KC Lions Hear Report From W.T. Rehabilitation Center

Knox City Lions Club members heard a very interesting and enlightening report at their noon luncheon last Wednesday from Bill Snowden, chief physical therapist at the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene for the past seven years.

Lee Smith, local rancher, who has been associated with the Center's annual Cattleman's Roundup since 1960, introduced Mr. Snowden, replacing Shelley V. Smith, executive director of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, who was unable to attend. Snowden told the Lions, "If we had a Lee Smith in every town, we wouldn't be broke every other year!"

Club members heard that last year, more than 2,420 handicapped persons received help from the West Texas Rehabilitation Center. He explained that the Center benefits a large area with specialists on the staff to assist area doctors in anyway. Many school children are sent to the Center for help, receiving many benefits, and yet able to pay only a portion of the real expense, he said. He described cases of patients who had suffered strokes, automobile accident victims, hard-of-hearing patients, cancer patients, and right on down to the children who are referred there to the speech department, and said that a person would have to be there and see to believe the remarkable progress made in most cases.

The Easter Seal campaign is the most vital part of the $426,000 budget for the Rehab Center and the 1971 Easter Seal appeal goes into full swing this week in Knox and ten other area counties. The Home Demonstration Club is sponsoring the drive locally with Mrs. Nancy Bouldin as chairman, and a house to house drive will be made at 6:00 p.m., Monday, April 5.

Mr. Snowden, a graduate of McMurry College who taught and coached for two years before joining the Rehabilitation Center, said that persons in the Big Country have always responded to the Center's needs and that he feels certain they will again make it possible for the Center to serve all who come for help.

Residents are urged to be generous so that the Center may continue to help those help themselves. It takes money, so please give to Easter Seals. Remember the day, April 5.

Two Contested Races Noted In Saturday's Joint Election

Voters are reminded that Saturday, April 3, polls will be open from 8:00 a.m. until 7:00 p.m. at the City Hall for the city, school, and hospital elections. Otis Harbert is election judge.

The only contested races this year are those for city councilmen. Appearing on the ballot for the two-year term will be Tom R. Campbell and incumbents Carl Shelton and Henry L. White. Two will be elected. As is the custom of the Herald, newcomers to politics are asked if they have any special reason for seeking office. Mr. Campbell commented that his reason in running is to give the voters a choice and a change, if they so desire.

On the ballot for the one-year term as councilman will be incumbent Paul Clayton and newcomer Phil Dudley. Mr. Dudley said, "I am interested in running because of my feelings regarding local civic matters which are as follows: (1) I feel that every taxpayer has the right to receive a dollar's worth of goods or services for every tax dollar, (2) I believe it would do no harm to re-examine Knox City's association with the North Texas Municipal Water Authority, (3) I believe that a workable and effective plan can be instituted to improve the appearance of Knox City without adding to the present tax burden, and (4) I would be dishonest if I did not state publicly that I believe discrimination, because of race or religion, to be illegal in this country and should not be condoned by any responsible public official."

Buddy Angle is unopposed in the mayor's race and holdover councilmen are Lynn Worley and Willard Skiles.

In the school race for the three trustees to be elected are incumbent John L. Grindstaff Jr., Allen McGaughy, and Oscar Mangis.

Holdover board members are John Crowover, Doyle Graham, Clyde Bouldin, and Henry J. Jones.

In the hospital election Henry J. Jones is running for the only position vacant on the Board of Directors.

Remember to cast YOUR vote Saturday.

County Committees May Rule On Conserving Bases

A producer whose farm conserving base is a limiting factor in operating his farm in line with good management practices may appeal for an adjustment of the base through the end of farm program sign-up, April 9.

Three important provisions will be observed by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) County Committees in adjusting conserving bases for changes in farming operations, according to A. J. Navratil, chairman of the Knox County ASC Committee. They are:

"Downward adjustment of a conserving base will be made only upon a determination that farm operations have changed from conserving crops to non-conserving crops in recent years, or in the judgment of the county committee, such a change will be made this year.

"Acreage removed from the conserving base will be limited to that determined to be suitable for continuous cropping.

"Downward adjustment will not be made to accommodate a farm's required set-aside acreage under the 1971 farm programs.

"Basically, the rules on conserving bases are being updated in line with modern farming operations," Navratil said. He pointed out today's market-oriented farm policy requires that farmers have more freedom for decision-making about their farm operations. The set-aside farm programs of 1971 provide for this by getting away from the rigid crop limitations of previous programs.

"As for conserving bases," he said, "although adjustments have been made over the years for tangible changes in farm operations, in some instances conserving bases still tended to keep producers locked into types of farming operations that were no longer in their best interests.

"Or they may have had to choose between staying out of farm programs or continuing an uneconomic farm operation.

"For instance, a dairy farmer with 500 acres was following the recommended grass-silage feeding program when his conserving base was established. So his conserving base was set on this basis. Since that time he has determined that grain silage would be the most efficient feed for his herd, and he has been growing corn. But he couldn't participate in the feed grain program because he didn't maintain his conserving base. Now his county ASC committee can adjust his farm's conserving base in line with his actual farm operations, if the farmer asks for a downward adjustment," Navratil said.

Navratil emphasized that adjustments cannot be made to accommodate set-aside acres. "By that, we mean producers cannot be given an adjustment in their conserving base simply to make up for the land they must set aside in order to participate in the 1971 farm programs. The county committee will review the entire farm operation on the basis of intended cropping."

He also emphasized that conserving acreage which is recommended only for conserving uses, such as grass cover, must remain the conserving base. "No authority is given for making an adjustment which will result in a conserving base of less than the acreage recommended for conserving uses," he said.

"Naturally, we don't know how many adjustments will be requested and granted locally, nor for how much acreage," the ASC committee chairman said. "But U. S. Department of Agriculture officials feel that conserving base adjustments on a national scale will not be of major consequence. For individual farmers involved, of course, it could be quite important."

Use Of Spice Adds Flavor

Make ordinary dishes sparkle by adding an extra dash of just the right spice or herb. Spices and herbs not only add flavor but also color and aroma to mild foods.

Spices are the roots, stems, bark, leaves, seeds, fruits or buds of aromatic plants. Normally, "spice" means seeds and herbs which are either dried, whole or ground.

Herbs are the leaves of plants. They may be fresh, or dried, whole, ground or crushed.

Effective use of spices and herbs is an art acquired through practice. Begin by experimenting with a few at a time.

TEMIK BEST SOIL-APPLIED SYSTEMIC FOR COTTON INSECT CONTROL

Temik, a new insecticide that came into commercial use last year, has been described as the best soil-applied systemic chemical available for cotton.

Dr. R. L. Ridgway, leader of the USDA's cotton insect research at Texas A&M University, said Temik (the registered trademark for aldicarb pesticide) is particularly effective against such pests as the cotton fleahopper, lygus bug, leaf perforator and boll weevil.

He said Temik can be applied in the furrow at planting time for control of early season pests, or as a side-dress application for mid-season insects.

Established soils should be sampled to a depth of 3 to 4 inches, cultivated land to plow depth. Mix the soil thoroughly and send about a pint to testing laboratory in the boxes provided. Do not use a galvanized bucket or sampling tool, since this will contaminate the soil with zinc.

The history of cropping, fertilization and liming should be included on the information sheet sent along with the samples. Be as specific about crops to be grown, potential yields and how forage will be used as is possible. Recommendations vary according to soil nutrient levels and requirements for a given crop.

If the soil test results are to be used in connection with REAP practices, be sure to put the ASCS Farm number in the upper right hand corner of the information sheet. If this is done, suggested fertilization will be considered minimum for establishing or improving vegetative cover and the county ASCS office will be mailed a copy of the test results.

For side-dress applications to be most effective, Ridgway recommended placing Temik granules in moist soil. If moisture is lacking, the cotton should be irrigated after treatment.

"When moisture is limited, application of Temik in two bands per row is best. But with ample moisture, one band per row is adequate," he pointed out.

Ridgway also reported results with new experimental, slow-release Temik formulations which further improve effectiveness by extending control and providing more plant safety.

He added that the chemical, like most other insecticides, will reduce certain beneficial insects. Consequently, the farmer should try to balance maximum pest control with minimum effect on beneficial insects.

Ridgway emphasized that Temik is highly toxic to mammals and other warm blooded animals.

"Although the granular formulation containing 10 per cent Temik is safer to use than many liquid preparations of highly toxic insecticides, special care should be taken to assure that granules are not let exposed on top of the soil, since birds and other wildlife may be killed if allowed to feed on the granules," he explained.

The entomologist urged farmers to follow label instructions carefully to get safe and effective use of Temik.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Lost at the Laundry

Katherine went to the neighborhood laundry to pick up her week's wash. But the proprietor greeted her with bad news.

"We had a burglary last night," he said, "and your bundles were stolen. I'm afraid you are just out of luck."

But Katherine decided that he, not she, ought to bear the loss. Filing suit for damages, she pointed out that the back door of the laundry had only the flimsiest kind of a lock, even though the building had been burglarized before. The court found the proprietor guilty of negligence, and ordered him to pay Katherine's claim.

When you leave clothing at either a laundry or a dry cleaner, you are creating what the law calls a "bailment." The company, as the bailee, must take reasonable care of your belongings. Although not to blame for an unavoidable loss, it is liable for a loss it could fairly have

GRASSROOTS OPINION
 Chicago, Ill. — "The 'gray' train, is slowly coming to a stop... not, because the American people have become less generous and humane, but because too many greedy and insatiable people have climbed aboard. The ever-mounting taxes that provide the fuel to keep it running have reached a dead end... The solution does not lie in getting Washington to pay the welfare bill. That only takes us one step closer to socialism and communism. We must revise the rules, train the incompetent for every available job, expand work opportunities and make it impossible for any able-bodied citizen to require or secure welfare... We must never allow our aged, blind, crippled and helpless citizens to suffer... nor our poor, dependent children. But the shiftless freeloaders of either sex and every race must learn that they must work if they want to eat."

What's Fondue?

Fondue is not only a delicious meal, it's a social event, and it's the social element of this versatile dish that makes it truly unique.

The word fondue is French, which means "Melt".

It comes as no surprise that fondue is the national dish of Switzerland, as dairy products are of primary importance to this country, and the Swiss have hundreds of recipes.

There is no record of any individual or country being its originator. However, we know it's a custom used by peasants in Central Europe for many hundreds of years because these peasants were too poor to afford individual plates and utensils. They all ate out of one large clay pot - La Fondue.

Our fondue stock is now complete, with aluminum and stainless steel sets in stock, as well as the smaller chocolate dessert fondues. We have the forks, recipe books, fuel, etc. for your entertaining needs. Also, for another week, we have extended our get-acquainted-to-fondue-fun offer: our best stainless steel fondue set, regularly priced at $19.95, is now on special at $14.97. Suggest the company tries to protect itself by a notice saying it is not responsible for losses of any kind (does that make a difference?)

Most courts will recognize some limitation, but not a total denial of the company's liability. Furthermore, a notice has no legal effect unless it is properly brought to public attention.

In one case a laundry inserted into each finished bundle a small printed notice, placing a dollar limit on its liability for losses. But when a customer demanded payment for some missing items, the company was held liable in full. The judge said the dollar limit could not be part of the business contract, because it was not even mentioned when the clothing was first brought in.

On the other hand, the company too is entitled to "notice" of what it is accepting responsibility for. In another case, a man negligently left a ring in the pocket of a suit he sent to the cleaner. The ring vanished, and he put in a claim against the company for compensation.

But after a court hearing, his claim was turned down. The court said he could not blame the company for losing what it did not even know it had.

TAX MAN SAM

The good IRS folks are concerned about retired taxpayers. Congress has provided a number of tax benefits for taxpayers who have retired, but IRS finds that many taxpayers that are eligible don't claim the benefits. Quite a few taxpayers forget to claim their extra exemption when they pass age 65. Many don't claim the very important retirement income credit, which can reduce a retired couple's taxes by as much as $457.20.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

The Internal Revenue Service is noted for being an efficient collection organization, but they are also in the book and publication business on a big scale. The leading book they sell (as a service - not for profit) is "Your Federal Income Tax." At 75¢ it continues to be an annual best seller. A companion publication is the "Tax Guide for Small Business," which also sells for 75¢.

When you know that the common 1040 income tax forms and the accompanying schedules are printed in the hundreds of millions, you have to realize that the IRS printing job is a big one. IRS has several hundred free publications that discuss various tax problems. They have an estimated 6500 different forms, instructions and publications to cover the complex tax laws. Every day they have to throw away several tax forms that have been made obsolete by a change in the law, regulations, or by court decision. Just be thankful you only have to fill out a few pages of forms for your individual income tax return. A lot of other folks have to fill out quite a few more.

A man whose normal weight is 150 pounds would weigh about 50 pounds if all the water in his system were dried up.
