The May Salvation Army drive for funds produced $500.35, it was announced this week by Jeff Graham, chairman of the local Service Unit committee of the Salvation Army.

The campaign was headed by Joe Roy Smith. He was assisted by some 30 workers in Knox City and in Benjamin. Smith said that nearly 200 people and firms made contributions to the fund.

Graham pointed out that 160 people were given emergency assistance last year by the local unit. This assistance included food, clothing, shelter and transportation to both local and transient people. The unit maintains a local fund to help people in need. A portion of the money raised goes to support several welfare services of the Salvation Army on a state level.

Editorial . . .

This week the main controversy in Knox City that has aroused the ire of the citizenry are two unrelated aspects, but nevertheless the Herald has been asked to "write another editorial!"

Number one concerns the local cemetery and number two concerns the Little League.

A part of the cemetery is in perpetual care and at this time the weeds and graves are clean and all is in top shape.

The part which is not in perpetual care is the one the citizens and cemetery committee want to clean up. One citizen called Tuesday morning to report that weeds were waist high on a number of plots and that it was the worst situation she could remember here.

Another suggested that those who have relatives in the un-cared-for plot to please either clean it up or hire someone else to do so.

We have all been proud of the comments we hear from folks who come to our small city and view it. Naturally, our churches, schools, town in general are not complete unless they see our cemetery.

Let's get it cleaned up before anyone has a chance to tell us and somebody else about its pitiful condition!

And now we're ready to discuss the Little League . . .

Besides cotton, a good number of brainy kids, etc., we are well known for our athletic program here. It is one of the few forms of entertainment we can all enjoy. We have felt that strong bodies and strong minds will not only prove an asset to the youngster, but also to their country as well.

Uppermost in the program, though is to teach sportsmanship . . . naturally we all want our kids to win for that is the object of the contest . . . but we should want them to do it in an honorable and honest way, and if they don't, we shouldn't ridicule them. There always has to be a winner and a loser in any contest. Where sportsmanship comes in is when the kids lose, not when they win.

The managers and coaches are the boss of our children when they are on the mound or in the dugouts. Without exception, they are men who could have had other and more pressing business but had rather work with the youngsters than try to put in more time at the office or stay home and watch TV or read the newspaper or magazines.

We are fortunate in having a good number of these dedicated men here in so small a community.

member that it isn't a do-or-die affair. The team you are yelling for tonight may be the one you are against tomorrow.

When the boys do good congratulate them from the bleachers . . . and when they do wrong let their coaches and managers do the criticizing.

Sportsmanship? If we don't practice it, how can we tell our children anything about it?

No doubt each child could be made to do better if his life depended upon it, and no doubt a Casey Stengel could be a little better at coaching, but in both cases it isn't so. Let's try to be more tolerant of both, and remember that it IS the Little League and not the World Championship matches when they play.

the book worm

"Something very significant has happened to a man when he realizes that in books the greatest souls of the world will come to call on him as though there were no one else on earth whom they had to call upon." Harry Emerson Fosdick.

And thus it is that you and your neighbor can visit with such people as Paul and David in the pages of your Bible, with Harry Emerson Fosdick as in the above quotation, with Homer, Wadsworth, Shakespeare, Emerson, Will Rogers, Hemingway and countless others who have passed to the Great Beyond. Their thoughts will be with us as long as there is a world. The man who says that he would not read a book even if there were a library in his town is in a rather pathetic situation. Old Chel wonders if he reads his Bible. Or a newspaper? What are his interests? Surely he is interested in something. Sadly we know that he did not learn to love reading when he was young. There is a trend of thought now that recognizes that Johnny will learn to read if only he is given the proper reading matter and plenty of it.

Happily we announce that these lines of Old Chel have brought at least one book to the school library. Mr. Frank McAuley, Sr., left the biography of Hugh Roy Cullen by Kilman at the Ottis Cash Service Station. This makes two copies of this book but that is all right because this one can be placed with the other Texas items in the Elementary Library.

The Jimmy Branch part of the McAuley family has given a large number of books to the High School Library. Another family that has donated many books is the Dr. T. S. Edwards family. Also Mrs. Emma Watkins, who is a good reader herself when she is not on duty at the hospital, has given many fine books.

A trend to church libraries reminds Old Chel that there is a story right here in our town. Mrs. Horace Finley has worked for a library at the Baptist Church and we must learn from her about her success. Rumor has it that there may be a library established in the new educational building at the Methodist Church. — Chelifer Cancriodes

Uncle Ben from Benjamin says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: Some of the fellers at the country store Saturday night sprung up this item of crows and the national corn shucking that was discussed a few weeks back. One old feller allowed as how maybe we was being a little too unfriendly with the crows. He said he could recollect his Grandpa saying onct that crows was exceeding the farmer in prosper-ty. That was right after the Civil War when crows was outnumbering the farmer about 50 to 1. His Grandpa was living in Georgia at the time and he claimed that on account of the Yankees had stole all the silverware, it was the crows that showed the farmers how to eat corn on the cob. His Grandpa claimed this was a new invention and a big help to the farmer in them days.

In return fer this favor, said his Grandpa, the farmer allowed the crows to have part of the corn. Race relations was real good.

Then come hard times and the Government started claiming

"For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that He might bring us God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the spirit." (1 Peter 3:18).

When we look in to the sufferings of Christ we find He gave His back to the smiters, and His cheeks to them who plucked off the hair: He hid not His face from spitting. But He was wounded for our transgressions, He was bruised for iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon Him; and with His stripes we are healed. In the midst of His agony He cried with a loud voice, "My God, My God, why hast thou forsaken me." And being in an agony He prayed more earnestly and His sweat was as it were great drops of blood falling down to the ground. Wherefore Jesus part of the corn. Ever since then, claims this feller, the crows and the farmers has been fighting fer what's left. The farmers has now got the crows outnumbered about 10 to 1 and this has about starved the crows out. He says that unless Congress makes a distress area out of some of the cornfields, they ain't going to be any crows left by the time Bobby Kennedy runs fer President in 1968. He is in favor of not being too hard on the crows.

Zeke Grubb said he'd been thinking about that plan to have the Senator from Iowa or the Senator from Indiana to set at the head corn pile at this national corn shucking and he's afraid it'll cause hard feelings in these states, says Zeke, corn is mostly thrown to the hogs, and in the South, fer instant, it is raised mostly to eat and drink.

Clem Webster allowed as how the safe thing to do was to git some neutral feller like General MacArthur to set at the head corn pile. Clem said that if the good General would accept the invitation he would present him with some gifts at the ceremonies. Clem said he'd whittle him a shucking peg and a corn stalk flute that would play up to C-sharp, and take a little straw and weave him a bonnet from corn shucks.

The General is well knowed fer his corn-cob pipes and Ed Doolittle said he'd whittle him one from a white cob, use a heating iron on it and git the stem from a cane stalk down on the creek. Ed said he'd make it so pritty the General would fergit he was mad at Harry Truman.

We'd appreciate it, Mister Editor, if you'd sound out the General on our proposition.

Yours truly
Uncle Ben

ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES:

Ford wagons have features only America's station wagon specialists can bring you.

There's a wagonload of reasons why more people prefer Ford wagons.
 There's more room. Ford's extended load deck is the longest and widest in its field.
 There's more convenience. You can have a power-operated roll-down rear window in any Ford wagon.
 There's more distinction. The Country Squire (above) is the only wagon in its field with body panels that look like mahogany, wear like steel.

There are more savings. Ford's Ranch Wagon is America's lowest-priced,* full-size wagon. And like all Fords, every Ford wagon is built to be more service-free: goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications, 4,000 miles between oil changes.
 Stop waiting for that wagon you've always wanted. Swap for a '61 Ford wagon now! Save for a '61 Ford, the wagon America loves most!
