State Department Of Public Welfare Office Enlarged Here

The Texas Department of Public Welfare office in Knox City has undergone two important changes this summer. First of all, the City of Knox City, who provides space for the welfare office, has added another office to the existing space.

The new office has been finished in a light-wood grain paneling, and the floor covering is off-white, marbled tile. Newly-purchased furniture includes a light oak desk, chair, two occasional chairs, typewriter table, and two filing cabinets. A large storage closet adjoins the new office. Office walls and woodwork in the original offices have been painted white by the employees, and they have also purchased material and made draperies of yellow, brown, and gold floral print.

Secondly, the increase in the geographical area, as well as the area in categorical services, necessitated the employing of another worker. Sammy B. White, local farmer and former city councilman, was hired June 1 of this year as social services worker and serves Cottle, Foard, and Knox Counties.

Mrs. Aleene M. Waldrip, financial and eligibility worker for Knox County has served persons in this large area since assuming office responsibility in November, 1959, when Perry C. Spenny was transferred to Haskell. The welfare office had opened here originally in 1957. Mrs. Waldrip worked alone until 1963 when the late Mrs. Ruth Fox was employed as a part-time stenographer. In May, 1966, Mrs. Annette Hester was hired as secretary, and was made a full-time employee in December, 1967, in order that the office might be staffed from 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m.

The local office is a part of Region 9, headquartered in Jacksboro, and directed by Anderson D. Shawver. Mrs. Joyce H. Wheeler of Vernon serves as Mrs. Waldrip's supervisor.

Counties included in Region 9 are Taylor, Wichita, Childress, Cottle, Hardeman, Foard, Wilbarger, Clay, Montague, Knox, Baylor, Archer, Kent, Stonewall, Haskell, Scurry, Throckmorton, Young, Jack, Fisher, Jones, Shackelford, Stephens, Mitchell, Nolan, Callahan, Eastland, Coleman, Brown and Comanche.

The employees in the local office said they would be happy for anyone who would like to come in and see the office to do so.

The office is certainly an asset to our county and we should be proud of the fact that this office and its employees serve so many, so well.

Miller Creek Project Approved Thursday

In elections held last Thursday in Knox City, Munday, Haskell, and Goree, voters approved both the contract and bond issued clearing the way for the construction of the Miller Creek Reservoir Project to meet the water needs of the four cities, plus other towns in the area that might join the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority later.

The bonds issue carried by a total of 973 to 397 in the four communities, and the project carried by 971 to 386. Citizens here voted 126 to 8 in favor of the bonds and 127 to 7 in favor of the project.

Knox City withdrew from the Authority a number of years ago when concern was more for the quantity of water rather than the quality. When tests began to indicate that water in this area contained an unusually high rate of nitrate, citizens became concerned and rejoined the NCTMWA last April. Election was set for May 29 to decide whether or not to authorize the City Council to contract the City's water supply from the NCTMWA and to issue bonds to help finance the project. Both questions were approved but on June 27 a suit was filed in Federal District Court in Abilene against the Miller Creek Reservoir Project. The plaintiffs allegedly raised the contention that it is unconstitutional to restrict voting in utility bond elections to property-owning taxpayers. Attorneys suggested another election and the one held Thursday was open to both property owners and non-property owners who had resided in the communities for a period of at least six months. It was reported that at the conclusion of the election held here Thursday evening, not one non-property owner had taken advantage of his voting privilege.

SOIL TESTING

Several Knox County small grain producers have been sending soil samples to the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service Soil Testing Laboratory at Seymour recently. Many other producers may wish to take advantage of this service soon.

Fertilizing at seeding time and following with a top-dressing application in January or February is becoming more popular with producers the last few years.

Fertilizer suggestions are made on the basis of plant food available in the soil and taking into consideration your plans for using the crop. Some producers consider grazing small grains a very important factor while others plant only for grain production.

RANGE FIRES

A REAL THREAT

Good moisture last spring resulted in much vegetative growth on most Texas rangelands but a hot and dry summer have combined for optimum fire conditions. Bobby J. Ragsdale, Extension range specialist, urges everyone to do their part in preventing fires until conditions improve. Motorists and recreationists are urged to be doubly cautious while traveling through or camping in the drier areas of the state.

TREES AND SHRUBS NEED WATER

Trees and shrubs, like humans and livestock, are being affected by the continuing dry and hot weather.

The most common symptom of drought injury to trees and shrubs is the dying around the margin of leaves with the dead area progressing into the leaf and causing desiccation of leaf tissue between the veins toward the midrib.

A deficiency of water affects the marginal leaf tissue most, as compared with other parts of the plant. If prolonged, the lack of soil moisture results in the death of feeder roots. When this happens, recovery of the plant to normal condition is slow.

Beautiful shade trees add much to the comfort and pleasure of the home, but they do need attention. Now is one of those times when water and attention may be necessary to pull them through.

SUMMER DIE-OFF OF FISH

Hot, windless days of August and September are the times pond owners should watch ponds for summer die-off of fish.

Oxygen depletion usually is the major cause for fish die-off and is due to dying and rapid decay of water weeds and other organic substances when the weather is hot and still.

All animal life in a pond uses oxygen 24 hours a day, but oxygen is replaced by surface absorption from air and release from microscopic plants only during hours of sunlight.

Oxygen is lowest in ponds at daybreak. If it is dangerously low, fish will come to the surface early in the morning and gasp for air.

To relieve the oxygen shortage, broadcast from 50 to 100 pounds of superphosphate per surface acre over the pond. This buffers toxic effects of carbon dioxide and ammonia and stimulates microscopic plants to produce more oxygen. If treated soon after fish show distress, the situation is usually relieved within an hour.

Using outboard motors to stir up the water and replenish the

It Is A Fact That . . .

Children often pay more taxes on a dollar's worth of soda pop than drinkers do on a dollar's worth of beer.

A drinker who has two beers over the bar at 50 cents each, pays only 2.6 cents state tax. Kids buying a dollar's worth of soft drinks will pay 3 cents to the state, and in most places, another 1 cent to the city.

The Texas House of Representatives has voted to increase even further that tax on soft drinks and other items, and at the same time to continue exemption of beer and liquor. Alcoholic drinks are given a satin-pillow treatment. (Even beer is exempt from the so-called Sunday Blue Law; under it, you can legally buy beer but not a bucket). Why this preferential treatment of alcoholic beverages? This is a question the people of Texas ought to ask their representatives in Austin, and they ought to demand an answer.

Alcoholic beverages cause more crime, more welfare, more admissions to mental hospitals, more automobile accidents — more public tax burdens than any other single item. Yet they are given preferential tax treatment.

Beer taxes have not been increased in 14 years. Liquor taxes have not been increased in 10 years. The House has voted to increase the Sales Tax from 3 to 3.5 percent, and to include other services, such as haircuts. This tends to discourage haircuts and encourage drinking, quite the opposite to what we ought to be doing.

(Statement by Albert F. Tucker, Executive Director Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education (TANE).)

oxygen supply is often recommended for small ponds. If a pump is available, water can be pumped from the bottom and sprayed back on the surface.

Suffocation from oxygen is not the only cause of fish die-off. Careless use of agricultural chemicals can also cause a lot of trouble.

Therefore, possible contamination of fish ponds should be considered before chemicals are used.

VA To Help High School Dropouts

High school dropouts who enter the service may return to get their diploma under the GI Bill according to Jack Coker, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco.

The VA will pay veterans up to $130 a month (if single and they are full-time students — more if they have dependents). Those attending adult evening school will be enrolled at half-time rate.

These payments will not reduce their college or on-the-job training benefits, Coker said.

A number of colleges and universities have embarked on new programs for returning veterans who do not possess a diploma but do desire a higher education. However, such veterans must meet certain quali-

TANE Reports Survey About Highway Litter

More than 93 percent of bottles and cans in highway litter are alcoholic drinks containers, according to Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education (TANE).

A sampling of litter in different parts of Texas showed that 93.05 percent of the drink containers were beer cans, beer bottles, and whiskey bottles.

The containers were picked up on sections of highway in West Texas near Midland, East Texas near Tyler, Central Texas near San Antonio, and South Texas near Harlingen. Numbers of containers picked up were: beer, 1,780; whiskey, 48; wine, 1; soft drinks, 124; fruit juice, 2; and milk, 1.

Albert F. Tucker, TANE Executive Director, said his organization became interested in learning what percentage of litter was alcoholic beverage containers after hearing of a bill introduced by Rep. John Hannah of Lufkin, that would put a one-cent tax on all disposable beverage containers. "We asked several officials, but none could give us a figure. Others had become interested after hearing of Rep. Hannah's bill, and asked us for the figure. One of TANE's functions is to furnish statistical information regarding alcohol, so we made the study," Tucker said.

Rep. Hannah was on hand at TANE's Dallas office today to check results of the litter pickup. He said he would resubmit his bill in the Special Session of the Legislature next week.

TANE is a non-profit, educational organization, active since 1955. Its purpose is to prevent problems that arise from the use of alcohol, narcotics, and other dangerous drugs. The organization is supported financially by Texas churches and individual contributions. Programs include publishing books for student and teachers, production of audio visual aids, a 100-man speakers bureau, legislative information service, public school programs, and research.

According to the Texas Highway Department, approximately $1,854,000 was spent during the last fiscal year for litter pickup, not including litter picked up by cities.

According to an article in the "American Brewer," the state of New York pays 30 cents to pick up one bottle, seven times the cost of producing it.

Slow Drivers May Be In Trouble

Austin—Slow-moving drivers who drive on the inside lanes of a divided highway may find themselves in trouble after September 1. On that date, Department of Public Safety patrolmen will begin enforcement of a new state law which requires that vehicles traveling at less than the normal speed of traffic be driven in the right-hand lane, or as close as practicable to the right-hand curb or edge of the roadway, except when passing.

Another section of the law requires moving traffic to stay to the right of the center line on roadways having four or more lanes of traffic, except when authorized to go to the left of such center line by traffic control devices or when making left turns into or from alleys, private roads or driveways, regardless of whether there is a double yellow stripe or not.

Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said still another new law provides for the adoption of a "slow-moving vehicle emblem" for display on certain types of vehicles.

Speir said the measure requires that all machinery, tractors, or other vehicles which operate at a maximum speed of 25 miles per hour or less must display a triangular emblem approved by the DPS on the rear of the vehicle.

Operators of such vehicles will have until January 1, 1970 to obtain emblems approved by the DPS and mount them as prescribed by law. Use of the emblem on other types of vehicles, or on fixed objects, is prohibited by law.

Highway Dept. Releases Texas Campground Guide

Austin — Directions to some 350 public campgrounds in Texas are provided in a new publication released today by the Texas Highway Department.

The new Texas Public Campground Guide gives information about sites which range from primitive to elaborately modern. Directions are provided to undeveloped gulf beaches, and to sites with paved parking areas, electricity and running water. There are even directions to a site one can't get to — by car, that is. (It's a fisherman's camping area on a Gulf coast island.)

The guide was published to serve the growing popularity of camping and recreational vehicles. It lists only those campgrounds which are operated by tax-supported agencies — federal, state, county, city and such organizations as river authorities. Private commercial facilities are not included, that information usually being available in commercial tour and camping directories.

The cooperation of many state, federal and local authorities was required to compile this first comprehensive guide to Texas public campgrounds. Cooperating agencies included the Extension Service to Texas A&M University, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, U.S. Corps of Engineers, National Park Service, National Forest Service, chambers of commerce, city and county officials, and others.

Free copies of the new Texas Public Campground Guide are available at Highway Department tourist bureaus and district offices, or by mail from the Texas Highway Department, Travel and Information Division, P. O. Box 5064, Austin 78703.

Services Of Executives Are Needed

The Small Business Administration kicked-off a new drive to enlist the volunteer help of retired business executives to help small businesses over their business pitfalls.

Mr. Fred Neumann, SBA Regional Director for Lubbock, said that the new push involves recruiting more volunteers for the agency's Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE), not only those in retirement, but men and women who are in semi-retirement as well.

He said that "many individuals — successful business executives — are available to offer their help to the nation's small business community. It is through SCORE that the talents of retired or semi-retired business executives can be utilized to the best advantages of the small business owner or manager."

SBA's goal is 5,000 members. SCORE volunteers now total 3,300 and include only those business executives who have retired from industry, the professions, or self-owned businesses. They help the small business community by volunteering their professional advice and counsel on problems facing small businesses.

"Through SCORE the door to equal opportunity is opened for the small businessman unable to afford the services of a professional team of management consultants," Neumann said. "Tailor made, explains Mrs. Ciyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialists, so they can excel nutritionally over the meats they simulate."

Ham May Be Soybean

College Station — It may look like ham, it may taste like ham, but it may be soybeans.

Food technologists recently introduced the ersatz ham along with chicken and corn beef made of protein derived primarily from soy beans. Pork and bacon substitutes are now made of soy beans and lamb is being developed.

Pancake Mix Works Muffin Magic

Try these Nutty Lil' Honey — easy orange-frosted muffins for the whole family. Honey-sweetened and dotted with chopped walnuts, these are pure pleasure right from your pancake mix beginning. Put pancake mix to work for you — for hurry-up baking and happy-up eating. It's no hocus pocus.

NUTTY LIL' HONEY'S

Makes 12 muffins

MUFFINS:

- 2 cups pancake mix
- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
- 1 cup milk
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/2 cup honey
- 2 tablespoons melted or liquid shortening

FROSTING:

- 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
- 4 teaspoons orange juice
- 1/2 teaspoon grated orange peel

Heat oven to hot (425°F.). For muffins, place pancake mix and walnuts in bowl. Add milk, egg, honey and shortening, stirring only until combined. Fill greased medium-sized muffin cups 3/4 full. Bake in preheated oven (425°F.) 15 to 18 minutes.

For frosting, beat together confectioners' sugar, orange juice and orange peel until smooth. Spread on hot muffins.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Tax Man Sam Sez:

When the tax surcharge was passed there was a small gap in what most taxpayers had withheld and what they would owe. It appeared that many taxpayers would end up 1968 owing the government money. Based on this difference, IRS predicted slightly fewer refunds, and certainly a reduction in the amount of the average refund check. However, it didn't work out that way. In the Dallas District at least. By June 30, 1968, Internal Revenue had issued 1,008,650 refund checks to North Texans, for a June 30, 1968, Internal Revenue had issued 1,008,650 refund checks to North Texans, for a probably record amount of $170,206,756.04. The best guess on the cause of an increase in the number and amount of refunds rather than a decrease — North Texas taxpayers don't like to end up the year owing Uncle Sam. As a matter of fact, a good part of the North Texans filing tax returns carefully arrange their withholding payments to make sure that they have a refund coming rather than owing taxes. Some of these folks have a government-enforced saving plan which pays off in the form of the refund check. Others just don't want to owe the government "nothin'." At any rate, more than one million out of 1,600,000 returns filed ended up on the right side of Internal Revenue's balance sheet for their account.

For all practical purposes, poison ivy and poison oak are the same thing. Poison oak is simply any poison ivy that grows as a bush rather than a vine. Poison ivy is an unusually inconsistent species of plant. Besides growing as a bush and a vine, the size of its berries and the outline of its leaves often vary widely. Its leaves are characteristically egg-shaped and pointed, but the edges may be almost smooth and unbroken or saw-toothed. Moreover, these variations might occur on a single plant or the leaves on an entire plant may be similar.

But the plant is consistent in one respect — the leaves almost invariably grow in clusters of three. So avoid all plants with three-leaf clusters. If you go outdoors, you should learn to identify poison oak, teach your children to identify it — and avoid it.

The last fling of the summer is ahead for hundreds of thousands of Texas outdoor enthusiasts, and many will carry remembrances of this last big outing home with them in the form of poison ivy, warns the Texas State Department of Health.

Some persons believe they are immune to poison ivy or oak or sumac, but botanical scientists say that it is doubtful if anyone is absolutely immune. Authorities agree that susceptibility may be a matter of degree, varying with the individual's condition, condition of the plant and circumstances of exposure.

Texas has its fair share of the 100-plus plants and plant products known to be capable of causing sometimes severe skin irritation. By far the most common cause of plant dermatitis in Texas and elsewhere in the United States is poison ivy, known to botanists as Rhus toxicodendron. A cousin, poison sumac, is common to the swampy regions of eastern Texas.

It is always prudent to wear protective clothing such as leggings and gloves when going into areas where poison plants are known to flourish. If exposed, immediately wash the exposed area with laundry soap and water to help remove the resin.

As a final word of caution: Never burn poison ivy vines! The smoke can be just as poisonous as the leaves.

Cancer often is spoken of as a "silent disease" because of the way it develops in many cases without producing any noticeable symptoms. And this silence can be deadly.

Pain, which is most often thought of as accompanying diseases, generally isn't present with cancer until it is far advanced and has passed the "silent" stage, reports the Texas State Department of Health.

Usually cancer can be treated satisfactorily if detected in the early stages. The difficulty in cancer control lies in early detection of the disease. This is the reason regular — at least yearly — physical examinations are so important.

symptoms of cancer show up, it is too late for cure. Treatment of advanced cancer is difficult.

All physician's offices should be cancer detection centers. The family doctor is the front line against cancer. And for a physical checkup, whether cancer is suspected or not, the personal physician is the logical person to see. If cancer is suspected, the family doctor may refer his patient to a specialist, if necessary.

Cancer of the uterus, or womb, is the third most deadly form of cancer in women. Yet, it can be detected in the very early stages by a simple test — the Pap smear — which can be done painlessly and quickly in a doctor's office. Early detection can lead to a 100 percent cure. Last year at Dallas and San Antonio cervical cancer detection projects, supported by the State Health Department, 13,914 tests from around the state were screened, with 38 reported as positive.

The thorough physical examination should include inspection of the skin surface followed by examination of various organs such as the heart, lungs, stomach, intestines, rectum, reproductive organs and breasts.

X-rays of the chest and other parts of the body if indicated and a proctoscopic examination (visual inspection of the lining of the rectum and lower bowel with a lighted tube) should be performed.

A proctoscopic examination is important since cancer of the colon and rectum can be discovered in this way.

If a physician suspects can-

1970 College-Bound Students Given Opportunity By NROTC

Vice Admiral Charles K. Duncan, Chief of Naval Personnel, has announced that the 24th annual national competitive examination for the regular Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps (NROTC) will be given on 13 December 1969.

The Regular NROTC program prepares a young man for a Navy or Marine Corps commission while he is studying at one of the many civilian colleges and universities where NROTC units are established. All tuition, fees, uniforms, and books are furnished by the Navy, and the student receives $50. per month subsistence allowance for not more than four years. During the summers between academic years, the student participates in interesting at-sea training periods as a mid-shipman. After successfully completing a baccala-urate level college course and all military requirements, he is commissioned in the regular Navy or Marine Corps.

Eligible high school seniors and graduates should submit their applications before 14 November 1969. Application forms are available from high school counselors, the nearest Navy recruiting station which is located in the Federal Building, 10th and Lamar Streets, Wichita Falls, Texas 76301, or from the Chief of Naval Personnel (PERS-B6411), Department of the Navy, Washington, D. C. 20307.

Letter To The Editor

8501 North 31st Avenue
Phoenix, Arizona, 85021

"When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee; when thou walketh through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee." Isa. 43:2.

When we are growing in Christian experience, we are advancing in faith. Faith always leads to adventure. It gives us opportunity to lead a life of courage and action. By faith we can leap into the unknown with assurance because we trust God to direct and support us.

By faith Abraham obeyed when he was called to a place which he was to receive an inheritance, and he went not knowing where to go. In making life's decisions we must exercise faith. By faith we have conviction and confidence to make a start. When we do, all the powers of Almighty God attend our efforts and we, as did Abraham, arrive in the land promised, which God makes ready for us. *****

Dear Billye Bess,
Enclosed is our check for another year's subscription to The Herald. I would feel lost without it, as that is what I consider "my weekly letter from home."

I'm sure looking forward to "Fall weather" since this Phoenix temperature has been almost unbearable all summer. I just have to stay inside with the refrigerator. We've been having from 112 to 117 degree weather and the humidity is also terrible so I'm sure everyone here will gladly welcome Fall weather.

Walter is still "cooking like mad" at The Rons Club and of course he does the cooking at home also. We are both still having doctors as we each got a whiplash in our necks when we were hit by a very careless and speeding motorist on June 9. Such as that makes me hesitate to get very excited over our three weeks vacation which is coming up around the last of September.

All our regards to you and Knox City, Laura and Walter Grzebeniowski *****

VA Anxious For Early Check Arrival

Jack Coker, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco, said today he is anxious as any campus GI over education checks arriving on time this fall.

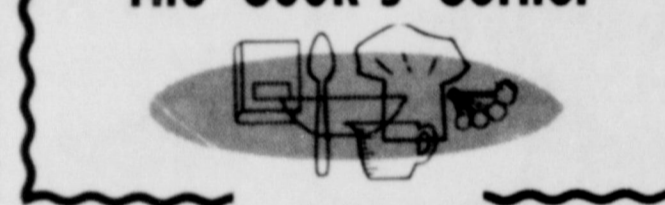

He said the number of payday delays would be reduced drastically if veterans and schools will do the required paperwork . . . and do it on time.

If the veteran was in college during the spring or summer semester and followed instructions by returning his Certification of Attendance at the end of the term, he has nothing to do before his checks start arriving this fall. . . assuming the college registrar follows through and promptly returns his new fall enrollment certification to the VA.

Veterans who did not return their Certification of Attendance to VA in June should do so immediately. Veterans who have lost their Certification of Attendance card should obtain another from the VA office that issued it and mail it in forthwith, Coker said.

Veterans who are enrolling for the first time this fall . . . or who have changed college or program . . . must be certain,

Just in case you have missed the new tornado warning system, which has been printed in Glen Shelton's column and the TV Guide, we will repeat it here once again for you. I had read it, doubted it and the first time a could came up, forgot how it worked. Why not keep a copy and tack or tape it somewhere handy in case you are ever in a tornado alert.

Because we will agree that odds are someday, somewhere it will could up and rain again. I believe we have broken all kinds of records this summer for dry days and the continuous number of days the temperature has been over 100 degrees. I would search the skies more hopefully if he had promised to never send another 40 day drought.

This new system of watching for tornados was conceived by according to Coker that:

1. They have obtained a proper Certificate of Eligibility from the Veterans Administration.
2. They have submitted this Certificate to the college registrar.
3. The college registrar returned the completed certificate to the VA.

RETURN FROM VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Tom R. Campbell and Gayle returned Saturday after spending the past fifteen days fishing in the Colorado Rockies near Antonito and Lake City. They also spent some time exploring the ghost town of Sherman, Colo.

Summer pedestrians often stray away from their usual sidewalk habits. The Institute for Safer Living urges motorists to be especially alert in vacation, resort and populated rural areas.

S. S. Reports

Most employers make quarterly reports of wages paid to their employees for the employees' social security credit. The report for the second quarter of 1969 (April-June) should be filed with the Internal Revenue Service by July 31, 1969, Edwin S. Draughon social security district manager said today.

Exceptions to this requirement are: 1) agricultural employers, who file yearly reports in January, 2) government and non-profit employers whose organizations are not under social security, and 3) household employers who have not paid a household employee as much as $50 cash wages during the calendar quarter.

Special attention of household employers is invited to this requirement," Mr. Draughon said. "If you have paid your maid, yard worker, chauffeur, baby-sitter or other person who has helped in or about your home or sat with you or another sick member of your family in a hospital or a rest home, as much as $50 cash wages during the three months of April, May, and June, be sure to report the wages for the worker's social security credit. Internal Revenue Form 941 is the normal quarterly report form for businesses. However, household employers may use the convenient Form 942 for household employees. If you need help write, visit, or call your social security office at 1728 Fannin Street in Vernon, Texas, telephone LI2-9346.

Students between the ages of 18 and 22 who receive social security benefits should notify their social security office if they change schools.

"Unless we are promptly informed of a change to a different school", said Mrs. Helen Rigdon, social security manager in Vernon, "a student's checks may be stopped and there might be a delay before the checks could be started again." This happens when a student leaves high school and starts to college, and when students change from one college to another.

To avoid delay in a student's checks, he should notify his local social security office just as soon as he knows he will change schools. A card form, "Notification of Change in School Attendance", is available for this purpose. If a student does not have this card, he can request one to keep on hand in case he needs to make a report by mail.

The report can also be telephoned. The telephone number at the Vernon, Texas office is 542-9346. The mailing address is P. O. Box 1417, Vernon, Texas 76384.

"The important thing to remember", emphasized Mrs. Rigdon, "is that a report should be made promptly".

RANDOM RAMBLINGS

Last week I promised you some recipes and associated information connected with the famous old Hawaiian luau. For the local people, luau only occur at a wedding celebration or at a child's first birthday. A luau is considered one of the grandest "happenings" in a Hawaiian's life because luau are more rare for them than for the tourists. Luau occur every day for tourists, as almost every hotel in Hawaii has one as part of its agenda for the people who come over from the U.S. Mainland and from various parts of the world to pour their money into the 50th state's bulging revenue. To them, too, it is a very popular event, but only another highlight of Hawaiian hospitality - the "aloha spirit".

The list of ingredients and necessary items for a luau will probably be unfamiliar, so I will explain each as we go along. For those items which probably won't be available on the mainland I will provide a suitable substitute.

First off, you'll need one dressed pig (or more, depending on the crowd) which weighs out at 90 pounds on foot; one pound of soy; 1/2 pound of fresh or preserved ginger root; 2 cups of ice cream salt; and 3 pints of boiling water.

To prepare the imu, or underground oven in which the pig is cooked, take these steps: procure 2 dozen pretty good sized stones, 3 bags of dry firewood, one pint of kerosene, one 4-foot square piece of chicken wire, one dozen toesacks, two dozen banana leaves or 5 dozen grape leaves (banana leaves are preferable because they are moisture-laden and less apt to burn as easily as some other leaves. Other than grape leaves I can't think of any other leaves which Texas has which would be suitable. Most of ours emit a sticky sap which is not to be desired.), and one bag of corn husks.

Next, dig a hole 3 feet in diameter and 2 feet deep. Place wood in the bottom and pile stones on top. Pour kerosene over the wood and light it, allowing the wood to burn for two hours until only live coals remain.

Clean the pig well both inside and outside, remove all hair and toe nails. Slit the pig on belly side from end of his ribs to base of tail. Make incisions at throat and between forelegs and body. Peel the ginger, crush, and rub over the inside of pig as well as each incision. Sprinkle salt and soy over the pig. (The soy and ginger may be omitted. Use salt.)

Here begins the imu ceremony. Use tongs to remove the hot stones from the imu, placing one stone in each incision. Fill his abdominal cavity with hot stones. Tie forelegs and hind legs together with cornhusks (?) made pliable with heat from the imu.

Level the rocks in the imu and place thick layer of banana leaves over them. Lay chicken wire in the center of the pit and lower pig so that the back rests in the wire. Pour one pint of hot water over the rocks in the abdominal cavity. Draw wire together over the pig and lay sweet potatoes on top and around sides. Cover the pit with a thick layer of banana and ti leaves. Spread toesacks over the leaves and cover with dirt so that no steam can escape. Let bake for about 3 1/2 hours.

Then, scrape the dirt from the bags; fold them out from center being careful not to drop any dirt into the pit. Remove the leaves. Dip your hands in a bucket of cold water and remove the sweet potatoes from the imu. Unfasten wire around pig and remove stones from abdominal cavity and other incisions. Lift the pig and wire out of the imu and place into a large pan. Sprinkle pork with one quart boiling water and one cup salt; cut into individual slices for serving.

That's the pig, now consult last week's column for the side dishes which make up the real luau. That's pau for now . . . Aloha . . .

New Service Commission For Handicapped Effective September 1

Austin - Texas services to handicapped persons other than the blind will be consolidated under a single Commission for Rehabilitation beginning September 1, 1969.

This new commission, authorized under Senate Bill 210 passed by the 61st Legislature during its regular session in March, will include the vocational rehabilitation and disability determination divisions now a part of the Texas Education Agency.

The Commission for Rehabilitation will be directed by a six-member governing board to be appointed by Governor Preston Smith. This board will appoint a commissioner.

Dr. David Wade, director of comprehensive health planning for Governor Smith, will represent the Governor's office during the new commission's organization period. Dr. Wade, a practicing psychiatrist in Austin, is former assistant commissioner for medical affairs at the Department of Public Welfare and medical consultant to the Texas Education Agency.

C. G. Fairchild, assistant commissioner for vocational rehabilitation and special education, will retire from this position August 31. Fairchild came to the Austin headquarters of the Agency as assistant director of vocational rehabilitation in 1945 and has continued to guide its expanding services to the handicapped for nearly a quarter of a century.

The two divisions slated to form the nucleus of the new commission and the special schools for the deaf and blind have been under his direction since 1960. The legislature assigned responsibility for administration of state schools for the blind and deaf to the State Board of Education in the early 1950's.

Special education and special schools will form a new Agency department on September 1, 1969, with Dr. Robert A. Montgomery as assistant commissioner. Dr. Montgomery is currently director of the Region XIV Education Service Center in Abilene.

A graduate of Southwestern University in Georgetown where he received a BA in 1950, Dr. Montgomery holds both the MA and D.Ed. degrees from The University of Texas at Austin.

The division of vocational rehabilitation, which now includes some 1,000 staff members in Austin and five regional and 130 district offices throughout the state, has a current case load of more than 38,000 persons. The division's 1969 budget totaled more than $22 million. Federal funds accounted for 75 percent of the total. The 1970 budget request is pegged at more than $35 million, 80 percent of which will be provided by federal sources. Doyle Wheeler is division director.
