Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Hollabaugh Celebrate Golden Anniversary

The happy couple, whose wedding anniversary was celebrated on Monday night, enjoyed the occasion with a fine dinner and a family reunion. Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Hollabaugh, residents of the city, have been married for fifty years. They were born in the year 1831, the last portion of the century of wedlock being spent in Knox City. They are the parents of five children, three of whom are living. They are Mrs. J. H. Jones and Mrs. Solen Hutchinson of Knox City and Jake Hollabaugh of Middleton. These children and all their families were present for the dinner honoring the century mark.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollabaugh can remember when there was little or no electricity in Knox City. They also have lived the days when the first school building was put up in Knox City and the churches. The Herald wishes for you many happy years of married life.

The Debt Paying Check

Have You Subscribed

One of the most interesting projects ever experienced in Knox City is now underway and will soon be on the highway of "debt paying" here. Through a suggestion of Happy Smith and Harry Wittbank, the business men are sponsoring the "debt paying check" which simply is this. The men propose to raise the sum of $100.00 or more, which amount is to be given to the Christian Women's Association to be used in a local way, and issue either one or more checks amounting to the sum raised to be used to pay Knox City debts.

The check or checks will be printed for this special purpose, on the back of which will be printed all the laws and by laws of the project. Any one receiving the check is to use it in paying local debts only.

This project is being made possible by public subscription, each subscription amounting to $1.00 or less (whatever you desire to give). When the desired sum is raised (have you subscribed?) a committee from the business men of the town will be appointed to make the complete arrangements for the checks or checks and designate the place of beginning and a period of time for travel of the same. Each person receiving a check will be asked to endorse the same. At the end of a given period, it will be interesting to know just where the check has gone.

Tuesday at noon fifty-six people had subscribed to the project, paying in the amount they chose. See Happy Smith and add 50c or $1.00 to the budget.

H. HACKFIELD HEADS DIRECTORS OF COOPERATIVE GIN

Mr. H. Hackfield was elected president of the Board of Directors of the Farmers Cooperative Gin Company at the annual meeting held last Saturday in the building of the Church of Christ. Other directors elected for the year are L. W. Graham, O. T. McElroy, G. W. Hammons, and B. C. Anderson with Mr. Anderson secretary.

The meeting Saturday was conducted in a very efficient, harmonious way, the fiscal year proving in spite of the existing conditions a successful one.

WEST TEXAS FIREMENS ASSOCIATION MEETS IN MUNDAY

A number of the local fire boys are planning to attend the meeting of the West Texas Firemen's Association which will be held in Munday on the night of March 16th. The meeting is the second of this organization, it being organized in Seymour only two weeks ago. Although young, the organization is thriving and the officers and members hope to be able to carry out such programs as will be suitable for the small town fire departments.

District covered by this organization is Olney, Megargel, Arch city, Newcastle, Throckmorton, Seymour, Benjamin, Goree, Munday and Knox City with an invitation extended to Haskell.

Charley Massey and Sid Liles were in Munday last Monday night attending a meeting of the Firemen.

Building New Home

It is good to state this week that Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Keck have begun the construction of their new home which will be completed within the next few weeks.

The house is located south of the First Christian Church. It will be a Stucco, five rooms and a bath. The kitchen will be completed with all built in features with built in closets in the bed rooms. The floors will be hardwood throughout and all other finishings modern.

Mr. Potter is doing the work and the Woodbridge Lumber Company is furnishing the materials.

Knox City is looking forward to the building of two more new homes in the very near future.

Tuesday morning gravel was being hauled to the lot just north of the Propps Service Station where Will Herring will build a filling station for the Gulf people.

THE SONG OF THE CHURCH PAPER PUBLISHER

The rose is red,
The violet blue,
Your subscription bill
Is over due.

So lay it now—
Don't wait till when
The rose and violet
Bloom again.

For if you do
Delay it thus,
No violets
Will bloom for us.

The rose will rest
Upon our chest
The violet
On the casket.

So come across:
We need the dough
Not in the spring
But now, you know.

The rose is red,
The violet blue;
Do we need the cash?
I'll say we do.

GIVEN FAREWELL PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bolin were honored with a Farewell Party given Monday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Favor. Mr. and Mrs. Bolin moved Tuesday to Sylvester.

Eight tables of guests enjoyed games of Bridge following which delicious refreshments of chicken salad, pickles, buttered rolls, individual banana pie and coffee were served.

Miss Stella Cooner spent the past weekend in Wichita Falls.

AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

For the month of March our subject will be Loking into the mirror of our lives. The text for month will be James 4:14. We will be guided in our study by the messages of the Son of Man to the seven churches in Asia found in the 2nd and 3rd chapters of Revelation, and the message concerning the Christ found in Isaiah 53.

The subjects for next Sunday will be, at eleven o'clock A Present Tense Christian Experience, at 7:30, The Price of the Crown of Life.

The cottage prayer meetings have proved to be interesting and helpful. There were 55 present at all meetings the first night, and many more were expected for this week. Find one of these cottage prayer meetings near you and attend. Any who may be interested in a better spiritual life are invited.

KAR CUT WHEN THROWN FROM MULE

Virgil Stephens sustained an injured ear Monday when pitched from a mule which he was attempting to ride in the stock pin.

Virgil has become quiet proficient as a bronco rider but Monday it seems that his balance upon this particular animal became shaken. A big crowd of traders were present for the riding scene and the pitching and Virgil was immediately carried to the doctor's office where he received treatment.

Monday was trades day in Knox City and much of the business was in action.

MORE 18th DISTRICT LEGION NEWS

Perryton, Texas, March 9, 1931. The old war days will be lived over again by the boys who gather in this city on Saturday and Sunday, March 21-22 for the spring convention of the 18th District American Legion and Auxiliary. Word from over the entire district indicates that there is going to be a record crowd of Legionnaires and Auxiliary members.

The program starts on Saturday afternoon with a Forty and Eight "Wreck" with the Pampa Voltare in charge. Dance and open house at the Legion Hall on Saturday evening. Hal Brennan, state commander; Mrs. F. H. Carpenter, state Auxiliary president; Josh Lee, Norman, Oklahoma; Dr. Roy A. Webb, district commander, Mrs. Van W. Stewart, district Auxiliary head; Major H. B. Gilstrap, Veterans Bureau manager, and others will appear on the program.

American Legion Orders Pins

Monday night the Knox City Post of the American Legion met in one of its regular monthly meetings. The Legion is getting stronger, the membership is increasing and the attendance is better.

Thirty of the boys were present Monday night. There are now about fifty-four who are indentifying themselves as members of the Legion; however, not all of these have been regularly initiated. At the next regular meeting, which will be on the night of March 23rd, the initiation services will be held with ten or more being initiated. These services promise more interest for the meeting and the boys are looking forward to them with more enthusiasm.

When the Knox City Post was first organized some twenty or thirty American Legion pins were ordered for the members, some of which can be seen daily on the coats of those who possess them. Since that early date many of the members have moved away and others have moved into the town and territory and annexed themselves to the local Post, which condition is responsible for the fact that many of the members here now do not own a pin. After a discussion of the pins Monday night, an order was made out for fifteen new pins which will soon be visible on the lapel of this number of the boys.

Wear your pins show the world that you are proud of the Legion and for what it stands for. Every service man should be in the Legion count all the things the Legion has done for you. Where would you have been if it had not been for the Legion? Money cannot buy a membership in the Legion you had to serve in time of need so the Legion is just carrying on where we left off in 1918 you know the motto "In peace as in war we serve". Come on each 2nd and 4th Monday nights in the month and bring a new member with you.

Entered in the Postoffice at Knox City, Texas for transportation through the mails as second class matter.

As we sit before the typewriter this Tuesday morning reviewing the happenings in our town for the past few weeks we marvel at the spirit always prevalent in the people of Knox City.

What is that spirit?
 Funk and Wagnalls, since we have no Websters, say that to succeed in to reach a higher degree of prosperity; success, the favorable termination of anything attempted.

Why is it? When a church organization of Knox City starts to do a certain thing, they all ways to it? Why is it when a school organization attempts, seemingly, the impossible, they do it? Why is it the Study Club and other club organizations of Knox City reach the highest degree of favorable termination when attempting any task? Why is it the business men's organization can function consistently and successfully?

It is that ever present spirit of Cooperation in the people, the life of Knox City.

From the smallest to the largest from the school children to their parents, any task whose accomplishment means the advancing of a wholesome, beneficial spirit, goes over in Knox City with great satisfaction.

FAITH, HOPE AND CHARITY

"Faith, hope and charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity," wrote Saint Paul in his First Epistle to the Corinthians, that great book which has been described as the Magna Charta of the Christian religion. There never has been a time in the history of America when these three essential qualities of the good life were so manifest as they are today in our everyday affairs. We as a people are just beginning to emerge from the most serious and long drawn-out period of calamity and depression which we have ever experienced. Millions of men and women have been for months literally unable to earn their daily bread. Millions more have been deprived by the force of Nature of all they had in the world, leaving them without the bare means of subsistence.

A less sturdy people than ours would have yielded ere this to despair. A less law-abiding people would have relapsed into banditry, as so many of China's millions have done.

But there have been no popular uprisings, no bread riots, no desperate mobs pillaging the stores of supplies. In the face of all that we have been going through there has been no note of despondency.

We have kept the faith; we have not lost our belief in the ultimate return of the old prosperity; we still look upon this country of ours as the greatest and most favored of nations and we have clung to the hope that, sooner or later, somehow in ways which we cannot quite clearly foresee but which our faith tells us will surely operate for good, all will be well again. We have not lost hope.

And while we have held to the faith and clung to hope, we have been giving, and still are giving, the finest example of charity in all history. Without excitement, without pressure beyond the mere spreading of the word that help was needed we have given not merely the ten million dollars that the Red Cross asked for but millions beyond that to feed the hungry, clothe the naked and succor the homeless; and we are still giving. All of the machinery of our governments, state and national has been geared to relieve the distress of the less fortunate among us.

The picture of the people of the United States which this situation reveals is one of which we may well be proud. We have proved again, to ourselves, what some had begun to doubt, that we have not cut loose from the ancient, imperishable virtues, that they still rule our hearts and guide our conduct.

OLD FOLKS SAY
 WAS RIGHT

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice.

He treated constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a combination of senna and other mild herbs, with pepsin.

The simplest remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle will last several months, and all can use it. It is pleasant in taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. Elderly people find it ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles, or write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. B.B., Monticello, Illinois, for free trial bottle.

WALL-RIIP'S HATCHERY

SCRUBWOMEN

One hot day, when the business depression was worst, I visited two of the largest corporations in the world.

I talked with the treasurer of one and with the chairman of the finance committee of the other—and these are men, I may tell you, in whose make-up sentimentality plays a very little part.

They had been looking at red figures until their eye-balls burned. They were entirely unwilling to predict when their industries would improve.

But each of them uttered the same fervent exclamation: If only we can pull through without having to cut wages!

When you stop to think about it, that is an astonishing phenomenon. Twenty-five years ago men in similar positions would have said immediately: "Business is off ten per cent; slash wages twenty per cent."

The same sort of executive who used to assume that the way to cure depression was by cutting wages, are now convinced that the way to cure it is not to cut.

That is one principal fact which makes the current depression different from its predecessors. That is progress!

History has a curious way of upsetting contemporary judgments. Many of the events which seem important to men and women while they are living, prove insignificant in the eyes of the ages. And some very little things later loom large.

Who was king of Spain in 1666? I do not remember. But I do recall that in 1666 an apple fell and hit Isaac Newton.

What was Warren Harding? Who were Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover? Some future school-boy may be puzzled by these inquiries.

But unless I am very much mistaken every future history book will lay emphasis on two developments which have taken place under our very eyes.

They will tell that a boy named Lindbergh flew across the Atlantic Ocean.

And that a man named Ford, announced that he would pay all workers, even scrubwomen, a minimum of five dollars a day.

The idea that high wages make prosperity, that the key to good business lies not in the safe deposit boxes of millionaires, but is carried in the pocket of every worker—this is something entirely new.

It holds the hope of the future. Whatever else may have to be discarded, American business must not surrender that American idea!

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Willis, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Jones and Miss Willie Jones attended the meeting of the 17th district of the American Legion in Abilene Sunday.

They reported having a wonderful trip and an enjoyable meeting.

Questionable
Clarence was home from college on his mid-year vacation and his mother was unpacking his clothes. She found a pawn ticket hanging from one of the buttons on his coat. "What's this tag on your coat?" she asked. "Oh, I was at a dance and checked my coat." Presently she hauled his trousers and these too bore a tag. "Just what kind of a dance was that, Clarence?" she asked.

Blessings Received
The little son of a minister had been very naughty and as punishment he was not allowed to eat with the rest of the family, and a small table was set aside for him. On being given his food at this table for the first time, the little chap said very solemnly: "Lord, I thank thee. Thou hast spread a table before me in the presence of mine enemies."

"FURNACES AND STOVES"

This is the Third of a Series of Articles Dealing with Fire Losses in Texas According to Cause

Though the chimney and flue are necessary attributes of the heating plants as a means of maintaining a draft and carrying off smoke and gasses, they are not the source of heat, that part being played by the stove or furnace, both of which present definite dangers. Usually the hazards are due to faulty installation. Sometimes furnaces are set too close to unprotected woodwork or there is insufficient clearance above them. Provided there is a satisfactory protective covering from the ceiling, 15 inches between it and the top of the furnace is sufficient. Wood work subjected to prolonged heat becomes excessively dry and requires only a spark or perhaps a little extra warmth, to ignite it.

Furnaces should be placed on solid foundations, encased on sides and tops with incombustible protection and should comprise, with their ash receptacles, completely isolated units. It is well, wherever possible, to have the furnace section entirely cut off from the rest of the house, or factory.

Kitchen ranges not resting on legs should have foundations of brick or cement at least 3 inches thick and stand 15 inches from any woodwork, unless the latter is protected by asbestos or metal sheathing, having an air space behind it, or by hot metal tiles, in which case a 6 inch clearance is considered sufficient. The floor beneath all stoves supported by legs should be protected with sheet metal having a layer of asbestos beneath it and extending about a foot and a half in front of the ashreceptacle so as to render harmless hot coals that drop out.

Oil Heating Apparatus: Nowadays the use of oil-burning furnaces is on the increase and they present several dangers in addition to the ordinary hazards of heating plants. Such furnaces should be installed in accordance with "safety" regulations.

Oil Coking Stoves: The modern oil cooking stove is safe enough when properly installed and maintained but if carelessly operated becomes a real hazard. A stove of this kind should be set up firmly, with legs so adjusted that it is level and secure. The legs should not be propped up with scraps of wood or other materials which may become dislodged and thus cause the stove to tip or upset. Burners should be kept clean for the sake of safety and efficiency, and should be boiled occasionally in a strong solution of lye or washing soda and water. Oil stoves should never be filled near an open flame light and are best attended to during the daytime. Nearby woodwork should be protected with sheet metal and asbestos. The supply of kerosene should be stored in outer shed, and it is important not to let the floor become soaked with oil. It is not safe to dry clothing too near heaters or any other variety of heating apparatus.

Crazy Crystals Or As Good Or Better Than Recommended

SAYS ALABAMA MAN

I have tried one package of Crazy Crystals and find it to be as good or better than you recommend it to be. I wanted it especially for my Mother who has suffered from both pressure and persistent constipation for several years. She had not had a dose of any kind of medicine since she drank the first glass of water made from the Crystals and is very much improved.

fires is exceedingly high, for the reason that it is a highly dangerous hazard, and one that is dealt with by the cople in general in a careless manner.

J. W. Deweese, Fire Insurance Commissioner

Monday morning Mr. Press Hitchcock was almost overcome with the gas fumes from the stove in the Barber Shop. Mr. Goodson and Mr. Hitchcock were in the shop when both began to feel queer, both detecting a slight head ache. Mr. Goodson left the shop but Press, being busy, stayed there. On nearing the collapsing stage, Mr. Hitchcock staggered out of the shop and into the drug store and asked for a doctor. The boys on hand succeeded, however, in reviving Press before the doctor came.

Looks like the gas company is not satisfied with taking all our money as gas bills, they just pump in an unlimited supply of air which comes from the stoves in the form of fumes and takes us on off.

Mr. and Mrs. Press Clarke and son David went to Wichita Falls Monday, returning home Tuesday. Mrs. Clarke's father, Mr. Hutchinson, returned home with them for a visit.

• • Blending makes it better

IN the test kitchen of a great soup maker, the gifted master-chef creates the blend of ingredients to produce the perfect soup. In a scent-laden room in a corner of France an expert blender of perfume invokes his highest genius that our sense of smell may be gratified. In a work-room fragrant with the aroma of many types of coffee beans, a highly-paid specialist concentrates his energies that we may be provided with a coffee blend to please our palates. Whether it's soup or soap, tobacco or tea, music or mustard... blending is vital to the production of the best of each. Equally as vital, if not first in importance, is the knowledge and genius of the blender. He must know how.

The best gasoline, too, is blended. In the processes of a modern refinery three types of gasoline are produced. They are, Natural Gasoline, Straight-run Gasoline, and Cracked Gasoline. Each possesses certain desirable qualities necessary for perfect motor operation... but... no one of them possesses all these wanted characteristics.

So CONOCO Gasoline is a blend of the three. There is Natural Gasoline, to give quick starting. There is Straight-run Gasoline, to give power and long-mileage. There is Cracked Gasoline, with its desirable anti-knock quality. Just as carefully as the perfume blender at his delicate task, CONOCO refiners have developed their balanced blend of these three ingredients. There is the gift of knowing how to merge the qualities of the three gasolines to create a balanced, triple-test fuel. One brand of coffee outsells all others because of the expertness of its blender. And so, with CONOCO Blended-Blend Gasoline, the skill of the blender accounts for the popularity of the product. Stop today at the sign of the CONOCO Red Triangle and have your gas tank filled with this better motor fuel.

Electricity Aids the Small City

Electric power has been called by many economic authorities the "Equalizer", because it puts the small town on an equal basis with the large industrial center. No longer is it necessary for industries to locate in congested, expensive, and competitive metropolitan districts, for the transmission system has built an ever-growing network of electric highways over which is transported unlimited power—available in the smallest of towns at an inexpensive rate.

This development in the electric light and power industry holds forth greater opportunities to the small town than it has ever enjoyed in the past. The "Decentralization of Industry" which has followed this development has been advantageous to the country as a whole. West Texas has profited her fair share, and will continue to participate in this new industrial growth throughout the years to come.

The West Texas Utilities Company, manufacturing inexpensive electric power, dependably serves 120 prosperous cities and towns in West Texas, the "Land of Opportunity", distributing its services over more than 2,500 miles of transmission line to a territory approximately 45,000 square miles in area.
