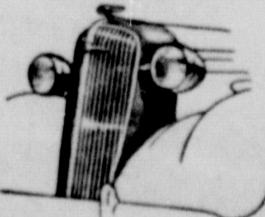

Its six cylinders use less gas and oil—in fact, use the least gas and oil—for six cylinders are the most economical combination used in modern automobiles.

Its valve-in-head design cuts gasoline consumption still lower because there is less loss of heat through the walls of the combustion chamber in valve-in-head engines, and the advanced construction of the Chevrolet engine gives maximum heat (or power) saving.

Most important of all, Chevrolet's most efficient cooling system, pressure stream, oiling and the greater accessibility of all working parts result in more dependable operation, over a longer period of time, with the lowest maintenance costs. Thus, Chevrolet's valve-in-head engine—only one of its kind in Chevrolet's price range—gives economy without equal.

MISS HELEN BURCHARD
 County Demonstration Agent

LET IT BE TIME TO CAN

"Let it be time to can", said Mrs. R. L. Lambeth, president of the Hefner Home Demonstration club at the regular meeting of the club, Tuesday, March 23rd, at the Hefner School. This year's pantry supply of leafy green, yellow, starchy and other vegetables, my cherry red tomatoes and fruits and meats has shown me that our family have lived more economically than ever before on what I canned during the past year."

VICARIOUS AGENT

"I'm glad you belong to the home demonstration club" said her Negro cook to Mrs. Ernest Robinson, president of the Gorce Home Demonstration club, while Mrs. Robinson was dressing to attend the regular meeting of the Home Demonstration club, Tuesday, March 17th, in her own home. "Every time you learn something at the club about a balanced days' ration, you come home and teach it to me. I feel as if I belong to the woman's home demonstration club."

"DOCTOR RYDER" HELPS CLEAR COMPLEXION

"They've started calling me 'Dr. Ryder,'" said Mrs. Marion Ryder, Knox county Council chairman and a member of the Gilliland H. D. C., at the regular meeting of the H. D. C., Wednesday March 4th in her home. "One of my star boarders had a severe case of acne when she came. Now after 6 months of eating my good vegetables which I grew in my garden and canned for the non-productive months, her complexion is fast becoming clear and lovely."

Government by Law— or by Edict?

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
 National Chairman
 Sentinels of the Republic

Dominant among the demands of men who fought the Revolution was the right to a voice in the making of laws under which they were governed. By their victory our fathers won that right. Jealously they guarded it—in both Federal and State constitutions. Under the system thus established, the enactment of law was reserved to men chosen by the people and responsive to their will. It is the traditional American system.

But there is another type of legislation—known as Administrative Law. It is a system of edicts and decrees, handed down by rulers to subject populations. In its enactment the people have no voice.

That's one reason why so many thoughtful citizens are protesting against the flood of edicts pouring out of the offices of various boards and bureaus at Washington today.

They realize that a whole new body of Administrative Law is being forced on the people, not by their elected representatives, but by appointed chiefs of bureaus and commissions, in whose selection the voters had no choice and over whose actions they exercise no control.

In recent years those citizens have observed a constantly increasing number of examples of extravagance, arrogance and interference with individual rights on the part of Bureaucrats who assumed, or to whom Congress delegated, powers vested only in the people or their elected representatives.

Today they see the growing threat of Administrative Law supplanting, unless checked, our entire American system of legislation—and with it our constitutional form of government.

Bureaucracy and democracy cannot continue to exist side by side. One or the other must yield. Whether or not we shall surrender government by the people for government by Bureaucrats is for us to determine.

As heirs of the patriots who waged a long and bitter war for the right to make their own laws, our decision should not be a difficult one.

Stones of American Genius

HENRY WADSWORTH LONGFELLOW

Longfellow memorial erected in Washington, D. C., in 1909; William Cooper, sculptor.

OF all Americans whose written words have been deeply engraved on our national mind and heart, none has so strong a hold on popular affection as Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. The work of the great poet was diffused with a gentleness that heightens its beauty.

He was in a profound sense American. It was the folk story of his native land that inspired him most eloquently, in immortal narrative poems like "The Courtship of Miles Standish," "Hiawatha" and "Evangeline." The everyday affairs of his everyday New England world are reflected in little masterpieces that have become a part of our national tradition, like "The Village Blacksmith" and "The Children's Hour."

Longfellow was born at Portland, Maine, on February 27, 1807, into a comfortably fixed family. His life had the serenity one finds in his songs. After graduating Bowdoin College, he travelled for a year, then filled the chair of modern languages at the same college. As soon as he found economic independence in writing he gave up teaching to devote himself only to poetry.

Unlike the poets of tradition, Longfellow attained immense popularity and a comfortable income in his own lifetime. He was always accessible to aspiring young men, and his career was of a piece with his work in its noble lines.

When he died, at the age of 75—in Cambridge, Mass., where he had passed most of his mature life—he had won himself a permanent place in our history. Wherever an American Hall of Fame exists, there the benign features of Longfellow are to be found. Poet, humanitarian, patriot—his memory is honored in tablets and monuments throughout the land.

The one shown in the illustration was erected by the Henry Wadsworth Longfellow Memorial Committee at the intersection of Connecticut and Rhode Island Avenues in the national capital.
