Day celebrations were general all over the country. All business houses of our city were closed today. A special program for the occasion was arranged for the people attending at Monday night. The program was carried out with much success and joyment of which all

UNION THANKS-GIVING SERVICE BAPTIST CHURCH

A Union Thanksgiving service will be held in the Baptist Church of this city on Thursday, Nov. 24th at 11:00 o'clock. The Choirs of the several churches will join in furnishing suitable music for the occasion. Rev. Hawkins pastor of the Methodist church will deliver the sermon. All our people are earnestly and cordially invited to attend this service and show forth a proper spirit for the day. We certainly have every reason to be thankful for the fortunate conditions under which we now live, and for the manifold and manifest blessings which the day typifies. Let us therefore attend this service and thus make public demonstration of our thankfulness for the continued mercies of the omnipotent God.

Thanksgiving Entertainment M. E. Church Basement

Next Thursday (Thanksgiving) evening the Senior Enworth League will hold "Harvest Home" to their friends, young and old at the Methodist church. It is the plan to have the rooms in the basement decorated to display the various things grown around Knox City this year. Everybody is invited to help make this a success by bringing in any of the products of the community, such as, corn, pumpkins, mellons, maize, cane, any thing fresh, dried, pickled or preserved, etc. Bring any thing to the church or phone the "parsonage" and we will see that what you have is brought in. There will be a nice, short program and pumpkin pie, etc., served as refreshments. No collection. A good time. Come.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS TRADES DAY, THIS CITY

The second Monday Trades Day brought the largest crowd to Knox City that we have had this season. Many an equine was on display and changed owners during the day. The merchants enjoyed a fine business and everything went off smoothly. The Knox City Band furnished music which enlivened the crowd considerably and added much to the success of the day.

5,000 Bales of Cotton Weighed in this City up To Date

Over 5,000 bales of cotton have been weighed into the Knox City cotton yard this season and considerable cotton has been hauled back to the growers homes besides. The weather has been ideal for crop gathering and all the feed has been cribbed without stain or damage. This section of country probably was never in better condition than at this time.

F. A. DOSS DEAD

Message over the wire Friday night bore the sad information that our former townsman and friend had passed away Friday, Nov. 11, and would be buried at Garland, Tex. Mr. Doss was one of our pioneer citizens having come here with the first business men and did his part in building up and getting our little town on the map. He was a forward going man and was for all moves that he thought were good for his town and citizenship, and made many lasting friends who will miss this good man, even though he had not lived here for more than four years having moved to Gainesville, Tex. from here and had investments in that City, and community. A host of friends express deepest sympathy to Mrs. Doss.

THE BANNER STINGY MAN FOUND

Chicago, Nov. 16.—Tullius Dickholtz, a taxicab chauffeur, hardly could be indicted for generosity, according to his wife, Pearl, who is suing him for separation maintenance. She says he is so stingy that it is a smile at his baby who is to be born, as further evidence of his stinginess she cites the alleged fact that since 1916 she had been on a diet of bread and boarding pennies and finally accumulated $2, which she spent for material for a new hat, the first she had purchased in five years, because of this, she says, her husband wasted many hot words, he berating her for her "extravagance."

ENJOYABLE LYCCUM NUMBER

To round out the pleasurable events of Monday, last, came the Lyccum number at the Opera House in the evening. Mr. Mal-lory and his supporting players presenting the successful comedy "Vanity." A crowded house watched every development of the play with intense interest and often in rippling laughter. The evening audience was started by the clever Mr. Mal-lory. The play was a splendid one, which he carried off with a flourish. The play was a more sober, leaving the humor and pleasant the

DOES IT PAY TO ADVERTISE?

The above pert query, which is as ancient as history itself, has been heralded down thru the channels of time, and been cussed and discussed pro and con. As to the value of advertising some men disagree, yet big business has placed its seal of approval on advertising, and big business would not keep up this habit if it did not bring in the "grapes." A wise man once said, "the way to make a barrel of money, is to spend a keg of money in advertising." Was he right? We leave it to you.

The taxes are, indeed, very heavy, but if those laid on by the government were the only ones we had to pay, we might the more easily discharge them; but we have many others, and much more grievous to some of us. We are taxed twice as much by our idleness, three times as much by our pride and four times as much by our folly; and from these taxes the commissioners cannot ease or deliver us by allowing an abatement.—Benjamin Franklin.

New Process of Printing Sought

Suggestion that printing from type is likely to be superseded was made by William Gamble at the recent worlds Congress of Printers, held in connection with the International Printing and Allied Trades exhibition. Mr. Gamble said that at least three inventors were trying to develop a photographic process to take the place of printing from type. He predicted that the machines for printing by the photographic process would hardly occupy more space than a typewriter nor be any more complicated. He expressed the opinion that eventually the great printing presses in newspaper offices would give place to smaller, swift-running and comparatively noiseless machines, which would turn out printed matter with almost the same facility as the moving picture machine operator reels off his film.

Our Mr. Hughes, Secretary of State has proposed some drastic reductions in the Naval forces of the first rate powers of the world, especially mentioning, the United States, England and Japan. It is, however, very much like taking a group of people in a picture; everyone is well pleased with all the pictures except their own, which they invariably say is perfectly horrid. Japan can easily see the plausibility of England's reduction but has already shied at any reduction on her part. It has been suggested that we have a League to enforce these reductions but it might be pointed out that we already have a world wide "League to Enforce Peace," which has failed utterly in its mission. No league will be any stronger than its constituency and since it is the powers that would make up such league it would not be any stronger than their disposition to enforce it. Some fancied grievance could upset the whole affair, just as the assassination of a worthless Duke plunged the whole world into war in 1914. It will be found in the end that the only way to prevent war is to educate men to hate strife and finally they may come to realize the folly of it.

Russia, feeling the slight in not being invited to attend the Disarmament Conference, has called a conference of the far eastern powers to meet on her soil. This while guarding the front door we may be attacked by a more deadly enemy from the rear. Japan has sent emissaries and so will China and the other Mongolian races. The final issue will likely be that of Color, and as the dark races now have a preponderance of numbers therein is constituted the real menace to the world peace. An alliance between the Asiatic and island yellow races could spread a pinion of darkness over the entire world.

A new third party is to be launched in ten states. A third party seems necessary and is always in demand in this country. It is a kind of lubricating oil that keeps the old party machinery going good. The third party is always on the aggressive, always attacking and ridiculing the other parties and advocating progressive measures, and in that way serving as a spur to quicken the governing power; to action on reform measures. They themselves never come into power but succeed in getting many of their pet measures made into law because of their constant nagging. Some of their measures are good some of them not so good, but you can rest assured that the process will go on to the end of time. The third party has ever been the channel through which the disgruntled man voices his sentiment.

This is to be a bumper season for the American sportsman. Game of the sort usually hunted is more plentiful, generally soaking, than it has been for many years. In some localities there are more ducks and geese than the oldest inhabitants ever saw before. East of the Mississippi River migratory birds are making their southern flight in unprecedented numbers. The quail, or bobwhite, is present also in numbers not equaled for years. And the deer is not so scarce apparently as it used to be.

AUSTRALIAN WHEAT CROP.

The present wheat crop of Australia is estimated at 134,000,000 bushels, and is larger than any crop since 1918, and nearly three times as large as last year's crop.

MOROCCAN HUMOR.

Referring to the trouble in Morocco, the "Way of the World" columnist of the London Morning Post quotes the following translation of some verses on Tangier by Mulai Hafid:

"In the last day the people of Tangier came to the Judgment Seat of God, and the Supreme Judge said: 'Surely you are the least and worst of all people. Under what circumstances did you live?' And they replied: 'We have sinned; we have sinned; but our government was international; we were ruled by the representatives of Europe.' And the Supreme Judge said: 'Surely you have been sufficiently punished; enter into paradise!'"

ACQUIRE TRAVEL FREEDOM.

"Along with the vote and short hair, the women are acquiring something else which not so many years ago was little heard of," said the old conductor on the Pennsylvania Boston-New York line. "The right to travel alone was for a long time considered not quite the thing for women. But all this has changed. Hubby doesn't have to be along any more when his wife is going West or to Europe. Daughters inspire confidence from the parental hand, and in general women can come and go where they please. The old world's movin' along."

ENGINEERS REWARDED

Erie railroad engineers, who have achieved a certain standard in the care and handling of their engines, are elected to the Order of the Red Spot and a red spot is placed on the locomotive of the engineer. A second degree of the order provides for the substitution of the engineer's name in gold letters on the number plate on his cab.

PRaised work of "MASTER"

Roosini's New Method of Rebuking the Flawing Sycophants Who Wait on Greatness.

Saint-Saens, in his "Musical Memories," tells the following about Rossini and himself: "He said to me one day, 'You have written a duet for a flute and clarinet for Thorne and Leroy. Won't you ask them to play it at one of my evenings?' The two great artists did not have to be urged. Then an unheard-of thing happened. As he never had a written program on such occasions Rossini managed so that they believed that the duet was his own. It is easy to imagine the success of the piece under these conditions. When the encore was over, Rossini took me to the dining room and made me sit near him, holding me by the hand so that I could not get away. A procession of fawning admirers passed in front of him. 'Ah! Master, what a masterpiece. Marvellous!' And when the victim had exhausted the resources of his language in praise, Rossini replied, quietly: 'I agree with you. But the duet was not mine; it was written by this gentleman.'"

HAD A TREATMENT.

Lee is only about seven years old, but he is already imbued with gallantry and he'll be mighty popular with the fair sex as he grows up. He has been spending the summer at Long Beach, on Lake Michigan, and in a nearby cottage live Margaret and Jane. The other day he went over and when mamma went to the door, he asked:

"Can I take the girls for a treatment?"

"Why, Lee, I don't understand. What is it you want to do?" she replied, considerably puzzled.

"I want to take 'em down to the soda pavilion for a treatment. I got 15 cents."

"They went. The "treatment" was successful."

WISHED BIG PICKLE.

Little Billy is big enough to toddle with his Aunt Minnie over to the grocery store. The other day when he made the trip he saw a great long watermelon. "Aunt Minnie, get me that big pickle," he exclaimed. "No, Billy, you can't have that today," was the reply.

When Billy got home he went up to his uncle and said: "Can't Aunt Minnie get Billy big pickle?"

SHOWED THEIR REAL NERVE

New Rain Shower Brought Out the Characteristics of Three Wall Street Players.

Find out a man's attitude toward the stock market, you know exactly what he is doing during a rainstorm. A rainstorm will bring out a man's gambling nature as well as the market.

Three men, all dabblers on the stock market, who had dined together in a restaurant, were standing beneath an awning waiting for a downpour to subside, says the New York Sun. An observer, who was associated with the three, watched them as they stood under the shelter. The observer noticed that first the man whom he knew as a heavy plunger in stocks informed his companions that he was "going to take a chance" on the rain and run to the office. He turned up his coat collar and disappeared around the corner running rapidly. The second man to leave, who played the market more cautiously, waited for the rain to slacken before he attempted to reach his place of business. The third, whom the observer knew to be very cautious about his investments, waited for the rain to cease. After studying the sky for several minutes as if debating with himself the possibilities of another shower, the conservative man left the shelter and walked down the street.

USE OF CARAMEL.

According to recent research at the Iowa State college, caramel formed from sugar during cooking may contain furfural, a poison. Furfural forms in the greatest amount at a temperature of about 200 degrees centigrade, so that in making candy as low a temperature as possible should be used. It is volatile in steam, and where caramel is heated with water, as it is in making icings, no precaution is necessary; but it is desirable to boil caramel fruit straps with an equal volume of water for ten or fifteen minutes before they are served; and in baking fruits care should be taken to avoid forming caramel.—Youth's Companion.

POTATO BUGS DRIVE

Washington City Official in Some Sections the Pest Moves Along.

City Postmaster Chance has risked placing himself in the ranks of the nature fakers, with his latest potato-bug story.

While on his farm in southern Illinois this summer, Farmer Chance found the potatoes bothered with the pesky bugs.

There were colonies of potato bugs on every plant. They infested the rows, swarmed up and down the plants, covered over the fields and generally monopolized the landscape.

At least, that is the way the situation appeared to the postmaster on vacation. So he went out to deal with the situation. He found an old neighbor standing in a field.

"What does a fellow do about potato bugs?" he asked him.

"Well, neighbor," replied the old farmer, "I take a piece of brush and thrash through the rows, and the tater bugs will all go west."

Now this is the way Postmaster Chance continues the narrative:

"So I got me a piece of brush and began fanning my way down the rows. And, sure enough, the potato bugs began to run. They just went in droves, every last one of them, down to the rows to the west. No, they never came back, either."—Washington Star.

NOT THAT KIND OF "GLEE."

A newspaper dispatch says that the Harvard Glee club, which has been touring Europe, received an especially enthusiastic welcome in Geneva because the papers of that city had apparently been in doubt as to what the word "glee" meant, and on looking it up in an English dictionary found the definition "gayety, merriment, delight."

They therefore assumed that the club had been sent to down-hearted Europe to restore its gayety, and welcomed it as having that mission. Perhaps they were more than half right.—Outlook.

A REAL PRESENT.

"Did you notice how pleased the bride's father looked at the wedding?"

"Yes, he discovered two quarts of champagne among the wedding presents."—New York Sun.

REV. J. C. HARDBERGER DEAD

After a long and eminently upright and useful life, Rev. John Calhoun Hardberger has passed on, leaving many pleasant memories of his life and work. He had passed the three score and ten mark, having been born on April 13th, 1840. He died at his home surrounded by his wife, children and loving friends, at 3:00 o'clock on Wednesday, a few miles south west of this city.

Funeral services were conducted at O'Brien Baptist Church on Thursday at 2:00 p. m. after which interment was made in the Odd Fellow Cemetery at Knox City.

We regret that we could not gather more information on the life of this good man at this time, but will be glad to give space to a more extended mention in our next issue.

The many friends of Mahon Shaw will be pleased to learn that he and Miss Ninnie Lou Scott of Munday, were married Oct. 29th. The couple will spend the winter in Tullia, Texas.

When a man is kind to his friends he is accused of courting favors. When he is polite to the people generally, they say he wants an office. When he tries to be cleanly and wears decent cloths, he is called a dude. When he goes to church he is dubbed a hypocrit. If he does not go to church he is classed with the heathen. If he speaks a woman 'tis said he wants to marry. If he doesn't, they say he can't marry. Now, how in thunder can a man cope with self to avoid censure? Guess the only way is to get off the earth.

The Moment I Saw the Sample I Wanted This "Oatmeal Finish"

Immediately I wanted walls and ceilings of Cornell-Wood-Board, with this handsome surface that is already primed—"Mill-Primed" they call it—and requires only one coat of paint or calking to give a perfectly beautiful effect. In fact, in the kitchen and attic I left the Cornell Panels in their natural "Oatmeal" tint and I've never seen any walls so clean and sanitary.

Cornell-Wood-Board

As compared to the work, the litter and the time in lathing and plastering (not to mention the cost) it seems quite marvelous to me how easy and quick it is to finish an interior with Cornell-Wood-Board instead. Anyone who can handle a hammer can nail Cornell the joists and studding or over damaged plaster.

IS NEW "COURT OF MIRACLES"

Police of Paris Compelled to Break Up the Revelries of Beggars of the City.

A new "Court of Miracles," so vividly described by Victor Hugo in the novel, "Notre Dame," has been discovered in Paris. Every night the beggars of the city—blind men, lame men, deaf men, dumb men, paralyzed men—came to the house of the "King of Egypt," behind the town hall, and in true beggars' style spent their no mean "earnings" in revelry all night long. Neighbors complained to the police, who one night recently descended on the "Court of Miracles" with an ejectment order.

But not at all disheartened, the beggars set up house again in the open air on a piece of waste ground and the revelry began afresh. The blind saw, the deaf heard, armless men took out musical instruments and played, while the crippled flung down their crutches and merrily fox-trotted in the ruddy glare of a camp fire. The police were met by a stubborn resistance and blows were rained on them with crutches. Next morning they returned to the charge and the "King and Queen of Egypt" were led to the police station.—From the Continental Edition of the London Mail.

CORRECT DEFINITION

Pa—An economist, my man who tells you what you have done with your money and you have done something else with it.

THE DUKE'S FAVORITE.

The duke of Marlborough, after being divorced by his multi-millionaire American duchess, nee Consuelo Vanderbilt, has wedded another multi-millionaire American, Miss Gladys Deacon.

Appropos of this fact, there is a story to the effect that at a garden party at the splendid Paris residence of Eugene Higgins an American girl said to the great English nobleman:

"What's your favorite flower, duke?"

"I—I—the duke began uncertainly, when the American girl interrupted him.

"But, of course, I might have known," she said. "It's the marigold."

GIFTS OUT OF THE ORDINARY

Frying-Pan for Queen Victoria—Man Gives Wife Five Pounds to Buy Washstand.

THE king of Siam used to send Queen Victoria a very curious gift every Christmas. It may have been want of imagination, or he may have heard that the frying-pan was the curse of the English cook, and thought they must want constantly renewing. Whatever the reason, her majesty received a silver frying-pan as regularly as Christmas came round. Thomas Carlyle, once quite forgetful to buy a Christmas gift for his wife. There is nothing unique about this. Other men have done the same. Nor is there anything particularly generous in the way he made up for his neglect to remember the day. He wrote the following letter:

"The prophecy of a washstand to the greatest of all women. Blessings on her bonnie face, and be it ever blithesome as it is dear, blithe or not. —T. Carlyle, December 23, 1850."

The great man did really give his wife five pounds with which to buy the promised washstand, at which he no doubt washed quite as often as she did. But that's a man all over.

UNDER THE MISTLETOE SPRIG

Punishment Meted Out by Oxfordshire Maids to Men Who Refused to Obey Commands.

IN SOME places in Oxfordshire, every maid who had the privilege and frequently exercised it, of securing a man for ivy to decorate the house, if the man assented to and good, but if he refused, the maid stole a pair of his breeches. The next day they could be seen to the gate of the highway. The worse punishment than this, at times meted out to him, he was deprived of the privilege of the mistletoe.

The first maid to pass under this evergreen on Christmas day was sure to be married within the year, and equally sure of being kissed—for that was the penalty, if it can be called such, to be paid by any maid who passed under it. After each offense a man was pinched, while the privilege was supposed to end with the last berry.

The Great Giver.

Christmas is the birthday of Jesus, who never gave the world a dollar, and bestowed upon mankind no other material gift. He carved no statue, painted no picture, wrote no poem, composed no song, fashioned no piece of jewelry, built no edifice, founded no city, erected no triumphal arch; but He stands in history as the Great Giver. Such as He had He gave; the sympathetic hand, the genial mind, the generous heart, the courageous spirit, which all worked together to build up out of the human the divine. The Father gave us first His universe; then He gave His Son; now He offers His Spirit.—Adapted.

Sweet Sauces

It is usual in England to refer what American housewives call "soft sauce" with the Christmas plum pudding, but the delicious "hard sauce" which we ourselves affect make a nice change. Soft sauces take the form of a thin hot custard, which will be all the more creamy if a few spoonfuls of condensed milk are stirred in after the custard is made in the ordinary way. Another favorite sauce is made by adding sugar to melted butter.

AS USUAL

"I suppose you've finished your Christmas shopping?"

"Yes, and it's finished me."

The Portable Lamp.

The cheapest and most generally useful electrical appliance and at the same time the one most seldom taken advantage of in the ordinary household is the portable lamp. This simply consists of a few yards of flexible insulated wire, at one end of which is fixed an ordinary plug to screw into a wall or chandelier socket and at the other a lamp socket. The cost is very little.

"I'm not sure whether he does or not. Sometimes I suspect he thinks I believe in Santa and he hates to acknowledge it."
