"A couple of years ago the fad was to run the candidate through the public relations mill, make sure he parted his hair just right, that he was handsome, had a good stage presence, and could wow the women.

"In short, his qualifications for office didn't really count. It was whether he could be sold to the voters something on the order of a new breakfast food.

"Then Preston Smith came along and upset a lot of fancy theories about how to get elected. He lacked most of the attributes which the 'hard-sell' political public relations men say are necessary. But he had an unlimited capacity for hard work, something of substance (experience) to sell, and perhaps most important of all, he had a lot of hard-working friends.

"Few of those friends, if any, have been more hard-working and more valuable to Smith than Otis A. Green of Lubbock, a quiet, unassuming public relations man with a sly sense of humor and one of the best organizational minds in the business.
"Smith flatly declares, 'without Otis Green's help I never would have made it to where I am today.' He credits Green with setting up the city-by-city, town-by-town, and hamlet-by-hamlet Smith organization which proved so effective at the polls.
"There's not a political public relations man in Texas today with more knowledge of what it takes to get elected and who knows how to use that knowledge than Green," Smith continued.
"Although it isn't generally known, said Smith one day last week, Green has been his 'guiding hand' for many years. 'The work in this is setting up the organization,' said Smith. '... They didn't see me plastered all over the billboards and television screens during this race.' This, according to Smith, also was due to Green's guidance.

"We felt like the name identification wasn't the problem this time, so several years ago Green began building slowly a statewide organization with key people in each town," Smith recounted.
"We just kept building and plugging along. It wasn't always easy, and we had some differences of opinion, but in the long run I just put myself in Green's hands," Smith continued.
"It obviously paid off. But Smith is being a little modest when he says that. He worked extremely hard himself, keeping long hours and never pausing."
Green is a graduate of Knox City High School and holds a B. A. degree in journalism from

FAREWELL LUNCHEON

A farewell luncheon was served by the members of the Church of Christ Sunday in the Benjamin Club House, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fulenwider. Ray has been preaching at the Church of Christ in Benjamin for the past six years. He was also coach and principal in the Rule Independent School at Rule for the past seven years. Mr. Fulenwider has been chosen as Educational Director for the Broadway Church of Christ in Lubbock and will move there and begin his job in directing the Bible School Education program in a few days.

Ray graduated with high honors from Abilene Christian College in both his undergraduate work (B.S. Ed.) 1961 and his graduate studies (M. S. Ed.) 1963. Additional courses of study associated with his field of general and administrative education came in 1964 from Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene, and in 1965 with the University of Chattanooga in Chattanooga, Tennessee.

His honors over the years have compiled an impressive story of recognized ability by several sources. Ray was chosen to be listed in "Who's Who in Texas" for 1967, and the year before that was selected for listing among the "Who's Who in the South". He also served as the county president for the Texas State Teachers Association in 1966, and for three years held the regional chairmanship of social studies of Texas Small Schools Association.

His wife, Ann, also attended Abilene Christian College and later enrolled for courses at Draughons Business College in Abilene. She has taught in the Rule Independent Schools for 2 years and taught Bible school classes among 3rd and 4th grade students during the past four years at Rule. Ray plans to further his education at Texas Tech.

The members of the Church of Christ hate very much to be losing Ray and Ann, but will be fortunate in having Jim Hackney and his wife of Knox City to replace them.

Those attending the luncheon honoring them were: Mrs. Ed Nolen, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Nolen and sons of Smyre, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Jennings and Claude Elmer, Mrs. Peggy Hudson and Sellina, Miss S. C. Producers who are interested in producing peas for the fall market are asked to contact Mr. James McNease, Texas Department of Agriculture Marketing Specialist at his office in the Munday Chamber of Commerce building or the County Agent at the Courthouse in Benjamin.

Ballentine produce company of Alma, Arkansas is interested in getting up to 3,000 acres of peas planted in this area soon for fall harvest. A two way market is possible, either as green peas or combined dry. If enough acreage is obtained in the surrounding area, Ballentine produce will do the harvesting and supply the seed.

Varieties of interest are Purple Hull, Crowder, Arkansas Monark and California Black-eye. Seed cost would range from 12 or 18 cents per pound and the seeding rate 25 to 35 pounds per acre depending on whether dryland or irrigated. Green peas normally would return the grower 35 to 50 dollars per ton over harvest cost. Dry peas would normally bring 6 to 7 dollars per cut and would be harvested with a combine.

MONTAGUE FRUIT RESEARCH FIELD DAY

Persons in the North Central Texas area interested in fruit production are invited to attend a field tour of the Montague Fruit Research-Demonstration Station on June 28.

U. A. Randolph, associate horticulturist in charge of the Station, has announced plans for the tour. Only one tour, it will last for about two hours, is scheduled and will begin at 9 a.m.

Randolph said he hoped to have trailers available for transporting visitors and that area county agents would assist with the activities.

Points of interest to visit on the Station include several peach varieties with ripe fruit; peach irrigation test; weed control with herbicides in peach and apple orchards; apple varieties, some will be maturing; peach thinning, and the peach and apple expansion program.

Persons on the tour will have an opportunity to ask questions dealing with work on the Station and also about problems and opportunities for expanding fruit production in the area, the county agent said.

There are many who are in need, the impoverished of the world. If you are one of these, read the 34 Psalm: "The poor man cried and the Lord heard him and saved him out of all his troubles."
David is not just saying these words, he is not just making promises, he speaks from experience, from a deep and unshakable faith, "O taste and see that the Lord is good" - "Blessed is the man that trusteth in him" - "The young lion do lack and suffer hunger, but they that seek the Lord shall not want any good thing." All you need to do is have the faith of David and God will provide your need. *****

What is charcoal flavor? Charcoal has no flavor. Juices and fats from cooking meats drip on hot coals producing smoke. Flavor and aroma come from the smoke. The cooking method, not the charcoal, produces the flavor. Ceramic briquettes, heated by gas flames, produce the same effect -- and the same flavor -- on a gas grill.

History Of O'Brien

CHAPTER V

No establishment of a community is near completion until there is some sort of public school system founded. The early citizens of O'Brien wasted no time in the development of an educational system.

On August 17, 1906 the Trustees of Carney Independent School District purchased the lots: 5, 6, 7, 11, 12, 13, and 14 in block 51, from the Trustees of Orient Land Company at the extremely low price of $100.

In 1906, the first school building was constructed, being called Carney Independent School. The building was green and two-story, with four rooms and four teachers. The pupils were seated two to each desk. The building had a bellry on which hung a bell. There were about ten grades in Carney Independent School at this time.

Mr. Elliot was the first superintendent of the newly founded Carney Independent School.

Some of the early students attending Carney Independent School were:

About 6 Stanfield children, about 11 La Duke children, Vera Ussury, Alfred and Clara Jarman, Tom, Alfred and Hosea Mancell; Cecil, Jim, Lillie, and Ora Cooner; Ollie Dupree, Audrey and Bryan Cox, Nova Link, Richard Carney, many unknown Barnards, and many others that go unnamed.

In 1908 possibly 120 students attended Carney Independent School with about 30 students in each of the rooms.

Alvis Eugene Caldwell took over the job of Superintendent in 1915.

It was in 1915 that Mrs. Dave Vannoy remembers participating in a senior class play and using the money gained from the play to buy nice basketball goals for the outdoor court and a nice, new dictionary for the school. It was in this manner that Carney Independent School was founded and operated in its early days.

Carney High School, through the years since 1906, has produced many intelligent students who have gone on to greater things. It has produced, and is very proud of, those who have excelled in the business world and in the world of education. Perhaps more than one has gone on to be a college professor, another, a highly respected official within the Walt Disney Corporation. These are only a few who have excelled and become dependable citizens. Not only has Carney High produced many successful graduates in the world of business and education but there have been many exceptional athletes pass through this small school. Perhaps this particular history of the school will deal more with the athletic achievements than with the intellectual achievements of the many ex-students of Carney High.

During the years before 1925 the boys had not played basketball because it was considered very sissy. The girls played as early as 1915 on a dirt court. The court was located west and a little south of the Methodist Church. Later another court was added. It was across the street north of the present building, about where the Johnny Reid home is now located.

Girls playing on the first team were:

Clara Jarman (Jumping Center), Lillie Barnard Vannoy, Winnie (Johnston) Southall, Stella Stanfield, Inez Tipton, Ina Hardberger, Cutie Pennington, and many others that go unnamed.

Their playing attire consisted of long skirts, blouses and high top shoes. A short time later, other girls playing were:

Edrie (Richards) Barnard, Stella Cooner, Susie Qualls, Noddie Mae Rex, Ruth Dalton, Edith Dalton, Larada (Barnett) Johnston, Vesta Pearl Jarman, and many others that are unknown.

It was about 1916 that a square, two story, brick building replaced the original wood building. There was an auditorium and two rooms upstairs. The auditorium was used for a study hall. (At a later date, another auditorium was built on the north end of this building.)

The boys played their first game of basketball in 1925.

when they journeyed all the way to Foster, which was southeast of Rochester.

Boys playing at this time were:

Ross Walsworth, Chester Yates, Ted Johnston, Fat La Duke, and many others that go unnamed.

Mr. Tom Moore went along on the trip as coach. To the dismay of the group, Foster won the game.

It was about the same time when the girls became a bit more active on the three-division, dirt, basketball court with Mrs. Dockins coaching the following girls.

Edrie (Wharton) Cothard, Mary (Rader) King, Jerene Cooner, Gussie Rex, Hazel Johnston, and many others who go unnamed.

The girls wore long, black bloomers, long stockings, and white blouses.

It was also in the twenties that the basketball team went to Munday and played in an old tabernacle. This was something new, playing indoors.

Some may remember a basketball trip to Jud, a settlement west of Rochester, in 1927. Players who attended the game were:

Faye Wharton, Lila Wharton, Mildred (Walsworth) La Duke, Edna Johnston, Thelma Rex, Bessie Rex, and many others that go unnamed.

In 1928, the school had its first bus, driven by Mr. Seaburne Busbie. It was a Model T Truck with benches in the back and a cover and flaps made of ducking.

The boys, it seems, were beginning to understand the game of basketball. In 1928 a group of boys came forth, coached by Mr. Martin and Mr. Cunningham. They won county four years straight. These boys were:

Eddie Carr, Sook Walsworth, Sam Johnston, L. J. Gothard, Charlie Rex, Whittier La Duke, Hellis Mattox, Jimmy Joe Underwood, Milton Rowan and perhaps others that go unnamed.

The Board Members of Carney High School in 1929 were:

C. M. Walsworth, president; L. B. Hester, J. W. Trimmer, M. H. Wood, S. J. Reeves, N. N. Underwood, and T. L. Roberson.

Editor's note: Due to the length of chapter 5, it will be in three parts.

"Melanie Meddles"

Last week I read "All The King's Men," a novel based on the political career of Huey Long, one time Louisiana governor. It was written in 1946 and won the Pulitzer Prize in 1947 - I start a good book in about the same time as it takes an award winning movie to get to one of our drive-ins.

For all of you people who are interested in writing or just like to read a good book, the author Robert Penn Warren is fabulous. His sentences go on and on, describing descriptions of descriptions. He may become an influence on my future writing style - for instance, one sentence lately written describing one of our Texas electrical storms.

"See the lightning flicker across the sky, see it jotted up the sky, see a trunk of it branch into two dozen arteries, quicker than the eye can digest its performance, see the bolts nail themselves to the ground with a fierceness that says I'll hit you if I can and melt you into the ground and send a teeny bit of rain so I can see you sizzle." Wonderful, huh?

Being a hero worshipped is a big responsibility. Charles Escobar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Escobar is the idol of four year old David Flores, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Flores.

When Charles helped serve Mass, David wanted to, too; when Charles worked carrying out groceries, David wanted a white apron "Just like Charles's."

When Charles graduated last month, David's request was a little harder to grant - he went to the variety store and tried to buy a senior ring. The clerk finally satisfied him with a ring with a blue stone.

I'm sure by now Charles need not be warned to be careful of the example he gives. With a second conscience tagging along behind, he has to be on his toes.

SIMPLE ADDITION
Today if a man makes half enough to live on he has to be paid twice what he's worth.

It is very easy for people to persuade themselves that they are being mistreated.

Open House Of New City Hall Held In Benjamin

Open house was held at the new City Hall in Benjamin from 2 p.m. until 6 p.m., Sunday with approximately 76 persons in attendance.

City Manager W. M. Hertel said the work was started last December and the strand steel building, 30 x 60 feet, has just been completed. The approximate total cost of the building is $10,000.

The building location is on all of Lot 1 and the east half of Lot 2, in Block 6, original Benjamin. The east half of Lot 1 was the site of the first Drug Store in Benjamin and was donated by the Beavers-Mulky Estate, with a plaque of display near entrance door. Contribution of this lot made possible the use of the balance of Lot 1 owned by the City and the east part of Lot 2 was given by Mr. and Mrs. W.M. Hertel.

Funds for the structure was principally from water utility funds saved from the period of 1955 to 1961, before the current inflationary period, and from interest earned on these funds. The building and all connected expenses are paid in full or in the process of payment.

Approximately $800 was raised by the Benjamin Fire Department through letters sent out by the Benjamin Sorosis Club asking for voluntary contributions. This money, along with Firemen's voluntary labor, was used to panel, install ceiling, etc. to complete the firemen's meeting room.

The recreation room is fitted with a pool table and one for table tennis.

The new City Hall is across the street from the Courthouse and about 100 feet north of the old location. The building was made more attractive by landscaping the grounds, Hertel said.

Benjamin citizens are proud of the new City Hall and thank everyone for visiting them during the open house. The City Council also thanks each one who had a part in the volunteer work which enabled the finishing of the building without incurring debt.

Knox County Represented At Abilene Cancer Meet

Dr. Oscar Morphis of Fort Worth told the 55 delegates at the district annual meeting of the American Cancer Society in Abilene on June 20, "You are helping shape the future of tomorrow in your work to control cancer in your own communities."

Dr. Morphis praised the accomplishments of all American Cancer Society volunteers in Texas by relating some of the Society's accomplishments over the past 22 years, some of which include:

$1,000,000 now invested in Texas Research Institutions by the Society and increasing every year.
Educational Film programs reaching over 800,000 people

this year.
ACS services for more than 7,000 cancer patients last year.
The use of 17 volunteer manned mobile exhibits on smoking which have helped reduce teen-age smoking.

Mr. Jack Hardison of the Division headquarters in Austin also addressed the group. He revealed the state-wide program goals for 1968-69.

Delegates to the meeting named three District Directors to represent them on the State Board of the Society. Elected were Dr. Bill Brooks, Mrs. J. David Procter and Mrs. Green Stoker.

"Operation Motorcide" Set For Fourth Of July Holidays

AUSTIN - The acting director of the Texas Department of Public Safety today called for "heads up" driving on the part of Texas motorists over the upcoming four-day Fourth of July weekend to helping about a reduction in the estimated toll of 38 lives in traffic during the holiday period.

Wilson E. (Pat) Speir announced that "Operation Motorcide," a special emphasis program designed to focus attention on the added dangers of holiday travel, will be placed in effect from 6 p.m. Wednesday, July 3, through 11:59 p.m. Sunday, July 7.

Traffic fatalities will be tabulated by the DPS throughout the period, and the totals will be announced officially three times daily as a means of keeping safety uppermost in the minds of the motoring public, he said.

"It is a known fact that the unusually crowded conditions of the highways on Independence Day holidays makes driving more hazardous than usual," Speir said. "Past experience and the present trend of traffic deaths indicate that 38 persons will lose their lives in traffic accidents during the 102-hour period of the holiday this year, according to DPS Statistical Services. This means that on the average one person will be killed in traffic every two and-a-half hours."

"Of course, we hope this proves to be too high an estimate, and will do everything we can to keep down the expected toll of lives and suffering from accidents. As part of this effort, we will be utilizing additional personnel from our other uniformed services to augment the regular Highway Patrol force during the holiday period.

"However, the most important effort needs to come from the drivers themselves who, of course, have the most at stake. We can talk all we please about inadequate highways, we can talk about mechanical defects, but in the end, the vast majority of all accidents and fatalities can be traced directly to misbehavior, misjudgment, recklessness, negli-

Notify VA Of Address Change

Recipients of veterans' benefits should notify the Veterans Administration office which maintains their records as well as the Post Office Department of any change of address, Jack Coker, Manager of the Waco VA Regional Office said today.

About $1 million in undeliverable checks is returned to the VA each year, he pointed out.

This means that some 12,000 persons miss at least one payment of their monthly compensation, pension, or other VA benefit. In some instances, Coker said, failure to receive a monthly check from the VA undoubtedly creates a hardship for the family.

Coker said that their dependents VA benefits should their zip code with of address notify VA office holding  WILSON REUNION Gathering in the J. A. Wilson last son and his family, Jack A.
