'Agriculture Day' Is Tuesday, March 21

AUSTIN -- March 21 is Agriculture Day in Texas, and Knox County farmers and ranchers can be proud of the 21,024,000 contribution they make to the economy of their area and the state, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

That figure is the amount of cash receipts and government payments in 1975, the most recent figures published by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

"Though 1977 may prove to be one of lower profits for agriculture, cash receipts during this year should be substantial," White stated.

"Production costs have doubled for many regions in the state in the past two years, but several commodities have been able to stay even with these costs."

State totals for 1975 were $5.9 billion with livestock bringing in $3,060,908,000 and crops $2,785,683,000. Total cash receipts for 1976 are estimated to be more than $6 billion.

Livestock and products in Knox County were valued in 1975 at $5,011,000. Crops totaled $15,345,000.

Greenhand FFAers Conduct Animal Farm

The Knox City Greenhand FFA Chapter recently sponsored an FFA Animal Farm for grades kindergarten through fourth in the local Ag. barn.

FFA members who brought projects included Brett Tackitt, Arabian horse; Joseph Godsey, beef calf; William Willwant, dairy calf and Siamese kittens; Brett Boone, milk cow; Gaylynn Burkham, ewe and lamb; Kyle White, sow, litter of pigs, broiler chickens, greyhound, and puppies; Junior Figueroa, kid goat; Steve Rumley, St. Bernard dog; Russell Hacker, pigeons; Danny Johnson, Pharaoh Quail; Cyle Clayton, raccoon; and Jimmy Flye, egg laying chickens.

Each Greenhand member participated by handling the projects on display or by leading the grade school children through the exhibits.

According to Buddy Hale, vocational agricultural teacher, the animal farm proved to be very successful.

TOURING THE FRESHMAN FFA ANIMAL FARM last Thursday was this group of youngsters eagerly waiting their turn to 'pat the nose' of this Arabian Pinto displayed by Brett Tackitt, son of the Merle Tackitts. A very enthusiastic turnout was on hand for the first Barnyard Show held by the local schools.

Chamber Installs 1977 Officers and Directors

Being brought up in a small town certainly teaches one how to compete in all activities, J. Tom Graham, publisher of the Big Spring Herald, told his listeners at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet here last Thursday night in the school cafeteria.

Graham, a native of Knox City, recalled that most of us growing up in a small town consider our hometown a "universe."

He suggested that we re-see rural America as this is where the quality of life is really demonstrated.

Banquet guests found Graham's speech most exhilarating, as well as humorous.

Following his address, Chamber of Commerce secretary Doris Crownover presented the speaker with an oil painting done by local artist Melanie Whitley.

Among the evening's highlights was the award made to the "Most Appreciated Citizen," John McGaughey, junior high principal at O'Brien,

BVRA Elects New Officers

The Brazos Valley Rodeo Association held a meeting Tuesday night at the Community Center in Knox City for the purpose of electing new officers and discussing 1977 activities.

President Stanton Brown conducted the election of new officers who include Bud Carver, president; Charles Lankford, vice president; Faye Rallsback, secretary; treasurer; and Marti Tackitt, reporter.

The members present discussed plans and approved the dates of May 6 and May 7 for this year's rodeo.

John Grindstaff was given a big vote of thanks for keeping the KC rodeo grounds in such excellent condition.

It was agreed to lock the west gate of the arena and use the east gate only for safety reasons.

The group agreed to co-sponsor a cutting championship in Knox City with an added purse of $200, and discussed hosting a team roping event.

Merle and Marti Tackitt and sons Neal and Brett were welcomed as new members.

Anderson Rites Held Wednesday

Funeral services for former resident Mrs. Nellie Lee Anderson of Crowell and sister of Mrs. Sam Ferguson of Knox City were held Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock in the First Baptist Church Chapel in Knox City. The Rev. Gene Throckmorton of Lubbock, the Rev. Ronnie Fox of Vernon, and the Rev. John Gillispie, church pastor, officiated. Burial was in the Knox City Cemetery with Smith Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Anderson, 77, died at 2:45 p.m. Monday in the Crowell Hospital following a brief illness.

Born June 13 1899 in Lessbird, she married Earnest J. Anderson on April 11, 1915 in Mount Vernon. The Andersons moved to Crowell seven years ago from Knox City. She was a member of the Baptist Church.

Farm Bureau Plane Has Forced Landing

A Texas Farm Bureau plane en route from Waco to Plainview made a forced landing here last week after the crankshaft broke and the plane lost its right engine.

The plane left Waco at 9:00 o'clock that morning and was due in Plainview at 11:00 a.m., according to Don Welch, Knox County Farm Bureau agent.

The twin-engine craft was cruising at 215 miles per hour when the engine trouble developed and pilot Andy Smith, looking for a suitable place to land, set down at the Knox City Municipal Airport at 10:30.

Another plane was sent from Waco to take the Waco home-office employees Wayne Jay, John Bentley, and Gene Jackson on to their business meeting in Plainview.

was chosen with the explanation by Bill Baker, newly-elected CofC president, that this was a man who didn't know the meaning of the word "no". The honoree is an active member of the First United Methodist Church where he is involved in most phases of its work, is currently serving as president of the Lions Club, is a Boy Scout leader, and works with the youth in other school and civic organizations.

He received his bachelor's degree from Texas Tech in 1953 and the Master of Education in 1968 from Hardin Simmons.

McGaughey taught in Benjamin and Abilene before coming to Knox City where he was high school principal. He served four years as director of the Haskell-Knox Consortium before assuming the principalship at O'Brien.

McGaughey and his wife, Barbara, are parents of three children including David, a student at West Texas State University at Canyon; Jodie, a KCHS sophomore; and Barbie, a third grade student in Knox City Elementary School.

Retiring president Martha Jones expressed her thanks to the directors and Mrs. Crownover. She also presented a plaque to retiring director Pete Elliston, and Karman Robinson accepted one on behalf of her brother, Kelly, retiring youth director who was unable to be present.

Before handing over the reins to Mr. Baker, Martha also briefly described her year as president as a "fun year" describing the Bicentennial's Brazos Valley Rodeo Parade, the big July Fourth celebration, the new businesses, new construction, the dedication of the First Christian Church, the building of Dr. R.G. Howell's Clinic, the new ag barn, along with some of the more trying situations such as the loss of our doctor and the closing of the clinic and hospital. She emphasized how our neighboring towns banded together in seeking a doctor and how grateful everyone was to have Dr. W.F. Thompson and his family move here from Springfield, Mo., enabling the clinic and hospital to re-open.

The new president expressed enthusiasm in taking over the leadership of the Chamber again, having served in this capacity previously. Community improvements, along with furthering the downtown parking project were mentioned by Baker as goals. He also made it known

Smith Drops Out Of Hospital Race

Joe Roy Smith, who had filed for election as a member to the Knox County Hospital District's board of directors, announced to the News that he was withdrawing his name as a candidate.

Three candidates, including Smith, had filed for the one vacancy on the board. Incumbent Henry Jean Jones did not seek reelection. Other candidates are Jo Ann Oliver of Knox City and Gene Brown of Munday. Holdover elective members are Richie Smith and Vernal Zeissel, both of Munday.

The hospital election will be held Saturday, April 2, in conjunction with the city and school elections in Knox City.

Baptist Revival Continues This Week

Revival services will continue through the Sunday morning service at First Baptist Church in Knox City.

Leading in the revival services this week is the Rev. Jerry Hines and Brother Bob Frost of First Baptist Church in Anson.

A different emphasis has been shared each evening, and Saturday evening is to be special. Rev. Hines will share in a dramatic presentation of the gospel, using a full costume dress of the Biblical days from which the scripture story is taken, to help illustrate the gospel story.

RECEIVING THE 'MOST APPRECIATED CITIZEN' award along with an engraved pen set is John McGaughey, at right. Making the presentation is Bill Baker, incoming president.

POISON PREVENTION WEEK
March 20-26, 1977

CHILDREN ACT FAST -- SO CAN POISONS

POISON PREVENTION WEEK STARTS MARCH 20th
This is the 16th year that national poison prevention week has been in existence and the success of the effort is shown by the steady drop in the number of childhood deaths from accidental poisonings.

SAFETY PACKAGING REGULATIONS HAVE HELPED
Since August of 1972, when safety caps became mandatory, the involvement of drugs in children's accidental deaths have continued to decline dramatically. This is especially true of aspirin which is now no longer the number one poisoner of children.

WATCH OUT FOR SOFT DRINK BOTTLES AND CAPS.
Do not use these containers to hold paint thinner, turpentine, gasoline, etc. Children tend to associate them with food and drink.

WHAT IF A CHILD IS ACCIDENTALLY POISONED?
Read the label on the bottle on some of them. Specific first aid information is given. Keep syrup of Ipecac or activated charcoal for when vomiting is indicated. If you go to a hospital emergency room or doctors office, take the bottle with you.

O'Brien Happenings

By CHARLENE BROTHERS

I had mentioned in last week's news that I might not have anything this time, but it seems that I missed some of the people that came visiting, and the City election that comes up April 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Jones visited with his mother, Clyde Jones, during the weekend.

Carol Cox spent the weekend in Lubbock visiting with friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Correll, Andy and Brian visited in Melrose, New Mexico, with Sonny's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Correll.

We are having problems getting enough people to run for the vacant places on the City Council, in fact only two signed up for the three places needed. Running for mayor is C.H. Underwood and signing up for the councilmen were Buster Hodges and Butch Stephens. A.A. Cox said he would run on write-ins, as he did not decide in time to sign up. It is getting pretty bad when people are not interested enough in their City to run for the jobs that are needed. I started to sign up but thought everyone would faint, so decided not to cause that, as far as I know there has never been a woman run for any place over here.

The following is something that I have been thinking about for a long time and decided that this might be a good time to get it said, so consider this an open letter to my readers.

This concerns the school board trustee election that comes up April 2, 1977. Back when all the talk about the consolidation was taking place some of you said that you were against it because the O'Brien people would not have any say in anything that happened to our school any longer, and now the election is coming up in a few weeks and how many signed up to run for the board? Only two signed and you all knew by law that two had to be elected from O'Brien, but there was nothing that said that we couldn't have had three or more if you had been interested enough to run for the places as there will be seven elected this time. So, since it is too late to sign for any place, be sure and come out and vote. We will be voting at the gin office and out local people will be holding the election, which by the way, the school officials did not have to have the election over here. They could have had just one, but to make it easier on our people, they wanted to have two places to vote.

In fact if you would admit it, most of the people from Knox City have gone out of their way to make this consolidation work, after all some of them have to bring their children over here to school same as ours have to go over there, and the students from Knox City all really like it over here.

Be sure and think this all over and come out and vote for the persons of your choice, or if they are not on the ballot, write them in, you know this is legal. Let's try to have the largest number of people to vote that we have ever had. This applies both to the school election and the City, come and support your City.

I may should have stayed in Austin after this comes out, but it is something that has been on my mind for several months and I just decided to get it said.

I would like to take a few lines here and say that there are several women in Knox City who have gone out of their way to make me feel welcome and belong to the school and other things the same as they do -- just to name a few, Barbara Howell, Peggy Jones, Nadine McCown, and there are others, but these three have really tried to show O'Brien that they welcome them.

Munday Couple Named FB Representatives

Mr. and Mrs. Omar Cure of Munday will represent Knox County at the Texas Farm Bureau National Affairs Conference in Washington, D.C. and Williamsburg, Virginia March 21-25.

The local county organization qualified to send these representatives by complying with requirements of the state organization concerning its 1977 program of work and membership acquisition program.

The Texans will fly in two groups from Dallas - Fort Worth airport on March 21 and will return from the Nation's capital on March 25.

Purpose of the conference is to give county FB leaders an insight into the workings of our national government, familiarize them with crucial national issues, and strengthen relationships with members of the Texas delegation in Congress. Conferees will also have an opportunity to take in places of interest in Washington and Colonial Williamsburg.

Robert Delano of Virginia, vice-president of the American Farm Bureau Rederation; and Carrol Chaloupka of Daltart, president of the Texas Farm Bureau, will speak at two dinner meetings for the group. Members of the AFBF Congressional relations staff will brief the Texans on Farm Bureau's national legislative goals for the current session.

Meetings with Texas congressmen and senators are scheduled. In addition, time is reserved for the Texans to make individual contacts with their respective congressmen.

One of the highlights of the trip will be a visit to the U.S. Department of Agriculture complex and hopefully a meeting with Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland.

Sites of interest to be seen in Washington include the U.S. Capitol, Supreme Court Building, Library of Congress, Ford's Theater, the National Gallery of Art, the Smithsonian Institution, the Washington Monument, the White House, and the Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials.

Across the Potomac in Virginia, the group will visit Arlington National Cemetery with stops at the John F. Kennedy gravesite and the tomb of the Unknowns, Arlington House (home of General Robert E. Lee), and Mount Vernon.

Chartered buses will take the group from Washington to Colonial Williamsburg where they will spend two nights and a full day of sightseeing. They will also visit nearby Jamestown where the first English colony was established in the New World. In Williamsburg, they will visit many of the 88 shops, taverns, public buildings, and private homes that have been restored to what they were originally when Williamsburg was the colonial capital of Virginia.

Some 275 county Farm Bureau leaders from about 100 counties are expected to make the trip, a spokesman said.

IN IRVING

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Lawson visited over the weekend in Irving with their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. James Eiland and Erik and new granddaughter, Jamie Desiree.

Elsie remained through Wednesday before returning to Knox City.

COLLEGE STATION -- Texas farmers don't have a lot of room to waver when it comes to production costs. So determining the breakeven costs of the commodities they plan to produce can be the key for a profitable production program.

"Although cost of production for a particular commodity is often difficult to determine due to the variability of production inputs, it is a starting point for a producer to organize his productive resources to obtain optimum net income," points out Cecil Parker, economist in management with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Parker estimated breakeven variable and total production costs for irrigated and dryland cotton, sorghum, corn and wheat for five resource areas of Texas. He used 1977 projected costs of production inputs and weighted average yield for 1973-75 for the the High Plains, $2.08 in the Rolling Plains and $3.04 in the Valley. Dryland wheat variable costs were estimated at $1.42 per bushel in the High Plains, $1.77 in the Rolling Plains and 99 cents in the Blacklands. Irrigated costs were estimated for the High Plains only at $2.46 per bushel.

Parker figured the variable costs on corn production under irrigation in the High Plains at $1.62 per bushel. Lumping the variable production costs together to obtain a statewide average,

Dryland sorghum costs (variable costs per hundred pounds) were $1 in the High Plains, $1.83 in the Rolling Plains, $2.47 in the Blacklands, $2.09 in the Coastal Bend and $1.94 in the Valley. Irrigated costs were $2.68 in Parker came up with these figures: 28 cents a pound for cotton, $2.21 per 100 pounds of sorghum, $1.88 per bushel of wheat and $1.62 per bushel of corn.

When looking at total production costs on a state average, the figures showed the following: 47 cents per pound of cotton, $3.89 per 100 pounds of sorghum, 3.37 per bushel of wheat and $2.62 per bushel of corn.

Parker's production costs were based on weighted average yields of 350 pounds for cotton, 3,932 pounds for sorghum, 25 bushels of wheat and 122 bushels of corn.

"These figures are simply intended to be a planning guide for producers," explains Parker. "Certainly, the estimated breakeven variable and total production costs can be influenced by a change in production input costs and crop yields. Each producer should view these data in relationship to his particular situation.

"By comparing income above variable costs per acre for each crop, a producer can select a combination of crops for optimum income above variable costs, assuming land to be the only limiting production factor. Of course, if other production factors such as labor and capital are limited, determining the optimum crop combination becomes more difficult," points out Parker. "The level of risk a producer is willing to take will determine the level of profit maximization."

THE EARLY BIRD

This relatively early Lockett variety is getting more and more recognition as a fine, early cotton for this area.

Its early maturity (slightly earlier than Paymaster 18) along with being a highly determinate variety, allows it to set bolls early, then "cut-out," resulting in the production of more mature bolls with higher lint quality. It is well adapted to narrow-row as well as conventional planting because it matures early and the close-fruited plant holds the low bolls off the ground. Lockett 4789-A normally produces a good yield of quality fiber with staple length of an inch or more. It is recommended for both dry and irrigated land. However, under irrigation it should be grown only on well-free soils.

To be sure you're planting the real thing, buy only certified seed from a Pioneer Seed Dealer. Reserve your supply of Lockett 4789-A planting seed now.

Proposed Dust Standard Could Be Damaging To Cotton Industry

COLLEGE STATION -- If a standard for exposure to cotton dust as proposed by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) should go into effect, many cotton gins may be forced out of business. And as a direct result, the cost of growing cotton will go up, says an agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. Calvin B. Parnell, cotton ginning and mechanization specialist, contends that the proposed standard, which is designed to protect individuals from the disease by-sinosis, could have a severe impact on the cotton industry. "Estimates of the cost of engineering controls to meet the standard vary from $40,000 to almost $200,000 per gin. Furthermore, engineering controls are such that there is no assurance that they would meet the standard."

With this tremendous cost involved in putting in the controls to protect employees from cotton dust, many gins processing 3,000 bales or less would be forced out of business, believes Parnell. "In some areas, cotton production would cease since producers would not grow cotton if they had to transport it 50 to 100 miles down the road. And, where the gins would make the investment in the controls, the cost would have to be passed on to the producers, thus decreasing their net profits."

Cottonseed oil mills and textile mills also face compliance with the dust standard. Again, the cost of engineering controls would be tremendous -- as high as $1 million -- with no assurance of meeting the standard.

The proposed standard sets out to limit an employee's exposure to cotton dust as measured by a vertical elutriator over any eight-hour period. Meeting the standards calls for the use of respirators and work practice controls along with mandatory engineering controls, explains Parnell.

A public hearing on the proposed standard is scheduled for April 5 in Washington, D.C. Cotton producers, ginners, textile mill managers and others interested in providing their views on the standard should contact their association officers or representatives who may be planning to testify at the hearing.

Lions Club News

By Z.I. SMITH

The Lions were happy to have two visitors for their Wednesday meeting. Lion Wink Shillett passed team assignments to everyone for the coming donut sale on March 23.

President John McGaughey read a proclamation from the Lions of Ranger, supporting their member who is running for District Governor.

Thank you notes were read from Lion Ray Goodrich and the Guy Robinson family.

The president reminded everyone of the Chamber of Commerce banquet on Thursday.

A request was presented to the club and after some discussion the members voted to sell some carnival prizes to the school junior class.

Lion Huck Castleberry of Childress was guest speaker and also showed a film on Texas highway conditions and the financial squeeze the department is working under. The Texas Highway Department is already working under economy processes but is facing the situation of not enough money to repair and expand to meet growing needs. Lion Castleberry reflected the feeling that an increase in gasoline tax is not the answer to this shortage. Lions took note of the conditions and appreciate the information that he brought before them.

GREENHAND FFA ANIMAL BARNYARD

IF THIS PICTURE SEEMS SLIGHTLY out of focus, the 'subject' whose identity is not known, could hardly hold still after touching the little pig. Kyle White, Greenhand FFA exhibitor, holds the animal.

Carolyn's Chatter

By CAROLYN SCHUR

Assistant County Extension Agent

Consumers can cut food costs -- and still eat nutritionally -- by following several guidelines. Frances Reasonover, a foods and nutrition specialist, says.

She is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Plan food shopping to make fewer trips to the grocery store and shop at fewer stores. This lowers fuel cost for driving the car -- cutting down on food costs.

Buy some of the less expensive foods and cook some foods from scratch. Foods to be cooked from scratch often are less expensive than convenience foods.

Cut down on snack foods. Plan meals that include some of the unsaturated fats. Cut down on total calories if overweight, and eat foods that carry adequate amounts of needed nutrients. Eat a dark green or deep yellow vegetable at least every other day.

Check the day's total intake of food to see that foods from the basic four food groups are included -- even when some of the meals are eaten away from home.

The basic four include: two cups of milk for adults or the calcium equivalent in dairy products, two servings of meat or meat alternates, four servings of fruits and vegetables including one rice in Vitamin C and one rich in Vitamin A, and four servings of bread.

Check with the doctor before going on a weight reduction regimen.

Learn basic nutrition knowledge needed to choose a nutritionally adequate diet.

Attend continuing education classes or some other group under the leadership of dietician, nutritionist or home economist. Adequate nutrition not only is an aid to keeping healthy but can help prevent disease and costly medical bills.

Grow fruits and vegetables at home if there's time and space. Fresh fruits and vegetables can add zest to family meals, possible save money and develop into a new hobby.

Use sound food safety practices when handling food -- from the store to the table. Foodborne illness causes discomfort, loss of money and sometimes loss of life.

Use a variety of foods from the meat group in family meals -- beef, pork, lamb, poultry, fish -- and don't forget meat alternates such as beans, peas, lentils and nuts. They not only add variety to meals, but help save money, too.

Plan to cook a whole meal in the oven in order to cut down on fuel cost.

Preparing some meals in a slow cooker helps lower fuel cost.

Use nutrient labeling on foods to make buying choices.

NEWS OF AGRICULTURE

By TOMMY ANTILLEY

"Mission '77: Stamp Out Screwworms," a massive statewide voluntary campaign by livestock producers and other leaders to eliminate screwworms from Texas this year, was launched February 24 in Austin during a special conference called by Governor Dolph Briscoe. More than 1,600 livestock owners, county screwworm subcommittee members, agri-business leaders, and county Extension agents participated. The campaign was launched to take advantage of a combination of factors that hold promise for its success--a cold winter that will reduce the number of screwworm flies this spring, a new strain of sterile flies, and the new screwworm plant in Tuxtla Gutierrez, Mexico, that will double sterile fly production capacity.

But, for the program to work, livestock producers must be willing to support the program and manage their livestock so as to reduce any possible chance of a screwworm infestation. There are a few management practices that producers should be mindful about. 1. Inspect animals frequently as screwworm larvae reach maturity in less than seven days. 2. Treat every wound with a EPA labeled effective insecticide. These materials are formulated as smears, powders, liquids and pressurized aerosols. Some of these are (CO-Ral) coumaphos, ronnel (Korlan), trichlorfon (Dipterex) and lindane. 3. Spray animals when screwworms are known to be in the area, and following livestock surgery. 4. Collect larvae or egg masses found in or near wounds, and send the samples to the USDA Lab at Mission for identification. Free mailing kits are available at the county Extension office. 5. Avoid animal surgery during seasons of high screwworm activity. Complete all branding, dehorning, castrating, docking and shearing before screwworm season arrives in the spring. 6. Avoid unnecessary animal injuries by keeping structures such as gates and corrals free of protruding nails, wire and other sharp objects. 7. Control Gulf Coast ear ticks to avoid wounds which are susceptible to screwworm attack. 8. Observe regulations governing livestock movements from screwworm infested areas. Never move an infested animal.

If producers will adhere to these practices coupled with the cold winter, new lab, we could rid Texas of screwworms in 1977.

"Christ is the exact likeness of the unseen God. (Colossians 1:15) This Christ is the center of the whole christian world who are engaged in observance of lent; many christians are praying together, worshipping together, seeking understanding and spiritual growth. They are consciously discipling their mind, body, and soul for the Living Christ who lives within to guide and prepare them for what is out in the future.

"This same Christ existed before God made anything at all, and in fact, Christ is the creator who made everything in heaven and earth, and the things we can see, and the things we can't; the spirit world with its Kings and Kingdoms, its rulers and authorities; all were made by Christ for His own use and glory. He was before all else began and it's His power that holds everything together. He is the Head of the body made up of His people; he is leader of all who arise from the dead, so that He is first in everything; for God wanted all of Himself to be in His Son". (Colossians 1:15-19) Seek Him with all you heart for wisdom understanding and inner strength. His Word becomes a great light to you, cleansing your mind from false thinking and concentrates on spiritual truth. You are prepared for all of life; He makes you know He is greater than any problem you may have.

S&H Ideabook To Feature New Items

The most widely circulated merchandise catalog in the world, the S&H Green Stamp Idea book, will be distributed by the more than 1700 retailers in Texas offering Green Stamps, including M-System Supermarkets here and in Monday.

Stamp savers will be hard-put to decide how to use their "little bit extra" this year when the 1977 Ideabook is introduced to Knox County shoppers. The wider, more colorful catalog offers nearly 1,400 items directed to every facet of family living, from the bathroom to the kitchen and from indoors to out.

Stamps can be redeemed for a myriad of cooking aids, the latest in outdoor living accessories and even a CB radio or a home smoke alarm. 44% of the merchandise featured this year is brand-new.

Continuing S&H research, however, shows that stamp savers redeem more books for sheets and pillowcases than anything else. These are followed closely by wallets, clocks, toasters, irons and teakettles.

S&H, which dates back to 1896, redeems close to 78 million books of its stamps each year," says Morriss Heskett, S&H area manager in Wichita Falls. "This year's version of the Ideabook is about 2 1/4 inches wider than those in recent years. The reason is that it is felt that more space should be devoted to the display of items in the catalog."

In addition, stamp savers have 1,738 items in the new Luxury Gift catalog available in S&H redemption centers. Only 277 of those items are duplicated in the Ideabook. More than 1,000 of the Luxury Catalog items are new and all reflect the really good life in America.
