Workers Council Well Attended

The Baptist Workers Council, of the Haskell Association, which was held in this city Monday was favored with a big attendance the whole day. Not only did the members of the local Baptist church have to welcome the Baptist from the other 25 Baptist churches in this Association, but they also had to welcome many Knox City Methodists who just would attend the meeting. The program was so splendid, as arranged by the local church, that the Methodist, and probably members of other denominations, could not refrain from attending.

The program of the morning was fine, the whole being a climax. At noon, as the Reverend Stovall was about to call it "noon" the local Baptist spread their old-fashioned basket lunches together and the 175 out-of-town guests with at least 75 local members, found themselves engaged in consuming one of the most splendid, most bountiful meals imaginable.

The afternoon hours were given largely to the program of the women of the local church. This was splendid. Reverend Stovall commented appraisingly of the program, stating that it with the morning program were up to full expectations and that the local church was strengthened from having given it.

CARD OF THANKS

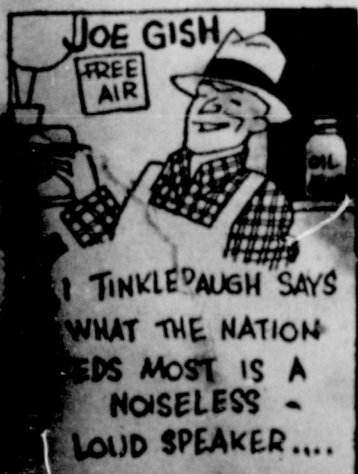

As a means of sincerely thanking everyone who extended a kindly help, in unmistakable tokens of friendship and purest sympathy during the illness and death of our husband and father, we express our appreciation and esteem of such traits of generosity as were manifest in both our social and material welfare:

Mrs. C. B. Teague and family
T. A. Teague and family
L. B. Hammock and family
W. M. Teague and family
E. H. Teague
L. C. Teague and wife.

Home

By Edward Rowland Sill

There lies a little city in the hills;
White are its roofs, dim is each dwelling's door,
And peace with perfect rest its bosom fills.
There the pure mist, the pity of the sea,
Comes as a white, soft hand, and reaches o'er
And touches its still face most tenderly.
Unstirred and calm, amid our shifting years,
Lo—where it lies, far from flash and roar,
With quiet distance blurred, as if through tears.
O heart that prayest so for God to send
Some loving messenger to go before
And lead the way to where thy longings end.
Be sure, be very sure, that soon will come
His kindest angel, and through that still door
In the infinite love will lead thee home.

Couples Class Elects New Officers

At the unusually interesting meeting of the Couples Class of the Methodist Sunday School Monday night, new officers for the new year were elected. This meeting was held and the new officers were elected as a symbol of new life and interest which the class is now showing.

Mrs. J. M. Ashcroft was elected president, Miss Buckholt vice president and Mr. Shirley Park second vice president. Mrs. W. E. Benedict was elected secretary and treasurer. A group of committees will be appointed, the announcement of which will be made to the class by the president Sunday.

Mrs. T. S. Edwards is teacher of this class and Reverend Sharp is assistant or substitute teacher. Between the ability of these two splendid teachers and leaders and the keen interest that is being manifested by the class members something is bound to "burst forth" in the Methodist Sunday School before long.

In fact, as the reporter of this class is writing this article she is thrilled with the nearness of when the class has already arrived in buying a new rug for the two tables and steps for the church. The question of recovering the isles of the church was put to the meeting Monday evening and was met with much discussion. A committee was appointed and as a result the covering will no doubt be secured. (It seems like a miracle to us who have wanted this done so long.)

Monday evening the class unanimously voted Mrs. J. H. Sharp honorary member of the class. We were glad to have her present.

Among the various aims, ideals and goals of the class, one is to be active. Not to sleep, but to be ever alert to the many opportunities that are ours by virtue of our existence of our belonging to the Knox City Methodist church and of our desire to be of service.

We not only invite those who should be in our class to join us, but we also urge that you make a special effort to be present Sunday, this Sunday and every Sunday thereafter.

Miss Nell Trimmer entertained several friends last Saturday night with a Slumber Party. The earlier part of the evening was spent playing cards; ghost stories followed then the mid-night feast. A few hours of sleep were wedged in for the six girls before morning.

C. Behannan's family is down with the flu this week.

Revival

Our revival will begin next Saturday which is the 6th, with both service held in the church Sunday. Beginning Monday the day service will be held from 10:00 a. m. to 11:00 a. m. in the Theatre building in town and the night service held in the church. The Theatre building has been arranged to meet the requirements in the way of a platform and arrangements for the piano.

We are hoping and praying for a great revival; that all of the people will be blessed and much good done. Will you pray and work to that end regardless of your relation to the church. I hope that we will lay aside everything that we can and come to these services and not only come but also help out in every way that you can.

God is willing and ready to bless everyone that will let Him.

J. H. Srarp, pastor

Mr. and Mrs. Doc Rose and children of Rule were guests Saturday night of Mr. and Mrs. Ford Waldrup.

According to the report made by S. L. White Tuesday of this week the Porter and White Store of Haskell sold last week to Smith and Thomas. The latter took charge Tuesday, the deal being completely closed.

Mr. and Mrs. Dulaney of Haskell were here Sunday to see Mr. and Mrs. Press Hitchcock. They brought Myra Jean home for a visit. She has escaped having the whooping cough so far and by spending the time now in Haskell it is hoped that she will not have it.

Wife of County's First Sheriff Succumbs

Several people from Knox City attended the funeral service for Mrs. Tom Isbell, wife of Knox County's first Sheriff, held in Goree Sunday. Among those from here who were in attendance were Pappy and Mammy Smith, Mrs. M. A. Reeder and Mrs. Della Short.

Mrs. Isbell had been bedfast for the past three years. Funeral services were conducted from the residence Sunday afternoon by the Reverend J. A. Tucker, pastor of the Monday Presbyterian church. Burial was in the family plot at Haskell.

Mrs. Isbell has been a resident of Knox County for a half century.

HAP SMITH GETS BURNED

Wednesday Happy Smith sustained burns on both hands when he attempted to mix tar and gasoline in a room where a fire was burning. Hap states that the happening was due to negligence. He was aware of the fact that the store was on fire when he put the gasoline in the tar bucket, it caught fire, burning both of Hap's hands, which must have been covered with gasoline.

The accident occurred in a room at the drug store.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Haley of Stamford were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Press Hitchcock Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Vance Jr. are the proud parents of a new baby girl. She came last week. The little lady makes the fifth living generation of her family.

Gins Are Burgalized

O'Brien HELD UP

Friday night of last week the office of the Knox City Gin Company was burgalized and an adding machine and typewriter taken. No information as to who the intruders were has been learned.

Saturday night the Cooperative Gin Company of this city suffered the loss of a saw set. This has not been found either.

Sunday night O'Brien was held up and relieved of a number of stamped envelopes, some post cards, one package and some checks. The depot and post office at O'Brien were both robbed Sunday night but little was taken.

And it looks like Otto Lawson and Brooks Campsey are pretty good at Tit-for-Tat.

Otto first found the properties of some one who siphoned the gas from his car, that is Brooks made the discovery for Otto, then Otto discovers that someone has taken the gas from Brooks' car. Can you imagine such!

Well, now Otto buys gas two gallons at the time and we think that Brooks is buying one gallon.

Baptist Bulletin

The services were well attended at the Baptist church last Sunday. We appreciate the fine spirit that is being shown in the work. We hope that the interest may continue to grow and that others will come as there are a few vacant seats in our church yet.

We believe that our singing is as good as will be found in any of our larger churches, and our choir leader is the best in the land. We urge that everyone be in your place next Sunday morning.

Duff To Be Here Sunday

Reverend I. J. Duff of Weibert will preach in the local church at the eleven o'clock hour Sunday, while the Baptist pastor will be at Smith Chapel. Because of the rain last week this exchange of pulpits was postponed. Brother Duff is one of Knox City's boys who has and is making good. Hear him Sunday; you will enjoy the change.

Next week the Methodist revival begins. "Let's go, everybody make this a great revival."

C. B. Stovall, pastor

EZZELIAN CLASS

This class invites you to study with us the devoted wife and mother; her place in political life, domestic life and church life; is her sphere of activity inferior to that of man? Is the virtuous wife and mother rewarded for her devotion and is the ideal life attainable by any wife and mother today? The basis of this study is Proverbs chapter 31.

Twenty-five members and four visitors were present last Sunday, but where were the other twenty members? If you have been in this class during the last two years, please make an effort to be present next Sunday.

Our leaders are, Alvin Hamm, President and Miss Lorena Reese, Secretary and Treasurer.

SAUCE FOR THE GANDER

There was a tired business man, a member of that busy clan that shields itself from prying eye behind that good alibi.

In conference He rested in his office chair and ducked a lot of toil and care, and smoked cigars in sweet content and thus his busy hours were spent.

In conference Came anxious strangers by the score to camp outside his office door and angrily they went their way for he was busy all the day.

In conference And so he died and at the gate an angel bade him stand and wait, and said to him with frowning brow. "St. Peter's mighty busy now."

In conference.

C. B. Teague Passes On

The Knox City community felt a great sorrow in the death of one of its pioneer citizens, C. B. Teague, which occurred at his home in this city Thursday morning, February 25th at one o'clock, age 76 years, 10 months and 7 days.

Deceased was born in Pike county, Alabama, April 18th, 1855 and moved to Texas in 1875, settling in Williamson county where he met and married Miss Eldabeth Virginia Stockton in 1880. To this union was born 8 children, 6 boys and 2 girls, six of whom are now living and were present at his funeral. One girl died in infancy and one son, Charles Leroy Teague, for whom the American Legion Post of this city is named, gave his life on the battlefield of France in the defense of his country October 8, 1918. Those remaining are T. A. Teague, Rule; Mrs. L. B. Hammock, this city, W. M. Teague, Abilene; E. G., L. O., and L. C. Teague also of Knox City besides his children he is survived by his widow, a sister at Conway, Arkansas, a brother at Montgomery Alabama, 14 grand children and many other relatives.

He was converted to the Christian faith at the age of 21, becoming a member of the Methodist church and in time constantly served in every office open to a layman. In 1906 he moved with his family to this community and had his residence here the remaining 26 years, during which time he was active in the varied interest and progress of the county. Stricken with his final illness in July of 1929 he was thereafter confined to his home where amid consoling friendships and the family's and relatives tender care he patiently awaited the end. His going was as peaceful as his life had been, no tremor or terror of the great unknown but as a pilgrim sturdy and resolved, calmly bound on that journey from which no traveler returns, a spirit on that timeless sea whose heaven is an endless home in a mansion fair beside the stream whereof makes glad the city of God. The funeral services were conducted from the family residence, 19:00 a. m. Friday the 26th, by Reverend J. H. Sharp, assisted by Reverend J. C. Mann, former pastor now of Aspermont; Reverend John Cochran, pastor M. E. Church, Rule; and Reverend C. B. Stovall, pastor Baptist church this city.

Those attending the services from out of town were Mrs. H. M. Wireman and son Wayne, of Leaday; Miss Oberia Hamlin, Coleman; Mrs. Roy Rix, Crockett; Mrs. C. K. Chamberlain, Nacogdoches, Supt. and Mrs. A. F. McMinn, Principal U. U. Clark teachers in the Rule School; E. D. Weaver and family, Dr. J. C. Davis and son, R. D. Chambers, T. P. Townson, Jim Davis and Reverend Cochran all of Rule, Reverend J. C. Mann of Aspermont.

The Missionary Society of the Methodist church completed its study Korea the Land of Dawn Tuesday afternoon. There will be a business meeting of the society next Monday at the church.

We are soon to go into a series of services, a Revival, conducted by the Methodist church. Reverend Sharp, local minister, is to do the preaching. As is seen in this Herald and a poster appearing now at the theatre buildings. Mr. Frank Hitchcock, Baptist song leader, is to conduct the song service for this series of services. As is seen also, in the notice of the Baptist church this week Reverend Stovall urges that the people of Knox City give their cooperation to Brother Sharp and the Methodist people in these services.

Sometimes pastors conducting revivals in their own churches are not given the cooperation that is given to a visiting Evangelist. However, we feel that the local preacher is due the same good cooperation that is accorded the visiting Evangelist. The local pastor is with us each day, he knows our temptation, our sorrows and cares and for that reason he is able to meet our needs in the way of a friend and pastor. He tries daily to help us direct our lives in the upward way and in a series of Revival services we should feel that we are due to give our unlimited cooperation. This of course, should be the sentiment of the town of all the churches as well as that of each member of the church conducting the services.

 The Methodist is a FRIENDLY church and its members and pastor invite you ALL to attend its services, and we, the Herald, are with the church in looking forward to the splendid spirit of cooperation that no doubt will be given in these services.

E. O. Jamison wants to know who Mrs. Jamison's Sun-Shine Sister is. E. O. Says that sister sure knows how to make sunshine in the dining room.

We see that Mrs. E. F. Branton is driving a different car this week, a two door Ford Sedan.

We see that W. W. Hyde had such an attachment for his old Ford touring that he has bought it back. He is now the "two car" type.

We understand that Holt Moseley made an unusual finding this week, two children in the washer. We don't know whether the idea was for adoption or not.

We understand that Reverend Sharp met a stranger in town Wednesday by the name of Smith. Brother Stovall must have been parked around some place rather close.

There has been more or less discussion in town this week as to which one has gone to work. It is Ben or Sharty one, but we can't say for sure which.

Mr. and Mrs. John Overby of Gunterville Alabama came in rather unexpectedly last week for a visit of two days with their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hyde.

JESUS WASHES HIS DISCIPLES' FEET
 John 13:1-15

Again the fullness of time had come for a great event in the unfolding of the redemptive plan of God. Jesus Christ lived on earth for a purpose and this was not primarily to be a great Teacher or worker of miracles. There was to be a Great Day of Atonement, having close relationship to a day with a similar name in the Jewish calendar. The cross was now less than a day off. Jesus was always a good Hebrew and He kept the feasts established by His heavenly Father. Preparation was made for the observance of the Passover. In reality, He had been approaching Jerusalem for three months that He might be present at just this time.

Two disciples had been sent forward that they might make ready in the cooking of the Passover lamb. Marked tension existed among all the disciples. They sensed that the end of His ministry was about over and they looked for the establishment of the visible kingdom, concerning which He had often spoken. For this reason all the men held back from performing the ordinary office of washing the soiled feet at the end of the Journey.

After they were in position, and all had refrained from appearing to do the work of a servant, Jesus work that each one had sidestepped and personally undertook this deed. All were thus cared for, even Judas who was about to betray Him. It was Peter who raised objections when he was thus humiliated by the act of Jesus, but his Lord proceeded with basin and towel. In rendering the greater service on the cross the next day Jesus would not omit the lesser act on this Thursday night. Fuller explanation is given in the Golden Text: "The Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many." Matthew 20:28. Thus an example was given typical of the service each one should render unto others in His name.

Union Grove News

We have had quite a bit of sickness in our community the past three weeks. Mrs. W. R. Jones was seriously ill but, we are glad to say, is improving and able to sit up. All the children, who were at her bedside in those days of darkest days, have returned to their respective homes. Bill Lewis of Oklahoma, Mrs. Ethel Woods of Oklahoma and Mr. and Mrs. Hood from Rhineiland.

There was a party given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilson last Saturday night honoring their daughter, Miss Inaleen on her 19th birthday. Twenty-two children enjoyed games out of doors while the 43 adults present partied. Cake and hot chocolate were served to all. Inaleen received a number of nice little gifts.

The 4-H club reports that on account of too much sickness the last meeting of the club was not held. It was to have been in the home of Mrs. Green; so the next meeting, set for March 4th will be with Mrs. Green. It will be an all-day quilting with a Washington program. We urge that every member be present, and we invite those who wish to visit with the club on that day.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lankford a boy on February 17th. They are staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sam Wilson.

J. H. McGee.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Campsey, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Campsey, Miss Adelaide Barton and Casey Jones enjoyed dinner at the Hamilton ranch Sunday.

Miss Albus of Rhineiland, a former nurse in the Knox County Hospital, left Monday for Canada. She returned home with relatives who visited here from Canada.

Misses Myrtle and Myrtis Evans returned home Monday night after spending three days with relatives and friends. They live in Quannah.

JUNIOR RED CROSS RECEIVES BOOK FROM PARIS FRANCE

Mrs. C. C. Hoge, chairman of the Junior Red Cross, makes an interesting report this week of a response which the children of the 10th Ward School in Paris France made to the members of the Junior Red Cross of Knox City.

Last year, this organization, under the direction of the chairman, Mrs. Hoge, and the teachers in the school, Miss Mary Reeder and Mrs. Ottis Cash, made a Texas book which was sent to the 10th Ward School in Paris, France. These pupils, in return, made a book of their country and city and sent it here. It is all hand made and includes several articles of crochet and other hand work. The book is on display at the school building and will be kept here with the other school trophies. Anyone who desires to see the book may do so.

MY HOME AND YOURS

A real aid to house-keeping time when walls must be cleaned may be found in any five and ten cent store. The little rubber sponge, which cost ten cents, will remove discolorations from paper as easily as an ordinary eraser removes soil from any paper. The sponge are easily brushed from the floor.

Left-over cereals such as cream of wheat, farina or wheatena, may be used as a desert if sugar or syrup is added. Dissolve the sugar and add to the cooked cereal, pour into moulds, and chill. At serving time place on an attractive plate, add whipped cream or pour plain cream over. This is especially good for the smaller children.

The younger children in the family usually dislike the idea of having the outgrown clothes of the larger child passed on to them. If the article happens to be shoes, why not have the soles repaired, new buttons sewed on, and the soles newly dyed and polished? The shoes will seem new, and will really be new to that child. Besides the psychological effect upon the child, the shoes wear longer and a real saving is affected.

When dish towels are too worn to be used as towels, cut out the part most worn, lay the two least worn parts together, turn in cut edges, and stitch all around the edge with the machine, then across from corner to corner, making a double cross. This makes an excellent dish cloth, and wears a surprisingly long time.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Lewis of route one Knox City are the proud parents of a new baby girl. She came last week.

A Staunch Ship In All Weathers

Size, age position or goal—all may differ—among ships as among men—but one qualification must exist—ships must be seaworthy men must be life-worth. Nearly all life's problems concern money—or the lack of it. A proper understanding of money and an appreciation of the true meaning of saving makes for superior life-worthiness. Money—currency—represents the confidence of all people in business conditions. The more business profitably done—the easier money conditions. Savings are the real surplus resulting from the normal business of living. Hoarding is forced surplus—scrimping. The chain's weakest link is confidence—but it may easily become the strongest. The severity of the storm and the ability to weather it are personal problems. Starad Bank merits your confidence urges your cooperation, wants to help you become life-worthy.

TREE PLANTING REGISTERED

The sixth and seventh grades of the Knox City school, in honor of George Washington, set out two trees, Paradise, on the school ground Monday. In conjunction with the planting, an out-of-door program was given. It included readings, songs and a talk by a member of the Parent-Teacher Association, Mrs. T. S. Edwards.

These two grades have registered their trees with the Tree Planting Association in Washington and will receive certificates in a near date.

Beautification Project

It is also interesting to know of the work which these two grades with the four grades of high school and the Study club are doing as a means of beautifying the grounds at the school building.

The six grades mentioned are making a flower bed in the shape of a star on one side of the grassy plot in front of the new building and the Study Club is making a similar bed on the other side. Their work promises much added beauty to the school ground.

Too, this week the Study Club and the Parent-Teacher Association bought and put out several shrubs on the ground. They are easily detected in passing the building and every one is invited to drive by and enjoy the loveliness of these shrubs.

The Way of Life

MORALITY

In Mary Roberts Rhinehart's autobiography, My Story, occurs this reference to petticoats:

"They had to be made, two or three very full and generally a short flannel one to the knees.

"Not long ago a young girl of my acquaintance was going through an old trunk of her mother's and ran across a brief bit of embroidered flannel.

"What on earth is this? she demanded.

"That? That was my flannel petticoat for my wedding.

"Whereupon the girl burst into shrieks of delighted laughter. I smile when I hear the story," says Mrs. Rhinehart. "I too have somewhere just such a garment. I scalloped and embroidered it myself for my wedding, and I shall have felt a shameless woman without it."

Julia Ward Howe, when a little girl, grew weary from a long ride in the family coach, and allowed her knees to drop apart childwise. Instantly her father reproved her.

"My daughter, if you cannot sit like a lady we will stop at the next tailors and have you measured for a pair of pantaloons."

The characteristics which distinguish a "lady" and comprise her moral code have differed widely in different generations.

I remember the first girl I ever saw who had cut off her hair. She worked in my office. The president of the company called me on the carpet and wanted me to fire the young lady, which I declined to do. To his way of thinking, bobbed hair was a sure sign of an abandoned woman.

I recall the first lady whom I ever saw lighting a cigarette. All of us who witnessed the performance were sure that she was no better than she ought to be. Only recently I ran across an old copy of the Book of Rules issued by a coeducational college a quarter of a century ago. It consisted of thirty pages of "Thou shalt nots" and, having prohibited almost everything, it wound up with this blanket injunction:

"In addition to the foregoing rules, students are expected to refrain from card playing, dancing and theatre-attendance, and to observe the other common rules of morality.

The Old Testament contains many precepts, but in the book of Micah there is one verse, which is a summary of them all. It reads:

"He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with God?"

This is the basis of all morality. This is fundamental and unchanging.

But whether hair or petticoats are long or short is nothing to worry about.

We will have plenty of chicks Tuesday of next week. Come in to see us.

What A 4-H Club Girl Did

By Caleb Johnson

I think the most interesting example I have heard of the value of 4-H Club work to girls is in the history of Ruthe Nance of Hammond, Georgia, who was one of the winners of a $500 Agricultural College scholarship at the 4-H Congress in Chicago last December.

What this girl had got out of her club work, it seems to me, is what she has put into it. That is all that anybody gets out of any phase of life. And what Ruthe Nance put into her Club work is told in the scrap book which was submitted and which told the story that won her the prize.

This scrap book of hers would be as interesting to most farm people as any story they could read. The book is about two inches thick and the pages are the size of a large magazine. The covers are heavy peach-colored paste board and bound in green cloth. There is a futuristic design on the cover with the symbol 4-H. Green tape ties are set in the three open sides of the book to keep the contents intact when not in use.

Then we open it. First comes the form blank which Ruthe was required to fill out, and which gives in outline the most important facts in her club career. It shows she began her club work when 11 years old with an unusually large program—gardening, food preservation, cooking and nutrition, and clothing. The next year she repeated, while the third year she added home improvement. She continued this the next year and added one more—health—making six projects. She was putting a lot into her club work, but she got out a lot, her record shows.

Not satisfied with this program, she added orcharding and recreation in 1929. And in 1930 she took on leadership, continuing all the projects of the year before.

Listen to this for 1931. All of the projects of the previous year were continued and these were the results: One-half acre garden produced 2979 pounds of vegetables; one-half acre orchard produced 4765 pounds of fruit; in food preservation she put up 150 jars of vegetables and 188 of fruits; in clothing made 82 articles; carried out schedule in home improvement my managing her parent's household for three weeks; improving the kitchen, living room, porch and lawn; cooked 832 dishes; nept health chart for six months; was captain of the country girls at the state camp as one feature of her leadership project. And only one year's project, remember.

All of these projects Ruthe carried on with high intelligence and energy, and as would be expected many responsibilities were placed on her shoulders and many honors came her way. She filled every office of the Hammond Girls 4-H Club of 22 members, to which she belonged. It would be a long story to tell all of the rewards earned by this young lady which included six trips to the county and state camps, and one trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. One of her greatest winnings was first prize in the contest at that exposition for a complete girl's outfit. With all of her club projects she still found time to take an active part in school, church and community activities. The report on her record is signed by Miss Lucy Wood, county extension agent and Miss Larline Collier, state leader of girls.

In neat large lettering Miss Nance sets down the 14 titles of her club experience on an opening page of her scrap book headed, "Contents." Then comes a page labelled, "In Appreciation" in a hand decorated border with a picture of Miss Collier and appropriate sentiments in Ruthe's handwriting. On the next page are pictures of Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the State College; James P. Campbell, director of extension and Miss Mary E. Crowell, assistant director.

Then comes a chapter on "History and Achievements of My Club" in hand lettering and an ink sketch of a girl at work. One of the two kodak pictures on the page is of Ruthe's club in 1929 with the banner: It won. It was hard to get much done the first year or two after the club was started, but the leadership of Miss Wood and a wellorganized program of work and play gradually brought the club up to a standard. This page shows kodak pictures of the money raising stunts of the club at the county fair which included pony rides and a country store. There is a clear picture of the home demonstration club of women started through the work of the 4-H club and one of a baby show. Another page shows the banner won by the club at the county camp in 1931, the neat brick club house and a prize flower exhibit. Running around the pictures is the story of the club's growth in Ruthe's hand writing.

Then comes a chapter on Leadership, done in the same way as the one before. In this the author club girl lists a page of activities, among them cashier in a cafeteria in the high school, and program chairman of the home economics club. A page of clippings and three newspaper illustrations of leadership stunts follow. Then a page photo of the pageant, "Ten virgins" given by Ruthe's county club group at the state camp in 1930, and a page photo of the characters in the play put on by her county group the same year. This play was entitled "The Arrival of Club Work."

"Gardening" titles the next chapter with a hand sketch of garden products. In the six pages devoted to this are 17 kodak pictures of the club girl's garden showing her at work preparing and seeding it and gathering and preparing vegetables for canning. One picture shows a group of girls studying plant diseases. Ruthe employed modern garden tools and a hot bed. A table shows the lineal feet given over to the 19 different vegetables raised.

Two pages are given over to "Orcharding" and treated in the same way as the garden chapter. The club girl's planting included 2000 strawberry plants. One picture shows her inspecting her orchard for blight and another waist deep in a luxuriant cover crop of winter peas. In several blossom pictures she appears but her own attractiveness overshadows even the lovely blossoms.

Canning and food preservation occupy two pages, also interestingly illustrated and written up. Cookery takes a page with a picture of a steam pressure demonstration. Clothing is a big chapter with three full page photos of Ruthe showing her first prize winning outfit. A newspaper illustration shows her demonstrating the utility of cotton. There is a page on health with a swimming suit picture among others. Home improvements occupies three illustrated pages, one picture showing how the girls learned to become "charming" hostesses. Finally comes chapters on live stock, demonstration, recreation, and a financial and prize record. A 3-column newspaper picture shows the five Georgia 4-H girls who won trips to Chicago in 1930 waving goodbye from the observation platform of the Dixie Flyer. Concluding the scrapbook are the original records kept by Miss Nance on her projects.

Miss Nance is one of three sisters each of whom has made a fine record in club work. One of them won a scholarship in a contest at the Southeastern fair.

That's the story and that's the answer as to what a girl may get out of club work.

QUIT "YER CRABBIN"

There ain't no use crabbin', friend
When things don't come your way;
It does no good to gloom around
And grumble night and day.
The thing to do is curb your grief,
Cut out your little whine;
And when they ask you how you are,
Jest say, "I'm feelin' fine."
There ain't no man alive but what is Booked to get his slap;
There ain't no man what walks but what
From trouble gets his rap.
Go mingle with the bunch, old boy,
Work hard and don't repine;
And when they ask you how
you are,
Jest say, "I'm feelin, fine."

LIAR

"Folks," said the Reverend George, "the sub of my sermon today is "Liars". How many in the congregation have read the 69th, chapter of Matthew?"
Nearly every hand in the congregation was raised immediately.
"That's right," said his reverence. You are just the folks that I want to preach to. There is no 69th, chapter of Matthew."

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Reid returned to Knox City the first of the week. O. D. moved his barber shop here.

Mrs. H. M. Wireman and son Wayne of Leaday, and Miss Oberio Hamlen of Coleman, returned to their homes Saturday morning. Mrs. Wireman is a sister of Mrs. C. B. Teague and had visited in the Teague home since Thursday, last.

The Church of Christ of Knox City reports that a large crowd was in attendance for the services Sunday and that it was a great day for the members thereof. We are glad to receive and give to you reports like this.

Mrs. L. L. Davis entertained the afternoon Bridge club on Tuesday last week. It being the season for Bluebonnets, hand tinted blue bonnets made unusually appropriate score pads and talleys. Following the games refreshments of sandwiches, salad, deviled eggs, stuffed dates and coffee were served.

Ms. S. H. Bohannan is cultivating 225 acres of land of the League Estate this year. She reports that by next week this land will all be bedded and ready for planting, which fact she is pleased with. When school closes Mrs. Bohannan will probably move to the farm she is working where she can better oversee the work.
