Letter To The Editor

Editor's Note. The following article was written to and published by the Abilene Reporter News. As it was written by a Knox City resident and called to our attention, we thought local residents might enjoy reading it.

Articles published lately pertaining to increase of salt in lakes have failed to consider one fundamental. Lake Phantom, Lake Abilene by the State Park, Ballinger Lake, and Hubbard Creek have hills or elevated on two sides of them.

The bottoms and side walls of the lakes penetrated into layers of white, bluish, and greenish layers, and sometimes several of them. These all have high salt content. The salts are not all chlorides. The whites usually contain much magnesium sulfate, gypsum or epsom salts - which we used to take as purgative, calcium nitrate, and calcium chloride. The green contains sulfate, and the blue copper nitrate.

The salts are effluent (take in water), or effervescent (throw out water). The calcium carbonate (much like lime) tends to throw out water, but some of it remains in solution - and is beneficial for health. The magnesium sulfate takes in water, or dissolves, the salt in there but it is beneficial as a purgative. The copper nitrate and the copper sulfate are very distasteful and do no good - and neither do they do much harm.

In the last two years the lakes have filled. The lake water has permeated out through these layers for one half to two or three miles, depending on the slope. They have reported water wells drilled some two miles from Hubbard that would likely furnish irrigation water, where previously there was no water to be had where they drilled.

I think that the high point of salt content has been reached, unless the lakes overflow again - which could cause a slight increase for a time. Out from Ballinger, water is plentiful in wells but some have been found to kill even livestock. The lake has likely permeated a layer of salt that would act as a poison. Our western stories of early days of the cattle drives reported many water holes that left livestock and people dead. Out north of Trent is one of these areas, where some of the wells have become so polluted that livestock could not live on the water, according to articles in your paper.

In Holy Writ something like this related, "If the earth does not give up its salt, then how shall it be salted." You have a problem - it is not so bad and may be quite beneficial to health, at least one does not have to buy so much salt.

The oil wells are not to be blamed for the very high percent of the salt. The salt water from oil wells can be, and is usually handled rather satisfactorily by modern completion methods.

ANIMAL DRUG CERTIFICATION PROGRAM

A nationwide animal drug certification program sponsored by the agricultural industries has been announced by the National Animal Certification Committee headed by C. W. McMillan of the American National Cattlemen's Association.

Purpose of the program is to assure consumers that the meat, milk and eggs which they purchase will continue to be wholesome and free of unauthorized residues.

The program calls on livestock producers to certify in writing, when marketing their animals, that they have observed the withdrawal periods and other label directions for animal drugs required by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the U. S. Food and Drug Administration.

In addition to the assurance given consumers, livestock and poultry producers are also expected to benefit from the program. It is designed to assure that animal drugs are properly used. These valuable meat production tools, which represent cost savings to the producers which are passed on to the consumer, may no longer be available to producers if they are not properly used.

In addition to the American Cattlemen's Association, other groups represented on the Committee are the Animal Health Institute, American Feed Manufacturers Association, American Meat Institute, National Broiler Council, National Independent Meat Packers Association, National Live-Stock Feeders Association, National Pork Producers Council, River Markets Group and Western States Meat Packers.

CATTLE ON FEED

Cattle placed on feed in the 23 major feeding states during the January-March period was up 12 per cent from a year ago, Dr. Ed Uvacek, Extension livestock marketing specialist, says the increase in Texas was 26 per cent and adds that the drought conditions have been responsible for much of the gain in Texas and other Southern Plains states.

HOG CHOLERA FIGHT INTENSIFIES

The opening of a State-Federal Eradication headquarters is the latest move to eliminate hog cholera in Texas. The office says W. W. Bailey, hog cholera information officer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will coordinate all program activities in the state. At the present time all or parts of 33 Texas counties are under Federal quarantine and the state's producers are also under a Texas Animal Health Commission order restricting the movement of swine within the state.

FLDA Announces Rate Reduction

Joe Harper, manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Haskell, announced today that the Federal Land Bank of Houston will reduce the interest billing rate on variable rate loans to 7 1/2 per cent. "This reduction will be effective on installments maturing on or after June 1, 1971 and affects more than $110 million in variable rate loans to over 3200 Texas farmers and ranchers," Harper stated.

The variable rate loan, which was introduced by the Houston bank in July 1969, lets the interest rate "float" over the variations in the money market. This is the second time since January 1 that the billing rate has been reduced and the third such reduction in the past year. "This action is in line with the bank's policy in providing farmers and ranchers credit at the lowest possible cost consistent with sound business practices," Harper stated.

The Federal Land Bank of Houston makes long term real estate loans on farm and ranch lands throughout Texas. The bank has over $540 million in volume of loans outstanding. The local association makes and services loans in Haskell, Jones, Baylor and Knox Counties. Members of the local board of directors are O. G. Lewis, E. H. Burnett, Ralph Howe, J. P. Jones, Weldon Walker and J. E. Nix.

How gas heating that heats in the winter can an air-conditioner that cools in the summer

You already have half a central air conditioning system. It's a simple matter to install cooling unit to your gas heating system. You can probably use the furnace blower and ductwork you already have. You'll save up to the installation costs of starting from scratch. Temperature control in your home is a year-round proposition, but an expensive one. We have special rates for gas air conditioning during the summer. And no matter what season, you pay less for gas than electricity. Another nice thing about gas central air conditioning is its easy breakdowns. Fewer repairs. Wake up your central gas cooling to better this summer.

Brazos Electric Power Co-op Doubles Growth In Eight Years

The Brazos Electric Power Cooperative, Inc. has doubled in growth in the past eight years, the president of the board reported in the 30th annual membership meeting here Wednesday morning, and said this growth demands additional funds to meet future growth.

And the statement was backed by the co-op's general manager who reported the cooperative, which consists of its Waco-based headquarters, its power generating and transmitting system and its 19 member cooperatives, has continued this growth pattern of doubling every seven to eight years since its organization.

Curtis F. Maynard of Navasota, president of the BEPC board, said the Brazos System is a glorious tribute to the pioneers of rural electrification in Texas.

"Today over a quarter million rural Texans are served by more than 34,000 miles of distribution line, 1,800 miles of transmission line, three stream generation electric power plants, two hydro-electric systems and interconnections with 12 municipal systems, two regional public electric power systems and five privately owned electric power systems," Maynard told the board, meeting in the BEPC headquarters at 2404 LaSalle.

Hollis Dalton, BEPC general manager, reported the growth pattern has been such that BEPC power loads have been doubling each seven to eight years and costs of producing the power this year will increase due to fuel and labor cost increases over percentage figures of years in the past.

As a result Maynard said, "Perhaps one of the most pressing problems stemming directly from such growth is the matter of continuing to get low cost loan funds with which to build facilities."

He said the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association shows a national need of $1.158 billion by the end of fiscal 1972. The present Rural Electrification Administration proposes to finance only $522 million of that need and the newly established foundation bank for rural electric cooperatives, the Cooperative Finance Corporation can loan only $50 million.

"But surely a government," Maynard said, "which can bail out Penn Central Railroad to the tune of $120 million, pay an added $400 million to General Dynamics for miscalculation on the cost of the F-111 program and provide Lockheed Aircraft with a $1.4 million solution of its arithmetic problem, can find a way to loan $586 million to the rural electric systems."

And both Maynard and Dalton stressed the word loan. Maynard said the REA loans the money to the cooperatives and holds mortgages on the co-op's property until the loans are paid. The low cost loans are available not only to cooperatives but also to any other power company willing to serve the less densely populated rural areas.

Maynard said the Brazos System is seeking loans of $52 million through the end of 1972 to meet its projected growth pattern and needs.

Following the board meeting the BEPC membership met with staff members and employees in a luncheon meeting at the Knights of Columbus Hall near Woodway. Service pins were awarded to 25 employees totaling 350 years of service to the Brazos System.

The board and staff also paid tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Truett W. Bailey of Cleburne. Bailey served as president of the BEPC board just prior to his retirement last year. He and Mrs. Bailey were presented with oil portraits of themselves.

President Maynard presided at the board meeting and General Manager Dalton at the luncheon meeting. Speaker for the luncheon meeting was J. R. Cobb, general manager of the Texas Electric Cooperatives of Austin.

During the board meeting officers were elected. The board re-elected Maynard as president; F. C. Luedtke of McGregor as vice-president and Tom Craddock of Seymour as secretary-treasurer.

Low Level Flying Routes Announced

The world-wide commitments of the 516th Tactical Airlift Wing (TAW), Dyess, AFB, require continuous low level flying training. The highest degree of proficiency must be maintained by the 516th TAW air-crews in all modes of aerial delivery. As a result, C-130 Hercules and C-7A Caribou aircraft are flown at low altitudes over the "Big Country" on a daily basis.

These low level flights may be scheduled between 8 a.m. and midnight, Monday thru Friday, and less frequently on weekends. Daylight missions are flown at an altitude of 500 feet above the ground while night low level activities are conducted at least 1,000 feet above any obstacle or terrain feature within three miles of the prescribed track of the aircraft. Airspeeds will vary from 115 to 290 miles per hour.

All flights are made along specific routes which are selected to provide maximum training and minimum disturbance of farms, ranches and communities. Towns, local airports, hospitals, hatcheries and stock pens are avoided when planning these routes and they will not be overflown under any normal circumstances. 516th officials would like to emphasize that, even though training must be conducted at low altitudes and high airspeeds in order to be realistic, all possible precautions are taken to prevent disruption of local agricultural and community activities.

The communities most affected by these training flights are: Abilene, Merkel, Rotan, Aspermont, Hamlin, Hermleigh, Stamford, Throckmorton, Haskell, Rule, Winters, Ballinger, Coleman, Talpa, Cisco, Colorado City, Eastland, Comanche, Carbon, Albany, Anson, Nolan, Cristoval, Paint Creek, Tuscola, Tye, Sulvester, Roby, Girard, Buffalo Gap, Baird, Lueders, Seymour, Benjamin, Knox City and Old Glory.

MRS. DON CARMICHAEL

Miss Ruth Elaine Bowman Is Wed To Don Wayne Carmichael

Mr. and Mrs. Don Wayne Carmichael are honeymooning at various points in Texas this week following their marriage here Saturday evening at 7:00 o'clock in the First Baptist Church where the Rev. Roger Butler performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the former Ruth Elaine Bowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bowman of Lamesa, Mrs. E. K. Bates of El Paso and Leonard Carmichael of Lubbock are parents of the groom.

An archway of greenery, with pink satin bows, and white doves, topped with white wedding bells provided the nuptial setting. Two nine branched candelabra containing a memory candle and white tapers stood back of the archway. Hurricane candles and salad greenery marked the bridal aisles.

Mrs. Jimmy Rogers, organist, provided traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Gwen Angle as she sang "Whither Thou Goest," "As the Years Go By," and "The Wedding Prayer."

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal, A-line gown of white floral brocade. Seed pearls adorned the bodice and outlined the oval neckline. Venice lace with white satin ribbon accented the Empire waist and skirt's front panel and also formed the bracelet cuffs of the long fitted sleeves. The chapel train was attached, and the bride's elbow length veil of English illusion fell from a headpiece of Alencon lace designed with petal points and outlined in seed pearls. Her cascade bouquet was of white Marguerite daisies and pink sweetheart roses.

Miss Suzanne Holley, cousin of the bride of Dallas, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Earl Bowman, sister-in-law of the bride of Denver City, Miss Barbara Bowman, cousin of the bride of Lamesa, and sisters of the groom, Miss Beverly Elliott and Miss Barbara Elliott, both of El Paso. Their formal gowns were each in a different spring color, pink, lilac, turquoise, lime, and yellow. The high-waisted gowns were designed with gathered and skirts, fitted bodices, and scoped necklines. Venice lace and velvet ribbon accented the waists. Headpieces were velvet bows and net veils matching the attendant's dress. Each carried a cascade of white Marguerite daisies with long satin streamers.

Harry Dixon of El Paso was best man. Groomsmen, who also served as ushers, included the brother of the groom, Robert Elliott of El Paso, Mike Wortman, cousin of the groom of Lubbock, Earl Bowman, brother of the bride of Denver City, and Robert Rose of Lubbock.

Shantel Bowman, niece of the bride of Denver City, was flower girl.

Wedding guests were registered in the foyer of the church by Miss Louise Kiesling of San Angelo.

A reception was held at The Woman's Club where Mrs. Rogers provided music from a piano centered with the attendant's cascade bouquets. The bride's table was laid with white tulle over satin and held a wedding cake designed in the shape of church steps and topped with a miniature bride and groom. The table was centered with white candelabra holding nine white votive candles and a bouquet of spring flowers in the bride's chosen colors. Appointments were crystal. Serving from the bride's table were Mrs. Terry Brown, cousin of the bride of Lamesa, Miss Kiesling, and Miss Marilyn Haggard of Paducah. Assisting also were Meses, Roger Butler, Bob Boone, Joe Roy Smith, Arnold Navratil, and Guy Robinson.

The groom's table was laid with a burlap cloth and centered with a large candle encircled with artificial fruit. It held a chocolate cake in the shape of a horseshoe. Silver appointments were used. Presiding at his table were the groom's cousins, Donna and Paula Wortman of Lubbock, Peggy Teal of Garland, and Nancy Davis of Floydada.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Lamesa High School. She received a bachelor of science degree in home economics from Texas Tech University in 1970 and is employed by the Texas

"We're closing the gap in social security protection for widows", states Wayne Klipping, social security manager for Vernon. For many years a widow couldn't receive benefits unless she either had a minor child in her care or was 60 years old. Now, a widow between age 50 and 60 can receive benefits if she is suffering from a disabling condition that will keep her from working for one year or longer. To qualify, the widow's disability must have begun no later than seven years after her husband's death or the date she last received mother's benefits. The widow is not required to have ever worked under social security because her entitlement would be on her husband's record. The amount of benefits varies from case to case, but before the benefits are paid for each month of the widow's life, she must pay one of the following: 1. A tax calculated by the Social Security Administration; 2. Payment of the tax for the year in which the tax is due.

"The disciples said unto him (Thomas) we have seen the Lord," John 20:25. Thomas had unbelief in his heart, he became discouraged and was miserable and fearful of what would happen to him. He would not meet with the others. He did not believe Jesus when he told them that He would go away, but He would come back. We hear people say, I will not believe until I can see. That was Thomas' condition. He said, "Except I can put my fingers into the nail-prints and thrust my hand into

His side, I will not believe," John 20:27. "O what pains we often forfeit, O what needless pain we bear All because we do not carry. Everything to God in prayer." You can never know what a friend Jesus is, or what joy He can give, until you carry everything to Him in prayer. Trust Him, He loves you. *****

Tax Man Sam Sez

A common question of Internal Revenue employees is "What do you do after you get all the tax returns filed?" Of course, the taxpayer visualizes the IRS job as being a big one every April 15. A good answer would be - "We go ahead working on the tax returns that came in last year and the year before, and in some cases, 10 years ago. We have dozens of filing periods and a lot of other deadlines besides the income tax deadline. . . ."

life long friends and they walked off happily. This is known throughout the world as the perfect friendship.

CONTINUING YOUR EDUCATION

By SHARI SHELTON

For high school students one of the biggest decisions they will make will be how to prepare themselves for their futures. Nowadays a college education or extended schooling in a specialized field is the only basis for a secure future.

Life is like a starfish. The center part is the foundation, the basis of the outreaching arms. Each extended arm of the starfish is a different road of life. There are so many fields of work to enter into. Medicine, law, research, business, and unlimited numbers of work.

For the problems of today the new fields of science, new inventions, ideas for cures of diseases and countless other life type works an education is a must, not only for the field itself, but for mankind. When knowledge is added to man's accomplishments, progress is made. World-wide recognition of what some define as hope emerges into reality. The problems of today are much more complicated than those of earlier times because they were created by a society much more complex than the past. Education is peeling away the crusts of the unknown, bit by bit, through hard study and work to reveal the core, the answers to the complexities of modern society.

Today our world is so complex that it cries out for help to end pollution, and to save nature's resources which provide the materials for life's existence. Our world today cries for education no matter how much or what kind. Education, knowledge accomplishments, and progress are the only answers to help restore our world as the Creator gave it to us.

Education - America's dream - eternal enrichment, a necessity for a secure future. Extend your education, help bring security to your future and the future of generations to come.

Eighth Grade Enjoys Six Flags Trip

By STACY ANGLE

On Thursday, April 8, at 7:00 a.m., forty-seven eighth graders and their sponsors, Principal and Mrs. John McGaughy, our room mother, Mrs. Charles Reese, and Mrs. Cliff Swain boarded the school bus in front of the Junior High building en route to Six Flags

Over Texas for our eighth grade trip.

We stopped for a "rest stop" at Jackboro and arrived at Six Flags about 10:30 a.m. We hardly took time out to eat as we were enjoying the rides and shows so much. We all met back at the main gate at 6:00 p.m. and left the park for our return home about 8:30 p.m. To break the trip, we again stopped at Jackboro and arrived in Knox City about 10:20 p.m., loaded down with posters, shirts, pillows, and all kind of keepsakes after a wonderful time!

We would like to thank everyone who helped make our trip so enjoyable.

O'Brien Homemaking Department Conducts Feeding Demonstration

The O'Brien Homemaking Department obtained four white rats from the Dairy Council in Abilene to use for an animal feeding demonstration. The Homemaking I class chose to demonstrate a well-balanced diet against one including the same foods but no milk.

Laboratory bred white rats are used for feeding demonstrations because they will eat both plant and animal foods as we do. A rat's age, compared to human age, is one day to 30 days, or four weeks equal 21/2 years. Thus growth is quickly seen.

These rats were four weeks old when obtained from the dairy council. They weighed approximately 40 grams each. Joe Namath and Abraham, named by the homemaking students, were placed on the diet complete with milk. Linc and Mickey were fed the same diet with water in place of milk.

For the first three weeks there was only a small gradual difference in the weight gain of the two sets of rats. However, from the first the rats on milk gained more weight. During the fourth and fifth week, the rats on milk gained three times more weight than the rats receiving the same diet without milk. The rats at the end of five weeks were nine weeks old, which would be about five years old in comparable human age.

Other differences were noted but not as measurable as the weight gained. The poorly nourished rat's fur was duller and a shade darker. Their eyes were not as clear as red, as the well nourished rats. There was an extreme difference in behavior. What seemed at first to be a great deal more energy, displayed by constantly running about the cage and constantly cleaning one's self, as the experiment progressed was observed to be the lack of ability to relax and to adjust to life going on outside the cage.

At the end of five weeks, the rats without milk were switched to the diet including milk. The results were amazing. One of the rats gained three times as much weight as those who had been on the milk diet from the first. At the end of two weeks, both were apparently as healthy, as the milk diet rats.

The Homemaking I students shared their experiment with the elementary grades. At the beginning of the experiment the rats were taken to each class and the students explained the purpose of the experiment and helped the younger students understand the necessity of good care for the rats just like good care for children. The rats were taken to each class at the end of the fifth and the seventh week. The homemaking students agreed 100% that milk is very necessary for proper growth.
