Singer And Pastor Entertain Lions Club Wednesday

Program Chairman for the month of May is George Houston, and for his program Wednesday he invited Paul Carlin, of Houston, an evangelist, and Bro. Jerry Barnard, Garland, singer, to provide the program at the Lions Club.

Both men are conducting a revival at the O'Brien Baptist Church.

Rev. Larry Young, pastor, introduced the men to the group.

Rev. Young said, "I am happy to have the opportunity of introducing two men of the Baptist Church. Jerry Barnard used to sing for the orchestra leader Vincent Lopez in New York City, and Paul Carlin was once in a narcotics ring."

Jerry Barnard played the piano and sang a song.

Paul Carlin asked for an encore of "Peace in the Valley".

Rev. Carlin began his speech by telling a few jokes and told the audience that since his profession was preaching he would not disappoint them—he would give a short talk on the Bible.

"Peace and security," Rev. Carlin said, "were the desires and hopes of everyone.

Everyone wants peace of mind and peace of heart, he said.

Also, everyone wants security—shelter and health and to be able to take care of their families.

A person never knows both until he receives Christ into his heart, the pastor said.

Rev. Carlin invited everyone to attend the revival services at O'Brien this week, and said he would give his life's history at the Saturday evening worship, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Carlin said he started out in the underworld at the age of 14 and later he was involved in a narcotics ring.

Later he was converted and has since made his life's work of telling of his experiences and converting people to the church.

Haskell Hosts Golf Tournament

The Haskell County Golf Association is host this year for the annual Tri-County Invitational to be held May 5, 6, and 7, at Haskell.

This tournament is an annual affair held by Munday-Seymour and Haskell. Since last year Throckmorton has joined the association, thus four counties now are host. For a number of years, Haskell was without a golf course, but three years ago, a group of golf enthusiasts and citizens of Haskell formed the Haskell County Golf Association.

A site was purchased, the course laid out and built under the supervision of Morgan Hampton, Golf Professional at the Abilene Country Club. Today, the course boasts the finest Bent Grass greens in West Texas.

As a result, Haskell is inviting all golfers in the area to participate in another annual Tri-County Invitational Golf Tournament. Entrants may qualify May 5 or by calling in score to Co-Tournament Directors R. C. Couch Jr., and Lloyd Feemster, Phones 864-3272 and 864-2212. However, players must qualify on the course for the championship flight on Friday, May 5, which will become a part of the 54 hole medal play. The balance to be played on May 6 and 7, 18 holes respectively. The other flights will be match play beginning on Saturday, May 6 and 7th.

There will be a $10 entrance fee with a barbecue at 7:30. Friday, May 5, for entrants, wives and anyone else desiring barbecue with all the trimmings.

The club is offering over $1,000 in prizes to the winners, runner-up and consolation winner of all flights. There will be other prizes for a long-driving contest, pitching and putting contest.

Due to the problem of overloading a 9-hole course, the number of entrants will be limited to 96, so a first come-first served policy has been established.

Uncle Ben from Benjamin says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: The fellers at the country store Saturday night was discussing a item from the Government saying crows was costing American farmers millions of dollars ever year. Ed Doolittle put in a good word for the crows, allowed as how crows wasn't costing him half as much as the Government. He figgered crows hadn't cost him more'n $4 annual and he wished he could say the same for Government.

Zeke Grubb said he was glad the subject was brung up on account of him not taking that crow deduction on his income tax report. He said he aimed to go home along with his other records, so's he wouldn't fergit it next year. On second thought, said Zeke, since it was deductible, he figgered the crows was a little worse at his place than over at Ed's, maybe amount a $6 deduction annual.

From crows the fellers natural got to talking about corn. One thing about a session at the country store, the various problems at home and abroad is took up in logical order and solved afore adjournment. In the Congress, they is apt to go from crows to the Congo in the same meeting and hold the whole problem over fer the next administration.

Bug Hookum brung up the idea, come next Fall, of having a old fashioned corn shucking in Washington Bug claimed that a corn shucking at the national level would do more fer good will between the farmers and Congress than a new Amendment to the Constitution.

It was agreed by all that the farmers should have charge of this national corn shucking. If the Congress handled it, claimed Bug, the cost would raise taxes. The farmers could handle it economic and without any long debates on protocol. If the Congress was in charge, said Bug, the Senator from Indiana would want to set at the head corn pile, the Senator from Iowa would challenge the distinguish-

MELANIE MEDDLES

By MELANIE VERHALEN

Remember those magazines you bought last fall? and the candy? and the fruit cakes? and the Christmas cards? Well, right now as we Seniors of '61 are spending that money (for a good cause, of course) in New Orleans.

In the fall of 1949, 66 six-year olds entered the first grade here under the supervision of Mrs. Kemletz and Mrs. Hollis. Their classroom was on the ground floor of he old red 1909 building. They had very strict discipline—Wynette stood in the corner all the time for talking, and Lou Ella threw away clean sheets of paper so they could go right on gossiping.

The second grade passed without much ado except that Donna Gayle broke her wrist. Joan broke her arm in the third grade. Mrs. Shannon and Mrs. Vaughan got the Sunset kids when the country school consolidated—Paul Acosta, Jimmy Hollis, Gary Bruce, and me—complete with pigtails and freckles.

The Colson twins came in the fourth grade. This is the year we teased Miss Watson about getting married and chased the boys at recess.

By the time we entered the fifth grade there were only 54 of us. A few of the daring girls began to wear straight skirts. Mrs. Carpenter told us stories, and Mrs. Montandon taught us "gergaphy" and how to press flowers. It was along about this time that Danny established himself as class romeo—a position that he has held unchallenged until recently.

We were especially glad to have Mrs. Lea in the sixth—especially since Mrs. Nichols specialized in "asked to find" problems where you had to give their history before you could work them. The boys formed a football team and played Junior High—we lost.

In the seventh grade, Mrs. Carpenter taught us our I, you, he's, and we, you, they's. Mrs. Wynn told tall tales, sent us after her candy, and taught us to hula.

Dickie's dog, Joey, came to school every day in the eighth grade. Our field trip to Abilene was water-gun wet. I don't know how and I'll never tell why but four of the girls wound up in jail. Our Candyland Banquet that year was interrupted by tornado warnings—a lot of first dates were never finished.

In the fall of '57 we became the first class ever to begin its Freshman year in the new high school. During our four years, we have furnished three football sweethearts: Joan, Lou, and Wynette. Horace and Lyndol have been FHA beaus and Horace and Jeanne were Annual King and Queen. Joan and Peggy have both been best all around, her Junior year, Lou Ella was elected most beautiful. She and Betty Jackson were Cow-girl Sweethearts. Mary Nellie placed fourth in the National Science Fair and I placed second in State Readywriting our Sophomore year. Judy was Miss Firefighter, and she and I made the highest grades in high school for three years. This year Lyndol and Peggy, again, were Best-All-Around.

Eighth Grade Has Banquet Thursday

The annual Eighth Grade Banquet was held Thursday April 27, at the Womens Club. Theme of the banquet was "Song in My Heart." The four tables were decorated with white lace with candles, music notes and toy instruments. The walls and doors were covered with crepe paper and paper hearts and musical notes.

The toastmaster was Johnny Montandon. Ronnie Johns led the opening prayer.

A welcome was extended by Glenda Cox, Bonnie Verhalen, Kay Reeves, and Carolyn Kirk expressed their thanks to the mothers, teachers and classmates.

Linda Reed and Robby Glenn gave the class history, and Belle Burnett and Brack Shaver gave the prophecy.

Supt. E. A. Youngblood spoke on "Keeping in Tune With Life." Mrs. Branton was presented with a gift from the class.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Mrs. Myrtle Cypert wish to express our appreciation to all the friends that so kindly helped during the illness and death of our mother, and for the beautiful flowers, food, cards, sitting up, and all the other acts of kindness. Especially do we thank the doctors and nurses for their kindness.

MARVIN GREEN... Hockley county farmer... had this to say about Solutions: "I really gave Liquid Fertilizers a test last year. After all the heavy rains we had, I went back and side-dressed my cotton with Liquids. I saw a big increase in production in comparison to what some of the other county farmers gathered who didn't use another application of fertilizer."

This is Green's second year to use Solutions. He uses the tool-bar mounted applicator-cultivator with front-mounted saddle-type barrels. With this type rig—Green added: "I was able to apply 50 acres or more per day of fertilizer. And another thing, I have never been able to get the results from other types of fertilizers that I have received from Liquid... with the saving in labor expense, plus the low initial cost of SOLUTIONS, I don't know why everyone doesn't use Liquid Fertilizers."

Bureau President Speaks To Tex. County Presidents

to the extent that we feel it now. So we have called this meeting, a closed meeting for the presidents of our county Farm Bureaus, that we might share with you the great responsibilities that are ours, to impress upon you the importance of the position you hold and give you some ideas, a new conception of the greatness of this organization, of its purpose, what we are going to face and what we are going to need to face it with in the near future. I want to thank you for your cooperation in being here. It's a wonderful attendance on such short notice. Let me say in the beginning, this organization's work has become so ramified and so extended that it seems almost impossible to find time to crowd in another meeting, regardless of how important it is. So we had to call this one in a hurry and had to take the best time available or, practically the only time that was available, to hold it.

"The purpose of this meeting is several fold. First, we want you to understand what your responsibilities are and focus your thinking upon the meaning of those responsibilities. Second, we want to bring to you some of the things that we are vitally interested in, as represented by the programs written by our delegates, and that is our program, first, last, and all the time. They are the only people that can change it. Third, we want you to understand the program of our organization, that we do have a positive approach to these things. We want to point up some, not all, of the things that you are going to be faced with as county leaders in Farm Bureau. Now to understand your responsibilities, of course, it's necessary that you have a working knowledge of our policies. Understand them, what are they, both on the state level and on the national level. You are going to be subjected to many barbs from those that would like to go a different route from what this organization plans to go. You are on the battle line. You are in the front lines. The success of meeting these problems is going to depend upon you and your familiarity with our program and your willingness to defend it.

"To get into it and break it down to some extent, let me say that you are going to be accused of many things. You are going to hear me accused of many things because I represent you as head of this organization. If I were just a member out there, of course, they would just try to convert me over, as they are going to try to convert many of our other members, but we are in the limelight now. A preacher told me one time 'When another preacher comes to town with a new religion or a new sidelight, he doesn't start lambasting our leaders, our preachers, and so I recognize the fact that I am in the limelight along with the Board of Directors that you have elected, and they are going to say first one thing and then another that would have to do with trying to undermine your confidence in us.

"First, they are going to say—and you have heard this one—that we are a Republican outfit and that the Democrats are in power and they are the Democrats so you had better line up with them. I'm not calling any names, but I'm just saying that it's going to come from some quarters. Let me nail it down right here and now that this isn't a political party organization.

"I'm not interested, from an organizational standpoint as leader of any political party. As an individual, I intend to work in the party of my choice. That happens to be the Democratic party, regardless of what anybody might say. I know of some good Farm Bureau members in the north, in states where they have two parties and maybe the other party is strong, who are outstanding members and leaders in this organization that will work in the other party because that will be the party of their choice.

"This is as it should be. We are not a political party, and let me nail that down, and we are not the tool of any political party. We are a farm organization built to represent farmers, and to be worthy of the task that is before us, we certainly must live up to our responsibilities as citizens in the parties of our choice, but we also must live up to our responsibilities within this organization. They are two different fields of responsibility.

"Then you are going to hear that we are against the administration. We are against the administration only when it conflicts with the program you've written. We are charged with the responsibility of doing everything we can to carry out the program that was written by our voting delegates, including the philosophy, the principles and the program. This we intend to be, and I hope before you leave here, that you will do everything possible to understand our program and to work for it as a part of the responsibilities that are ours. The administration, we hope, will advocate many things that we can support. Nothing would give us more pleasure than to be able to do so.

"You are going to hear this, when you oppose government welfare programs, federal aid to education, and other programs that will be discussed here during this meeting—that we have no concern for humanity or we wouldn't be against these things. Crocodile tears flow profusely from those that are politically minded and would like the opportunity to bring everything under their control in this country. And understand this, you can do it with federal aid. We will impress this upon you more and more as we go along, that federal aid is federal control. The Supreme Court has said as much more than one occasion in rendering decisions on different issues. I like to quote it as they put it because then you know that I didn't make it up. The Supreme Court says, 'It is hardly lack of due process of law for the federal government to control that which it subsidizes.'

"What do we expect of government anyway? I like to answer that the little town of Italy gave the answer the other day after a tornado had torn up their town. When they were offered federal aid they said 'keep it and apply it on the National debt, you need it worse than we do.' I like that!

"Neither communities nor individuals should expect or want to live off of a dole. This is not our way of life. We are not fighting for a dole on which to exist. American agriculture far surpasses that of any other country. In fact, I think if there's one thing that makes this country stand out above all others, it is American agriculture. You can't go anywhere and find anything comparable to it in efficiency and volume of production or, in money invested or, in man hours expended. We are in a class by ourselves. We have made our great cities possible by our productive capacity of our farms to alleviate suffering around the world. We still have plenty here, and to spare. There is no need for us to glorify American agriculture today. It can only be described in superlative adjectives. "So we do not expect a dole from the government—neither do we want the government to propose, nor will we support, programs that will leave the people depending on the government.

"Do we realize the full implications of what we are getting into when we accept controlled farm programming? First, we turn our business over to somebody else. Eventually, we have very little to say about what we grow or any changes we might want to make. We can ask for adjustments in allotments, support prices, payments, etc., but in the meantime they will tell us what we pay for our labor, what kind of housing we put them in, what kind of conveyances they ride in, and possibly, that you can't even put a tenant off of your own farm when they don't do like you think they ought to, as is going on in some parts of our country today. It is only reasonable to expect this. The two go together.

"We are faced with a challenge but challenges bring opportunities, and opportunities bring development. Out of this I can see us building a farm organization of loyal, devoted members that believe in the principles and policies of this organization, that will go down the line fighting for them against all odds. When we hold our policy development meetings, we'll have a look at our program and we'll make needed changes as time goes on to meet the needs of the hour as we are able to determine them.
