Coach Hibbitts said that although most of the first team finished junior high last year, he still had some good material this year.

Probable starters will be chosen from players, Dean Bouldin, Roland Marlon, Leslie Fitzgerald, Billy Baker, Greg Clonts, and Bobby Reeves, he said. Coach Hibbitts has twenty-one boys out.

Mrs. Draper is also working with the fifth and sixth grade girls, forty-three strong! She said that no schedule could be worked out for them as there were so few area teams in this age group. However, she is planning for these girls to play at halftime at home games. Her husband, James Draper, KCBS boys' coach, is also working with the fifth and sixth grade boys, and they will see some action, too, during halftime at our home games.

The 1968-69 schedule for the Jr. High teams is listed here for our readers.

KCHS Teams Begin Work

Coaches James Draper and O'Neal Weaver are putting the Knox City High School basketball teams "through the paces" this week as the teams begin to shape up for the 1968-69 season.

Coach Draper is coaching the high school boys' team this year, and although the returning lettermen are few, veteran players include Joe Barnard, Tommy Guy Waldrip, and Rogers Lankford. Newcomers Charlie Lieb, Alan Orr, and Calvin Tubbs are also rounding out the "A" team. Mike Newton is out with a knee injury at the present time. Good material is also evident in the line-up for the Knox City's "B" team. However, as Coach Draper could not be reached before this week's early deadline, names of the players on the "B" team were not available.

Coach Weaver reported that twenty-three girls are out for basketball. He said that he had six forwards - all good - and in the guard positions, probably eight or nine girls playing for these positions. Coach Weaver also said that he had several freshman girls who were showing good promise. The Houndettes lost three senior girls last year to graduation, Gail Cornett, Diane Thomas, and Velvet Verhalen. Four starters, Donna Railsback, Eloise Jordan, Sue Egenbacher, and Mary Reese, are returning this year. The Houndettes won district and bi-district last year, and with the material, the good attitude, and the determination it is entirely possible to have another winning team this year. Coach Weaver said that some positions on the main team had not been filled, and players for these places would depend on our opponents, as to their size and particular needs. With the number of girls out and wanting to play, the coach said that he intended to play as many "B" games as possible. Five seniors will

ROGERS LANKFORD

Rogers Lankford, a Knox City High School sophomore, was chosen by the Quarterback Club last week as the Greyhound of the Week for his exceptional efforts in the Knox City-Paducah game there last Friday night, November 15.

The Greyhound of the Week title is given to the various football players each week by the Quarterback Club as an added incentive for the Greyhound squad. In addition to the recognition received in the Herald, each player's name, classification, date of game and opposing team will be inscribed on a bronze plaque to be presented to the school by the Club at the All-Sports Banquet next spring.

The plaque will then be placed in the Knox City High School trophy case to remain on permanent display. Among the ten players awarded the honor of Greyhound of the Week for the 1968 football season are Junior Wayne James, Junior Joe Barnard, Sophomore Mike Newton, Sophomore Max Spencer, Freshman Charlie Lieb, Senior Randy Hise, Senior Ronald Curd, Sophomore Busty Woodward, Junior Tommy Guy Waldrip, and Rogers Lankford.

Girls from the junior high and high school classes were eligible as candidates and one from each division was chosen by sponsoring merchants. According to Mrs. Lena McGee, approximately one hundred candidates will be entered. Due to the early deadline for this week's Herald, a complete list of candidates was not available, and these will be printed next week. Containers have been placed in the business houses, and votes are a penny each.

WALSORTH HOUSE BURNS MONDAY

The home of C. M. Walsworth, 88, caught fire and burned Monday morning about 8 a.m. Mr. Walsworth had eaten breakfast and believes the fire started from his kitchen range and the wooden cabinet above it.

Mr. Walsworth ran outside to connect his water hose but couldn't re-enter the house because of the fire and smoke. He called to a neighbor, Mrs. Paul Wissel, who called in the alarm.

The O'Brien fire department put out the fire in about 30 minutes. The Knox City department also answered the call.

The kitchen and dining room were gutted, with water and smoke damage to all the rest of the house, except a northeast bedroom.

Mr. Walsworth's only injuries were blisters on his neck and hands.

He has two nieces, Mrs. C. B. Banner and Mrs. Sam Johnston, and one nephew, Ross Walsworth, who live in O'Brien. His two daughters, Mrs. Mary Reed of Dennison and Mrs. Paul Madden of Arlington came down Monday.

Establish Certain Facts For Prompt SS Benefit Payments

When a person files a claim for social security benefits, whether it be a retirement, disability, or survivor's claim, the thing foremost in his mind is quick processing of his claim and prompt payment.

Edwin Draughon, social security representative for the Knox County area, said recently that speedy payment of benefits is also the primary goal of the Social Security Administration. However Mr. Draughon pointed out, the law requires that certain facts be established in each claim for social security benefits. Thus, employees of the Social Security Administration have a two-sided responsibility - to see that claims are paid promptly, but in accordance with the law.

Mr. Draughon listed three areas that cause problems and delays in the processing of Social Security claims: (1) lack of sufficient evidence of age; (2) employees whose wages are incorrectly reported or not reported at all; and (3) self-employed persons who do not file their tax returns correctly or do not file returns at all. All of these matters have to be cleared up before a claim can be completed.

It is very important, Mr. Draughon emphasized, that anyone who has doubt about the evidence of his age, or about his status as an employee or self-employed person, contact a social security representative before time to file a claim so that problems can be cleared up in advance.

Mr. Draughon will be in Knox City again on December 4, 1968 at the City Hall from 10:00 a.m. until 12:00 noon.

The Answer To Carpet Paths

COLLEGE STATION - The answer to carpet paths worn by continuous traffic is here—carpet tiles.

The tiles, not permanently attached to the floor, rearrange to create an original floor covering design, adds Bonny Lay, Extension housing and home furnishing specialist.

Since most carpet tiles can be applied directly on all types of floors, they also can be switched from room to room. When one moves, he can take up the carpet and move it with him, Miss Lay adds.

Carpet tiles come in various sizes, colors and textures. They are available in differing fibers - a combination of animal fibers, artificial and synthetic fibers; polypropylene which is like some indoor-outdoor carpet, and other synthetic fibers.

For unusual decorative wall treatment, apply carpet tiles to a wall, suggests the Texas A&M University specialist. To attach these to the wall, double-stick carpet tape can be used very easily. All types of patterns can be created with the tiles.

Methodist Call Special Session For Dec. 6 - 7

LUBBOCK - A special called session of the Northwest Texas Conference will be held in Lubbock on December 6 and 7 to present the quadrennial emphasis of the new United Methodist Church, Dishop Alstie H. Carleton has announced.

It will be the first meeting of the conference since Carleton was elected bishop at the South Central Jurisdictional Conference in Oklahoma City last July. Bishop Carleton presides over the Northwest Texas-New Mexico Area of the United Methodist Church which includes both the Northwest Texas and New Mexico conferences. Headquarters for the episcopal area is Albuquerque.

Although the official merger of the Methodist Church and the Evangelical United Brethren Church was accomplished just prior to the annual conference in Amarillo in May there was not time then to set up machinery to accomplish the programs outlined in the quadrennial emphasis, "A New Church for a New World."

The special session in Lubbock has been called primarily for that purpose, Dr. S. Duane Bruce of Lubbock, conference program director, said.

The conference will convene at First United Methodist Church of Lubbock at 3 p.m. December 6. A worship service will open the meeting, with the Rev. Marvin James, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, Chillicothe, scheduled to speak.

Bishop Carleton will then be formally presented to the conference by Dr. Marvin Boyd, Lubbock District superintendent and chairman of the cabinet for the Northwest.

Dr. Bruce said the called session of the conference was being set up on a weekend to accommodate lay delegates. "We hope this arrangement will enable more of them to attend," he said.

The highest ranking girl in each state will receive a $1,500 scholarship and a chance to win one of four national scholarships. These range from $5,000 for the girl chosen Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow, to $4,000, $3,000, and $2,000 respectively for second, third and fourth place winners.

Runners-up in each state will receive $500 grants with the first ranked girl in each school first ranked girl in each school receiving a specially designed silver charm from General Mills, Inc., which inaugurated the Betty Crocker Search in 1954-55 and has sponsored it every year since then.

Climax of this national homemaking test will be an expense paid tour next spring of Colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, D. C., for each state winner and her school advisor. Winners of the national scholarships will be selected and announced at a dinner in Williamsburg upon conclusion of the tour.

This scholarship competition is on the approved list of national contests and activities of the National Association of Secondary-School Principals.

A Day Of Thanksgiving

EDITORIAL. Thanksgiving is the oldest observance, unique to the United States, which we now commemorate as a national holiday. It began with the pilgrims at Plymouth after their first harvest in 1621. From their tenuous foothold on the edge of an unknown continent, whose limits they were never to know, grew the English colonies, the conviction that government derived its powers from the people, the American Revolution and finally the United States of America.

What happened then through the years of our national history and what we have the opportunity of carrying forward today should be remembered with humility and thanksgiving on the 28th of November, 1968. We defend again the principles of human freedom on the battlefield. We should be thankful that we have the strength to do so. Our Harvest were never more abundant, and our material wealth never greater. Our original dedication to worth of the individual is intact, and our institution in these fast-changing times are proving equal to

Mexican Version Of Alamo Story Has Been Published

Diligent research by a distinguished Mexican historian and military man has produced, for the first time in English, a book-length documentation of the Mexican version of the famous Alamo battle.

General Miguel A. Sanchez Lamego has put together some challenging reading, mainly from information in the archives of the Ministry of Defense in Mexico City.

The result is "The Siege and Taking of the Alamo," originally published in Mexico two years ago, now translated into English by Dr. Consuelo Velasco, and published by The Press of the Territorian, Box 1847, Santa Fe, New Mexico, 87501.

The $7.50 hardbound edition, 53 pages long, is available now at bookstores. Included are some notes on the battle by the U. S. authority on Mexican military history, J. Hefter.

The first edition of the book is limited to 1500 numbered copies.

The Press of the Territorian is the foremost regional press in the United States publishing Western Americana.

A Review

The Mexican view of the Alamo, gathered in the archives of the National Defense of Mexico by a respected military man and Latin American historian, looks at the battle itself almost as the Texas does.

But missing from General Miguel A. Sanchez Lamego's account of "The Siege and Taking of the Alamo" is the Texas bragadoecio that tends to cloud the whole story. The painfully-documented short history says the Texans' motives may not have been entirely pure in beginning the Lone Star Republic's successful fight for independence.

Nor were all the Mexicans bad guys.

The pensive review of the Texas War — and the dusty mission which symbolizes it — hints that the war began after Norte-americanos, settling Texas at the generous invitation of Mexico, seized on an intramural dispute as an excuse to declare independence on trumped-up breach-of-contract charges.

Because of a dispute between the Mexican president, Miguel Barragan, and Mexico's de facto dictator, General Antonio Lopez De Santa Ana, Texas charged the federal institutions of Mexico had been overthrown by force and the "social compact" between Mexicans and Texans dissolved.

They declared independence from Mexico, precipitated the Texas War and, indirectly, the Mexican-American War that followed a few years later.

Lamego says, in effect, that the Barragan-Santa Ana fight, resulting in a state-governor appointment favorable to Santa Ana, was only an excuse to take over the republic and eventually deliver it to the United States via a doctrine of manifest destiny. That's what happened, pre-

Natural Trees Are The Best For Christmas

COLLEGE STATION — There is no substitute for the beauty of a natural Christmas tree if it's wisely purchased and safely used, says Hill Smith, Extension forester at Texas A&M University.

Texas imports over 3 million trees annually with some coming from as far away as Western Canada, he pointed out. As a result, the trees are stored in boxcars and undergo temperature extremes.

Those undergoing warm temperatures for a period of several weeks may already have dried out by the time they're put on our Texas markets, Smith said.

He makes the following suggestions to help keep a Christmas tree fresh and green:

1. Buy your tree early. This will enable you to be selective in the purchase of a reasonably fresh tree. Check for signs of needle-shedding and brittleness. These indicate excessive drying.
2. Store the tree outdoors in the shade until ready for use and spray it frequently with water. When it's brought indoors, make diagonal cut removing 1 to 2 inches of the base.
3. Stand the tree in water and keep it in water until it's discarded. Check the water level daily.

For further information on Christmas tree care, contact your local county agent's office for a copy of L-722, "Safe Use of Christmas Trees," suggests Smith.

Pork, beef and poultry are offering some real money saving values in protein foods.

Hints For Food Law Enforcement Report Mailing Given By Texas A&M

COLLEGE STATION — Cookies and cakes which are long-lived and can stand a few knocks can be mailed with confidence, regardless of distance, says Elizabeth Barnard, foods and nutrition specialist.

Soft drop cookies, chewy bar cookies, squared and filled cookies travel well, according to the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Apple sauce, molasses, oatmeal and mince cookies are good packers. Cookies flavored with honey and fruit improve with age.

If cookies are too rich, they may crumble or turn rancid, warns Miss Barnard.

Cakes are different to ship successfully because they dry and break. Syrups substituted for part of the sugar help to prevent rapid drying. Fruit cakes and those made with applesauce remain moist for some time.

The Extension specialist recommends sending cup cakes baked in Dated paper cups. Or, she says, cut a square cake and frost pieces on all sides, wrapping each piece individually.

To send pie, Miss Barnard suggests tarts or individual pies. They pack better.

Adding all-bran to the pastry dough helps prevent the crust from breaking up, she says. Firm fillings are less apt to soak through the crust. Miss Barnard recommends mince-meat and fruit thickened with cornstarch. Custard fillings spoil too rapidly to be safe.

The Extension foods specialist says products of these two recipes travel well.

HONEY HERMITS

Melt 1/3 cup shortening and add it to 1-1/3 cups of strained honey.

Add 2 eggs
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped raisins.
Sift together 3-1/2 cups flour
1-1/2 teaspoons cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
4 teaspoons of baking powder
Add the dry ingredients to the moist and mix well.

Drop on greased cookie sheet and bake in 375-400 degree oven until done.

APPLESauce LOAVES

Cream together 1/4 cup shortening and 1 cup sugar.
Add 1 cup applesauce
Sift together:
2 cups flour
1 level teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons cinnamon
a pinch salt
a pinch nutmeg.
Add dry to moist ingredients, then stir in 1 cup chopped raisins and currants. Mix and bake in individual small loaf pans, using 350-375 degree oven. Chopped citron or candied fruits can be substituted for a portion of the raisin-and-currant mixture, if desired.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue gives these statistics on mathematical verification of individual tax returns in his Annual Report Summary for the Fiscal Year 1967:

- 65.4 million returns were mathematically verified;
- 3.9 million returns required correction.
- 2.4 million were taxpayer errors that caused the taxpayer to under pay his tax, IRS collected $207.5 additional millions from these folks. However,
- 1.5 million made errors in favor of the government, and Internal Revenue refunded $94.3 million to these taxpayers who had cheated themselves out of almost $100 million through their own bad arithmetic.

This may not prove that most taxpayers would flunk grammar school arithmetic, but it seems to prove Internal Revenue's repeated warning: "Check it again — carefully — before you mail it." That dollar you save will be your own.

To preserve autumn leaves, press them with a warm iron to set the color. Then soak the pressed leaves in a solution of one part glycerin to nine parts water, suggests Extension housing specialist Bonny Lay. When thoroughly soaked, remove and press between blotters. These leaves will remain flexible.

Fresh fruits and vegetables in good supply at most economical prices include apples by the bag, bananas, Tokay grapes, oranges by the bag, potatoes, celery, carrots, cabbage, dry yellow onions, tomatoes, collard greens, sweet potatoes and radishes.

Law Enforcement Report

As a rule, men who have no respect for the law have no respect but contempt for those charged with enforcing it. Thus, the law enforcement officer's task becomes harder and his personal safety diminishes as more crimes are committed and less criminals are brought to justice.

Last year, 76 police officers were killed in the line of duty. This is 19 more than the number slain in 1966. Since 1960, 411 law enforcement officers have murdered, an average of more than 51 per year. Of the 539 offenders involved in these killings, 77 percent had been previously arrested and 67 percent had been previously convicted. Two-thirds of the police killers previously convicted had been granted parole or probation, and 3 out of 10 were actively on parole or probation when they killed a police officer.

Along with the ever-present danger of death, the enforcement officer faces personal injury with increasing frequency. Encouraged, no doubt, by judicial leniency and public indifference, more and more suspects resist arrest and resort to violence when approached by officers. In 1967, almost 14 of every 100 police officers were assaulted, an increase of 11 percent over 1966.

The rule of law is in jeopardy when law enforcement officers are regularly attacked and slain in the line of duty. Our concept of self-government is endangered when policemen must frequently win a physical struggle while making arrests. And our democratic processes are weakened when officers are publicly condemned and ridiculed for protecting the peaceful against violence and disorder.

In 1967, policemen were slain on the average of one every 5 days. This is a disgrace. It is particularly shocking when officers are gunned down by convicted criminals who, after exhausting all possible legal relief, are still on the streets. In one such instance, a convicted robber remained free more than 3 weeks after all of his appeals and petitions had been denied by the courts, a process requiring nearly 2 years. On the 23rd day after the date that he should have been jailed, he murdered a police officer. Is this balanced justice?

Ours is a government of law. Our Nation's survival depends

Food Market Report For Thanksgiving

COLLEGE STATION — New crop citrus fruits, many from the Texas valley area, are adding holiday spirit to local markets, reports Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

Grapefruit supplies are increasing and price is decreasing. Oranges, tangerines and tangelos are on the market.

Green-skinned Fuerte avocados are beginning to come in with more reasonable prices, according to Mrs. Clyatt, a specialist with Texas A&M University. Since the new crop is large, avocados should be plentiful this season.

Due to limited supplies, apples are not inexpensive but occasional bargains are in sacks of smaller apples. Most of these are the right size for eating out of hand and are as flavorful as the large fruit.

Mrs. Clyatt reports best vegetable buys in carrots, celery, rutabagas, broccoli, sweet potatoes and dry onions.

Beef supplies are ample, but she expects no price changes in the near future. Chuck and rib roasts are currently featured. Figured on a cost per serving basis, boneless roasts often cost no more than the bone-in roasts and are easier to serve.

Turkey prices are up a bit as demand increases. Fryers are featured in many markets as good protein choice.

Egg prices are on the upward trend again as holiday baking and extra cooking gets underway, however, good values in large size grade A eggs are available. Mrs. Clyatt says.

Christmas Shoppers Warned To Beware Of Auto Thieves

DALLAS — Christmas shoppers should take every precaution to protect their packages and automobiles from thieves, warns the national Automobile Theft Bureau.

C. C. Benson, manager of the southwestern division of the NATEB, said the Christmas shoppers who leave their cars unlocked and packages in the back seat are leaving an open invitation to thieves of all kinds.

"Car thieves frequently prowling shopping centers and other areas where shoppers are likely to leave cars unlocked and keys in ignitions while they run inside stores to make quick purchases," said Mr. Benson.

During the holiday season the thief not only has more cars to pick from, but often can find a car filled with packages. Thus, he can get two birds with the same stone — the car and the packages — and have an early Christmas, observed the NATEB official.

Mr. Benson said shoppers should lock all packages in the trunks of their cars when the automobiles are unoccupied. Over 60 percent of the cars stolen had been left unlocked and over half of these were left with keys in the ignition.

The Church of the Living God had Sunday School and afterward travelled to Wichita Falls to be in service with Elder Lonnie Wilson and members. They were in a dedication service of their new church. Guest churches besides Knox City were Dallas and Fort Worth. Music was furnished by Dallas and Fort Worth Choirs.

Elder Lonnie Beasley of Waco preached.

Poor Sug, you should hear her girl Brenda play her horn, you never heard such hooting in all your life, but she will play good one day I hope, and when she does I will let you no, O.K.

Services of the Church of God in Christ

All of the weekly services were attended well. And on Saturday evening Usher Board meeting and Sunshine Band were held. The attendance was fair and the lesson was taught from a part of the 24th chapter of Genesis by Missionary Wilson.

Sunday School had an excellent attendance with Supt. Smith in charge. The Sunday School lesson "Love One Another," was reviewed by the Pastor.

Each church in the District was represented here on Sunday afternoon in the YPWW Joint Meeting. Elder Leon Ward preached and particular attention was given to the youth of the church. "Righteousness Exalts a Nation but Sin is a Reproach to Any People." Prov. 14:34

Each of the Late evening services were well attended. And Pastor Bennett preached from the first few verses of the 116th Psalm "Call on Jesus He Will Answer Prayer."

The Knox City Church is to be in Aspermont on Friday night to share in the beginning of Elder and Mrs. Leon Ward's Anniversary at that church. It will close on Sunday. Everyone is invited to Aspermont to help bless over there.

Texas Highway Dept. Official Warns Of Federal Proposal

COLLEGE STATION — Federal highway administrators are attempting to grab power far in excess of the intentions of Congress, a top State highway official charged here today.

John O. Morton, president of the American Association of State Highway Officials, leveled a withering blast at what he termed "this senseless takeover" in the keynote address opening the Forty-Second Annual Highway Short Course at Texas A&M University.

Morton, who also is commissioner of public works and highways of the State of New Hampshire, referred to a group of proposed regulations which will go into effect if not withdrawn before November 22.

The regulations call for two public hearings — instead of one required presently — before a highway can be constructed. Any person or group could bring a halt to further progress on the project at either hearing or afterward by citing any of the regulatory points in opposing the proposed construction.

The regulations were published in the Federal Register and if allowed to stand, would have the effect of law after November 22.

Morton noted that this is the first time in the 52-year history of the Federal Aid Highway Program that a government agency has resorted to this means of establishing rules and regulations for the highway program.

"I can only regard this move as being of a sinister nature, conceived by a few people in high authority and possibly accepted by others who are not aware of its serious consequences," Morton said.

Morton pointed out that of the 41-thousand-mile Interstate Highway network, some 6.4 thousand miles are within urban areas. Of this mileage, only 150 miles are in dispute. Practically all the rest has been constructed or resolved.

"Of this total mileage of urban expressways, only 2.5 percent have presented problems of an unusual nature and certainly this constitutes a record of accomplishment and not one of failure," he said.

Morton said highway builders have developed cordial and responsive working relations with community officials and with representatives of every level of government.

"We have encouraged the appearance of interested persons at our public hearings and have given considerate and responsive attention to the suggestions and problems that have been presented . . .

"As a matter of record, of the 41-thousand-mile network of Interstate highways, approximately two-thirds of the mileage is now completed and in service. I can factually report that this accomplishment has been accepted, approved and applauded by the overwhelming majority of the American people," Morton said.

Should the pending regulations go into effect, he said, "For most of the States this will have the effect of bringing about a complete stoppage of the highway program. . . ."

He said the regulations will take the highway program out of the hands of the States and the State highway departments and put it under the direct supervision of "a mammoth federal bureaucracy."

The veteran highway engineer and administrator charged that "at the present time, millions dissipated by a Washington bureaucracy — funds that are urgently needed for well thought-out construction projects.

"Complexities are being created that cannot be untangled at the local, State or federal level. Meaningless reports are being required — reports that never will be read — and each

Research Station Opened By ACCO

The new cattle feedlot research facility at the ACCO Research Station near Abilene will open this week, according to Charles Trickey, ACCO Feeds General Manager. The first group of 400 cattle, purchased through area sales organizations from local livestock producers, is being placed in the research testing facilities.

This is the first of a number of facilities planned for a 396-acre tract. The cattle facility is composed of 32 pens with a capacity of 40 to 60 head per pen, and 12 small pens for preliminary small group testing. The latest designs in cattle-working chutes, sorting pens, scales, waterers, self-feeders, lighting, etc., have been installed in the feedlot complex. Later a climate-controlled confinement facility will be added to complete the cattle feedlot research complex.

Eventually, the ACCO Research Station, serving Paymaster and Superior Feeds, will be one of the most extensive and modern research stations in the Southwest, comprised of facilities and personnel for conducting research in horses, swine, dairy cattle, sheep and poultry.

The ACCO Station research will be oriented toward testing of feeds, management and feeding programs, in order to render maximum service and provide highest quality feeds to Paymaster and Superior customers. Anderson Clayton mills

Cert. Seedlings Available To Tree Farmers

Planters can look forward to planting certified nursery-grown forest tree seedlings as the result of a recent expansion of the Texas Department of Agriculture's seed certification program.

The State Seed and Plant Board, seed and seedling certifying division of the Texas Department of Agriculture, and the Texas Forest Service, a part of The Texas A&M University System, collaborated in preparing the new certification standards. Reporting on the new program, Mason Cloud, head of the Texas Forest Service Re-forestation Section said, "the certification of forest tree seed and seedlings is a major step toward the Service's long-range goal of providing Texas tree farmers with seed and seedlings of known and identifiable genetic properties."

The certification program will aid tree farmers by providing forest tree seed and seedlings that are specifically fitted to individual forest management needs. If a timber grower wants to produce trees that have wood of high specific gravity suitable for lumber and plywood, he will be able to buy seedlings of that type from the Texas Forest Service nursery near Alto.

If the landowner wants to plant seed or seedlings that have several known genetic qualities such as known fiber properties, drought-hardiness, and good growth rate and form, he is assured of getting seedlings of this type under the new certification program.

Certified seed and seedlings may be available to Texas tree farmers as early as the 1970-1971 planting season, according to Cloud.

are located at Abilene, Dallas and Amarillo, Texas, and Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. Headquarters for ACCO Feeds is at Abilene.

"Technological developments in livestock and poultry enterprises during the last two decades have been dramatic," according to Dr. A. A. Heidebrecht, ACCO Feeds Research Director. "At one time a small amount of capital, moderate managerial ability, and hard manual labor were sufficient for success. Today the livestock and poultry producer is a manager squeezed by narrow profit margins and increased specialization, with problems in financing, accounting, labor, marketing, etc. The successful livestock and poultry operator must be a thoroughly well-rounded businessman, knowledgeable in all aspects of his operation. The ACCO research program is dedicated to serving today's agricultural businessman and the agri-business of the future. The livestock and poultry industry in the future will undoubtedly face many complex economic pressures, necessitating constant foresight and willingness to adapt to changes. Research in the feed industry is essential to meeting these challenges and problems."

Heading the research staff for the Research Station, in addition to Dr. Heidebrecht, will be Dr. Nathan Reese, Dr. Gene Waddill and Joe Davis, Bill Jay, well-known feedlot manager, will be in charge of the station operations.

Insurance Ends As Child Weds

By year's end some 3.5 million Americans will turn 19—the termination date for coverage on youngsters under many family health insurance policies.

Yet some policies, points out the Health Insurance Institute, continue coverage to age 25 for unmarried, full-time students depending on parental support; and as school began this year, the majority of the 6.6 million students in the nation's colleges were still dependent on their parents for support.

Family health insurance protection also ends when the youngster marries.

Because of these variations, the Institute advises parents to check their family insurance promptly to be sure their children are covered.

Should a student no longer qualify under his family's policies, many colleges and universities have group health policies that offer protection to members of the student body.

Should he leave college for work he would, in most instances, be eligible for group health insurance through a group health plan—often paid for by his employer.

"Melanie Meddles"

By Melanie Whitley

The reason you have been spared this column for a month or so, is because I have just lived through, and over, four of the rat-raciest weeks that ever were.

It all began with an innocent visit from my mother-in-law and lasted through Harvest Festival activities, daily babysitting, five birthday suppers, one planning meeting and three brands of club meetings, religious classes once a week, the Haskell County Fair, one show-er, four bingo socials, four parties, learning to crochet, one couples' supper, time out to write twelve letters, helping take the Kindergartners to the zoo, a weekend trip and the Make It With Wool Contest.

This homemaking bit isn't as easy as the contract stated. Besides I have just received notice from the management that the homefires need tending.

I have one day circled on my calendar and marked Schedule Nothing; it's time again for one of those take-stock-of-oneself sessions.

For those of you who don't have time, I have been reading for you. Go to your nearest library or book club coupon and get Sam Levenson's Everything But Money; this book just reeks of good old common sense. It would be a good gift for new parents, because it shows the need and the results of having strict parents and obedient children.

Giants in the Earth by Roivaag tells of immigrants who first settled the West and the way the great emptiness challenged some people and drove others to despair. It reminded me of the stories my grandmother used to tell, that when she came to Knox County about seventy years ago, there were no trees as far as she could see in any direction.

Christy by Catherine Marshall is a lovely book, about a dedicated and enthusiastic teacher in the Tennessee backwoods. If you like a romantic, nostalgic tale, this is it.

After spending all summer's odd moments, September and October, and taking time off for these other books, I finally finished The Source by James Michener. I was astounded that one man could write so many pages with so many words. In a recent Writer's Digest, he told how he wrote every morning and in the afternoons mapped out in his mind what he would write the next day. This book traced Judaism from the beginnings of man, and made me wonder (does this book affect all readers the same way?) upon finishing it, if we all should be Jews. It made me see them and their problems in a new, sympathetic light. I also heard that The Source had been unrecommended for high school reading. Now, besides the fact that a student, beginning it in his freshman year, and reading it in all study halls, on the school bus, over lunch and during half time of the ballgames, couldn't possibly finish it before graduation, are adults so uncertain of their own religions, that they cannot let teenagers read and question and reach their own conclusions about God and His teachings?

Again Thanksgiving is being pushed aside for the pre-Christmas activities. Would it help to have Thanksgiving in September? Maybe? the 2nd of January?

Maybe the reason we can't wait is that we are so anxious for a time of peace and good will.

Have a peaceful holiday.

Tax Deductions For Insurance Are Limited

COLLEGE STATION - Premiums paid on health insurance policies usually can be deducted - up to a point.

According to Doris Myers, Extension home management specialist, deductions of insurance premiums as a medical expense are limited to payments which cover medical care. This means any money paid for the diagnosis, cure, treatment, or prevention of disease, for malfunctions of the body or for transportation primarily for and essential to medical care, she explains.

Premiums paid for insurance covering reimbursement for loss of limb or loss of time resulting from sickness or accident are not deductible, Mrs. Myers says. Premiums on insurance that provides only for reimbursement of prescription drug costs are deductible.

The Extension Service specialist at Texas A&M University advises keeping records of all medical costs. One never knows at the beginning of the year if such cost will be large enough to justify itemizing at income tax time.

Widows, Wives Eligible For Educational Assistance

An estimated 9,940 Texas widows of veterans who died as the result of military service will be eligible for up to 36 months of educational assistance from the Veterans Administration beginning December 1, Jack Coker, Manager of the Waco VA Regional Office, said today.

He pointed out that starting December 1, the wives of Texas' 6,148 totally and permanently disabled veterans will also be entitled to VA educational assistance payments of $130 a month - up to a maximum of 36 months - for full-time institutional training.

The allowance for three-quarters time training is $95 a month, with $60 being paid for half-time training under the new law granting these widows and wives VA educational help for the first time in the history of veterans' benefits in the United States, Coker said.

Widows and wives now eligible for this benefit will have until December 1, 1976, to complete their training under this new program, Coker explained.

He said that women who become eligible in the future for
