S. N. REED TAKES FINE BUNCH HOGS TO FT. WORTH MARKET

S. N. Reed, one of our progressive farmer-stockmen was on the Fort Worth market this week with a fine bunch of hogs. Mr. Reed raised these hogs on his farm with self feeder and they were a fine bunch, if the price would match the hogs, it would look more encouraging to our farmers to follow the pattern Mr. Reed has set, but hogs are about as good as 5 cent cotton.

RULES FOR DECLAMATION CONTEST ARE RECEIVED

A copy of the 1932 Supplement to the Constitution and Rules of the University Interscholastic league has been received by Miss Catherine Rike recently elected Director of Declamation in this county.

"There are two important changes in the rules this year affecting the declamation contest," said Miss Rike.

"First, there is a new division provided for in county meets accommodating only high school juniors, that is, pupils under fifteen years of age who have been promoted to the eighth grade or higher. This supplants the old rule which allowed such juniors to compete in the senior division.

Citizens State Bank In Its New Location

The Citizens State Bank moved this week to the former location of the First National Bank, located on the corner, affording better ventilation and more light than the other building.

The building and fixtures have been refinished and everything is in good shape.

"Second, the re-classification of schools will cause some schools which last year participated in the rural division to be transferred to the high school division.

"In most other respects, the declamation rules are the same as those of last year. The junior divisions use standard poetry for declaiming, and the senior divisions are confined to prose selections.

"This contest is designed to train boys and girls in the art of sincere and effective public speaking and at the same time contribute to their mental enrichment by requiring them to memorize prose and poetry by the great literary masters. It is hoped that there will be a large number of entries in this contest at our county meet."

PROJECT IS DISCUSSED AT C. W. A.

Mrs. Moorehouse is county chairman of the Red Cross and the work that she has done is invaluable.

Building of tennis courts for the recreation of the young people was discussed and a committee composed of Miss Ruth Hammock, Mrs. Press Clark and Mrs. Henry Jones, was appointed.

WEALTH EVERYWHERE BUT NO MONEY

In a world full of wealth we have no money. That, it seems to us, sums up the present economic situation of the United States and of most of the rest of the nations, as far as we know anything about them.

It doesn't take much actual money to transact the world's business when people are more anxious to buy than they are to sell. Money moves faster and so does work under those conditions. A dollar that changes hands ten times in a year is as useful as ten dollars that only changes hands once a year.

We didn't need so much money when everybody had confidence in the banks. Checks did the work of currency. In these times, with money moving slowly, with more sellers than there are buyers, with thousands of banks closed and public confidence in all banks still severely shaken, we find ourselves without enough currency to do business. The natural result is that our basic money, gold, has gone up so high in price that most people have difficulty in converting their labor and commodities into gold. Gold is the basis of our money and that of the other principal nations. And it is increasingly clear that there is not enough gold in the world to meet the world's need of money.

Many able economists and statesmen say that a large part of this money trouble is due to the fact that silver has been almost abolished as money since the war. They say that if the monetary position of silver, which is the money basis for more than half of the world's population, could be restored to what it was in 1914, there would be plenty of good money available for all the world's needs. Few want to revive the old scheme of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at any fixed ratio to gold, but we see no reason why silver should not be used again as freely as it was in the years before the war, by all the nations of the world for money. We think the world economic conference, which is going to meet and discuss this subject, has been too long delayed, and we hope that, when it is held, the American delegates will insist upon the rehabilitation of silver.

The Aged Couple Without Fuel

FRIENDS WRITE OF ROY ROGER SMITH'S PASSING

Tuesday, Jan. 31, 1932 at 12:45 a. m., the portals of heaven swung open and the soul of Roy Roger Smith, age 12 years, 2 months and 28 days, took its flight.

Death followed an illness of only a few days and Roy Roger, in death as in life, met his Master nobly.

Knox City was swept to tears as news spread of this deep sorrow in the Smith family. The entire citizenship was moved with compassion for the bereaved parents. The loss of a boy so loving and lovable is a heart laceration not soon to heal. No young life was more valuable or directed with greater sincerity and candor than that of Roy Roger. His life seemed to hold a bit of heaven; for he, during his twelve years of perfect life, entwined sweet memories about the heart threads of all who knew him—memories that will long survive.

The ways of providence are often beyond human understanding. We do not know why Roy Roger was called, but we do know that he walked humbly, hand in hand with Him who notes even the sparrow's fall.

The universal law of change is swift and unerring; what seems to be an epoch in our lives is but a momentary pause in the ceaseless flight of time. But in this flight of time we are profoundly thankful that love and friendships still prove true and that sorrow is not void of human sympathy and mutual understanding.

Bereaved parents and loved ones, we are confident of your ultimate strength to forbear, but we want to add a freshly spoken word of understanding, of love, and the hope that life may give you every assurance that it is well for Roy Roger to have passed this way. Life here was made beautiful with him; but God hath need of him and Heaven is now far more desirable.

Finally, we wish you that peace which passeth understanding and the comfort which is the fruit and evidence of God's compassion and abiding love.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Charles E. Dum.

Jesus Chooses the Twelve Lesson for February 5th. Mark 3:7-19.

Golden Text: John 15:16.

Like the preceding lesson texts taken from the gospel of Mark, this one is packed with incident. We read first of the prudent withdrawal of Jesus from the hostile designs of the Pharisees. He went, with His disciples, to the lake-side, and here a great multitude gathered, some of them coming long distances as verse 8 so clearly indicates. This show that the fame of Jesus had spread far and wide, that He had created an extraordinary sensation. The crowd was so great, indeed, that the Master found it necessary to ask the disciples to make ready a small boat so that in case the people should press too hard upon Him, He might escape into the bosom of the water. Many were diseased, and thronged about him and they might touch Him, and experience His healing power. Those afflicted with mental disturbances were noisy, screaming, "You are the Son of God!" much to the annoyance of Jesus.

Then He went up a nearby hill, with certain designated followers, and appointed the twelve disciples. The famous "Sermon on the Mount," not given by Mark, was preached here, and may be considered an ordination address for the college of the twelve. (See Luke 6.) Note that they were chosen carefully, only after deliberation. But of course He had to make use of the available personnel, the folk present and interested. The twelve were not a cabinet of "best minds," but men who Jesus felt He could trust.

Peter was their leader, the "rock" upon which the Master said He would build His church. James and John were fiery "sons of thunder." These three were closer to Jesus than the others. Andrew was the useful, unheralded hero who introduced Peter, his brother, to our Lord. Matthew was the tax-gatherer. Thomas is famous for his doubt. Philip brought Nathanael to Jesus, and there are reasons for believing that Nathanael is identified with sabbatholomew. The others are Thaddeus, Simon, called the "Zealot," James the Less, and Judas, the traitor. It is an uneven group and only one traitor.

IN LITTLE OLD NEW YORK

CARL M. HILGETZ

The first Jews in New York arrived in the summer of 1654.

Immetje Dircks, in February, 1660, rented her house in Pearl Street for $48 a year.

The legend that almost any strange person or sight will draw an immediate crowd in New York was blasted the other day about sunset at the public library. A turbaned Oriental came down from upstairs, walked to one end of the lobby, spread out his prayer rug and started in his evening prayer in the Moslem fashion, salaaming. A dozen or more people passed by him as they went in and out. None stared, none stopped, and about half took off their hats as they passed the praying man.

In New York 50,000 persons call up on the telephone to find out what time it is—every day. They pay a nickel each to find out.

There are scores of movie theatres in New York where you can see pictures for a dime. Most of them are over on the East Side.

Amos 'n' Andy have to use fake phone numbers in their nightly radio broadcasts. For some curious reason there are many persons who will hear a number over the radio and then go to the phone and call for it, just to see what happens.

Anagrams is a popular game in many homes here. A variation of the game is to restrict the words to geographical names.

Lecturers make a better living here than in any other city in the world. There is a substantial element here which is constantly seeking enlightenment and attend lectures regularly.

don't tell the things I tell you," he says. "They're very confidential." The Spy knows much "low down" on the teachers this week but the staff sympathizes (with the faculty) and refrains from publishing his most common gossip.

The Spy was innocently standing at Mr. Dean's elbow the other night when he overheard a very private conversation between Mr. Dean and a young lady (over the telephone) that was something about the "Munday highway" and "having to walk home." The next day the Spy caught Mr. Dean waiting anxiously at 12 o'clock at the post office. We wonder why?

The Spy wonders why Wynell Edwards has got so bold as to briskly walk up the stairs with a tin black turban on us head and a cigarette in her mouth. Probably she is advertising "The Red Headed Step-Child" by giving Bessy's experience in the wild and wooly west! The Spy prophesies that this is the best play of the season—so don't miss it!

The Spy relates a very interesting story to us by recommending Mary Howell as a fish doctor.

The Spy can't imagine why Odell Thompson sits and stares at the west stairs at the particular times when the seventh grade have their morning and evening intermissions.

The Spy wonders where the Senior class got so much energy! The latest challenge out is with the Sophomore girls for a basketball game. Now what will happen next?

GIRLS WIN BASKET BALL GAME WEDNESDAY

The Knox City basket ball teams boys and girls, played Monday basket ball teams last Friday. The girls won their game 20-17, while the boys lost theirs 24-17. This was the boys' second game with Munday. They won the first game 30-19 and are confident they can beat them at the county tournament.

Both games were very good and the players showed lots of practice. Both sides proved themselves good sports and showed lots of sportsmanship in these games.

THE STORY OF A FIRE

Once there was a farmer named Farmer Green.

Farmer Green had lots of stock. One day he was walking around his farm smoking his pipe. It was getting late. So he went to his barn to feed his cows, horses, goats, pigs, turkeys and chicken. When he stooped to pick up some hay, one of his matches fell out on the barn floor. It lay there five days.

Then on Sunday night the farmer and his family were at church three miles away. The mice were running about. So a little mouse ran into the barn. It came up to the match, so the mouse said, "This looks good to eat. I wonder if it is? Well, I am going to see."

So the mouse nibbled the match. He nibbled and nibbled and nibbled. And so the match was set fire. The match was close to some hay on the floor. The hay was caught fire and some more hay close to that was caught fire. And more and more was set fire until the fire reached the wall of the barn and so the fire burns the farmer's corn, wheat, maize and grain. Now the Green family was only a half mile away then and the big barn made a very big fire. So Mr. Green saw the big light and he was whipping his horses to make them go faster. But when he got there the fire was so big that they could not put it out. So the barn burned down with the farmer's nice feed in it.

COMING SOON—FINAL EXAMINATIONS

The lucky date of the most beloved days of the school year will soon be here! Teachers and students alike are looking forward with high aspirations and glorious expectations to Thursday, Feb. 2, which will witness the opening of the great, tragic drama, FINAL EXAMINATIONS, which is to run on for a period of two days. Never has a picture been attributed with such brilliant acting in the realm of pathos, patient suffering, martyrdom, sorrow, dismal failure, aims and ambitions brought to naught, etc.

The principle characters, of course, are the high school students, approximately one hundred in number. Each plays the part of a distinct and separate hero and heroine, representing and bringing out the various qualities for which the drama is so highly recommended. They are ably supported by a minor group of five players who have villainous parts. Special attribute is given to their splendid acting, and it might be well to add that the wonderful talent that they possess is not original (at least at one time it wasn't) but has been gained through excessive and wide experience. They are, namely: Mr. Cloud, Supt., Mr. Dean, Prin., Mr. Guy, Mrs. Finley and Miss Park. All, with the exception of Mr. Dean, remain maddeningly indifferent to the supplications of their wards and prove themselves hard taskmasters with a heart of stone. The exception, Mr. Dean, becomes panicky at the last minute after learning that there is a soft place in the region of the stone that has so unceremoniously replaced his heart and rashly takes heart medicine (of doubtful origin), hoping against hope that the impending disaster can be forestalled. But alas! We are left in suspense, for the medicine may prove to be fatal. I feel sure that after you have witnessed this most remarkable and spectacular human drama, beginning February 2, you will agree that these most alarming conditions should not exist. It will, perhaps, arouse the people to action to prevent others, with the obvious good intentions that the villainous characterizations portray at the outset of the drama, from falling into the same cavernous pit into which so many of their predecessors have fallen. If the people are successful they will not only prevent these unfortunate people from coming deformed mentally, but will also alleviate the tragic sufferings of the future student.

SENIORS

"George in a Jam," a comedy drama in four acts, will be presented by the Senior class Feb. 24. The cast has not been decided upon because of the possibility of more students becoming seniors after mid-term.

BASKETBALL

Basketball fans of this county will be treated to some real sport at Goree Feb. 19 and 21. Four teams, Truscott, Munday, Goree and Knox City, are going to have real jobs to win from their respective opponents. Everyone should go to Goree and help the Greyhounds win.

R. B. Howell, senior reporter, was ill last week. We are glad he is able to be with us again.

Don't forget "The Red Headed Step-Child." It's the best play of the season! Don't miss it!

Watch for further publications concerning this event which will be a lasting epoch in the history of Knox City.

A VISITOR

Knox City high had the pleasure of having as a visitor last week Miss Mattie Mearl Walling. Mattie Mearl's home is at Haskel. She is Jonell Robbins' cousin. Mattie Mearl! we have enjoyed your presence and hope you will visit our school again.

CONTINUED STORY

In the near future some continued stories which will be written by high school students will appear in The Kennel. Don't miss a single issue! There will be stories of every type.

SEVENTH GRADE NEWS

The seventh grade is pleased to have a new pupil, G. A. Rose. Marilynn Edwards is spending the week in Wichita Falls.

TENNIS COURT

Tennis enthusiasm is running high. Fans are anxiously awaiting the completion of the court which is being constructed on the campus. Tennis players are planning on organizing a tennis club.

In recent years several students have represented Knox City in tennis at the state meet. The outlook for this year's team is very encouraging. One of our students may be a Helen Willis or Elsworth Vinco, who knows?

DICTIONARY

The dictionary which the library ordered last week has arrived. It is to be installed on a shelf on its own in the study hall. This means that there will be no more arguments concerning pronunciation or spelling of words.

Advanced arithmetic will replace solid geometry after mid term. This course deals with the shortcuts of math. Mr. Dean, who is to be the instructor, states that there will be about twelve students to enroll. Advanced arithmetic is an affiliated course.

GEOMETRY FOR ME

"This fine to take geometry and have your ups and downs.

To study the 'roan, 'roun circles and their tangents and such rings,

But now I think I've had enough of geometric things."

"So it's geometry again, geometry again, geometry for me,

My book is turning back again, and there I'd long to see

In the chapter of chords and secants beyond the library bars,

Where your book is free of knowledge and your head is full of stars."

"I like the central angles—when after school I drilled,

I like to study trapezoids, with different angles filled

But oh, to take my book, my dear and study for a day,

In the western end of the study hall where nature has her way."

Woman lost 10 lbs. in one week

Mrs. Betty Luedeke of Dayton writes: "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it is the safe way to lose unsightly fat and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle. Get it at any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the safest way to lose fat—money back.

But be sure and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous and you must safeguard your health.

For the price of a Big Red Apple

We all know that the purchase price of a big red apple is only a nickel . . . but did you realize that for the price of an apple you can cook one good dinner for 15 people or five good meals for three people with natural gas?

This same five cents will pay for enough natural gas to make 165 cups of coffee; will heat enough water for 10 baths; or operate a gas refrigerator for a day and a half. Now when you get right down to brass tacks and consider comfort—convenience—and time saved natural gas IS the most inexpensive item used in the entire household.

THREE KNOX CITY LADIES HONORED WITH BIRTHDAY EVENT

A most enjoyable affair was observed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Finley last Sunday at the luncheon hour, honoring the birthdays of the Mesdames Hitchcock, Robbins and Hardberger, in the form of an old fashion turkey dinner.

After a very bountiful meal, the huge birthday cake trimmed with pink rose buds and green leaves, topped with three candles, was passed. The three candles represented the past, present, future and were blown out by the honorees, respectively. As each honoree blew out a candle her husband arose and gave an appropriate toast causing much laughter among the guests.

On leaving, each one expressed themselves as having enjoyed the occasion, declaring Mrs. Finley a most gracious hostess and a wonderful cook.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Hitchcock, Myra Jean and Pansy; Mr. and Mrs. Robbins and Janeal; Mr. and Mrs. Hardberger; Rev. and Mrs. Stovall and Clays; Mrs. Hamm and Alta, Mrs. McPierson of Abilene; Miss Walling of Haskell; Herbert and Marcellous; Mr. Finley and the hostess.

Tailored suits and the big vogue for mannish apparel brings the shirt waist or blouse back into the limelight for spring. Many of the shirt waists are severe in line to click in with the mannish mode. Other waists however retain their feminine distinctiveness, such for instance as the puffed sleeve as shown on the lower figure in the sketch.

Blouses showed the influence of the tailored suit, with many club collars, bows at the neckline, and simpler sleeves. Bouce, chenille, and polka-dot zephyr sweaters were recommended for spring.

The simplest type of mannish shirtwaist made to accompany the tailored suit is developed in white jersey with pearl buttons. It is also available in the market in shirting silks and cottons. There are also many shirtwaist dresses for country or resort wear which add the skirt to a blouse of this type.

A CONCEPTION OF GOD

In Jesus' great acts of courage he was the successor, and the surpasser, of all the prophets who had gone before. We have poked of the prophets as deficient in humor; but what they lacked in the amenities of life they made up richly in vision. Each one of them brought to the world a revolutionary idea, and we can not understand truly the significance of the work of Jesus unless we remember that he began where they left off, building on the firm foundations they had laid.

Let us glance at them a moment, starting with Moses. What a miracle he wrought in the thinking of his race! The world was full of gods in his day—male gods, female gods, wooden and iron gods—it was a poverty stricken tribe which could not boast of a hundred at least. Along came Moses with one of the transcendent intellects of history. "There is one God," he cried. What an overwhelming idea and how magnificent its consequences.

Moses died and the nation carried on under the momentum which he had given it, until there arose Amos, a worthy successor.

"There is one God," Moses had said. "God is a God of justice," added Amos.

That assertion is such an elementary part of our consciousness that we are almost shocked by the suggestion that it could ever have been new. But remember the gods that were current in Amos' day; if you would have a true measure of the importance of his contribution. It was the high privilege of Amos to proclaim a God who could not be bought, whose ears were deaf to pleadings in judgment; between the strong and weak, the rich and poor.

Years passed and Hosea spoke. His had not been a happy life. His wife deserted him; heartbroken and vengeful he was determined to cast her off forever. Yet his love would not let him do it. He went to her, forgave her, and took her back. Then in his hours of lonely brooding a great thought came to him! If he, a mere man could love so unselfishly one who had broken faith with him, must not God be capable of as great, or greater forgiveness, toward erring human beings?—a God so strong that he could destroy, yet so tender that he would not!

One God. A just God. A good God.

These were the three steps in the development of the greatest of all ideas. Hundreds of generations have died since the days of Moses, of Amos and Hosea. The thought of the world on almost every other subject has changed; but the conception of God which these three achieved has remained in control of men's thinking down to this very hour.
