Income Tax Man Will Be Here Feby. 26

The Revenue Act of 1941 reduces the personal exemption allowed a single person to $750, and a married couple to $1,500, on individual income tax returns filed for 1941. In addition, increased surtaxes have been levied upon all net income exceeding personal exemptions in addition to the regular normal tax. This reduction in personal exemption will require many thousands in this District to file income tax returns who have never been required to file before. This office is anxious to aid all taxpayers who desire assistance in preparing their returns.

For this reason, a Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue will visit your city to assist your citizens with their income tax problems. Existing laws do not impose this duty upon us or our employees, but we feel obliged to assist whenever possible. The Deputy's advice and assistance is extended purely as a courtesy and without cost to your citizens.

It is respectfully requested that you give the Deputy Collector's visit to your city as much publicity as possible since your citizenship will benefit in direct ratio to the number who have knowledge of his visit.

Deputy Collector H. C. Broadus will be at the Callahan County Courthouse in Baird on February 26th, 1942, from 8:30 A. M. to 5:00 P. M., to render assistance with income tax problems to any who desire it. This will be the only visit that can be made to your city before the end of the current filing period on March 15, 1942.

Respectfully,
W. T. THOMAS,
Dallas, Texas,
Collector of Internal Revenue

Shortage of Automobile Tires Seen As Boon To Small Town Business

The following editorial from the Delano (Mich.) Eagle gives a new slant on what the war may mean to the small towns of our country. The Michigan editor thinks that the shortage of tires will cause more people to trade in their nearest town and that it behooves the merchants of the smaller towns to look to their stocks and be ready to serve an increased trade. All of us can remember the big trade enjoyed by the merchants of the smaller towns before the days of the automobile. These days may be coming back. This is what the Michigan editor thinks about it:

Although we are slow to realize it, the present world conflicts is a boon to the small town and its benefits to the small community will increase with the lengthening of the struggle. However, to take advantage of the trend the small town merchant cannot be content to sit and do nothing about it, he must cause then he will have lost his best opportunity of a generation.

Everyone is agreed that the coming of the automobile raised havoc with the small town community, especially one situated close to a large city. It not only upset the merchandising habits of the small town, but its amusements and its general way of life.

With the coming of the automobile the small town became merely the place where a great many of its citizens worked and slept. For their heavy shopping for their extra amusements, they drove to the city, much to the chagrin and eventual ruin of a many small town business men.

Now things are changing. With few cars off the market and tires rationed, the people are going to stay home more often. They will not spend a dollar's worth of gas and wear out irreplaceable rubber to drive into the city to save 50 cents. They will not wear out their car to drive to the city to see a show especially when in all probability better ones are being shown at the local theatre.

We will soon find the homely small town attractions coming back into their own and the small town recapturing so much of the charm it possessed at the turn of the century. We will go back to the more simple things and be far more happy.

But these are not the only ways in which the small town is going to benefit from the war. Should any of our big cities be bombed should any of our big industrial concentrations be wiped out by an attack from the air, even the big big businessmen would realize what many a small town booster has long preached, that a country which has its industries spread through the hinterland and not located in a few big populated centers is practically immune from bombing danger.

The war has already proven the advantage of sub-letting and sub-contracting in speeding up industry and making mass production more efficient. Consider how difficult it would be to make any impression in our airplane manufacturing industry by bombing attacks if one small sub-contracting firm was located at Delano, the next nearest one maybe a 100 miles away, etc. To bomb those places would be next to impossible, in fact it would be almost impossible to locate them from the air. But think now of San Diego or the Los Angeles area where a heavy bombing attack would knock out several huge companies and disrupt our plane manufacturing for many months.

The small town is today facing opportunity, opportunity to sell itself as a place to live and opportunity to sell itself to big industry. Let's see now if the people of the small towns are equal to the task.

News From County USDA War Board

The Callahan County USDA War Board met with the Callahan County Land Use Planning Committee Saturday afternoon, Feb. 7 at 2:00 o'clock. The county war board members, in a previous meeting, had arranged the following program for this meeting.

J. L. Farmer, chairman of the county war board, introduced the persons present, stated the purpose of the meeting, and urged nose present to collect and sell all scrap iron and to repair their farm machinery as quickly as possible.

Mr. Wallace W. Moorhouse, county administrator officer of the AAA, outlined the goals and pledges of Callahan County farmers for 1942 of food, feed, livestock and poultry production. Mr. Moorhouse brought out in his discussion of food supplies that our country should harvest 10,000 more acres of peanuts in 1942 than in 1941 in order to produce the amount of peanuts the secretary of agriculture has requested in Callahan county.

Miss Ellen Steffens, county home demonstration agent, discussed home gardens and their place in defense.

Judge Thos. E. Hayden of Abilene, discussed the part that farmers and ranchmen have in the food and feed production as well as the scrap iron collection in the county.

The County Agent, J. C. Shockey, stressed the importance of the production of peanuts in Callahan County as being one of the biggest things to be undertaken by farmers of this county. He recommended the use of 100 pounds of 4-12-4 fertilizer for peanuts in this area and this fertilizer should be obtained as quickly as possible because the supply is dwindling rapidly. It was brought out also that the Department of Agriculture is supporting a price of $1.20 per bushel for all peanuts to be used for oil. Peanuts for oil are, of course, that acreage that is in excess of the 1942 peanut allotment. The county agent announced that seed peanuts might be obtained through the Southwestern Peanut Growers Association both by paying cash or by obtaining a loan after securing a clearance certificate through the Callahan County AA office. The Southwestern Peanut Growers Association has on hand 22,000 tons of seed peanuts that will serve the needs of farmers throughout this area.

Mr. Shockey asked that the representation from each community appoint among those present and other leaders in the community a committee to serve as a sub-committee of the Callahan County Land Use Planning members. These committees represent 15 communities in Callahan County and will have as their aim the production of food and feed for this county.

The following named persons are members of these Land Use Planning Community Committees: CLYDE—H. G. Broadfoot, Rt. 2, Clyde; Earl Hayes, Rt. 1, Clyde; S. I. Freeman, Rt. 1, Clyde; Mrs. S. A. Robinson, Rt. 1, Clyde; Mrs. Jim Barker, Rt. 1, Clyde; Mrs. A. E. Young, Rt. 1, Baird and Earl Slater, Rt. 1, Clyde.

LANHAM—Mrs. Earl Spurrier, Rt. 1, Abilene; R. H. Morrisset, Rt. 1, Abilene; C. T. King, Rt. 1, Abilene; E. J. Hunter, Rt. 1, Abilene.

RUBBER ON THE FARM

—Motorists are not we all? Have been so busy worrying about the tires on their cars that rubber on the farm has not received much attention. Rubber has played an increasingly important part in food production in recent years. Rubber tires for tractors and farm implements; rubber tubing in milking machines; rubber rings for canning in glass jars—the list is almost endless.

The following suggestions for care of rubber on the farm are offered by M. R. Bentley, agricultural engineer of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service: Block up the wheels to keep weight off the tires when machines and implements are out of the fields for any considerable period. If rubber-tired implements are stored on cinder floors, block up the tires or place planks under them. The sulphur in the cinders breaks down the rubber.

Excessive slippage of tractor tires heavy wear, just as skids and quick stops do on automobile tires. Over-loading the tractor is one cause of slippage, and pulling in snow or mud without chains is another. Keep rubber-tired implements out of the sun when not in use. Under-inflation damages both rubber and fabric in the tires. A solution of calcium chloride to prevent freezing is recommended for northern areas of the state if water is used in tractor tires add weight. Rubber tubing in milking machines will last longer if it is kept clean. After each cleaning and sterilization, the tubes should be hung to drain and dry.

No Charges Ever Made For Red Cross Services

It always has been, and now is the definite policy and instructions of the Red Cross, that no charge shall ever be made to any serviceman for any Red Cross article or service which is furnished from the funds or supplies contributed to the Red Cross. If any such sale should be made or proposed the Red Cross desires complete information concerning the incident and the situation will be promptly and vigorously corrected.

During the last war, as an additional service, not involving deviation from this policy, the Red Cross, at the request of general headquarters of the A. E. F., established certain lodging facilities, including meal service at a few points along the lines of communication. At the definite request of the A. E. F. headquarters a charge, which was well below cost, was made to the men on leave who desired to use these facilities. In these instances the Red Cross was making available, at the request of the Army, an additional service below cost. It was not making a charge for any articles or services derived from funds or materials contributed for the Red Cross program for the benefit of servicemen.

Yours very truly, Norman H. Davis, Chairman, American Red Cross, National Headquarters.

First Baptist Church

A. A. DAVIS, Pastor

We invite you to attend our services Sunday. The services will be held at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. (war time), Sunday School at 10 a. m., Training Union at 7 p. m.

We appreciate the fine crowds attending our services in recent months. A good interest prevails, morale is high and the church moves on. Certainly, we regret to lose valuable men from our active membership, such as D. S. McGee and W. B. Atchison. These men will be hard to replace in the church. But such is the law of life—we give up some things, receive others in return. The Lord will raise up other workers to carry on the work. Several of our young men from the church are now in active military service. We appreciate them very much. Sunday 11 a. m. Subject: "The World Gone Mad." Sunday, 8 p. m.: "Christ Is Coming Again." With some thoughts on the We extend you cordial invitation to attend.

Make Every Meal A Company Meal!

IT'S easy to let your family meals get into a monotonous rut. That, on the surface, seems to be the easiest way to keep them simple and within your budget.

But with a little imagination, and no more time than you would ordinarily spend in your kitchen you can prepare meals that will delight your family. Dorothy March, writing in the February Good Housekeeping magazine, has some suggestions to make, and if you follow her advice she predicts you'll find a pleasant reward in seeing your family respond in enjoyment—and in good health too. If you'll choose menus that meet the needs of good nutrition. Here is one menu she has prepared that is a far cry from the run-of-the-mill family meal.

LEMON MILK SHERBET
1 envelope plain, unflavored gelatin (1 tsp.)
4 c. milk
½ tsp. salt

1 ½ c. granulated sugar
¾ c. lemon juice
1 tsp. grated lemon rind
Soak gelatin in ¼ c. of the milk in a bowl for 5 min. Then set bowl over boiling water, and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Combine rest of ingredients with remaining ¾ c. milk. Stir in gelatin. Turn into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator, and with temperature control at coldest setting, freeze, until set, without stirring. Serves 5 or 6.

Serve with hot canned vegetable-juice cocktail, pan-fried flounders, boiled sweet potatoes, buttered onions, rye bread, and coffee, for dinner.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deepest appreciation to every man, woman and child who in anyway helped fight the grass fire in our pasture Thursday night. It was impossible to see everyone in person at the fire—but to each of you, we extend our sincerest thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hill, and children.

Eula Locals

Well, how is The Star force? We are all ok out this way.

We have had quite a lot of measles here, but nothing serious. We need rain for those who have and want to sow oats.

We have to make a good grain crop to help win the war. We who are left on the farms and ranches can and we will do our part.

We are giving up our boys. Two of my boys have gone. May God bless not only my boys—but all the boys who are in this war. We will win this war, for right and justice is on our side.

Well this is election year and we have quite a few seeking a job! They are all my friends, but we can only vote for one for what they want.

I was at the auction in Abilene recently, where I met some of my friends: Among them, E. L. Finley, Dr. H. H. Ramsey, Larmer Henry, Morris Edwards, Ralph Brock and others.

Well, this is a short letter, but will come again when we get a good rain, perhaps then we will have more news.

With best wishes to all who read The Star,

PATSI E.

NO SUGAR PROFITEERING

Public opinion should be brought to bear on sugar profiteers. That is the advice of Max L. McCullough of Dallas, the regional director of OPA.

Consumers who find sugar prices at retail stores much more than one cent higher on a five-pound bag than they were the first week of December last year should protest to the storekeeper, Mr. McCullough says.

"Maximum retail prices will have to be set on sugar unless prices are voluntarily kept in bounds," he explained, "but until that action is taken, the force of public opinion should be brought to bear. There is, in general, no justification for a retail advance of more than one cent per five pounds, except in a few localities where other adjustments apply. Any increase much greater than that is profiteering, pure and simple."

He added that the rationing plan will be instituted shortly by OPA, and there will be a fair sharing of supplies for everyone. In the meantime, he added, scarcity is absolutely no justification for price increases.

Mr. McCullough warned that consumers have a responsibility not to hoard sugar and to buy for current needs only. As he explained, prices from rising is to avoid panic buying, which always tends to create shortage and boost prices.

HOW RATIONING WORKS

One rule that will be incorporated into the sugar rationing plan when it goes into effect with in a few weeks will provide that persons who have built up hoards of sugar will have stamp torn out of their ration books to cover the hoards. Thus, they will be deprived of the right to buy more sugar until their hoards are gone.

Teachers in public schools will register sugar consumers. Then ration books will be issued, as soon as the enormous job of printing and distributing the books can be completed. Local rationing boards will have general supervision over the registration of consumers and issuance of the books.

One book will be issued for each person in the country, regardless of age; and each book will contain 28 stamps, which will be numbered. They can be used to purchase sugar during only one designated week.

When a sugar purchase is made, the proper stamp will be torn from the book. Each stamp will entitle the holder to purchase a definite amount of sugar—probably three-quarters of a pound or 12 ounces per person each week. The exact amount will be determined when the War Production Board decides how much is to be made available each week for the thousands of retail stores throughout the country.

When consumers apply for War Ration Book No. One, they will be required to make a sworn statement as to the amount of sugar per person in the possession of their family unit. If there is more than two pounds of sugar per person in possession of the family, the balance will be considered as hoarded sugar and an appropriate number of stamps will be removed from the book at the time of registration. This will make it impossible for the book holder to buy any sugar until his or her supply is used up.

The application which must be signed to obtain a ration book will carry on its face the warning that false reports to any government agency subject the person making such reports to severe penalties, ranging as high as a $10,000 fine or 10 years of imprisonment. It is expected that here will be relatively few cases of falsification.

It is planned to require one person to register for each family unit, the unit to include the mother, father, children and wards. Other person living in a household must register separately for their books except in such unusual cases as those of invalids, etc.

When a consumer buys sugar and the storekeeper tears stamps out of the ration book, these stamps must be pasted on a card by the storekeeper. He then must turn these cards in to a supplier of sugar in order to replenish the store's supply of sugar.
