Crop Reports For December By Santa Fe

Following is a report on crops made by the Santa Fe railway company from information gathered by their survey over the state:

Temperatures over Texas were below normal during December; zero weather in the northwest and north plains; below freezing over most of the other sections, with snow and soaking rains. Results will be beneficial to farmers and livestock growers. The cold coming as it did immediately following balmy weather greatly decreased the number of boll weevils and other injurious insects.

Little cotton remained in fields when cold and wet weather started. Favorable weather previously enabled growers to pick unusually close and increased the state outlook for a crop near 4,500,000 bales. The holding movement continues with about 20 per cent of the new crop in the hands of growers and inland supply merchants.

Considerably less than the normal area of land has been winter-plowed due to the dry condition of the soil in the fall, as well as to the uncertainty as to acreages to be planted in 1933.

Sweet potato harvesting is completed with most of the crop sold because of scarce and weak sales. Little of the crop has moved. Quality is high and production heavier than last season.

Prospects for winter wheat have been much improved by recent moisture. A large acreage was replanted before the snow came. The state's total wheat acreage is 3,833,000, or 12 per cent under that of a year ago.

Movement of turkeys to Christmas markets was heavier than usual, although prices paid to growers were low. Quality continued good in all sections.

An enthusiastic meeting was reported and officers for the organization were elected, the names of whom will be given at a later date.

Speeches were made by several and resolutions were adopted. Delegates, to be appointed by the chairman, will attend the state meeting at Austin on Friday, Jan. 13. Expectations of the officers are to have united forces in each community in the county, it is said.

Principal speakers at the state meeting Friday will be Dr. George V. Truitt of Dallas and Bishop H. A. Boaz of the Methodist church. Several will probably attend this meeting from Knox county.

MRS. SMITH ENTERTAINS

Mrs. J. W. Smith entertained with a luncheon Tuesday when fifteen widows and grandmothers of the town were her guests.

The tables were set when the guests arrived and they found their places by looking for an old fashioned girl that bore their name.

The menu consisted of chicken and dressing, giblet gravy, black-eyed peas, creamed potatoes, cranberry sauce, cucumber pickles, candied potatoes, squash, fruit salad, beet pickles, peach pickles, cake and jello topped with whipped cream, and hot biscuits.

Those who enjoyed the occasion were Meses. I. F. Cummins, E. R. Messer, C. B. Teague, Della Short, Sam Anderson, W. P. Pope, L. C. Porter, C. J. Reese, M. E. Humphries, J. M. Lee, T. A. Withrow, C. N. Boyd, R. K. Shaver, Z. T. Rogers, M. A. Reeder.

Mrs. Cummings held the distinction of being the oldest or the "youngest" as she stated, being eighty-five years. She is a jolly and we enjoyed meeting her along with the others.

Mrs. Smith did a wonderful deed in this, the bud of the New Year, and it would be a fine resolution if we all would find something to do that would bring gladness to someone during this year.

Method For Sugar Curing Meat Given

Following was prepared for The Herald at the request of several people by County Agent W. E. Jones, and explains the A. & M. method of sugar curing meat.

For 100 pounds of pork:
8 pounds salt
2 pounds Brown Sugar
2 Ounces salt peter.

One-half of the above mixture should be rubbed into the meat and packed into a charred barrel or a stone crock; at the end of five or six days repack the meat and rub the remaining half of the mixture into the meat.

Hams and shoulders should be left in the cure two days for each pound they weigh, for example, a 15-pound ham would be left in the cure 30 days. Bacon and small cuts should be left in the cure one day for each pound they weigh.

At the end of the curing period let each cut soak in fresh tap water for one or two hours and let hang for 24 hours before smoking. For smoking use green mesquite, pecan, hickory or clean corn cobs.

DIRECTORS MEET HELD THIS WEEK

At the annual meeting of The Citizens State Bank on January 10, 1933, officers and directors for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

E. O. Jamison, president; Henry L. White, vice president; T. E. Robbins, cashier; J. M. Avriett, assistant cashier; G. W. Coates, bookkeeper; T. P. Frizzell, S. M. Clouts, J. W. Howell, S. P. Keny, S. N. Reed, B. C. Anderson.

The combined efforts and resources of both banks placed into one institution gives the management of the Citizens State Bank an opportunity to render real service to the entire community.

Many things go into the making of a good bank. Among these things are money invested by the shareholders, experience of the officers and directors, and the loyal support of the citizens of the community.

Beginning this new year with one good bank in the community, with experienced men composing the personnel of its management, we expect to take our place in the community as an institution that is needed for the carrying on of business and rendering every banking facility that the community needs. With this increased effort and opportunity of service, we solicit the business and goodwill of every individual and firm within the bounds of our trade territory.

Building for the future when prices come back to where they should be, we expect to help our customers carry on and be ready for the prosperous times that always have followed periods of depression.

Elsewhere we publish a combined statement, and give every one in the community a cordial welcome to visit our institution, and combine their efforts with ours to maintain a bank to which we can all point with pride.

CALVIN COOLIDGE

Last Thursday America lost another of its great men when Calvin Coolidge passed away suddenly of a heart attack. To our minds, he was one of the greatest presidents the nation has had. Noted for his silence, he knew when and how to speak. His words were heeded with a degree of respect seldom accorded a human. They sounded a note of wisdom in each utterance. There was something to the man who spoke them, an unswerving religious conviction, an unquestionable character and a dignity commensurate to the positions he held. There was never a question as to where Calvin Coolidge would stand upon any subject. He was always found on the side with right and justice. Publicity and notoriety held no lure for him, only religious and manly methods were his tools. If it could not be done with these, he refused to employ any others.

Time will add to the memory of this great man—the more years that pass, the greater we will realize how many qualities he really possessed.

Like a child mourns the passing of a parent, this nation mourns the death of Calvin Coolidge. The Herald joins the multitudes in feeling this nation's loss.

Some Knox In Our Brain

Well, folks, we can't resist it any longer. Most newspaper editors write what they call a "column" in their papers, and the bug has bit us. Finally we just had to give under and proceed to do our best to write one of these columns. Maybe this is the only real joy a lot of us editors get out of life is to say a few words in a column of our own and hope we will live through it.

We are afraid most of you people will think that this should have been named "Some Knocks in Our Brain," and we guess you are right. For there are lots of loose screws up there that might rattle a bit at times.

But we really have Knox City and its upbuilding on our brain and want to dedicate these few paragraphs to this cause and perhaps a bit of fun and foolishness mixed along with it.

We were talking the other day with a man who has been traveling around over the country some lately and he says that Knox City is the best little town he has seen on his travels. We agree with him. There is more business and finer people in this town than any in the state this size, and that is not just talk, either.

Boy, the city officials sure did get on the job with that street grader and they have the streets looking fine. Immediately after the rains they had the grader going and the majority of the streets are in splendid condition. Hurrah for our city officials and the men on the graders.

Optimism seems to be high in Knox City among the business men for the New Year. They are almost unanimous in the opinion that 1933 will be a far better year than 1932. Things have already shown an upward trend. We made a big crop in 1932 even if we didn't get much for it. It yielded the farmers a lot of money and put most of them in the best shape they have been in several years.

We received a letter from Buck Branton at Abilene, N. M. and he said he sure liked the paper and sent us a dollar and a half for it. Thanks, Mr. Branton, hope you continue to like The Herald.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Charles E. Dunn

Jesus at Work
 Lesson for January 15. Mark 1:21-24.

Golden Text: John 5:17.
 The verses chosen for our lesson give a swift moving picture, from the graphic pen of Mark, of a busy Sabbath in the life of Jesus. The impression given is one of concentrated power, without haste, without rest. Mark is at his best in the nervous rapidity of the narrative.

At the beginning, we are told that the Master went to the synagogue. Such attendance was habitual. (See Luke 4:16). Now there are many people in our day who rather pride themselves on the fact that they no longer attend Church. They feel emancipated. Such folk get no comfort from the example of Jesus for He went regularly to the house of prayer, even though He must have been greatly bored, at times, by the sermons He heard.

Modern life needs badly the relaxation of spirit true worship affords. The tempo, the strain, the social pressure of our time, are so fierce, that we easily succumb to nervous prostration, or "nervous prosperity," as Dr. Grenfell calls it. But the Master not only entered the synagogue. He took an active part in the worship, charming those present by the beauty of His words. Then Jesus healed an afflicted man, one nervously unstrung. While few have similar cleansing power all of us can, as Cardinal Newman bids us, be "merciful toward the absurd."

Next the Master went into the home of Peter. There He continued His ministry of healing, curing the apostle's mother-in-law of a fever. Finally, in the evening, a great crowd gathered at the door and He was able to comfort and restore many of the sick. What an ideal finish to a victorious day! How beautifully worship and service are blended! Here we see the Great Teacher and Physician with all energies released, giving Himself to the full!

"THE SKATING RINK BLUES"

(Editorial)
 It seems that here lately some of our students have taken quite a bad case of the "skating rink blues," so bad that they cannot wait until school is out to go to the skating rink.

Skating is of course a very good exercise, but that isn't putting rink on his mind on skating, he knows very well that he cannot work that algebra problem or solve that proposition in Geometry. And when he comes to school unprepared or his lessons prepared poorly, he cannot carry on the work he is supposed to do and he can expect to pass those six weeks exams.

The student should arrange to do his skating on Fridays and Saturdays so that it will not interfere with his studies.

May we express our thanks and appreciation to Mr. Dean for giving us the press room for an office. This we do appreciate, because it is a much better and more convenient place to work.—The Staff.

CARE OF OUR FIRE SERVANTS

Each of our fire servants should be taken care of properly and according to their uses. Many people do not pay enough attention to the care and uses of our five servants, but they use them in dangerous ways and place them in dangerous places.

Matches are a very useful servant, but they may be made a very dangerous one. If they are used in the kitchen for the cook stove, they should be placed in a tin container with a lid over it, never leave in the pasteboard boxes in which they come, or in any other container which is inflammable. Keep them out of reach of small children, for they see no harm in playing with them, which is indeed, very harmful. It tickles their childish delight to see the red and blue and green flame that igniting the match causes. They do not know that this very flame, which is so pretty to look at, may cause many serious burns and sometimes, even death. Matches should also be kept out of the way of mice who like to nibble on them, thus igniting the match. This may cause the burning down of a house or barn whenever the mice and the matches happen to be together.

Gas is one of the most dangerous fire servants we have, especially in use. In the summer time when the heaters are down, care should be taken to see that gas does not escape. Children should not play around the gas connections. They might turn the gas on and forget to turn it off. Later on someone might enter the room with a lamp or light a match and with the room full of gas an immediate explosion would follow. It is very dangerous to light a match and work it around the connection to see if gas is escaping. It will blaze when the match strikes it, and someone or the house may be burned. In the winter time, when the heaters are being used, there should be no loose gas escaping, and someone should always be in the house when the gas is on. The heater shouldn't be left on while the family is off somewhere else just for the sake of having a warm house when you get back home. There might be an explosion, or your house might burn, while you are away.

Housewives use gasoline quite a bit around the house for cleaning woodwork, bath-tubs, and cisterns. For cleaning woodwork and bath-rooms, gasoline is a good cleanser, but when using it there should never be a fire in the room and matches should not be lighted. If this happens, there will probably be an explosion. In cleaning clothes with gasoline one should be very careful. It is better to clean clothes outside. They should be dipped up and down in the gasoline until clean. If they are rubbed, it will cause sparks to fly and the person cleaning the clothes may be seriously burned. Gasoline used for house purposes should be kept in a cool, damp place.

Electricity is one of the most luxurious conveniences that the modern people of today have. It, too, is a fire servant that should be taken care of in the right way. In placing electricity in your home, you should get an electrician who knows how to do the job well. You should have the electric wiring in your home gone over every two or three years at least. Fire may start in the roof of a house through bad wiring.

Lamps are probably more dangerous than electricity. When the lamps are lighted, they should always have the globe around them as a protector. They should not be set in a draft, as it might blow them over or blow something inflammable into the blaze and start the house burning. They should not be placed by window curtains, bed clothing, or other things that are easily caught on fire. The blaze might run up and eat their burning. Lamps should not be left burning after everyone has gone to bed, for they might cause an explosion.

Candles are another fire servant to watch. Christmas time is especially the time for candles. They look very pretty on the Christmas tree, and in the windows on Christmas eve. The candles or the tree might be slightly tipped so as to catch the limbs of the tree on fire, and this would be very dangerous with more catch on fire and be burned. If any of these accidents occurred, through candles near by ready to make the blaze larger. Candles placed in the window are also dangerous. The curtain may catch on fire, the decorations may catch on fire or someone flitting by the window may use the use of candles, it would surely spoil somebody's Christmas.

Our fire servants may cause many many fire, and for this reason they should be cared for carefully and with good judgment.

Mystery Club In First Meeting

The Mystery club, which has been organized lately, held its first meeting at Marilyn Edwards' home December 29, at four o'clock. The following officers were elected:

Marilynn Edwards, president; Mary V. Davis, vice president; Dorothy Shaver, secretary; Louise Davis Opal Duham, treasurer; Irene McAuley, reporter.

The hostess, Marilyn Edwards, served hot chocolate, cake, nuts, and candy, which was very appetizing and was devoured ravenously. The club attended to business and set the date for the next meeting.

GRADE NEWS

The first grade is glad to report an increase in their roll. The new students are: Ben Brockett, Ruby Brockett, Rayford Paul, Jim Paul, Marvin Pack, June Plumlee.

The second grade has been busy for the last few days building a grocery store in their class room.

In observance of thrift month, the third grade is giving a chapel program, Wednesday, Jan. 4. The name of this play is "Pennies Grow."

New pupils in the third grade are Vance Malone and Joe King.

The fifth grade is building a colonial home in their room. We hope it will be placed on exhibition.

The P. T. A. met Tuesday night at 7:30. The first and fourth grades helped with the program.

New Year's Resolutions

Mary McAuley to raise her civics grade by daily work.
 T. L. to write more checks on his dad.

Donald to use the library more.
 John Elber to become a mail-carrier after finishing school.

Jocile not to stay in more than five times a week.
 Glenn to shine his shoes at least once a week.

Herbert to change the brand of Barney Humphries' cake the "sketchball" can.

Anice to pray for the "Field Folks".

Francis to sing a solo for the graduation exercises.

Mr. Dean to take an advanced course in English next summer.

Archer B. to read more fiction and less Spanish.

The reason why the Kennel was not published last week was because the Freshmen, who were supposed to get the paper out, were unable to do so.

Since the Christmas holidays are over and nothing has been said about the ex-students, we will take this opportunity to mention them in the school society column (or is it a society column?)

We shall start out with last year's best all around girl, Sydna Edwards, however a correction should be made. The same is positively Sydna V. Edwards.

Mabel Clonts, Bernice Swift and

Sydna V. had a most enjoyable voyage back to school, especially Mabel, we rather think she enjoyed the whole vacation.

Edmond Smith, Lynn Waldrip and Jack Wilson decided there wasn't any Santa Claus the other night (that was before Christmas) when they tried to go to Munday. The trip must have been important, they stuc kevery car they could go in the mud, and then evidently spent the night in some water hole. Edmond it seems, was positive he couldn't get his feet wet. The point is they did not get to Munday.

From all indications John Hyde and R. V. Herring enjoyed themselves Christmas and that they like this part of the country so well that they are not going back to school.

Bill White is just the opposite to John Hyde and R. V. his only weakness is in Denton, I guess. He caught the returning train back, almost before he got here. Send the Kennel her picture, Bill.

The writer hasn't seen very much of Hazel Jones and Mildred Dutton. Aren't you glad ladies however if you want your vacation days published just drop the Kennel a line, (not a life line either).

Heard in English II.—A pun is when you leave your car somewhere to get some money on it. Now, it isn't. It's a pool of water.

Dear uncle Charley—What's the matter with Joe Reeder lately? Why does he have to stay in so much? Miss Park

Answer: He has just decided that he was not intended to be a Spaniard after all.

Dear uncle Charley—Of late, I have been worried about my boy-friend whom you will know as "Reesy." He seems so unattractive to me, and the last three days he has walked up the steps with the same girl. What shall I do to regain his attentions?

Mary McAuley
 Answer: The only thing I know to do is walk a little bit faster (you know Reesy walks fast) and beat this other girl to the steps. Don't, by any means, let her beat your time.

I have opened up a home laundry. All work guaranteed. Will appreciate your business. Mrs. Walter Herring. 19-21p

How Old?

He doesn't look a day over fifty. And feels like forty. At the age of 62. That's the happy state of health and pep a man enjoys when he gives his vital organs a little stimulant! When your system is stagnant and you feel sluggish, headachy, half-alive—don't waste money on "tonics" or "regulators" or similar patent medicines. Stimulate the liver and bowels. Use a famous physician's prescription every drug store keeps. Just ask them for Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin.

This appetizing syrup is made from fresh inactive herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. One dose will clear up almost any case of headache, biliousness, constipation.

But if you want to keep in fine shape, feel fit the year 'round, take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin every few days. You'll eat better, sleep better and feel better. You will never need another laxative. Give the children a little of this delicious syrup two or three times a week. A gentle, natural stimulant that makes them eat and keeps the bowels from clogging. And saves them from so many sick spells and colds. Have a sound stomach, active liver and strong bowel muscles that expel every bit of waste and poison every day! Just keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin on hand; take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. See if you don't feel new vigor in every day.

CALVIN COOLIDGE

Last Thursday America lost another of its great men when Calvin Coolidge passed away suddenly of a heart attack. To our minds, he was one of the greatest presidents the nation has had. Noted for his silence, he knew when and how to speak. His words were heeded with a degree of respect seldom accorded a human. They sounded a note of wisdom in each utterance. There was something to the man who spoke them, an unswerving religious conviction, an unquestionable character and a dignity commensurate to the positions he held. There was never a question as to where Calvin Coolidge would stand upon any subject. He was always found on the side with right and justice. Publicity and notoriety held no lure for him, only religious and manly methods were his tools. If it could not be done with these, he refused to employ any others.

Time will add to the memory of this great man—the more years that pass, the greater we will realize how many qualities he really possessed.

Like a child mourns the passing of a parent, this nation mourns the death of Calvin Coolidge. The Herald joins the multitudes in feeling this nation's loss.

Some Knox In Our Brain

Well, folks, we can't resist it any longer. Most newspaper editors write what they call a "column" in their papers, and the bug has bit us. Finally we just had to give under and proceed to do our best to write one of these columns. Maybe this is the only real joy a lot of us editors get out of life is to say a few words in a column of our own and hope we will live through it.

We are afraid most of you people will think that this should have been named "Some Knocks in Our Brain," and we guess you are right. For there are lots of loose screws up there that might rattle a bit at times.

But we really have Knox City and its upbuilding on our brain and want to dedicate these few paragraphs to this cause and perhaps a bit of fun and foolishness mixed along with it.

We were talking the other day with a man who has been traveling around over the country some lately and he says that Knox City is the best little town he has seen on his travels. We agree with him. There is more business and finer people in this town than any in the state this size, and that is not just talk, either.

Boy, the city officials sure did get on the job with that street grader and they have the streets looking fine. Immediately after the rains they had the grader going and the majority of the streets are in splendid condition. Hurrah for our city officials and the men on the graders.

Optimism seems to be high in Knox City among the business men for the New Year. They are almost unanimous in the opinion that 1933 will be a far better year than 1932. Things have already shown an upward trend. We made a big crop in 1932 even if we didn't get much for it. It yielded the farmers a lot of money and put most of them in the best shape they have been in several years.

We received a letter from Buck Branton at Abilene, N. M. and he said he sure liked the paper and sent us a dollar and a half for it. Thanks, Mr. Branton, hope you continue to like The Herald.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Charles E. Dunn

Jesus at Work

Lesson for January 15. Mark 1:21-24.

Golden Text: John 5:17.

The verses chosen for our lesson give a swift moving picture, from the graphic pen of Mark, of a busy Sabbath in the life of Jesus. The impression given is one of concentrated power, without haste, without rest. Mark is at his best in the nervous rapidity of the narrative.

At the beginning, we are told that the Master went to the synagogue. Such attendance was habitual. (See Luke 4:16). Now there are many people in our day who rather pride themselves on the fact that they no longer attend Church. They feel emancipated. Such folk get no comfort from the example of Jesus for He went regularly to the house of prayer, even though He must have been greatly bored, at times, by the sermons He heard.

Modern life needs badly the relaxation of spirit true worship affords. The tempo, the strain, the social pressure of our time, are so fierce, that we easily succumb to nervous prostration, or "nervous prosperity," as Dr. Grenfell calls it. But the Master not only entered the synagogue. He took an active part in the worship, charming those present by the beauty of His words. Then Jesus healed an afflicted man, one nervously unstrung. While few have similar cleansing power all of us can, as Cardinal Newman bids us, be "merciful toward the absurd."

Next the Master went into the home of Peter. There He continued His ministry of healing, curing the apostle's mother-in-law of a fever.

Finally, in the evening, a great crowd gathered at the door and He was able to comfort and restore many of the sick. What an ideal finish to a victorious day! How beautifully worship and service are blended! Here we see the Great Teacher and Physician with all energies released, giving Himself to the full!

"THE SKATING RINK BLUES"

(Editorial)
 It seems that here lately some of the students have taken quite a bad case of the "skating rink blues," so bad that they cannot wait until the rink is out to go to the skating rink.

Skating is of course a very good exercise, but that isn't putting kindness on his mind on skating, he knows very well that he cannot work that algebra problem or solve that proposition in Geometry. And when he comes to school unprepared or his lessons prepared poorly, he cannot carry on the work he is supposed to do. He can expect to pass those six weeks exams.

The student should arrange to do his skating on Fridays and Saturdays so that it will not interfere with his studies.

May we express our thanks and appreciation to Mr. Dean for giving us the press room for an office. This we do appreciate, because it is much better and more convenient place to work.—The Staff.

CARE OF OUR FIRE SERVANTS

Each of our fire servants should be taken care of properly and according to their uses. Many people do not pay enough attention to the care and uses of our fire servants, but they use them in dangerous ways and place them in dangerous places.

Matches are a very useful servant, but they may be made a very dangerous one. If they are used in the kitchen for the cook stove, they should be placed in a tin container with a lid over it, never leave in the pasteboard boxes in which they come, or in any other container which is inflammable. Keep them out of reach of small children, for they see no harm in playing with them, which is indeed, very harmful. It tickles their childish desire to see the red and blue and green time that igniting the match causes. They do not know that this very same, which is so pretty to look at, may cause many serious burns and sometimes, even death. Matches should also be kept out of the way of mice who like to nibble on them, thus igniting the match. This may cause the burning down of a house or barn whenever the mice and the matches happen to be together.

Gas is one of the most dangerous fire servants we have, especially in use. In the summer time when the gas heaters are down, care should be taken to see that gas does not escape. Children should not play around the gas connections. They might turn the gas on and forget to turn it off. Later on someone might enter the room with a lamp or light a match and with the room full of gas an immediate explosion would follow. It is very dangerous to light a match and work it around the connection to see if gas is escaping. It will blaze when the match strikes it, and someone or the house may be burned. In the winter time, when the heaters are being used, there should be no loose gas escaping, and someone should always be in the house when the gas is on. The heater shouldn't be left on while the family is off somewhere else just for the sake of having a warm house when you get back home. There might be an explosion, or your house might burn, while you are away.

Housewives use gasoline quite a bit around the house for cleaning woodwork, bath rooms, and closets. For cleaning woodwork and bath rooms, gasoline is a good cleanser, but when using it there should never be a fire in the room and matches should not be lighted. If this happens, there will probably be an explosion. In cleaning clothes with gasoline one should be very careful. It is better to clean clothes outside. They should be dipped up and down in the gasoline until clean. If they are rubbed, it will cause sparks to fly and the person cleaning the clothes may be seriously burned. Gasoline used for house purposes should be kept in a cool, damp place.

Electricity is one of the most luxurious conveniences that the modern people of today have. It, too, is a fire servant that should be taken care of in the right way. In placing electricity in your home, you should get an electrician who knows how to do the job well. You should have the electric wiring in your home gone over every two or three years at least. Fire may start in the roof of a house through bad wiring.

Lamps are probably more dangerous than electricity. When the lamps are lighted, they should always have the globe around them as a protector. They should not be set in a draft, as it might blow them over or blow something inflammable into the blaze and start the house burning. They should not be placed by window curtains, bed clothing, or other things that are easily caught on fire. The blaze might run up and eat them burning. Lamps should not be left burning after everyone has gone to bed, for they might cause an explosion.

Candles are another fire servant to watch. Christmas time is especially the time for candles. They look very pretty on the Christmas tree, and in the windows on Christmas eve. The candles or the tree might be slightly tipped so as to catch the limbs of the tree on fire, and this would be very dangerous with more catch on fire and be burned. If any of these accidents occurred, through candles near by ready to make the blaze larger. Candles placed in the window are also dangerous. The curtain may catch on fire, the decorations may catch on fire or someone flitting by the window may use the use of candles, it would surely spoil somebody's Christmas.

Our fire servants may cause many fires, and for this reason they should be cared for carefully and with good judgment.

The following officers were elected: Marilyn Edwards, president; Mary V. Davis, vice president; Dorothy Shaver, secretary; Louise Davis, Opal Duham, treasurer; Irene McAuley, reporter.

Since the Christmas holidays are over and nothing has been said about the ex-students, we will take this opportunity to mention them in the school society column (or is it a society column?)

We shall start out with last year's best all around girl, Sydna Edwards, however a correction should be made here. The name is positively Sydna V. Edwards.

Mabel Clonts, Bernice Swift and

Sydna V. had a most enjoyable voyage back to school, especially Mabel, we rather think she enjoyed the whole vacation.

Edmond Smith, Lynn Waldrip and Jack Wilson decided there wasn't any Santa Claus the other night (that was before Christmas) when they tried to go to Munday. The trip must have been important, they state every car they could get in the mud, and then evidently spent the night in some water hole. Edmond it seems, was positive he couldn't get his feet wet. The point is they did not get to Munday.

From all indications John Hyde and R. V. Herring enjoyed themselves Christmas and that they like this part of the country so well that they are not going back to school.

Bill White is just the opposite to John Hyde and R. V. his only weakness is in Denton, I guess. He caught the returning train back, almost before he got here. Send the Kennel her picture, Bill.

Dear uncle Charley—Of late, I have been worried about my boyfriend whom you will know as "Reesey." He seems so unattractive to me, and the last three days he has walked up the steps with the same girl. What shall I do to regain his attentions?

Mary McAuley

Answer: The only thing I know to do is walk a little bit faster (you know Reesey walks fast) and beat this other girl to the steps. Don't, by any means, let her beat your time.

How Old?

He doesn't look a day over fifty. And feels like forty.
 At the age of 62.
 That's the happy state of health and pep a man enjoys when he gives his vital organs a little stimulant! When your system is stagnant and you feel sluggish, headachy, half-alive—don't waste money on "tonics" or "regulators" or similar patent medicines. Stimulate the liver and bowels. Use a famous physician's prescription every drug store keeps. Just ask them for Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin.
 This appetizing syrup is made from fresh laxative herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. One dose will clear up almost any case of headache, biliousness, constipation.

But if you want to keep in fine shape, feel fit the year 'round, take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin every few days. You'll eat better, sleep better and feel better. You will never need another laxative.
 Give the children a little of this delicious syrup two or three times a week. A gentle, natural stimulant that makes them eat and keeps the bowels from clogging. And saves them from so many sick spells and colds.
 Have a sound stomach, active liver and strong bowel muscles that expel every bit of waste and poison every day! Just keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin on hand; take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. See if you don't feel new vigor in every way.

Printed silk dresses and frocks, now making their appearance for a new season, have evidently followed a cue from winter apparel's popularity in bright colors. Prints being shown have bright colored grounds such as pumpkin, light reds, romantic greens, gold, light blue and rose as well as grey and beige.

In design the patterns are brush or freehand motifs. They are modeled in simple tailored effects. The patterns seemingly are selected to harmonize well with current colors in winter coats, which shows that the designers are at last recognizing the need of giving the wearer an opportunity to be well dressed without purchase of an entire new costume.

The illustration above portrays one of the popular new spring print models. It is a pumpkin ground with a romantic green and black pattern.
