Chamber of Commerce Wants Highway Built

The Knox City Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday in its regular lunch meeting at the Sanitary Cafe.

There was a pronounced sentiment among the members for the highway proposition. The Chamber of Commerce is the only organization in the city which will be the purchase of the right of way, the expense of the road building will be paid by the State Highway and Federal Department. It is imperative that the precinct act.

Tuesday a committee was appointed and asked to work in conjunction with the road committee to appear before the Commissioners Court at the next regular meeting for the purpose of presenting the court the desire of the citizens concerning the proposed road. The road committee is composed of the following men, E. G. Warren, S. P. Kenny, J. W. Smith, E. O. Jamison and T. P. Fritschell, while the committee appointed to act in conjunction with said committee is composed of the following men, B. M. Farmer, Henry Arledge, Anell Waldrip, Mr. Burto, and W. G. Clonts.

Why should Knox City not see this precinct accomplish its portion of the precinct will be exceedingly of the road development. The expense is small compared with the figure to be paid by the State and Federal Highway department, while the value such road paving will be unestimable to Knox City.

Gossitt Held for Stabbing Daughter

Dr. Gossett of Rule is being held in Haskell this week for the stabbing Saturday night of his wife's daughter Miss Ora Powell. Dr. Gossett went to take some medicine and Miss Powell, realizing the danger of the medicine he was taking, knocked it from his hand. In the instant Dr. Gossett grabbed his knife, with which he had dosed out his medicine, and stabbed the girl in the left breast. She is in a critical condition, however, word was received in Knox City Wednesday that she was resting well.

OFFICERS SECOND MONDAY CROWD DIMINISHES

The crowd gathered here Monday, which was second Monday and Trades Day for Knox City, was considerably smaller than that gathered here for the past three or four second Mondays. The farmers have gone to work, thus lessening the number of traders at the post Monday.

TATE-LAX CAR IN TOWN TUESDAY

The largest highway trailer ever through Knox City was here Tuesday morning. Dr. N. P. Tate was driving his own home. After completing his business here Dr. Tate invited pedestrians to see his home on wheels, which on investigation, proved to be very interesting. There were two bed rooms, a bath, kitchen and sun porch. All were equipped with electric lights and the kitchen with an electric hot plate. All was very nice.

HULSEY DEFEATS KNOX

The Live at Home program has been carried out very successfully by Mrs. John Albus of the Rhineland community during the year. Mrs. Albus canned 1162 quarts of fruit and vegetables alone. The great variety of vegetables which she has in her pantry was all raised in her garden though most of the fruit had to be bought. In addition, two beavers and four hogs were butchered, supplying the family with plenty of fresh canned and cured meat and lard, of which the surplus was sold.

Plans are being made by Mrs. Albus to refill her pantry to capacity this year.

Miss Junatia Cockrell, teacher in the Leaguers school, has been retained for another year. The current school year for League will be concluded in two more weeks.

KELTON BARN BURNED MONDAY

Monday night about nine-thirty the citizenship of Knox City was roused by the fire siren. The crowd gathered in front of the home of Mrs. B. J. Kelton, the fire being at the back of her home.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but the garage, chicken house and barn all burned. The fire boys saved, so they say, the well, cellar and telephone pole.

The fire lasted long enough for the citizenship to gather but not long enough for all to engage in a town social.

Robert Park of Abilene was in the city Sunday.

Mothers Day at P-T-A Program Baptist Church May 16

The Congress of the United States has made the second Sunday in May, May 14th, "Mothers Day", and the presidents have urged that it be observed.

How will you observe Mothers Day? How will you show your appreciation of Mother and your love for her?

There will be special services conducted in all the churches Sunday. Would not every true mother want her child, whether that child be young or old, to be in church Sunday?

What are our churches worth to our country? Where would we be if it were not for the church? If everybody should do exactly what you are doing to do next Sunday, what would be the result?

Plan now to attend church Sunday. You are cordially invited to the services at the Baptist church. Our special Mothers sermon will be delivered Sunday morning while the evening service will be a Gospel Song Program under the direction of Mr. Press Hitchcock. All the time of the evening service will be used by the musical program. The fact that our song director is arranging the program is sufficient evidence of the quality of the program.

One of the highest compliments ever paid the weekly newspapers of the country comes from James O'Shaughnessy, formerly executive secretary of the American Association of Advertising Agencies, who declared in a Boston address that country weeklies are the cornerstones of American journalism.

The weekly in a small town talks to its readers more intimately and confidentially than any other medium, Mrs. O'Shaughnessy says.

Such a tribute from one of America's leading advertising authorities is gratifying to the thousands of country publishers under adverse conditions to faithfully serve their communities.

It should also impress town and small city merchant with the fact that the weekly newspaper offers the most effective medium for placing his store message before the people upon whom he must depend for his business existence.

PICKING HIS MARKET

Jesus' preaching was almost incidental. On only one occasion did he deliver a long discourse, and that was probably interrupted often by questions and debates. He did not come to establish a theology but to lead a life. Living more healthfully than any of his contemporaries he spread health wherever he went. Thinking more daringly, more divinely, he expressed himself in thought of surpassing beauty, as naturally as a plant bursts into bloom. His sermons, if they may be called sermons, were chiefly explanatory of His service. He healed a lame man, gave sight to a blind man, fed the hungry, cheered the poor; and by these works he was advertised much more than by His words.

The church, which covets advertising and receive little, is much more faithful in such good work than the man on the street suspects. Most of our colleges were founded under its inspiration; most of our hospitals grew out of and are supported by its membership; the ideals that animate all civic enterprises are its ideals; and its members furnish to such movements the most dependable support. More than this, the day by day life of a genuine pastor is a constant succession of healings and helpings, as any one who has been privileged to grow in a minister's family very well knows. The door-bell rings at breakfast time; it rings at dinner-time; it rings late at night and every ring means that some one has come to cast his burden upon the parsonage. A man comes blinded by his greed or hatred or fear he opens his heart to the pastor, and goes away having received his sight. A parent whose child is dead in selfishness, comes leading the child by the hand. And sometimes the preacher is able to touch the withered veins of conscience, and life becomes normal and wholesome again. A man out of work, whose family is hungry, knocks timidly at the parsonage door. And somehow from the parson's few loaves and fishes, the other family is fed.

These are Jesus' work, done in Jesus' name. If he were to live again, in these modern days, he would find a way to make them known—be advertised by His service, not merely by his sermons. One thing is certain: He would not neglect the market-place. Few of His sermons were delivered in synagogues. For the most part He was in the crowded places, the Temple Court, the city squares, the centers where goods were bought and sold. I emphasized this fact once to a group of preachers.

WOMEN: watch your BOWELS

What should women do to keep their bowels moving freely? A doctor should know the answer. That is why pure Syrup Pepsin is so good for women. It just suits their delicate organism. It is the prescription of an old family doctor who has treated thousands of women patients, and who made a special study of bowel troubles.

It is fine for children, too. They love its taste. Let them have it every time their tongues are coated or their skin is sallow. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is made from fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients.

When you've a sick headache, can't eat, are listless or sluggish; and at the times when you are most apt to be constipated, take a little of this famous prescription (all drug stores keep it ready in big bottles), and you'll know why Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the favorite laxative of over a million women!

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Charles E. Dunn
 Jesus Asserts His Kingship.
 Lesson for May 14 Mark 11:1-23

Golden Text: Zechariah 9:9

When Jesus entered Jerusalem on that first Palm Sunday long ago. He gave His approval, for the first time to a public recognition of His claim to be the long anticipated Messianic King. For Him it was the day of public decaon. The secrecy He had hitherto insisted upon was now cast aside. We observe the Master determined to make a public stand, and then to accept the cruel fate His enemies were preparing for Him.

So we watch Him riding as a King, openly hailed as such, into the very heart of His people, challenging friend and foe alike in the venerable metropolis so dear to Him. It is a day of triumph. But when we consider what followed, remembering that the acclaim of Sunday ended in the sham of Friday, the world decision seems preferable to the world triumph. Certainly it was a day of decision for Him. He enters the capital city in the manner of a public confession. He accepts the plaudits of the multitude. His time has come.

But it was also a day of decision for His friends and enemies. The former, in their more thoughtful moments, were asking such questions as these: What shall I do with this King. Who is openly challenging His foes? How shall I follow Him? How can I be of help to Him? And His enemies the fanatical zealots, the conservative Herodians, the reactionary Sadducees and Pharisees all were thinking of how they might best crush this strange King.

On the day following Jesus' entry an event took place that played directly into the hands of His foes. He entered the temple, and in protest against the fraudulent, unholy traffic there taking place in the sale of animals and the exchange of money drove out, with a whip of cords, the merchants and money-changers upsetting their booths, and rebuking their desecration of the sanctuary. This bold act of denunciation sharpened the antagonism to the Master, thereby hastening the dramatic catastrophe of His crucifixion.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Waldrip enjoyed the Company of Mrs. Minnie Waldrip and children from Los Angeles California from Monday to Wednesday.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

Probably one of the most elaborate functions ever given in Knox City was the banquet given by the Juniors, Friday night in honor of the Senior class of 1933.

The guests entered by an improvised gang plank, to the hall which was decorated in the Seniors colors, blue and white, with representations of various nautical objects. Life-buoys, in blue and white adorned the walls; bluebonnets, the Senior class flower were used as table decorations, together with sailboats in the midst of blue paper representing water. Favors were miniature steamboats.

The entire banquet carried a theme of "The Voyage." The waitresses were clever impersonations of sailors and each part of the program was portrayed as certain parts of a voyage.

The following program was rendered.

- Invocation T. B. Dean
- Our Passengers Jeff Graham
- Our Crew Wilson Thompson
- Vocal Number Jack Wetzel
- Solo Dance Yvonne Jamison
- Our Ship Joellie Russel
- Our Captain Wynell Edwards
- Response Mr. Cloud
- Musical Number Mr. Tucker
- Sail On Mr. Davenport

Coming as surprises to Miss Park and Mr. Dean were the gifts presented to them by their respective classes. The animal imitations given by Mr. Tucker of Munday were greatly enjoyed by all.

The last part of the program, the enjoyment of all was the splendid talk given by Mr. Davenport stressed important points which aided each guest.

The Seniors as well as the other guests, cannot express their enjoyment of the occasion, and the event will remain an outstanding event in their lives.

CARD OF THANKS

We the members of the Senior Class of 1933 take this means of showing our appreciation for the Banquet of May 5. We especially wish to thank each member of the Junior class, their sponsor, Miss Lillian Park, and anyone else who made the banquet a success. It is an event that we shall long remember.

"Yes—and no other low-priced car has Fisher No Draft Ventilation, and I wouldn't do without that."

"I see Chevrolet is still topping them all in sales."

"No wonder. A Chevrolet for as little as $445 is bound to appeal to every smart buyer."

They are driving the one low-priced car that combines all the best things motoring can offer.

Sidelights

BY MARVIN JONES
Member of Congress from Texas

I am convinced that a controlled expansion of the currency will not materially increase farm prices but that it is essential to comprehensive recovery. The dollar is supposed to be a measure of value—a medium of exchange.

We often speak of using dollars to purchase commodities. That depends upon which side of the bargain the trader is located. One man uses money to purchase wheat. The farmer uses wheat to purchase money. When one borrows money to be repaid in the future, it is essential to fairness that the value of the dollar remain substantially the same, measured in the terms of the general commodity price level.

Here is where the hitch comes. Translated into farm commodities, the dollar is worth twice what it was a few years ago. The private debts of America run into staggering billions. It is impossible to pay increased value of today. Yet the obligation rests not only upon the farmer but upon other producers and manufacturers to pay these debts with greatly appreciated dollars. This is reasonable for a great deal of the stagnation and grief from which the country has been suffering.

The strange part about this whole situation is that the debts we owe we owe to each other. Not a dollar is owed abroad. Yet both agriculture and commerce have been chained and almost destroyed by the high priced dollar.

The credit of the country has been so greatly contracted that the only practical way to offset it is through an adequate supply of money on a sound basis.

Currency and credit are like other commodities. When they are plentiful they are low in price. When they are scarce they are high in price.

Of course, no one wants printing press money. On the other hand, no thinking person wants money so high-priced that it becomes a hindrance rather than an aid to commerce an exchange.

Foreign countries have by revaluing their units of money on a lower basis, practically destroyed the market of the surplus farm products of America.

Any expansion should be properly controlled. Germany went to the extreme by increasing the volume of currency to such an extent as to practically cancel all debts. This was her deliberate purpose. For the last three years we have been going to the other extreme by contracting currency and credit to such an extent as to make payments of debts practically impossible. France, on the other hand, took a middle position, revaluing the franc on such a basis as to make payment of debts possible and yet at the same time increasing to a reasonable degree the farm and general commodity price level.

Through a reasonable increase in the volume of currency, which can be kept on a sound basis, the price of farm commodities can be materially increased, debts can be paid, and conditions restored.

Money is the life's blood of a nation. One might have a perfect body, but if he had only half enough blood he would suffer torture. On the other hand, if he had too much blood he might suffer from high blood pressure. If he had a sufficient amount of blood his health conditions become ideal.

Properly controlled expansion of the currency merely means restoration to the normal flow of commerce and trade a restoration of commodity prices to the point where they would be fair to everyone. Such a step is essential to the proper working out of the different steps in the President's program for National recovery.

The action of the President in approving an amendment granting authority to restore the currency to a proper basis has had a very fine effect on the general commodity price level. The speaker has designated me as one of the conferees to consider this amendment when it comes to the House. I am in hearty accord with its purpose and expect to urge early adoption by the House. I believe that it will do more than any one thing to restore confidence and bring back prosperity.

Miss Billie Smith has as her guest this week Miss Billie Mae Clements of Sudan Texas.

A group of five married couples enjoyed a picnic the first of the week at tall timbers.

THE GOOD OLD TIMES

Everybody worked hard; they saved their money and bought homes; they had big families, went to church, they chewed tobacco and voted. If they went any place at all they walked or drove a horse. They took in Uncle Tom's Cabin once a year, ate ice cream at the Sunday School picnic, beer was a nickel a glass and the butcher gave away the liver.

There was an Ingrain carpet on the parlor floor and a hanging lamp with a red glass shade with warts on it. Men wore long pants and boys wore short pants, and a wood stove made red flannel underwear and feather beds popular. If a man wanted a drink he took it and wasn't a criminal. They never saw a policeman and didn't know there was a sheriff. They did not have to get a license to do anything, if they got sick, which was seldom, they either died or got well and it didn't cost ten or twelve hundred dollars either way, but generally they lived to a ripe old age and died at home with some of the children around who didn't expect the country to take care of the old folks.

NOW

Few work, none save, some go to church, about half vote and if they don't drink you are a social outcast. The unfortunate have large families and the children are orphans from birth. If they grow up they stay out all night and nobody understands them. Women paint, smoke, drink, cuss, drive cars and fly and if they break a leg they stay at home a while where they would starve to death if they lost the can opener.

Everything is licensed, taxed, inspected or prohibited. We have high taxes, Volstead, racketeers, farm relief, athlete's foot, crooners, jazz and everybody owes the finance company.

FEELS MUCH BETTER

"June 28th, 1932, I started taking Kruschen Salts. Have lost 20 pounds from June 28th to Jan. 1st. Feel better than have felt for four years. Was under doctors care for several months. He said I had gained stones and should have operation. Kruschen did all and more than I expected." Mrs. Late Flight, Walker, Minn. (Jan. 10, 1933).

To look fat and at the same time gain in physical attractiveness and feel spirited and youthful take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at any drugstore in the world but be sure and get Kruschen Salts the SAFE way to reduce wide hips, prominent front and double chin and again feel the joy of living—money back if dissatisfied after the first jar.
