"Very Latests"

By MARY MARSHALL

Some mothers don't care whether their small daughters appear well dressed or not. Some mothers would rather not have their young daughters look well dressed for fear their tender young minds might become preoccupied with thought of clothes. But most sensible mothers take a real pleasure in having their children well turned out and feel that they owe it to them to provide clothes in which they may appear to the best advantage.

The actual money spent on clothes is of less significance with children than it is with grown women—so much depends on color and contour of the clothes selected and on their epic and span spotlessness and neatness.

The elder one grows the more one stands in need of costly fabrics and fine workmanship to achieve distinction. The plainest of serge or flannel or gingham or calico answers the purpose for younger girls, and the rules for achieving distinction are comparatively simple.

There should be a definite and simple color scheme. The hat and other accessories should always be related in color to the wrap or dress. Everything should be as nearly spotless as possible, and free from wrinkles. Skirt hems should be carefully adjusted so that they are neither too long nor too short.

The little girl's ensemble, shown here, consists of a navy blue coat with a red straw hat with blue and red feather. With it are worn navy blue oxfords.

Private Ownership of Utilities

Capital for the development of electric companies comes after all, from the public.

These companies may be owned either by public investment or by local governments. The chief difference between the two is that ownership by the investors means working on a business basis, while municipal ownership too often results in political operation.

Private ownership keeps them out of politics, puts a premium on efficient operation and encourages service to the factory to you.

The West Texas Utilities Company, with its three main generating stations, fifteen auxiliary plants and more than 2,500 miles of transmission lines, insures you dependable service, 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

TO THE RAINBOW

By Thomas Campbell

Triumphal arch that fill'st the sky
When storms prepare to part,
I ask not proud Philisophy
To teach me what thou art;
Still seem, as to my childhood's sight
A midway station given
For happy spirits to alight
Betwix the earth and heaven.

When o'er the green, undeludged
earth
Heaven's covenant tho didst shine,
How came the world's gray fathers
forth

To watch thy sacred sign!
And when its yellow luster smiled
O'er mountains yet untrod,
Each mother held aloft her child
To bless the bow of God.
Methinks, thy jubilee to keep,
The first-made anthem rang
On earth, delivered from the deep
And the first poet sang.

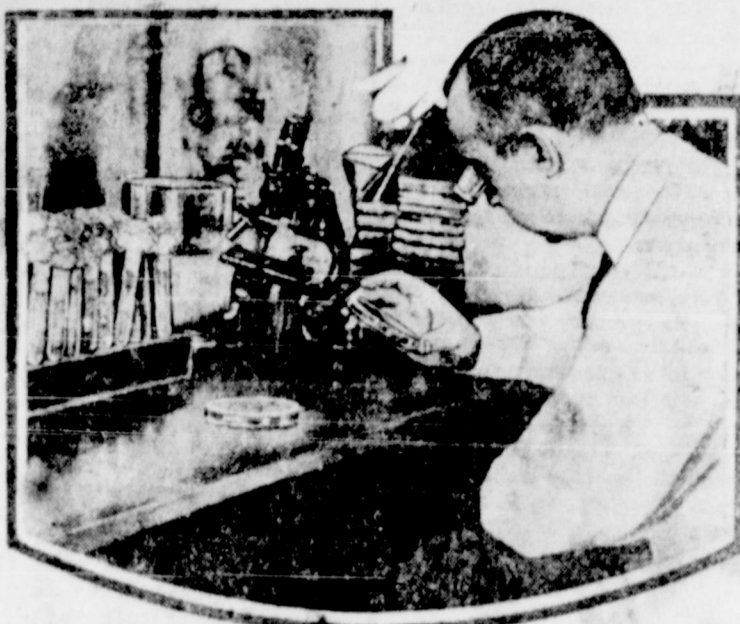

Nor ever shall the Muse's eye
Unraptured greet thy beam!
Theme of primeval prophecy,
Be still the prophet's theme!
The earth to thee her incense yields
The lark thy welcome sings.

Whn glittering in the freshened
fields,
The snowy mushroom spring,
How glorious is thy girdle, cast
O'er mountain, tower, and town,
Or mirriörde in the ocean vast,
A thousand fathoms down!

As fresh in yon horizon dark,
As young thy beauties seem,
As when the eagle from the ark
First sported in the beam.

For, faithful to its sacred page,
Heaven still rebuilds thy span;
Nor lets the type grow pale with age
That first spoke peace to man.

Move to Wipe Out "Athlete's Foot" Menace in Cities of United States

ENOUGH tiny parasites to infect every person in the United States with athlete's foot are lurking on the glass plate shown above. They are being examined by a New York bacteriologist. The plate contains billions of Tinea Trichophyton, which cause the foot malady, a form of ringworm, and these parasites were cultivated from a single specimen overnight.

Widespread evidence of this disease, which has caused some schools to close and has indicated that an outbreak of it might come to any village or city of the United States, has caused medical men in all parts of the country to study means by which it may be eradicated. Constant use of antiseptic is being urged as a means to aid the fight against this age-old malady which has recently taken a more serious appearance in this country. The photograph was taken in the Pease Laboratories in New York where scientists are constantly studying the disease in an effort to control it.

Employ of Continental Oil Gives Out Facts

"I Really Enjoy Living Now Since Taking Argotane, and I Suffered for 19 Years," Says Wichita Man

"It has been a mighty long time since I felt as well as I do since I have been taking Argotane," said Marvin A. Cummings, of 1205 N. Seventh Street, Wichita Falls, Texas. Mr. Cummings is a refinery operator for the Continental Oil Co. and is well known here in this vicinity and has many friends.

"I had been suffering with my stomach and indigestion for about the past 19 years," continued Mr. Cummings, but it has been in a worse shape lately than ever before, and I guess I suffered with every kind of a pain and misery that a disordered stomach could cause. My food soured and I had to be very careful what I ate. Gas formed on my stomach, and the suffering it caused was terrible. My back and side ached all the time and I had sharp shooting pains. I had frequent headaches and was just tired and worn out all the time and just dragged around, until I had just about reached the point where I wanted to give up my work. I was very nervous and restless and didn't get but a few hours sleep at night.

"My sisters had tried Argotane and were greatly benefited and finally persuaded me to give it a trial. I really enjoy living now, since taking Argotane and I have more vim and energy and feel simply fine. I got anything I want, without the slightest hesitation, or having indigestion. The severe pains have disappeared from my back to normal. The gas doesn't form on my stomach, and I can work all day, without feeling at all tired. When I get to bed at night I do not have to get up, and sleep all night long, and get up in the morning feeling refreshed and ready for my day's work. I know from my own experience what Argotane will do. I have gotten such a wonderful result. I hope others will benefit from my experience."

IN PRAISE OF EARTHWORMS

If the earthworms were to publish a magazine, some dramatic success stories would be recorded. It would tell, for example, the remarkable career of John G. Worm. Born of humble parents, in dark surroundings, he managed by his own effort to push himself up to the surface. There he was spied by Fortune in the form of a robin, which snatched him high into the clouds. His moment of elevation was brief, but while it lasted the vision was splendid.

It would tell of Frederick L. Worm who was working along quietly one day when an upheaval tossed him to fame and glory. Success was attended by pain, as is often the case. He was impaled upon a fishhook and carried away to be immersed in a strange element. There his life ended, but not before he had done the biggest job ever achieved by any member of his family. The fortune he landed him, but it was a big fortune.

To the other worms these stories for the top," they would say. "Nothing ever happens to us. We just sit around awhile and die."

It would surprise them to know that a book was written about worms by the great scientist Darwin. Their existence would be intensified if they were to learn that this book makes no mention of the exceptional members of their tribe. The few worms that are carried into the clouds, or succeed in landing big fish, are dismissed by him as of small importance.

For the great mass of unknown worms, who spend their whole lives beneath the surface of observation, he holds as the most important great ones in the world.

If for one year they should cease their industrious digestion of the leaf mold and their incessant stirring of the ground, no crops would grow, and animals and men would die.

I think that Darwin's book on earthworms should be a part of all education, along with the inspiring biographies of the great. It would tend to teach us humility. We human beings who walk so proudly as monarchs of the world—what are we, anyway? Beneficiaries of the worms, without whose leave we could not live a year.

As for fame, it is stimulating, and lifts the spirit of the crowd. But shall we despair because t omost of us it is denied?

PICNIC

The Senior Class of the Knox City School, with Miss Lois Frossard of Santa Anna, and Boyd Kelly of Rochester, who were formerly members of the class, enjoyed a picnic Friday, May 23, in Mr. Lea's pasture west of town. They were accompanied by Mrs. Earl Benedict, class mother, Mrs. Sam White and Mrs. Claude Seyvall.

This was one of the final frolics of the Senior Class and was much enjoyed by all present.

Following the regular picnic a bountiful supply of ice cream was readily consumed in the form of ice cream cones.

Though this class may not be the largest class in this school, we believe we will be safe in saying that no other class will ever be able to eat as many cream cones in one day as they did.

Mrs. Turner, who takes care of Mother Farmer, fell one day the first of the week and broke her arm. She was watering flowers in the yard. Mrs. Turner thought at first that her arm was only sprained by the doctors examination showed one bone to be broken.

Mr. Frank McCauley lost a roll of bedding with two pillows, a pair of blankets, a girls coat and some other articles. Finder please return to W. A. Smith's Service Station or the Herald office and receive a reward.
