

Children's Pictures To Be Taken Thursday

By WINSTON B. LUCAS
It is an undisputed fact that the responsibilities of tomorrow's world our nation and community will rest upon the shoulders of the children of today. Since this is true, the publisher of this newspaper would like to give you a good look at these future "World Builders."

The only way we can do this is by publishing pictures of them in a feature series. To assure the latest and best reproduction pictures they must all be of uniform size and quality.

An expert children's photographer with all the necessary equipment for this specialized work will be here Thursday, August 20.

Pictures will be taken at the Knox County Herald office from 1:00 to 6:00 p.m.

NO CHARGE TO PARENTS

There is no charge to the parents. There are absolutely no strings to this invitation. It is bonafide in every sense of the word. Parents do not have to be subscribers, nor even readers of this newspaper to take advantage of this feature. Neither are they obligated to purchase pictures after they are taken. Those who want some additional prints may obtain a limited number by arrangement with the studio representative when they select the pose they want printed in the paper. It is entirely up to them.

THE MORE PICTURES THE BETTER

This paper simply wants pictures of all the youngsters and the more, the better. So the mothers and fathers of the community in which this paper circulates should remember the date, Thursday, August 20 to bring their children to the photographer.

You will be mighty glad afterwards, if you did and very very sorry if you do not permit your children to participate in this event. The kiddies will have fun and both mother and dad and the youngsters too will be very proud to see their pictures in print later.

Grain Harvest Gets Underway

According to Charlie Groves, manager of Farmers Grain Company and Billy Mitchell of Knox City Grain Company, the dryland maize harvest, which began July 20, has gotten underway but was detained somewhat by the showers received earlier this week.

As compared to last year's crop, yields vary from 'not so good' to 'some better' and are bringing $1.80 per bushel. Weight varies from 45 to 57 pounds per bushel and from 600 to 2300 pounds per acre. Insect damage has been kept to a minimum.

Very little irrigated maize has been cut and both spokesmen indicated that it will be from 10 days to two weeks before the harvest of these crops really gets underway.

The bulk of the harvest is expected to be completed by mid-September, weather permitting.

Highway Patrolman Joe Hataway told the Herald that Knox City is now an effective traffic program which will reduce fatalities in the tracking the primary traffic accidents. County taxpayers, the County Commissioners the County Judge, a radar system has been installed in his state patrol car. It consists of a read-out on the dash and an antenna mounted on the back of the front seat. The system is comprised of a transmitter and a receiver. The transmitter produces a Doppler effect to provide speed monitoring. The receiver is a basic physics principle of energy striking a target increases or decreases in frequency in direct relation to the speed of the object.

Hataway explained that the new system, which was installed last Tuesday, is more effective than previous systems because it is not affected by distance. It is not affected by distance. It is not affected by distance.

He stated further that an effective traffic safety program is worth a lot to all of us both for professional and personal reasons and offered free demonstrations of the system for the asking.

A day in the park making 'fun things' from cast-aways or so the girls pictured above seemed to think when they were photographed Tuesday at the Art in the Park summer program sponsored by NorCentex Girl Scout Council of Wichita Falls and conducted from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the local City Park.

Art In The Park Enjoyed By Local Girls Tuesday

Twenty local girls from Brownie age through Senior Scout age met Tuesday in the City Park for a day of "Art in the Park" conducted by Jill Eckert and Mary Roth, both Midwestern University students who have been associated with NorCentex Girl Scout Headquarters in Wichita Falls for the past year. by the Altrusa Club of Wichita Falls. The two girls who also assist as council staff aides, have conducted seventeen such sessions in the Wichita Falls State Hospital as well as in groups such as that Tuesday. They said the scouts brought sack lunches and had been in the park since 10 o'clock that morning. Others joined in the fun later in the day.

Those from Knox City who participated in the crafts and sing-song included Sue Burt, Simone Cobb, Melissa Huntsman, and Gerri and Kelly Watson, all members of the Brownie Troop whose leaders are Mmes. Bobby Joe Helton and Leon Watson.

Also Lanette Bouldin, Lynn Carson, Patsy Burt, Sandy Stubbs, Regina Pitts, Patti Pitts, and Jo Lynn Tweedy whose troop leaders are Mmes. Clyde Bouldin, Bill Tweedy, and F. D. Pitts.

George Coats To Study In Europe

George W. Coats, professor of Old Testament at Lexington Theological Seminary, Lexington, Kentucky, and his family, Sandy and George Andrew, leave this week for a year of study, writing, and travel centered in Heidelberg, Germany. Professor Coats is working with a team of scholars from the United States, Germany, and Italy to produce a major Old Testament commentary. The commentary will be published by Abingdon Press as the Interpreter's Encyclopedia of Old Testament Form Criticism and by Neukirchener Verlag as a companion to the German Old Testament series, Biblischer Kommentar. The date of publication for both the English and the German editions will be September 1976.

Professor Coats was elected a von Humboldt fellow for the year of research. The Alexander von Humboldt-Stiftung in Bad Godesberg, Germany, chooses approximately 330 scholars from all disciplines and from all nations of the world for research in German universities. Their fellowships are designed to support only original research, not pursuit of university degrees. All of the von Humboldt fellows come from recognized centers of education and are engaged in active teaching.

The University of Heidelberg offers the most suitable German university center for Professor Coats' work because a large collection of German Old Testament professors now works there, including four directly involved in the production of the Abingdon project. Professor Claus Westermann of Heidelberg, the scholar responsible for a commentary on Genesis in the Biblischer Kommentar series, will be the host professor. Professor Coats will conclude his year of work in Europe by attending international conventions of Old Testament scholars in Rome, Italy, and Uppsala, Sweden.

Mrs. Coats will work out projected plans for a master's thesis in connection with the University of Kentucky while she is in Heidelberg. Her research calls for exploration of feasible language instruction techniques for elementary level children. Since German children are exposed to three or four foreign languages at an early age, procedures for language instruction in Heidelberg offer good laboratory opportunities.

The weather this week has been the same . . . only hotter! Sunday was a hot spot of the week with an unofficial high of 115. Monday made up for it with scattered sprinkles and a little rain in places which cool-

All of this talk about inflation, gross national product, pollution, and dropping birth rates is enough to make a woman get hooked on soap operas.

They're ideal, I've found, for getting away from your own problems by escaping into some one else's . . . especially when other people's problems involve such simple matters as John's other wife's son eloping with her current husband's daughter by his first marriage and using John's present wife's second car to elope in.

My husband doesn't exactly see eye to eye with me on this "escape" routine. He's a firm believer in facing problems squarely with a cool head . . . unless it's some domestic crisis like that one glass of milk that keeps getting overturned at every family meal. Things like that really make the old boy lose his cool, but I kind of enjoy them 'cause it's the one time I turn into a model of efficiency. (Unfortunately, the image lasts only as long as it takes me to wipe up the spill . . . so lately I've toyed with the idea of adding a little dance routine to my mopping-up chores to prolong the image a few minutes more.)

Anyway, the other night we had one of those serious husband-to-wife talks after the kids were in bed and the pillow-fights had dropped off to a normal boys-will-be-boys level. Seems that he had been thinking seriously about inflation, gross national product, etc., and decided we should contribute to their solution by starting in our own home. For one wild moment, I thought he was about to suggest that I go on a diet to combat my own personal inflation and slim down from a gross local product. But then he started talking about all of the garbage we have at our house . . . disposable soft drink bottles, plastic milk cartons, paper towels, etc. I was about to remind him it's his dear little wife who has to empty the garbage every night, but the caution light was clearly on.

If the average family, he said, would refuse to buy "disposable" items and demand reusable or returnable containers, it would do more to reduce pollution than eliminating all the factory smoke stacks in America.

Before I could think that one out, he started talking about all the money we could save, too. Turned out we could save $30 a year just by buying a few kitchen cotton towels, washing them with our regular laundry, and using them over and over again. What's more, he continued, buying soft drinks in returnable bottles would not only save money but reduce our garbage by about 600 bottles a year. (We're our own drinking uncles.)

My husband apparently didn't realize he had also offered me a solution to the hemline problem. With the savings we'll have by disposing of disposables in our grocery shopping, I just might be able to buy me a new midi this fall.

Crownover-Collinsworth Vows Solemnized Saturday Evening

On Saturday evening, August 8, Miss Carolyn Mae Crowmover became the bride of Michael Ralph Collinsworth in the First United Methodist Church with the Rev. David Allred of Wichita Falls, pastor of the First Christian Church in Knox City, as officiant.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Crownover are the bride's parents. Collinsworth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph B. Collinsworth of Pampa.

Two seven-branched candelabra entwined with ivy held white tapers which illuminated the altar area and baskets of white gladioli and hot pink carnations flanked the white satin covered prie dieu.

Organist was Mrs. Melvin Lowrey and Mrs. Roger Butler was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight satin and Alencon lace, fashioned with a portrait neckline and long sleeves. Re-embroidered Alencon lace covered the bodice and was repeated on the skirt hem and sleeves and the detachable train fell chapel length. An ivory lace coil enhanced with pearls held her chapel length veil of imported English illusion outlined with lace. The bride carried three small orchids nestled in baby pink roses.

In keeping with family tradition the bride wore a lalriere which had been worn by her grandmother, Mrs. Arthur Crownover at her wedding 53 years ago. She carried a handkerchief belonging to her great-grandmother, the late Mrs. Betty Smith, which had been carried by her in her wedding 77 years ago as well as by the bride's mother and her sister at their weddings.

Mrs. Joe Smith of Canyon was her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaids were Misses Jacqueline Crowmover, cousin of the bride, Karen McKeever of Stamford, Carol Bean of Fort Stockton, and the groom's sister, Cathy Collinsworth of Pampa. Their dresses were of candy pink organza with white embossed flowers and featured Empire waists, portrait necklines, and Victorian sleeves. They wore white horsehair picture hats with double rows of pink velvet ribbon and each carried a long-stemmed hot pink carnation.

Art Crownover, brother of the bride, and Melinda Collinsworth, sister of the groom, lighted candles.

Stephanie and Scott Smith, both of Pampa were flower girl and ring bearer, respectively. Bill Duggan of Pampa was best man, and groomsmen were Terry Williams, Ronald Gordon, and Tommy Francis, all of Pampa, and Joe Smith of Canyon. Gordon, Francis, and Smith also served as ushers.

Wedding Plans Are Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Oldrick Fojtik of Knox City announce the engagement of their daughter, Anna, to Stan Duckworth, son of Mrs. M. G. Duckworth and the late Mr. Duckworth of Knox City.

Conservation vs. Pollution

Parallel terracing is just one conservation practice used by landowners to reduce sediment damage to our roads, fields, lakes, rivers, and streams. The terraces, pictured above on the Felton Jones farm north of Gorce following a seven-inch rain in March 1967, held the rain where it fell, thus eliminating the soil erosion which produces sediment damage.

One who dwells in the secret place of the Most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty. He shall ever abide under the protecting wings of His promises. summer pasture growth in many areas of Texas including Knox County, winter pastures will be more important than ever.

Winter pastures just don't happen. They are well planned in advance. Winter grazing comes from forage growth during the fall; consequently, winter pastures should produce abundant growth during early fall months, if they are to be profitable.

Growth begins with good-quality seed. And seed should be planted early in the fall to utilize fall rains and favorable temperatures for growth. These conditions are favorable for insects, such as fall armyworm; however, this pest can be easily and economically controlled with safe pesticides. The expense of an insecticide application is well justified when one considers additional growth from early planting.

High fertilization is an essential for profitable forage production. Because of the high protein content of winter pastures, abundant supplies of nitrogen are necessary. At least 60 to 80 pounds of nitrogen is needed to obtain adequate fall growth. A soil test to determine exact amounts of nitrogen and phosphorus needed for optimum forage growth is suggested now.

Because winter pastures are needed during the winter months, grazing should be withheld until cool temperatures arrive. This is usually in November or early December. Thus, forage growth can accumulate and be available for livestock during cold winter days when vitamins and minerals are most urgently needed.

MISS NINA MAY PIERCE

Miss Pierce To Wed Aug. 15

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Pierce of Benjamin are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Nina May, to Buddie Williams, son of Mrs. Pearl Williams of Weatherford.

The couple will be married in the home of the prospective bride's sister, Mrs. Edna Bumpass of Seymour, on Saturday, August 15.

taining to your own work activity after retirement, Beisner said you should call or visit any social security office, where the people will be happy to help you.

An amendment to social security regulations to protect survivors of some "missing in action" Vietnam servicemen against loss of social security benefits was announced by Robert M. Ball, Commissioner of Social Security.

The administrative change, published in the "Federal Register", will eliminate a technical barrier that in some rare and unusual cases could have kept servicemen's families from receiving full benefit protection.

Under the present procedures, the retroactivity of benefits is limited to no more than one year prior to the month in which the dependents of "missing men" file an application for benefits or a statement of intent to claim benefits.

But because some families are unwilling to acknowledge the death of a loved one until it is officially declared—sometimes three or four years after the missing report—many months of back benefit payments could have been lost to them.

Under the change, the casualty form prepared by the appropriate service department indicating the missing-in-action status will be considered as a statement of intent to claim benefits.

No benefit loss will occur due to a time lapse between the actual death and application since such a form is prepared shortly after a missing-in-action report is received.

The new procedure will also serve to protect the social security benefit rights of servicemen declared missing in action, but later found to be alive, but disabled.

If you're not able to visit the Social Security Office in person to apply for benefits or take care of any other social security business, here is a helpful hint to Knox County residents. Most matters can be easily handled by phone, reports Wayne Klipping, manager of the branch office located in Vernon. If a form needs to be signed, the information can be given over the phone and the form mailed to you for signature. The number to call in Vernon is 552-9346.

A representative comes to Knox City on a scheduled basis. Check the post office or this newspaper for the date of his visit.

RANGE FIRES ARE COSTLY
Winter rainfall was adequate over much of northern Texas and resulted in lush growth of cool season weeds and grasses. As a result of hot dry weather during the past couple of months, winter growth has dried and now presents a fire hazard over much of our native rangeland.

Now is the time to prepare for controlling range fires or, better yet, preventing them. Firebreaks should be cleared of vegetation and extreme care practiced with the use of potential fire sources. Locate sources of water and other necessary fire-fighting equipment and create undue hardships on livestock, wildlife and men. The old saying "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" was never more true than now.

SS Reports

The social security office at Vernon, Texas is part of a nationwide network of regional, district, and branch offices, and contact stations reaching from the far tip of the Aleutians to the Caribbean Sea.

They reflect an administrative style, established 35 years ago when social security was first enacted, to bring the program's benefits and information directly to the people, according to Wayne Klipping, Branch Manager at Vernon.

Contact station locations that are visited regularly by social security field representatives may be close to a full-time social security office or hundreds of miles away by air and sea, as in the Aleutians, Klipping said. The contact station is also a tool used by the Social Security Administration to bring social security information to everyone who may have a right to benefits under this 35-year-old law. Field Representatives from the branch office in Vernon, Texas, visit Childress, Quanah, Chillicothe, Crowell, Munday and Knox City, on a scheduled basis. A schedule of their visits is posted in area post offices. Approximately 8,000 Social Security beneficiaries reside in Wilbarger, Childress, Hardeman, Foard, and Knox Counties. These counties were formerly served by other offices until the opening of the branch office at Vernon in January 1966. The office in Vernon is currently a branch of the district office in Wichita Falls, Texas.

Many social security beneficiaries do not fully understand how their earnings affect their social security benefits, says Carl Beisner, social security representative for Knox County.

A social security beneficiary can earn as much as $1680 in a year and still get a check each month. A beneficiary who earns more than $1680 in a year gives up only $1 in benefits for each $2 he earns between $1680 and $2880. For every $1 his earnings go over $2880, he gives up a matching $1 in benefits.

Beisner pointed out, however, that no matter how much a beneficiary earns in a year, he can still be paid in full benefit for any month in which he does not earn wages of more than $140 and does not actively work in self-employment.

What To Wear For Bathing Baby

Trying to keep the little thing in a bath isn't the easiest thing in the world. But there is an idea for a very clean apron that'll cover the mother from head to toes while she's bathing her young one. An added feature of the apron is that it converts into a hooded wrap-up for the baby when she's taken out of the tub.

Made from a square yard of cotton fabric, the apron has a

THIS IS ONE—Here's a mother who says you can make a wrap for bathing the baby. When the splashing's done, the apron converts into a hooded wrap-up and towel for drying the baby. Triangle of apron top forms a hood for baby's head.

AFTER THE BATH—Mother's big white baby apron now becomes a well-absorbent towel for drying off the baby. The extra long neck loop on the apron makes it easy for the mother to slip it over her head with one hand while keeping a firm grip on the baby with the other.

triangular pocket on the left front that forms the hood. As the baby is lifted from the tub, the mother covers her head with the hood and wraps her in the apron skirt. Then with one hand, she can slip the neck loop of the apron off her head and dry off the baby with the "hood" apron.

A narrow and versatile style, the apron also is ideal for backwash, hairdressing, car-washing, or any clean-up chore requiring an absorbent and washable covering.

To make the apron, you'll need 1 1/2 yards of 36-inch cotton fabric, 1/2 yard of double bias cotton bias tape for binding apron edges, and 1-1/2 yards of half-inch cotton ribbon cord for neck loops and waist ties.

From the fabric, cut a 30-inch wide by 32-inch long and 3-inch wide. This will make the hood pocket for the apron's left front. Use a zig-zag machine stitch to sew two layers along the 32-inch base of the triangle. Now match the 3-inch wide side of the triangle to the top point of the apron square and sew it in place, leaving the long side at the bottom open.

Bind edges all around the apron square with bias tape, using a zig-zag machine stitch for decorative effect.

Use a 32 to 34-inch strip of white cord for the neck loop, attaching the cord at the two bound points about nine inches down each side of the apron top.

Now an extra cord for waist ties about 20" down each side of the apron top.

First Aid For Ailing Windows

If neglected windows are what's ailing your decor, there's a new remedy on the market that offers prompt relief.

It's a do-it-yourself shade laminating kit that puts window shades at your fingertips. Designed to make it easy to manufacture your own decorative fabric shades, the kit includes adhesive shade cloth, roller, slit, pull, mounting brackets, and screws.

If you run into, measure, and cut reasonably well, you'll have shades in 15 to 20 minutes.

In selecting a fabric to use with the adhesive shade cloth, choose a firmly woven cotton for best results. Pick one that matches or contrasts with wall, repeats a color or motif over, or supplies a major color point in room and decor.

To determine garbage needed, add six inches to the height of the window opening and one inch to the width of the shade cloth.

Before beginning the laminating process, install mounting brackets at window. Cut roller to size and cap it, then insert into brackets to be sure it fits properly. Set roller aside for later use when trimming shade to exact width.

For a clean-lined look, make "reverse roll" shades—with the roller side facing towards the window. Here's how:

(1) Squares of one end of your fabric are the edge is straight and even. Press with a dry iron to remove any wrinkles or creases, and mark fabric center top and bottom with tailor's chalk, but avoid. Cut all fabric shade cloth 1/2" longer than your window height and 2" wider than the finished shade. Press this out, press out

2" and 4" strips for slit and roller attachments and adhesive. (2) Now place shade cloth adhesive-side up on a large flat surface like a floor or table. Remove lower paper and seal for use as a pressing cloth. Measure down 2" from top of adhesive shade cloth and draw a line across the entire width. Mark center.

(3) Place square edge of fabric on the marked line, aligning center marks at top and bottom, and securing top corners. Set iron at temperature suited to your fabric, and press fabric onto shade cloth—working from center to edges with a slow even pressure. Use lower paper as a pressing cloth and check frequently to be sure you're not ironing any wrinkles into the fabric. (2) wrinkles do appear, pull the fabric loose and re-iron. Allow shade to cool to room temperature for a secure bond.

(4) To trim shade to proper width, center your pre-cut roller at top of shade. Mark a line on the fabric one-fourth of an inch from the inside of each end of metal caps on the roller. Measurements must be accurate if shade is to roll properly. Use a straightedge to draw vertical lines down each side of the shade outlining the width. Be sure vertical lines are the same distance apart at top, center, and bottom of shade. Use sharp scissors to cut along these lines for the finished shade edges.

(5) For the slit pocket, fold a 1/2" strip of bottom of shade over to the back. Now lightly press the 2" strip of shade cloth you cut off earlier (adhesive-side down) to the finished-back strip. (This step will extend beyond each side edge and a small margin above and below.) Insert slit with lower edge back to inside fold of hem and press firmly along upper edge of slit. Allow to cool and then trim.

(6) Before attaching shade to roller place 2" strip of shade cloth adhesive-side down on the prepared 2" strip left at top of shade—with lower edge of shade cloth strip meeting top edge of fabric. Press together, leaving upper edge of shade cloth strip away from work surface. Allow to cool and trim.

(7) Place upper edge of shade cloth strip along lower edge of roller and press and stretch to secure the edge to roller. Mount shade over roller surface, continuously pressing to secure a complete bond. Continue to roll and press until you reach the end of the roller. Now your shade is completed and ready to hang.

Of the 24,896 social security beneficiaries past age 65 in the 15-County 4-County district, 21,015 were women.

LAMINATING

To make the reverse window shade, use fabric to Tri-Tex adhesive shade cloth. Work from center to outer edges and use lower paper as pressing cloth. Leave 2-inch strip at top of shade cloth for later use in attaching shade to roller.

TRIMMING

After ironing fabric to shade cloth, mark side edges for cutting. Use shade roller as guide and mark line on fabric 1/4" from the inside of metal caps on each end of roller. Draw vertical lines with tailor's chalk down each side of shade to outline width. Cut along these lines for finished edges.

SLIT POCKET

Fold 1/2" strip at bottom shade over to the back and press hem edge. Place 2" Tri-Tex strip at bottom-side down on folded edge of hem line and press lightly. Insert slit facing lower edge back with inside fold of hem. Press firmly along upper edge of slit. Allow shade to cool and then trim.

ATTACHING ROLLER

Press lower edge of 2" Tri-Tex strip adhesive-side down on hem strip at top of shade. Let cool and trim. Then lightly press upper edge of strip to hem line on roller. Wind Tri-Tex over roller surface, constantly pressing, until you reach end of adhesive. Now your shade is ready to hang.
