CRIPPLED CHILDREN; BERLIN CRISIS CHIEF TOPICS

Weaver And Counts Speak To Lions Club

Knox City's Lions Club held their regular Wednesday noon luncheon-meeting, and two men were principal speakers for the occasion.

Joe Weaver of Olney was a visitor of the club and made a short talk on the Lions Crippled Children's Home in Kerrville, and David Counts of Knox City made a short speech concerning the Berlin situation.

Weaver was the first speaker and said he had recently returned from a visit to the Crippled Children's Camp at Kerrville.

Weaver told members and visitors that the camp was operating at maximum capacity. That over 140 crippled children were in attendance at the camp during the five camp periods during the summer.

All buildings and furnishings are in excellent condition, he said, and plans call for a new building to be built. This will house the arts and crafts workshop, he said.

Besides a camp for crippled children during the summer, the camp also cares for the blind during the winter.

Starting Sept. 10, there will be a series of classes for the blind. Persons who have recently lost their eyesight may attend and courses available teach them to read and write braille, as well as living in a dark world, Mr. Weaver said.

The courses are set up in accordance with the state commission for the blind, and receives some help in operations by the state. Lions clubs donate heavily to the project, too he said.

Weaver said courses are also available in metal and wood-working, and that all furniture at the camp had been re-finished by blind workmen.

Other projects are writing on typewriters and learning to eat, as well as go to town and around the camp by themselves.

"The camp is a wonderful thing," Weaver said, "and if you go by Kerrville, be sure to see the camp."

In summation, Weaver said,

"When you see 140 happy kiddos, you know it is all worthwhile."

"If you have an opportunity to visit the camp, do so, if you don't have an opportunity, make one."

David Counts, the only Lions Club member here on the National Guard team said he would like to make a short speech to the members concerning the Berlin situation.

Counts said he would like to express his own personal views of the Berlin crisis as well as some of the local people concerning the situation in Berlin and the Communist threat to peace.

"We experience a crisis every day in something," he said, "but this is bigger than we've had to face before."

Counts said we must take a firm stand—that war was inevitable — sooner or later we would be in war.

Counts told the members that if we had war, he would be one of the first in Knox City to go, but that he thought we had to fight for our freedom, and that we hadn't been very firm in our stands on the European front.

Counts said Berlin was the showcase of capitalistic government and the Communistic form of government. "East and West Berlin are side by side and the people there are looking at the different forms of government," he said.

"Not only the people there, but the whole world is looking at us to see what we are going to do," Counts said.

Berlin stands for two things, he said: First, it stands as a showcase of freedom, and second, West Berlin is an escape hatch from slavery to freedom. Three million have escaped to freedom from East Berlin, and right now there are 2,000 people each week retreating to the West from Communism.

"Naturally the Reds would like to see that door closed," Counts said.

Counts said that in the past when the U.S. stood up, the Reds backed down. He said we should be firm and that retreat would only lead to war under worse conditions than now exist. "We must show a willingness to fight. We cannot afford to get weak," he replied.

In conclusion, Counts said that weakness would bring about war and defeat. "I will be one of the first to go if we have war. Perhaps we have to have it. We have to be ready," he concluded.

Knox Potatoes ARE Good; Just Ask Bruce Campbell!

One of Knox City's most avid aricultural boosters is Bruce Campbell, Sr., president of the Citizens State Bank.

Last week he contacted Bill Lankford, who raises some of the best Knox County potatoes, to pick him a bag "of the very best" for Bruce to take to his friend Ray Howard, publisher of the Wichita Record News in Wichita Falls.

Campbell told Lankford to leave the potatoes at "M" System and he would pick them up.

O. W. Caussey, manager, decided to give Mr. Howard some Knox County onions. Caussey hand picked the best the county had to offer, and put them in a cellophane sack.

Lankford also hand-picked the potatoes, only they were the worst he could find on his farm. They were knobby-deformed specimens of every shape, size, and color.

These were put in a large bag and stapled and tied securely.

Mr. Howard was informed of the joke and when Mr. Campbell arrived at the paper and opened the sack of "fine Knox County potatoes" a photographer was on hand to record the surprise and shock of the event.

As far as the Herald can ascertain, Mr. Howard is still awaiting his potatoes to eat with his onions!

Local Pilots Get O.K., Despite Safety Man Hitting Dirt

Bill Huggins and George Houston, airplane crop dusters of Rochester and Knox City, recently devised large flood lights for their airplanes to enable them to dust cotton at night.

Due to the winds which prevail in this country most of the daylight hours, the innovation allows them to dust at any and all hours.

The pilots applied and got a waiver from the FAA in Fort Worth to operate the aircraft in this manner.

Two men from FAA Aviation Safety District Office, Fort Worth, were here Monday night to witness a demonstration.

Huggins remained with the FAA men to explain the procedure and Houston was the pilot of the airplane.

Dennis Boatright, cousin of Houston's wife, was the flagman.

All went according to plans, and one of the gentlemen, O. K. Haley, was standing beside Boatright when Houston made a pass above them. Haley, not accustomed to the large lights, believed the plane was going to hit them, so he hit the mud.

Haley's partner on the visit here was Mr. Gaalaas. Despite the incident, both men were impressed and gave their stamp of approval.

Curfew Ordinance To Be Enforced

Chief of Police J. J. Hester said he would strictly enforce an ordinance passed by the city in September of 1957, prohibiting minors from being on the streets after 11 p.m.

The ordinance says, in part: Any person under the age of 21 years who shall be found upon the streets or alleys of the City of Knox City, Texas, at night, later than 11 p.m., shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not less than one dollar nor more than fifty dollars.

Be it further ordained that the foregoing section shall not apply to any person under the age of 21 years who shall at the time of being so found upon the streets or alleys of said city be accompanied by his or her parent or guardian, or to any person or persons in search of the services of a physician.

Hester said he would begin enforcement of the law in the next few days "as soon as it has been publicized," he said.

the book worm

"In some places the book is almost a forgotten invention."

The thought is lifted bodily from an article in Saturday Review and is a quotation from Dr. Logan Wilson, until recently Chancellor of the University of Texas and now president of the American Council on Education. Old Chel knew Dr. Wilson back when he was an English teacher and has followed his career with interest. He believes, among other things, that you can learn to write only by writing.

Also that there are too many students to be taught by old-fashioned methods and that many of them can get along with less personal attention from teachers. This is where the library and librarians come in, for Dr. Wilson believes that "education must rely also upon proven tools of the profession," meaning books among other tools.

Closed circuit television is already being used in many places.

A recurring thought: "The space back of the hospital would be an ideal location for a library." The person who keeps saying this is not Old Chel either.

At least one town in Texas, (we can tell you its name if you ask), has combined its school library with a community library in a beautiful new building on the school campus.

One business man used books from the High School Library for a talk this week. This is satisfying to Old Chel. Books are to be used.

GIFTS — Snow's "Sequoyah, Young Cherokee Guide," a memorial to Leon Strickland, Jr., given by Mrs. Philip Colehour.

Hemingway's "Old Man and the Sea," given by the Paul Huges.

More Texas books are needed by the Seventh Grade for that history course. The list of books about our state is long and there are many that should be available here. What better plan than to give one of these to the Memorial Shelf!

The long fitted sleeves tapered to points at the hands.

The aisle wide silk skirt had a floating back pannier that swept into a court train. Her veil was a three tiered finger length of silk illusion and was caught to a head dress of matching silk, pearls and sequins.

She wore a single strand of pearls. Her bouquet was stephenatis, gardenias and a white orchid.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Dick Stebbins of Nacogdoches. Her costume was of pale blue diamond lace over a darker shade of blue.

The front yoke continued to form a large bertha collar to a low V neck in the back. A flowing back panel of chiffon formed a short empress train.

Paul said for all to "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of truth." When we think on the times in which we are living we realize we are in the last days. It is evil times when men are lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, without natural affections, trucebreakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good, traits, heady, high-minded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God, having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof; The warning to all is to turn away from all these evils and seek the power of the holy spirit of which God promised to pour out upon all who would turn unto Him. For us to be able to stand steadfast we must have this power. The power of the wicked one is great. The scriptures declare that the whole world lieth in wickedness and that the God of this world deceiveth the whole world. Be not deceived but "study to show thyself approved unto God."

For God loves you. He will stand by you in the evil times and He will shew you great and mighty things.

How about a Fair Break for Railroads?

We're asking your support for equal treatment by government of all carriers, including the railroads

The Association of American Railroads has drawn up a document called "Magna Carta for Transportation."

We're asking for public support of this common-sense statement on public transportation policy, hoping citizens will recognize that an entire industry that serves them is being deprived of its natural rights—and will want to help.

What to do? Ask your congressman to help restore to the railroads these "four freedoms":

- Freedom from discriminatory regulation
- Freedom from discriminatory taxation
- Freedom from subsidized competition
- Freedom to provide a diversified transportation service

"M" SYSTEM SUPER MARKETS

AUSTIN, Tex. — After years of tax argument in Texas, debate now seems to have narrowed down to one question. It is whether to have a sales tax on specified items or one on all but specified items.

First is known as the Pennsylvania-type sales tax. It is favored by Governor Price Daniel as a means of raising $303,000,000 of the $360,000,000 he feels is needed.

ed. It would list the items on which a 2 per cent sales tax would be levied. Goal would be to cover all items selling for 50 cents or more except food to be eaten at home, prescription drug, clothing costing less than $10, feed, seed, fertilizer, books, farm machinery, livestock and gas and electricity used in manufacturing.

Other approach would be a bill like the Senate passed last session. It does not attempt to list all the items to be taxed but applies to everything except the items exempted, including the usual groceries, drugs, and farm needs.

Aim of both bills is the same: to raise a lot of money with a lot of retail sales taxes. There is no serious attempt to raise the bulk of the needed money by any other means other than retail sales taxes.

To some it might seem a Tweedle Dee-Tweedle Dum choice. But not to Governor Daniel and to many legislators. A sales tax that applies to everything except exempt items is, in the governor's eyes, a "general sales tax," against which he is dead set.

Objectors to the Pennsylvania tax contend it would be one long pain in the neck both for state tax collectors and retail merchants, to keep up with what is in the long, long list and what isn't. . . . Too, they point out that new products are constantly coming on the market and would be tax-free.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson appeared at the hearing as one of the critics of the Daniel (Pennsylvania) plan.

IN THE MILL — Legislature is moving swiftly in its short session, trying to avoid re-ploughing the same ground covered on tax bills last session.

Among revenue raising measures under consideration are these:

GOVERNOR'S PACKAGE bill by Rep. Charles Ballman of Borger. This would include the Pennsylvania-type 2 per cent sales tax, a provision for minimum levy of one per cent per 1,000 cubic feet on gas, a two-factor franchise tax on interstate corporations, a 50 per cent increase in drivers' license fees, a transfer of that portion of gasoline taxes allocated for schools at the end of August each year and a leveling of the tax on coin-operated machines at $10 each per year.

HINSON PACKAGE BILL, by Rep. George Hinson of Mineola, frequent sponsor of measures favored by the governor. Hinson's bill would include a sales tax on purchases of $5 or more, a corporate income tax, real estate transfer tax, a severance beneficiary tax on natural gas, a utilities tax and a one per cent transfer from the permanent school fund. Estimated yield: — $368,000,000.

GAS TAX BILL, by Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston. Bill is designed to insure that the state would collect a minimum tax of one cent on each 1,000 cubic feet of Texas gas. If the present 7 per cent gas production tax did not supply it, the purchaser would have to pay the difference. Estimated yield: $30,000,000. It is included in the Ballman bill.

SELECTIVE EXCISE TAX, by Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas. It is similar to the Pennsylvania tax, also, and would yield an estimated $355,000,000.

ESCHEAT BILL, by Rep. Charles Hughes of Sherman. This is the well-worn proposal to provide enforcement procedures so that abandoned property, bank accounts, etc., would go to the state.

BATTLE OF THE POLLS — Two citizens groups are engaged in a duel of poll taking, each trying to demonstrate more public support for its tax plan.

Citizens for a Sales Tax announced that of 11,000 persons replying to its post card poll, 83.6 per cent favored a retail sales tax.

Citizens for Fair Taxation, a group which supports Governor Daniel's tax program, immediately declared that the CST poll was heavily weighted with Chamber of Commerce members and not a true reflection of public sentiment.

Citizens for Fair Taxation is at work on a poll of its own.

SPENDING BILLS PUSHED — A general appropriations bill and a bill to raise teachers' salaries are moving through both houses with little re-hashing. Senate quickly approved a two-year appropriations bill calling for the spending of $2,469,000. It is essentially the same as the Senate appropriations bill in the regular session.

Both Senate and House education committees approved bills that would give public school teachers an across-the-board raise of $810 a year. House passed the teachers' bill on the floor, 141 to 1.

Senate committee also approved education bills providing for educational films, driver education, assistant principals for larger schools, and five days sick leave a year for teachers.

MONEY NEEDS UPPED — State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert had a new revenue forecast for legislators at the beginning of the session that showed an expected revenue from existing sources at $24,000,000 less than the January forecast.

Part of the difference between the old and new forecasts was due to some $6,000,000 in additional school and welfare payments authorized during the regular session. Most of the rest of the drop was attributed to a decline in revenue from auto sales and franchise taxes.

Calvert also estimated that the general fund deficit at the end of the fiscal year Aug. 31, will be $64,000,000. This is $1,000,000 more than his January prediction.

LOBBY REGULATIONS OFFERED — At Governor Daniel's suggestion, a bill to impose further lobby controls has been introduced.

Daniel has consistently blamed "lobby interference" for the regular session to agree on a tax plan.

Five House members are co-sponsors of a bill that would require that all contributions of $50 or more be used to influence legislation be reported. It would also prohibit lobbyists from being on the floor of House or Senate during sessions or calling members off the floor during debate.

Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston has said he will sponsor a companion measure in the Senate.

INSURANCE INQUIRY SET — House has authorized a special five-member committee to look into the reasonableness of a 15 per cent raise in auto insurance rates recently ordered by the State Board of Insurance.

Rep. Will Smith of Beaumont sponsored the resolution to set up the investigation.

Resolution expressed concern that the higher rate might cause many drivers to drop their auto insurance and thus become unable to pay for accident damage.

TEACHER TRAINING HIT — Member of the Commission on Higher Education looked over a 140-page report on teacher education courses being offered in state colleges and decided that there was too much folderol.

A number of legislators also have been critical in recent months, both of the content and the amount of time spent on teaching method courses. State Board of Education has recently reduced the number of method courses required for teacher certification.

Commission on Higher Education members expressed hope

Uncle Ben from Benjamin says:

A feller has to look mighty careful to find anything in the papers anymore that don't keep him shook up and worried half crazy. The headlines is full of gloom and doom, stories about how them Russians is closing in all around us and hinting that maybe civilization will git wiped out in the showdown. I recollect reading a while back where the Navy was making all officers git themselves a sword and wear it at formal affairs. A sword will be mighty handy when it gits to ever man fer hisself, and with the rat race we got going in the world today, I'm thinking about gitting myself one fer civilian use.

But if a feller will skip the big type and read down in the fine print, he can find a heap of items that'll help take his mind off'n his troubles. Fer instance, I see where a inspector in the U. S. Mint says our money is meeting the "physical requirements." It's comforting to know there's somepun it's meeting.

And a expert from the Retail Association says more and more folks is going to the smaller towns to shop. A general trend to the small towns would be a big help to a heap of us. It used to be that a feller couldn't see much in a small town, but nowadays wimmen dress about the same everywhere.

Here a while back, I was telling you about this pamphlet from the Department of Agriculture saying onions wasn't very good fer humans to eat. I see in the papers yesterday where two fellers died from drinking a concoction of varnish, shellack, lemons and onions. I reckon they just got too many onions in it.

A note of progress comes from an official of Eastern Airlines. He says they'll have jet passenger planes by 1970 that'll travel 3,000 miles a hour. The piece didn't say, but I figger these planes wouldn't git set down good till it was time to get off.

On the Washington front, the papers is saying them Congressmen is trying to speed things up so's they can adjourn in time fer a summer vacation. Some will be taking all their kinfolks on a big Government tour and some will be coming home to mend their political fences. Them that takes tours, I reckon, is the ones that's got their politics in pritty good shape back home.

On the home front, our preacher is having a hard time separating church and state. He said Sunday that a feller that don't go to church is abusing his constitutional right to go to church. It's his right to visit Kalamazoo, too, but according to my preacher's doctrine, if he ain't been to Kalamazoo he's abusing his constitutional right to do so.

But maybe things will look better next week. Mister Editor.

Yours truly,
Uncle Ben
