Boll Weevil Control Program Underway

The Knox County Boll Weevil Association board of directors held a meeting on August 15, and the 1974 crop outlook for boll weevil situation was discussed. All board members reported last fall's diapause program was a success and all were in favor of continuing the fight against the number one cotton pest.

According to association president Vernal Zeissel, the producer cost of $3.00 per acre was set by the board, with matching funds to be provided through the Texas State Department of Agriculture. Three applications will be applied to the cotton.

It is urgent producers sign up before Sept. 1, so go by the Knox County Boll Weevil Association office in the S.C.S. Building at Knox City and sign up your acreage now. Controlling the diapausing boll weevil this fall is taking a position for improving cotton production in 1975 and future years.

Slow-Pitch Tourney To Begin Tonight

Dr. Ted C. Alexander informed the News office that a Slow-Pitch softball tournament will be held beginning Thursday (tonight) and continuing through Saturday. The tournament will begin at 7:00 o'clock tonight with Friday's and Saturday's games beginning at 8:00 each night. The tourney will be played at the Little League Field.

Trophies will be awarded to first and second place winners. The Concession Stand will be open and all proceeds will go to the Knox City Little League Association.

Six teams have entered the tournament including three from Seymour - Gulf Oil, Seymour Merchants, and Swap Shop; and one team each from Rochester, Munday, and Knox City.

Guest Speaker To Be At First Methodist

The Rev. Aubrey Headstream will be the speaker at the morning worship service at First United Methodist Church Sunday morning.

Rev. Headstream is a Methodist minister under special appointment as the head of the Haskell-Knox Mental Health and Retardation Center. He was formerly pastor of the United Methodist Churches in Rochester and Vera.

Z.I. Smith, church lay leader, will lead the congregation in the morning service and introduce the speaker.

New Telephone Rates Effective August 28

New telephone rates for Knox City and O'Brien customers were approved August 12, 1974, by the city council and will become effective with the August 28th telephone bills.

G.F. Kehoe, district manager, said the new rates are necessary because of steadily increasing operating expenses and taxes along with major investments in new facilities. He also pointed out that until now the company has been able to absorb most of the inflationary cost of doing business for the past few years by technological improvements and greater operating efficiencies.

"In order to expand and improve telephone service, we must earn a fair and adequate return on the capital already invested in order to attract new investors," he said. "Good earnings and good service are inseparable. No business can succeed in meeting the expanding needs of its customers without good earnings to finance its ability to meet those expanded needs."

The new rates, without tax, for Knox City and O'Brien are Business: Individual Line Service, monthly rate, $15.60; two party line service, monthly rate, $12.95.

Residence: individual line service, monthly rate, $7.15; two party line service, monthly rate, $6.15.

Semi-Public Service, monthly rate, $15.60. Key lines, monthly rate $19.50. PABX trunks, monthly rate $27.30.

In addition to the rates approved by the council, rural telephone rates will also be increased to Business: Rural eighty party line, monthly rate $13.25, plus zone charge; Rural four party line, monthly rate $16.60 plus zone charge. Residence: Rural eight party line, monthly rate $6.10, plus zone charge; rural four party line, monthly rate, $7.15, plus zone charge.

These rates are not controlled by the city council.

"It is our sincere desire to continue to provide Knox City and O'Brien with the most modern and dependable telephone service available," Kehoe stated, "and with an adequate return on the Company's investment, this goal is attainable."

Kehoe said that the new rates meet all of the criteria set by the Price Commission. The commission requires utility increases to be cost justified and free from future inflationary expectations; the minimum required to assure continued, adequate and safe service; and the minimum rate of return needed to attract capital at reasonable costs and not impair the credit of the utility.

Good Turnout At Barbecue

According to Bill Magee, Greyhound Booster Club president, the barbecue dinner held in the Knox City Park last Friday night was very successful with a good turnout.

The proceeds from the barbecue will be used to purchase and process film and for the general athletic fund.

A note of thanks from the Greyhound Booster Club will be noted in this week's News.

Ministers Alliance To Have Meeting

The Ministerial Alliance will meet Monday, August 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the First Christian Church.

They will discuss the after-gate fellowships and the Community Thanksgiving service.

All ministers in Knox City are urged to attend, stated a spokesman.

CHOSEN TO REPRESENT KNOX COUNTY in the Concerted Services meeting in Haskell last Thursday night were, from left, Knox County Judge Sam E. Clonts, J.B. Tabor, and Douglas Myers of Munday. These men will join representatives from Jones, Haskell, and Stonewall Counties in forming the screening committee for the joint endeavor.

In Developing Economy

Four Co. Area To Merge Efforts

Approximately 100 persons were in Haskell Thursday night of last week representing the four counties of Jones, Haskell, Stonewall, and Knox in the interest of developing economic aspects in the area.

The meeting, held in the Community Center of the Bank Building, was moderated by Haskell County Judge B.O. Roberson, who was assisted by R.C. Couch.

The four-county area earlier had been selected by Texas Concerted Services in Training and Education Committee (CSTE) for a project.

CSTE is an experimental rural program, a cooperative federal, state, and local venture, designed to bring together services of federal and state agencies for improvement in education, employment, health, housing, and economic resources.

Functioning of a CSTE project was explained to the group by Ray Prewett of the Community Services Division of Texas Department of Community Affairs in Austin. Prewett said that 17 counties in the United States maintain CSTE projects and only one of them is in Texas, in Red River County, which was started in 1971. However, he said, four other counties in the state, Falls, Willacy, Shelby, and Karnes, are in the process of hiring a coordinator.

Prewett explained that one of the prime reasons in trying to promote multi-county opportunities as well as career education was the fact that interviews with high school students revealed that 55% of the students prefer to remain in their home towns if jobs with equal opportunities were available.

CSTE is interested in establishing five projects in addition to Red River County.

The West Texas four-county project is being coordinated by Prewett. See EFFORTS Pg. 4

Local Man Named to Grievance Committee

AUSTIN -- State Bar of Texas President Lloyd Lockridge announced today the appointment of seven lawyers as members of the State Bar's grievance committee for an 11-county Northwest Texas area.

The appointees are David K. Brinkerhoff, Quanah; Lonny D. Morrison, Wichita Falls; Robert C. Russell, Archer City; Joe Reeder Jr., Knox City; Edward McIntosh, Wichita Falls; Wallace N. Masters, Wichita Falls; and Robert F. Mitchell, Henrietta.

The members will be responsible for receiving and investigating any reports of violations of the State Bar's Code of Responsibility which outlines a lawyer's ethical rules in eight separate canons.

"There is no more important function of the State Bar than the vigorous enforcement of our canons of ethics," Lockridge said. "Many of the complaints the committee will receive will be simply the result of a misunderstanding between a client and his lawyer. In more serious cases, the grievance committee has the authority to seek a reprimand, law license suspension or disbarment."

Written complaints may be sent to the committee members' law offices or to the State Bar, Austin, Texas 78711. Once a complaint is filed with the grievance committee, a notice to appear is sent to the lawyer and the complaining client. Each person testifies under oath before the committee in a closed session. Complainants are allowed to bring witnesses and may be represented by a lawyer.

O'Brien Nitrate Level Increases

Mayor A.A. Cox of O'Brien reported that O'Brien city officials have been advised of the increase in the nitrate level in the city's water samples.

Although this increased nitrate content does not prohibit the usage of the water supplies for most purposes, it should not be used for drinking or feeding very young children or expectant mothers. Care should also be used in drinking such water by mothers nursing infants, he said.

Home State Bank Sets Open House

The Home State Bank in Rochester will hold open house Saturday, August 24, from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m., according to Don Johnson, bank president.

The bank has recently been remodeled. Officers and directors include Johnson, president; T.J. Michaels, vice-president and cashier; E. Hob Smith, Frank Head, and R.A. Shaver Jr.

Streams In Desert Places
by Ozelle Stephens

"Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time; casting all your care upon him: for he careth for you. 1 Peter 5: 6-7.

Knowing that Christians have many cares, Peter tells us to turn all our cares over to God. Just think what it would mean to you to turn all your cares which distract your mind, wound your soul, and pierce your heart over to your wise and gracious God. He cares for you. He is willing to take your cares (all of them) upon Himself. Don't be too proud to turn to Him with all your heart for He can easily bring you down; but if you are humble, He will exalt you. You don't have to labor under the burden of personal cares, family cares, cares for the future, and cares for others. God has asked you to turn them all over to Him, for He careth for you. Just trust Him and His joy will Stream into your being desolving all your cares.

100 years of wheat
Santa Fe all the way

Back in the 1870's when the Mennonites came to America--Santa Fe is a representative of the railroad travel those early days to influence homeseekers the pioneer rail routes being built westward.

The Mennonites were seeking free country and liked what they learned about Santa Fe helped with their transportation. A special ship for the Atlantic crossing. Santa Fe built special housing facilities in areas of Kansas and sold land, much below to the new homeseekers.

Santa Fe moved supplies for the homeseekers at reduced prices, sometimes for free.

Developing this new land back in the 1870's without hardships for the early Mennonites, Santa Fe's pioneer rail builders. At that time, Santa Fe's efforts would be rewarded by sacks of wheat seed which thrived in Kansas to help make mid-America the breadbasket of the world.

100 years of moving wheat
Wheat is usually moved in a short period of harvest deadlines, export schedules and requirements. These conditions make great demands on the railroads and it takes Santa Fe's modern fleet to date car fleet and skilful employees to get the job done year after year.

During the past century many things have changed, but Santa Fe has moved wheat efficiently. Two examples stand out in Santa Fe's history:

- (1) The giant 100-ton covered hopper introduced for moving wheat in 1953. Santa Fe has 12,000 of these cars in the largest fleet in the rail industry. Additional cars are now on order. Although 13,000 hoppers have a capacity equal to approximately 21,000 conventional boxcars, they have a life expectancy of approximately twenty months.
- (2) One of Santa Fe's greatest achievements in handling grain was completed earlier than you think. In 1922 when we moved a record-breaking bushels, a total of 350,000 carloads in twenty months.

Those few sacks of seed of Turkey Red wheat carried to America by early Mennonite farmers started one of the greatest agricultural revolutions in the nation. It's a history the Santa Fe has had a part of the past 100 years--all the way!

B IT'S NOT JUST A SLIP OF PAPER

Every prescription is different. Ingredients, dose, directions for use, storage are just a few of the things that may vary. However, one fact will be the same about every prescription that comes into this pharmacy. That is, it will be handled by the pharmacist as a vitally important document.

We realize that on that slip of paper a doctor is giving instructions that will help his patient to overcome an illness. Since we have been entrusted with it we feel it should get very special handling. After the medicine has been dispensed the written prescription is carefully recorded and filed away for safe-keeping and future reference.

Farabee Attends B-K Annual Meeting

Ray Farabee, Democratic nominee for the Texas Senate, attended the annual meeting of the B-K Electric Cooperative, held Friday in Seymour.

Farabee visited with T.J. Holbert, B-K Manager, and other officials and members of the Cooperative.

After hearing the annual meeting reports, Farabee said, "I think the B-K Electric Cooperative is to be commended for the way they have dealt with the difficult problems of energy shortage and inflation. Although costs incurred by B-K have risen 23%, careful management has made it possible to hold increases in cost to retail outlets to 16%."

Farabee joined those that are calling for action and federal legislation that will force other states to take initiative in developing their existing resources.

"Too many states rely on energy producing states like Texas. Too many have refused to develop their own natural resources. Texas should not be called upon to further deplete its resources for use in other states until these states show good faith by developing their own resources," observed the Wichita Falls businessman and attorney.

Rural Electric Cooperatives in the 29 county area that makes up the 30th Senatorial district are strong and effective, said Farabee. "Although problems face us, West Texas has not felt the runaway inflation and acute shortages that have hit consumers of energy in other sections of Texas."

In late July Farabee delivered the keynote address on 'Rural Development' to members of the Midwest Electric Cooperative, Inc. at their annual meeting in Snyder. He has also attended annual meetings of the hall County Electric Cooperative, Inc., the Lighthouse Electric Cooperative, Inc., and the Stamford Electric Cooperative, Inc.

Throughout his campaign for the senate post being vacated by Jack Hightower, Farabee has stressed the need for rural development. He views sound management and development of energy and water resources as vital to the stability and orderly growth of the economy of the 30th district.

Deadline Set For Brazos Dam Queries

The deadline for interested parties to have a say about three dams that may be completed about 1990 in the watershed of the Salt Fork of the Brazos River is August 30.

The three dams -- all of which are to be wholly or partly in Stonewall County-- are designed to block the flow of heavy concentrations of salt into the main channel of the Brazos. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers proposed the salt-impounding dams after a study of natural salt pollution in the watershed.

Among the interested parties are officials of the Brazos River Authority of which Bruce Campbell Jr. of Knox City is one of 21 members.

The U.S. Army Engineer Division office in Dallas and the district office in Fort Worth completed a report on the cause and the solution to salt pollution on the Salt Fork of the Brazos.

The Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, based in Virginia, is reviewing the report, has recommended that 25 per cent of the cost of construction of the proposed dams, and all of the operation and maintenance costs be borne by non-federal sources. Since the construction plan will cost $50,285,000, that means units of government within Texas would be asked to spend an initial $12,321,250 and $216,000 a year in perpetuity for the project.

The Brazos River Authority, charged with overall supervision of water use throughout the river's 840 mile basin, has no plans to finance the non-federal share of the cost, said Col. Walter Wells, executive director.

"Really, there is no equitable and just way of making the beneficiaries pay," said Wells. "The benefits are so diffuse and widespread...very similar to flood control (for which the federal government bears the whole cost).

"It is more unfair to stick some of the beneficiaries with all costs," said Wells.

The BRA executive said selling the purer water gained from the project to water supply corporations would not pay for the project.

County officials in the area where the dams are to be built are lukewarm, at best, toward the plan to build the dams and have no intention of financing any part of it, since the benefits will go to residents downstream.

Kent County Judge Norman Hahn has tried without success, he said, to get the Corps of Engineers to tie the salt creek dams proposal in with a plan for freshwater dams to help supply residents of the area.

Hahn proposed to "cut the size of the saltwater impoundment by holding all fresh water they could away from it."

The response of the Corps of Engineers is that they haven't been authorized to plan freshwater dams in the area.

The desalination plan would work like this:

Three dams, one on Croton Creek on the Kent-Stonewall line, one on Salt Croton Creek on the Stonewall-King line, and the third on North Croton Creek, also on the Stonewall-King line, would be completed about 1990.

The three dams would block the accumulation of more than 50 percent of the salt that finds its way into the Salt Fork of the Brazos and the Brazos proper, reducing the saline content of the river the rest of the way downstream to the Gulf of Mexico.

A pipeline would carry water from the smaller two salt impoundments, Croton Creek and Salt Croton Creek, to the third dam on North Croton Creek, where natural evaporation would make the lake ever more salty.

North Croton Creek Lake is planned at 12,000 acres and 480,000 acre feet. It would eventually be too salty for any use besides salt impoundment.

Water downstream from the dams, in contrast, would gradually improve in purity. Possum Kingdom Reservoir, near Breckenridge and Mineral Wells, now too salty for municipal water supplies, would eventually become pure enough to meet U.S. Public Health Service Standards at least 50 per cent of the time.

These standards specify that no more than 500 parts per million total dissolved solids and no more than 250 parts per million chlorides for drinking water.

Possum Kingdom has been averaging 1,490 parts per million of dissolved solids. Even at Richmond, near the mouth of the Brazos, the stream presently approaches Public Health Service maximum with 390 parts per million.

From the confluence of the North Croton Creek and the Salt Fork of the Brazos to Possum Kingdom, water would still be limited to such use as irrigation and livestock water, government engineers say.

Although the West Central Texas Municipal Water District has endorsed the plan, there are still a few hurdles ahead.

The Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors will review the salt pollution control study prepared by the U.S. Army Engineer Division and district offices in Dallas and Fort Worth. The board also will consider suggestions made by the BRA and by local officials in the area of the proposed dams.

The board's proposal then would go to the Office of the Chief of Army Engineers, then to the Secretary of the Army.

The Secretary of the Army would pass the plan along to the Office of Management and Budget which in turn would submit the plan to Congress.

Congress would, in its 1976 session, include the proposed dams in its biennial Water Resources Development Act.

Authorization and funding bills would have to pass the Congress for actual specifications for the dam to be drawn up and the dirt to start flying.

At the earliest, Fort Worth district Army civil engineer Mike Mocek said, the timetable would mean a late 1976 start on construction and a 1990 completion.

One Accident Investigated During July

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated one accident on rural highways in Knox County during the month of July, 1974, according to Sergeant J.W. Garner, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

This crash resulted in no one killed or injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first seven months of 1974 shows a total of 25 accidents resulting in no one killed and six persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety Region for July, 1974, shows a total of 485 accidents resulting in 18 persons killed and 280 persons injured as compared to June, 1973, with 658 accidents resulting in 21 persons killed and 366 persons injured. This was 173 less accidents, three less killed, and 86 less injured in 1974 at the same period of time.

The 18 traffic deaths for the month of July, 1974, occurred in the following counties: four in Deaf Smith; two each in Garza and Haskell; and one each in Oldham, Wilbarger, King, Palo Pinto, Dallam, Montague, Parker, Terry, Wise and Roberts.

Crowell, was honored with a gift tea Saturday, August 10, in the home of Mrs. Edgar Jones of Truscott.

Appointments of crystal and silver completed the setting.

Over fifty guests called during the afternoon. The honoree is a member of a pioneer Truscott and Gilliland family, and the prospective bride groom is a descendant of Foard County pioneers.

TO BUY OR RENT MORE FARMLAND

Renting or leasing additional acres may be the answer to expanding farm production instead of buying more land, says an economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Texas farm land prices increased about 9.5 per cent a year from 1966 to 1972, so many farmers as well as other investors have been attracted to land as a hedge against inflation. This competition for land has bid up prices well above the land's ability to show agricultural profit. Purchasing additional farm land may be desirable only if a farmer is in a strong capital situation with an ample cash flow.

Sewing With Fusibles

Fusible sewing products have a lot to offer--for those who sew and those who don't.

Success with fusibles depends on using the right product on the right fabric--handling both correctly.

A fusible melts when heated, fastening two layers of fabric together.

To do this, simply place the fusible between two pieces of fabric, then press as directed--using steam and a damp press cloth if necessary.

However, not all fabrics fuse well. For example, a slick or sheer fabric may not hold a "fuse job."

Or, iron temperatures and time required for fusing can damage a fabric.

For best results, practice with a fabric scrap and fusing material first--to prevent problems with the actual garment.

Also read the product label thoroughly before buying it. Labels often list fabrics unsuitable for their type of fusing.

Since all fusibles aren't alike, always follow directions carefully.

Also, take special care of these garments to keep them fused.

Area is a pilot project in that more than one county is involved in the effort, Prewett said. He said he thought this was a favorable circumstance for the area because of the smaller population and fewer resources of the counties involved.

In Thursday night's meeting, the group agreed to accept a $20,000 grant to finance a fulltime coordinator and then named a 13-member committee to hire the coordinator and oversee the operation.

C.O. Richards of Stamford, president of Brazos West Economic Development Corporation, a prime reason behind the selection of the four-county area for a CSTE project, made the motion calling for accepting the offer.

The motion outlined that the steering committee be composed of the four county judges of the area, president of Brazos West, and two citizens from each county represented.

County judges in the four counties are Roberson, Leon Thurman of Jones County, Warren Frazier of Stonewall County, and Sam E. Clonts of Knox County.

Named to the committee from Haskell County were Concerned School Funds

During his primary campaign, Farabee stressed education as the first responsibility of state government. As an attorney, he has represented several school districts and observed the need for common sense answers to problems of education. Seeking office for the first time, Farabee believes that education will be one of the most important considerations of the next legislative session.

During a recent trip to Austin, the nominee talked with Governor Dolph Briscoe and Lt. Governor Bill Hobby about the need to face the issue of educational funding and take some burden off the local taxpayer.

Farabee further stated that he planned to continue to work with administrators, teachers, and school board members in the communities in the 30th district in the months ahead and see that their views were clearly represented in Austin.

Farabee has two boys who will return to public school this week.

IN TULIA
 Mrs. Ozelle Stephens returned home after spending several days with her daughter, Mrs. Wynelle Roberts at Tulia.

IN LEWISVILLE
 Mrs. Joyce Smith visited Mr. and Mrs. Larry Boatright and Kelly Christine in Lewisville recently.

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- Congressman Omar Burleson recently reported on the meeting held in Washington involving three West Texas Congressmen, several farmers from West Texas and officials of the Department of Agriculture. Because of the great amount of difficulty being experienced by those in disaster areas because of crop losses due to weather conditions, the specific problems were discussed in efforts to reach some better understanding. Congressman Burleson, Congressman George Mahon, and Congressman Bob Poage, Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, were on hand to discuss the difficulties farmers are having with the disaster program which has mainly been due to the fact that this is the first year the program has been used under the new Farm Bill.

Also, a procedure was approved to allow farmers to have their crops reappraised. The Department has waived a requirement which disallowed reappraisal.

Congressman Burleson indicated it was of real benefit to have those farmers from West Texas make the effort to come to Washington to discuss firsthand the specific problems being encountered in the program and commended them. Those attending the meeting were C.A. Daugherty of Scurry County, Donnell Echols of Dawson County, and Donavon Phipps of Dawson County.

One direct result of this exchange of ideas has been the computation where a substitution of crop is involved.

Agriculture officials, consisting of Under Secretary J. Phil Campbell, ASCS Assistant Deputy Administrator Programs Victor Senechal, ASCS Associate Director Glenn Weir, and George Melvin with ASCS Programs, also advised that there would be a change made in the sign-up or certification date from July 15 to September 1 to sign up for cotton, as to how much cotton had been planted. With regard to grains, farmers can now wait to certify until they come in for a payment. In other words, when they apply for disaster payment, that is equivalent to certification.

Heatly Explains Vote Against Constitution

In a letter received by the News this week from Rep. W.S. (Bill) Heatly, the veteran legislator from Paducah submitted a statement regarding his vote against the new constitution. Mr. Heatly remarked that a number of delegates have made statements as to why they voted for it, and that he wanted to state why he joined five other of his West Texas colleagues in voting against it.

His statement follows:

"I voted against the new constitution because:

(1) My impression of a constitution is that it is a document that sets up a government and protects the people that it governs. The current constitution does this; the one offered to us to vote on after 6:00 p.m. Tuesday, July 30, set up a government that gave all of the authority and power to the legislative, judicial, and executive branches and left the people at the mercy of their government.

(2) As their delegate I could not, in good faith, recommend it to the people of the 101st Legislative District or to any Texan as a fair and open contract between them and their government and,

(3) I could not sanction continued waste of the taxpayers' money which I had opposed from the beginning.

"Any unbiased evaluation of the proposed document will show it to be an attempt to extend to the legislature unwarrantable jurisdiction over the people. The proposed constitution, in my opinion, failed because the convention leadership became so entangled in attempting a compromise between labor and management that individual rights of the people's constitutional safeguards were relegated to a secondary and oft-times forgotten purpose.

Book On SS Not Needed

Some books sold as social security information are useful, but there are others that are inaccurate, misleading, overpriced, and deceptively advertised, according to Kenneth R. King, social security manager in Vernon.

"The Social Security Administration doesn't discourage the sale of commercial publications," King said. "At the same time, we don't endorse any non-government publication. People can get free, accurate, up-to-date publications and other information about social security by contacting any social security office."

Social security information is organized and illustrated in a different way in some commercial books, according to King. "Some of them are well done," he said. "But the information in them isn't 'secret' or 'inside'. If advertising suggests it is, the advertising is false."

Some advertising hints that a publisher has an official connection with the Social Security Administration and has access to social security records, according to King. "This is never true," he said. "No advertiser has access to other people's social security records. These records are confidential under the law."

"Dramatic" claims for books can be misleading, King said. "For example: an advertisement says readers will learn 'how to collect $300 a month from social security at age 30 while you are working full time.' The book tells you what any social security office will tell you without charge: if a young father and mother are both working under social security and one dies, their children may get monthly social security payments."

People can call, write, or visit any social security office for information about the retirement, disability, survivors, Medicare, and supplemental security income programs, King said. The Vernon social security office is at 1701 Cumberland Street in Vernon. The phone number is 817-552-9346.

emerges, the pecans appear normal. When full grown, the pecan weevil larva, which is a legless creamy white grub with a reddish brown head, cuts a hole 1/8 inch in diameter in the shell of the pecan. Through this hole the 3/8 inch long larva emerges and there burrows four to twelve inches into the soil, leaving the pecan almost empty.

Control measures must be applied to destroy adult female pecan weevils before eggs are laid because the grub hatches from the egg on the inside of the pecan and cannot be controlled with an insecticide. Pecan trees should be inspected for pecan weevils to determine if control measures are needed. This can be done by spreading a canvas beneath the branches of a pecan tree and jarring the lower branches. When an average of two pecan weevils per tree are knocked onto the canvas when the branches are jarred, control measures should be applied. Two or three applications of carbaryl (Sevin) made at 10 to 14 day intervals will give effective control of the adult pecan weevils. The directions given on the label should be followed carefully when applying an insecticide.

Further information on the pecan weevil and its control is available at your County Extension Agent's office.
