Delinquent Taxes Must Be Paid Before School Can Open

However let no one grow too optimistic and cease in their efforts to help bring in both the arrearage and current taxes for even if all current taxes were paid that would not open the school but several thousand dollars of delinquent taxes must be paid before the proper adjustment can be made to reopen the school.

So don't wait for the committee to call on you but if you know yourself to be in arrears come on at once and pay up 100 per cent then become a missionary and carry the word and your influence to your neighbor and let's put our school in the position to function to its greatest capacity.

Dr. O. J. Emery, of Fort Worth is with us again supplying for Dr. Edwards while his is in guest of his game in the Alpine country. Doctor Emery is well known here and his many friends will be glad to learn of his sojourn here.

Among the Old Timers

A. B. Lowrey, of recent years making his home at Mineral Wells, but who "Saw Service" on Knox Prairie in the more pleasant stages of its early agricultural development is here on a visit with his sons, P. C. and A. B. Lowrey and a daughter Mrs. B. B. Benton. Mrs. Lowrey states that down in his section of country there is a tier of about 5 counties that have not been so fortunate in production this year and economic conditions are far from satisfactory. He was pleased indeed to find the splendid condition that prevail here at this time. Mr. Lowrey settled on Knox Prairie about a half century ago when the "dog owl" and prairie wolf did the raiding for the scattering settlers, but he had faith in the country and has lived to see that faith amply substantiated.

Mr. Lowrey once owned a large farm near this city but sold when he thought the land had reached about its limit of appraisal. But in this he was mistaken as it steadily advanced until it sold for about three times the sum he received. Recent years, of course, has halted advances in all values but still Knox Prairie farms are holding their own in production and their owners are calmly waiting the return of better and brighter days when their commodities shall sell on a more equal parity with the distribution price in which factories have been favored to a large degree. When that condition shall have arrived they will again sit at ease "under their own vine and fig tree".

... Come again Mr. Lowrey and often as you wish our gates are open and a welcome extended to all those who hold a pleasant memory for those days far back when handshakes were warm and greetings cordial. Many great hearted people drifted into the west in those days and Mr. Lowrey was one of their May his declining days be "cast in pleasant places" though he choose to spend them a short way from us.

Stockraising is Revived

Last Monday afternoon Sheriff Elliott received a car of young mares and fillies from Nebraska. They ranged in age from 1 to 5 year. On the afternoon of that day Mr. Elliott and his helper, E. W. Stephens, sold 15 of these mares and exchanged 1 for another animal, at a cash consideration of about $1,550. A shortage of work animals on Knox Prairie has been predicted for the past several years and that prediction has come true. However this movement shows a reviving interest in the livestock situation and the purchase of so many mares at this time is a good indication that farmers have come to the conclusion that it is cheaper to raise their work animals than to import them. Not so many years ago the farms of this country were supplied with animals of local production but they drifted deeper and deeper into cotton acreage until it became a common occurrence to see a car of mules unloaded here and readily absorbed by local buyers. A car of Oklahoma mules is here this week and will probably be disposed of readily. A system of farming that removed that amount of cash from the country for work animals is wrong fundamentally and we are glad to see those farmers providing themselves with the means of supplying their own needs in draft animals.

Methodist Conference Shifts Many Local Pastors

Reverend Sharp, Local Pastor Goes to Stanton While Reverend Glibreath, of Higgins Assumes Pastorate Here

The Methodist Conference of the Stamford district in session at Clarodon of recent date developed much zeal and enthusiasm among the local pastor members for the spiritual uplift of this section of the state and their deliberations were indicative of an earnestness seldom shown by a similar body of men. Many changes of pastorates were announced at the close of the session.

Reverend J. H. Sharp who has been assigned to Stanton while Reverend R. R. Glibreath of Higgins becomes our local pastor for the coming year Reverend Glibreath is expected to be present for the services here Sunday.

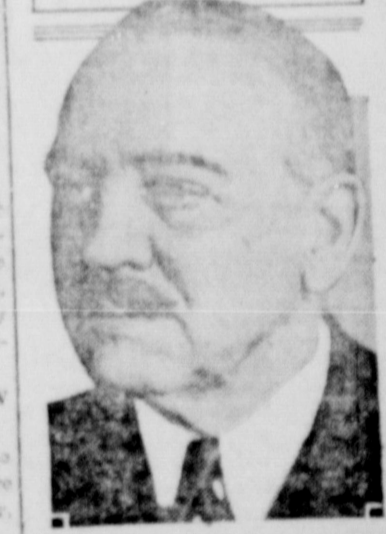

Reverend Sharp and family in their two years here have made a large place for themselves in the hearts of our people and it is with many regrets that we see them go into other fields.

The best wishes of our people will attend them in their new endeavors and new home. The church interest has been well represented under the leadership of Reverend Sharp and the membership has increased substantially under his ministry. Reverend Glibreath has won the love of his congregation and highest esteem of the citizenship of his former charge and comes to us with a splendid record as a zealous worker and a man of extreme piety.

His welcome will be cordial and we trust his labors among us will be fruitful and amplified by the cooperation of his members and good will of our local citizenship. Doctor G. S. Slover was re-elected as Presiding Elder of the Stamford District which meets in conjunction with the other 4 districts in Dallas next year as a centenary celebration of Methodism in Texas. Many enjoyable discussions took place during this session. At the Love Feast hour Sunday afternoon Grandma Rogers, of McLean, Texas, who had been a member of the Methodist church in Texas 59 years told of many frontier experiences in the days of the Circuit Rider, saying that the blizzards and firearms had to go hand in hand in those early days.

D. B. Weaver of Munday was a visitor in Knox City Monday forenoon.

Your editor for the week (L. B. Hammock) is pleased greatly to find that amid all the confusion and even despair of a large percent of the people there is still room in their hearts for love, laughter and song. Self reliant and even almost defiant of conditions over which it seems that no one has control, their heads are still high and their courage unconquered, patiently waiting for the dawn of a brighter day and a more even opportunity to exercise their God-given birthright of obtaining food and shelter and the comforts of life, they press on trusting in the unseen and keeping step with the throng of the hopeful. One has but to turn on a radio to find the air charged with exquisite music, lectures and sermons. Churches are beaming with a welcome of worship and prayer. There seems plenty to eat, plenty to wear, plenty of entertainment, yet something overhanging and overshadowing all and that one thing seems to be just unwarranted fear. If you believe that means will finally be employed to lift every crushing load, to fill every despairing hope to grant every ardent wish, to satisfy God's chosen, and though your efforts to lend cheer and to bring peace may not reach but a span toward the final goal, your work has not been in vain.

One hundred thousand Texans will assume employment today. Thursday, under the Civil Works Administration. It is hoped finally to set in concerted action 200,000 Texans and in the nation at least 4,000,000. Such a body of men working in unison and on definite schedule in one group would make an impressive spectacle and bring one to the realization of the old maxim that "there is nothing new under the sun". Such gigantic efforts on the part of the government to keep in gainful employment the great numbers of idle citizens, harks back to the days of ancient kingdoms when fast government projects were foisted by despotic rulers, such as the building of the pyramids, digging canals, etc. All nations have fallen heir to the same problem and in spite of the rapid progress of inventions and science our nation is now in the grasp of a vexing situation comparable to that of the earlier races of the earth.

Ligion Program for 1934 Outlined

The American Legion program for 1934, beginning at once, has just been compiled by National Headquarters and a copy received by the Charles Leroy Teague Post number 223 of the Legion here.

It is described by J. V. Jones, Adjutant, as the most constructive and conservative in the history of the Legion. "No one can object to this," he said, "and every citizen of the United States can support it. The American Legion will have no difficulty this year. Every veteran of the World War should get into this work at once, because his help is needed. Our National Commander who is called the 'Abraham Lincoln of the Legion' in his home town, declares that half of the men and women of the World War still living will join the Legion this year, and that it is up to each Legionnaire to see that they do. Then we must have a unity of thought in each of these activities unity of expression and unity of action. We can have such team-work under our National Commander's leadership and cannot fail. Our first job is to thoroughly understand our program."

The major points of the program in a nutshell, as outlined by National Headquarters to the Post Officials here, follow:

Restore those disabled in line of duty in the war to their status prior to March 29, 1933; hospitalization government institutions; all needy veterans requiring it; restore service connection for the disabled veteran if his case was so stated prior to March 29, 1933, and provide government protection for dependent widows.

Increase Legion aid to needy children of veterans which has been necessitated by economy reductions of benefits to veterans, ratify child labor amendment in states where this has not yet been done; promote legislation, state and nationally, to provide public health facilities, and conduct educational campaigns concerning child welfare conditions, facilities, mothers' aid and legal adoption of minors.

Protect our schools from undue economy slashes, advance patriotism, character and health among students. Conduct youth activities including Junior baseball, Boy Scouting, C. M. T. C., R. O. T. C., National Boys' Week, Junior Rifle Clubs, and 4-H clubs. Participate in community service work. Sponsor reduction of immigration quotas by 50 per cent down to 10 per cent allowed under 1924 laws. Urge Federal laws excluding alien communists, and expulsion of aliens who would overthrow our government or who are beholden to the Third Nationale. Continue principle that naturalized citizens must bear arms in defense of this country in an emergency. Oppose recognition of communist soviet Russia.

A law and order committee will be appointed by the National organization to study the problem of crime and devise plans for state and national Legion organizations to participate in curbing crime. Urge laws to end sale of machine guns and similar weapons except to military and law enforcement authorities.

Build up the navy from third place and the army from 17th place, to provisions of the London Treaty. Oppose cancellation of any or all war debts. Oppose the United States entering into the League of Nations or to adhere to the World Court, either with or without reservations.

Urge Board of Review to make complete and conscientious consideration of all facts and circumstances pertaining to every claim of disabled veteran.

Support the NRA in the present emergency and favor a sound American dollar.

Advocate a careful study by our government of the dangers of inflation.

Demand and equitable distribution of the tax burden and the elimination of injustices brought about by tax exempt securities.

The Small Town Passing?

Thornton, President, Mer
National Bank at Dallas

Twenty-five years ago, the smaller towns—towns less in size than county seat towns—did a good business. Then, with the coming of good roads and the novel convenience of the automobile, the business of many of the small towns began to dwindle and some of them almost passed out of business. The blacksmith shop, the way to the filling station, the horse-drawn carriage to the auto house, as a gathering place, the picture show, the change in human amusement activity.

We are still people with the better average rate of business and about as good as ever—still spending most of our money for the things we want. The old free credit, in the main has changed to a thirty-day or cash business, so getting along better—some that were better are some that were worse, better—and many of the old "old day" store have a "new day" generation in their places, are doing things of the money and the kind of it.

We know generally what has happened to the business of many smaller towns, but the big question is what brought it about and how the business return again. The small town return to its normal function or has its business gone elsewhere never to return. The smaller town has three reasons: first, the new mode of transportation with good roads, so to speak, chants and other tax payers and have a direct bearing on the expense of doing business, and are reflected in the prices of goods sold.

So, many of the larger cities are now overmerchandised with an ever increasing overhead cost of doing business; and, too, haven't the purchasers about finished their "joy riding" and now ready to come back home? If merchants will invite them back with "up-to-now" modern stocks and modern methods of doing business, fun and entertainment, won't the same auto that carried them away bring them back? And can't they come back over the same good roads they went away over? The purchasers have begun to learn that it takes money to run an auto 20 to 100 miles, let alone wear and tear. He has begun to learn that high city taxes and high costs of doing business are also placed on the price ticket of the article he buys. He has also begun to learn that there is not now nearly so much advantage with the quantity bought as there used to be. The buyer is now an educated buyer. The radio, the newspapers and the merchants themselves have taught him a lot more about merchandise than he ever knew before. So, hasn't all of this created a new opportunity for the smaller town merchant of equal merchandising ability and with equal or proportionately equal capital?

My own view is that we are running over many green fields looking for greener ones. The capable smaller or county-seat town merchant has many basic advantages in cost of doing business. He is closer to and understands the wants and necessities of his trade territory. The question of small and quick deliveries is now solved. He sits close to the seat of our fundamental purchasing power. If he is a merchandiser he can sell the best quality at as low a price as that article can be profitably sold anywhere. To him, it is not that the small town has not gone, through many would-be merchants have passed on and ca-

According to statistics compiled by the U. S. Department of Commerce, 36.2 per cent of the merchandise bought at retail by the people of the United States was bought in towns and hamlets of 10,000 and less. Doesn't this surprise you when you take into consideration the thousands of large trading centers of 10,000 and over in the United States? After all, it's the masses that are doing the great majority of our buying.

Enterprising merchants and business men built most of all the towns and cities of this country. This same type, that is the New Day, up-to-date, wide-awake merchants and business men, can rebuild them and will, for there is opportunity there and men seek opportunity and dare the world for it.

But don't forget that we are all scientific now. Just anybody is not a merchant any more than just anyone is a doctor or a preacher or a lawyer, whereas in former days, anyone that had enough money to buy a few goods and offer them for sale to the public was a merchant. That was usually for only a short time.

So, my thought is the country town has not passed, but as the country rights its economic wrongs, sees the light of a sounder economic day, the smaller town will perform its sound economic function by serving those that it is best equipped to serve in every line, just as the cities serve and not until then will we reach our maximum of a well-balanced prosperity, for it takes prosperous hamlets, prosperous towns and prosperous cities to make up a well-balanced prosperous country.

BETTER LIGHTING WILL EASE YOUR BUDGET WORRIES

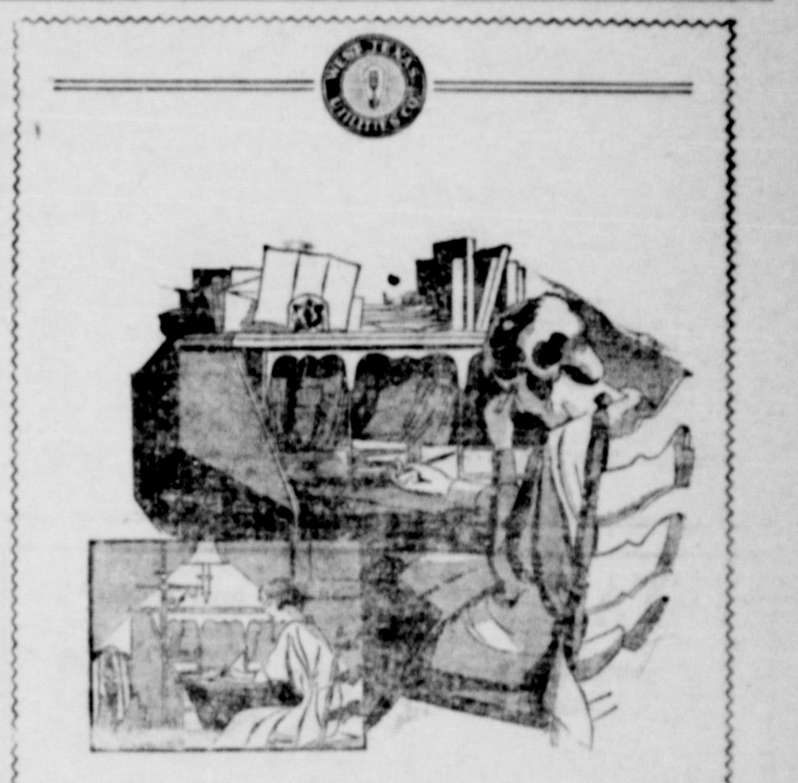

There are budgets that really will work... budgets that will show how to bring expenses within income! But they weren't created at a dark and gloomy desk... they were the result of calm and intelligent analysis under the cheering atmosphere of good light. It's surprising what a difference adequate lighting makes!... Troubles take on a less terrifying aspect when subjected to the clear, eye-soothing brilliance of the modern electric light. It's not only much easier to work, but the absence of eye-strain keeps your mind clear and alert.

Next time you sit down to plot out the month's expenses, or to write a letter, be sure your light is adequate. You'll find the difference amazing!

A trained employee will be happy to inspect your home-lighting arrangements. There's no obligation, of course... and chances are that a simple rearrangement of your present fixtures, or adjustments giving you adequate sized lamps where they're needed, will be all that's necessary.

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule... and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

BRISTOW AERIAL CIRCUS WILL BE HERE SATURDAY

The Bristow Aerial Shows will stage an Aerial Circus here on Saturday that promises to be something entirely different from anything that has ever been in Knox City, and should provide thrills aplenty for the spectators who attend the attraction which will be staged 2 blocks south of town.

According to Jess Bristow, manager of the company, they will have two big monoplane here, each capable of carrying six passengers, one of which is a Ryan monoplane which was specially built for Reg Robbins and Jim Kelly, Fort Worth endurance flyers at a cost of $18,000, and the other a six-place Stinson cabin monoplane. One of these big machines will be used in their stunt performance which in itself is something unusual and a seldom attempted on account of their great weight.

Another feature attraction will be a death-defying stunt on motorcycle by the "Flying Dutchman". A strong board wall will be erected on the flying field and set on fire. The motorcycle rider will attempt to crash this wall of flame on his motorcycle at a speed of 70 miles per hour. This is said to be a new thrill producer and has never been done in Texas more than half a dozen times. The board wall will be on display in Knox City Saturday.

BOOST OUR SCHOOL
 A school is one of the greatest essentials of any town, city or community. The education of the young generation almost without exception depends upon it; the future greatness of our country demands it; and the welfare of our people is built upon it. Considering these facts what would our community, state, or nation be without schools? It would be worse than seething Cuba, more dense than darkest Africa! Civilization would dwindle with astonishing rapidity, culture would disappear, government would be abolished with out mercy, and the chaos that would result would literally consume us.

Man is only human and only through constant training, discipline, and will-power can the average man conquer his base impulses or himself. Without this he goes backward, even so far back as the cave man. The flight upward is slow, long, and tedious, and only the man with the stamina, the indefinable what it takes, has the courage, the manhood, to attain it, it is like the narrow path that leads to Heaven with such a pitiable few following it majestic wake. The way is hard—the endless bliss! The alternative is so much easier as the path of least resistance invariably is. It is such easier to take than to give and so the cave man thought as proved by his methods. The broad road is paved with leisure, a deceitful pleasure for the moment; but oh! when fickle fortune turns her back, deserts one ruthlessly for a novice prey, the endless is doom.

If our schools were suddenly taken from us, what of the coming generations? What will happen when those who can read and write are gone? What then? Such a thought, even in imagination is the maddest of folly. It must not be; it can't be! So many of us have the absurd idea that we "can't". I seem to recall a little proverb in that connection which is but too true. Seemingly we have let the present depression maim us permanently. We have wailed, "I'm not able!" so long that we have actually begun to believe it our selves. And where is it leading us, pray? So far back that it will take more courage than has yet been shown to recover one tenth of our territory. We have never been so "disabled" that we can not be more so and we probably never will. This growing menace has grown so prevalent at home that it reflects only too plainly in the young people, the children as a whole. Just how does it affect them? An apparent lack of interest, morbid indifference becomes and is evident.

One man looks at his neighbor and says, "I won't pay my taxes because Mr. Blank is not paying his, and it isn't fair to me, to do so," while he never stops to consider that Mr. Blank may be regarding him similarly and saying the same. Of course a school can't run without services without support. If you are willing that your children should be under their supervision, then it stands to reason you should be willing to, in some way, pay them for the benefit obtained. They are giving money, neither can a teacher give his our youth something solid upon which to stand; they are giving them something without which it is impossible to succeed today. They are helping build the moral character of your children, endeavoring to make them the good citizens of tomorrow. Can it be that we are lacking in gratitude?

If we would judge from the numerous new cars that breeze by, our school fund should be full to overflowing. You who say "I can't" how many pleasures do you deny your selves? I dare say few if any. Take a child, lift him to the highest pinnacle of desire, make him enthusiastic about his school, make him want to succeed and then dash the foundation, upon which he relies so steadfastly from beneath his unsuspecting feet and would ruin his all. He loses his faith, that you will provide in an emergency; he is forced to face the future, his faith is impaired.

We were proud of our school in the past; we wish to preserve it now! Won't you help us? It all depends on you and you alone! "Shall the public schools of Knox City live or die?"

ARMISTICE PROGRAM

Friday morning the seventh grade gave a fine program. It brought back again memories of 1914 to 1918, when our loved ones were across the waters fighting for us and our great United States of America. The program was as follows:

"Star Spangled Banner"—by all
 Salute to the Flag—by all
 Benediction—Superintendent King
 Roll Call of Our Heroes—Dorothy Shaver

War scene with music—Lincoln Bolts
 Tramp—Boys of the seventh grade
 Chorus

a. Over There
 b. Katy
 c. Pack up Your Troubles
 D. Hail, Hail, the Gang's all Here
 The latter was very peppy for some of these boys in the back of the building could really sing that song. Then came Lincoln Bolts talk which everyone enjoyed.

No Man's Land
 Creeping along the boys imitated our Doughboys who went over making it look very real, and to make us all feel more grateful to our loved ones who really went through that terrible war.

The nurses program illustrated the faithfulness of the Red Cross and our nurses during the great war.

"Flanders Field" Claydene Smith Roy Smith gave us a very touching address, telling us some of the things our boys fought for and what it meant to them and us. We should like to have more talks from Mr. Smith.

Chorus
 a. Stollies
 b. There's a Long, Long Trail

War time music was furnished by Hollis Warren that thrilled us through and through. Hollis is a friend to our school and always willing to help us in any way. We appreciate you, Hollis Warren.

Special Songs Jack Wetzel and Herbert Finley Jack Wetzel

"My Buddy" Jack Wetzel
 Many parents were present and to our delight we were honored by the presence of some of our war veterans: Max Sweeney, Henry Jones, Carl Davis, and Roy Smith. We shall be glad to welcome our friends again.

Everyone missing the program missed something fine and splendid. We extend our thanks to the seventh grade for a wholesome and enjoyable entertainment.

Esse Mae Leaverton passed Solid Geometry.

Burris Teaff is always sleepy.

J. L. Bohannon is never without a story book.

Mary Belle Stevenson uses "those know eyes" so advantageously.

Matching is so popular at K. C. H. S.

Ferris Darr is so good in Spanish.

The Seniors are so fond of Shakespeare.

Ray Ameen is "simply too adorable".

Due to unforeseen conditions the "Kennel" is not up to the standard that we desire to make and is not so full as it would otherwise be.

ASPERMONT HOLDS KNOX CITY TO SCORELESS TIE

Greyhound Field, November 10 Aspermont's Hornets held the Knox City Greyhounds to a scoreless tie last Friday, November 10.

The game was a hard fought battle from the starting gun-to last one, however Knox City outplayed Aspermont, which was evident in every detail.

We don't know the correct number of first-downs for either team, but Knox City completed many passes and a number of beautiful ones, one especially a beautiful twenty or thirty yarder by Captain Hyde Aspermont completed few passes, and only made two or three runs for around ten yards or more. The Hound offensive and defensive worked fine in spots, but in some spots it was terrible, Aspermont's defensive worked fine especially the last minute of play—although they never had much offensive.

Aspermont, in the third quarter, threatened to score placing the ball on the hound 4 yard line, first down and go to go. But a fine hound defensive rose up smacked the runners down for four straight downs, the ball got over to the hounds on the five yard line. Then Kenneth Edwards punted safely out of danger to the fifty yard line. A horsefalter and rabbit's foot only stood between the hounds and a touchdown in the last minute of play. Knox City had advanced the ball from deep in her own territory to the Aspermont five yard line. The hound backfield was composed of Smith, Armstrong, Bryan and Captain Hyde. The four 1st down—Hyde hit right tackle for 2 1/2 yards. 2nd down—Armstrong hit center for 2 1-3 yards placing the ball on Aspermont's six inch line. Then Dutton went into the game for Smith at Quarterback—3rd down six inches to go for a touchdown Dutton hit center for no gain—4th down Dutton again hit center for no gain. As the game ended with the ball on Aspermont's six-inch line Aspermont's ball and first down and ten yards to go.

Although school has been dismissed, football will still continue. The Hounds have three more games yet to play. They are Woodson at Woodson, Throckmorton at Throckmorton and on Thanksgiving them that Monday Megala at Monday. Practice is continuing which is held at 2:30 every afternoon by Coach Dean.

Latest methods and equipment developed by the profession will be used by the clinicians, including X ray. According to representatives of this movement, no charge or obligation is made for any of this service excepting those cases desiring X-ray work, in which case a minimum charge will be made.

All those desiring examination may make appointments thru the office of Dr. Barnett and Barnett who has charge of arrangements locally.

Thousands have Ended their Bowel Worries by taking this advice!

Can constipation actually be overcome? "Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" say the many thousands who have followed their advice and found relief.

You are not likely to cure your constipation with salts, pills, tablets, or any of the habit-forming cathartics. But you can correct this condition by gentle regulation with a suitable liquid laxative.

Hospitals and doctors have always used liquid laxatives. The dose can be measured, and the action controlled. Pills and tablets containing drugs of violent action are hard on the bowels.

If there are children in your household, don't give them any form of laxative, but use a healthful, helpful preparation like syrup pepsin. Its very taste will tell you it is wholesome, and agreeable to the stomach. Delightful taste, and delightful action; there is no discomfort at the time, or after. Ask your druggist for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, all ready to take.
