

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—The House this week passed a resolution recommended by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz and other top naval commanders fixing the size of our peacetime Navy at a minimum of 1,082 ships, exclusive of auxiliaries. With replacements, and modern vessels to be added from time to time, this will give us by far the most powerful Navy in the world. The Navy is now planning to test the atomic bomb on sea vessels. Tests will be made by exploding atomic bombs in the water and underneath water to determine its destructiveness as applied to naval craft. The remainder of the Jap fleet will probably be used in these experiments.

Another bill passed by the House this week appropriates 550 million dollars for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration (UNRRA). All of the United Nations are a party to this organization and agreement. The nations obligated themselves to appropriate one percent of their national incomes for this relief. Under such arrangement we furnish the great bulk of the money, approximately 72 percent. Some time ago we appropriated 600 million dollars for UNRRA and this appropriation of 550 million adds up to a billion 350 million dollars we have appropriated for the prevention of starvation, suffering, and disease in foreign countries. None of this money is to be used in either Germany or Japan. Unfortunately we did not reserve voting power to proportion to our contribution, and some of this money has not been expended in accordance with our desires.

An executive of the Office of Surplus Property addressed the Texas delegation this week on the disposal of surplus real property. In accordance with a bill offered by me some two years ago, and with an amendment offered by me, the Surplus Property Act, former owners of agricultural land will be given the first opportunity to buy it back when this land is declared surplus. Such re-sales will be handled through the Federal Land Bank at prices not exceeding those paid by the government when the land was purchased. After former owners, tenants and veterans are given priority to purchase such land.

A bill introduced by me last week, if passed, will provide veterans a first opportunity to buy personal property up to $2500 in amount which is surplus. Such purchases could be made from the Army or Navy before the property is declared surplus, or after it reaches the disposal agency. About 1.5 million persons making any real sacrifices during the war have been those in the armed forces and their families. Any preferences now afforded through government should be given to those who suffered most because of the war.

Among new developments worked out during the war is a weedicide called 2-4-D, a compound which is said to kill a wide variety of weeds, affecting them in much the same way as DDT operates on insects. It is supposed to rid turf of such weeds as broadleaf plantain, knot weed, clover, dock, buckhorn, dandelion, honeysuckle, rugweed, etc. We are told the Department of Agriculture is perfecting this product and will soon make it available to the public in numerous forms. Those of us who can still vividly remember calloused hands and polished hoe handles are greatly interested in this development.

Mr. Clarence Cannon, who is serving his 23rd year in Congress and who is chairman of the Appropriations Committee, this week made an "economy" speech in the House, referring particularly to the airport bill which was passed a few days ago. In part, Chairman Cannon said, "I hope no one

KNOX CITY, KNOX COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, NOV. 8, 1945

NUMBER 5

Greyhounds Cinch North Half Title

The Knox City Greyhounds put the bee on the football title to the north half of District 9 last Friday by handing the Vera Pilots a sound 47-0 thrashing. This gave the boys a clear deed to the title with five wins, no defeats, and no ties in district play.

Vera received the ball on the kickoff and after losing the ball on downs the Knox City team took over and Sam Clonts carried the ball approximately 60 yards on an end run for the opening score. After that the issue was never in doubt.

This game throws Knox City into the district playoff with Paint Creek, winner of the south half of the conference. The game will be played in Haskell about November 22. A good crowd is expected to see this district playoff and everyone is urged to attend and witness what promises to be one of the best games of the entire season.

The Greyhounds leave the county this week when they go to O'Brien to play the second of a two-game non-conference series. The final home game will be played when Megargel comes to town on November 19.

Winter Legumes Will Boost Yield Cotton Per Acre

Do you want 100 pounds more lint cotton per acre next year? Most cotton farmers say the Cotton Production Committee of Texas, and experience has proved that yields can be increased by this amount by planting hairy vetch or Austrian winter peas on land that has been in small grains or corn, and turning these legumes under in the spring.

To secure good growth and provide maximum protection from soil erosion, Austrian winter peas and hairy vetch seed should be inoculated and planted by November 1.

"Drilling is the recommended method of planting on rolling land, while planting in rows on tops of beds usually gives better results on more level fields," the committee says.

When drilled, hairy vetch may be planted at the rate of 20 lbs. per acre, and Austrian winter peas at 35 lbs. per acre. When planted in rows, with regular row crop equipment, only half the amount of seed used in drilling will be required for good stands.

Plowing under green stalks in cotton fields before frost is also recommended by the committee as one of the best ways of improving the condition and fertility of the soil, reducing boll weevil damage next season, and increasing the yield of cotton. Green stalks open up the soil, increase its water-holding capacity, make plant food more available, and the decomposed stalks furnish food for next year's crop.

Turning under stalks before insects have migrated from the locality is the best known method of reducing boll weevil infestation.

will overlook the list of 82 men on page 9964 of this morning's Record. It is a notable list of notable men. They not only preach economy but, extraordinary as it may seem, they actually vote for economy.

"That list of names" ought to be printed in every newspaper in the country. I do not know just how interested in economy the newspapers are, but there have been so few votes for economy lately that it ought to be in the same class with the story of 'man bites dog.' We have all kinds of blabs here—the farm bloc, the railroad bloc; now at last, we have the economy bloc."

Everybody is against pork barrels unless they share in the gravy. Sad to say, nearly every one seems to be for a pork barrel if they are going to receive a spoonful of pap. Even the leading citizens of our best communities will urge their Congressman to vote for a billion dollar appropriation if their community is to get a $2,000 project out of the proceeds, even though this $2,000 will eventually cost the community $4,000 in taxation. It's like being for taxes on the other fellow.

Cotton Root Rot Taking Heavy Toll from Knox County Farmers That Effects All In Community; Control Plans Outlined

Seven hundred and eighty-six Knox County farmers have suffered a loss of $92,100.00 on account of cotton root rot this year. These figures are estimates of the widespread damage that is common in most communities of the county, and especially those on the south side of the river, according to R. O. Dunkie, county agent.

Root rot concerns not only those engaged in agriculture, but also persons living in cities and towns, since all people living in Knox County are dependent upon agriculture as their source of livelihood.

Root rot is caused by a fungus which attacks the roots of the cotton plant and causes them to decay. This fungus spreads from plant to plant, chiefly along the roots rather than by independent growth, for long distances thru the soil. The root rot fungus overwinters in an active condition on the living infected roots of the cotton plant, and continues to spread along these roots during winter even after the tops of the plants have been killed by frost.

The first step that shows some degree of control as practiced by Texas experiment stations, is that of turning under the cotton stalks immediately after picking and while they are still green. The difference in yield under experimental tests by this practice alone has given an increase of from 305 pounds of seed cotton per acre to 493 pounds per acre. The second and the most important step in the control of root rot is that of crop rotation, in which Hubam clover or root rot resistant varieties of field peas are planted in the rotation plan. This practice of rotation includes that of turning under the sweet clover and field peas as green manure crops. This practice has reduced root rot from 54 percent down to 2 percent, and has increased cotton yields from 340 pounds to 1015 pounds of seed cotton per acre. This method of turning under green manure crops and stalks immediately after picking, seems to be the most practical for Knox County.

This picture is on the farm of W. A. Cuipepper, of Bell County, showing the profitable rotation practice in the control of cotton root rot.

City To Observe Monday Armistice

Knox City will observe Monday, November 12th as Armistice Day. With the usual date of the 11th falling on Sunday, it is customary to observe the following day as a holiday.

Business houses will remain closed for the day. While no official observance has been planned, many residents will visit nearby towns where all-day programs will be under way.

Edwin Howeth At Dallas Show With Jamison Steer

Edwin Howeth, 4-H Club member of the Brock community, left Knox County on the 7th of this month with his 900 pound Hereford steer, which was bred by the Jamison Hereford ranch in the Brock community.

This steer is being shown at the Greater Pan-American Hereford Exposition that is being held at Dallas, which begins November 9th. 4-H Club members in Texas and adjoining states will have their Hereford steers on exhibition, and it is expected that the keen competition will be met, and that all boys will exert every effort to place their steer at the top of the two classes which will be shown.

The premium money is very attractive and the boy who places his steer at the top of his respective class will draw $50.00 in premiums. The reserve champion steer will win $100.00 in prizes, and the grand champion will be awarded the sum of $250.00. The boy having the grand champion calf will win a premium of $400.

The business men of Dallas and the Sears Roebuck Foundation will give the 4-H Club members a banquet at the Baker Hotel at 6:00 p. m. in the Crystal ball room, at which time 12 Mexican students from the National School of Agriculture will be present.

Seventy-two business men of Dallas have pledged to buy one calf each at the 4-H Club sale, which will be held at 1:00 p. m. November 12th, and each of the 72 business men have stated they will make the Dallas 4-H Club steer show break all price records, which will exceed all club sales that have previously been held in Texas. These 4-H Club calves are exempt from OPA price ceilings and it is expected that the boys will sell their steers for record breaking prices.

Edwin Howeth had the misfortune of breaking his leg last week, when falling from his bicycle. He has arranged to have Marshall Wooley, another 4-H Club member of the Jamison ranch, to assist him in caring for and handling the calf at the show. Bryson Laird, of Benjamin, will also attend the Exposition and assist Edwin and Marshall in showing the calf.

Turkey Day Set November 29th

Getting back to the "good old days," Knox City will officially observe Thanksgiving this year on the old-time day of the last Thursday in November, this year, the 29th.

Businessmen and school officials have agreed to get back on the beam and will take the national holiday in line with most of the nation.

Turkeys and other edible fowls have been granted a full week of amnesty under the agreement.

LIONS HEAR PATRIOTIC ARMISTICE PROGRAM

The Knox City Lions were privileged to hear today a program of Americanism, timed with the approach of Armistice Day.

Mrs. E. Q. Warren presented Edna Earle Travis in a series of readings and songs of a patriotic nature. Miss Travis read the well-known "Ballad for Americans," accompanied by Mrs. Warren on the piano.

A good crowd of Lions were on hand for the noonday luncheon.

Roy Baker announced to the club that the new Board of Commerce and Agriculture was now a going concern and available to the public.

Dr. T. S. Edwards made a talk on the proposed Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill, concerning socialized medicine.

One way to get rid of the noise in the rear of your car is to have her sit up front with you.

Lt. Lloyd English Receives Discharge

Lt. Lloyd English came home last week from Iwo Jima, where he has been for the last 10 months flying a P-51. Billy, as he is familiarly known, had numerous missions over Tokyo and other targets.

After visiting his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Joe English of Truscott, he will return to Hardin-Simmons University to finish his studies. He received his discharge at San Antonio. He and his wife spent last Sunday at Farmersville attending a memorial service for Lt. Vance Parker, a pilot pal who crashed on Iwo.

Billy says, "Well, we just did what we were told to do, and that is about all there is to it."

T-4 J. W. Branton Visiting Mother

T-4 J. W. Branton of Fort Hancock, Texas, is visiting his mother in Knox City.

Branton was discharged October 22 at Camp Fannin, Texas, after serving 3 1/2 years overseas in the European theater. The first 18 months of this stretch was spent in Iceland with the 57th Infantry Division. He entered service at Fort Bliss, Texas.

Branton has been awarded four major battle stars, the Bronze Star, Purple Heart and Good Conduct Medal.

S. D. Jones Putting Soil and Crop Practices To Use

S. D. Jones, in the East Knox City Conservation group, cooperating in the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District, is making good progress in applying a coordinated conservation program this year.

Mr. Jones was interested in making approximately 10 acres of new pasture and decided to try weeping love grass. With the help of the Soil Conservation Service technicians, the grass was planted late in June after heavy rains had destroyed his first planting. A very good stand was secured, but it failed to make seed however, and this will be used in planting this coming spring.

Mr. Jones is planting rye as a cover crop on his cotton land. He finds that rye will control wind erosion in the spring and furnish a green manure crop. His land does not require terraces due to the sandy nature of the soil.

Mr. Jones is also going to plant several acres of Austrian winter peas as a soil building crop. Under approximately two acres, Mr. Jones is going to apply 100 lbs. per acre of superphosphate. This is expected to give the Austrian winter peas a boost in growth and by doing this nitrogen and organic matter will be added to the soil. If this practice proves successful, more phosphate will be applied next year. It is believed that if commercial fertilizers are used, they should be used under winter soil improving crops rather than on cash crops.

This is a new practice in this locality and everyone is interested in how this trial planting is going to come out. Several other farmers are trying this practice on a small scale until results are obtained.

Family Reunion

The J. C. McGee home last Sunday was the scene of a family reunion of Mrs. McGee's parents and brothers and their families. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harrison and sons, Charles and Kenneth of Electra, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Harrison, Miss Wynelle McGee, home for the weekend from McMurry, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McGee. Claude Harrison has just received his discharge from the Army after two years service.

Expense of the office will be shared by the entire community. A monthly levy will be imposed on each business house that wishes to have a share in the enterprise. Everyone in the community is invited to participate in the undertaking. Your membership will be accepted by Mr. Graham, B. B. Campbell, or any member of the Lions Club. There are no set amounts to be paid in other than the basic requirements needed to keep the office going.

More details of the plan will be forthcoming as it develops.

SOPHOMORE NEWS

The Sophomores are still doing fine, but we were quite disappointed because we did not get to have our party, but we can still hope. In the meantime we are looking forward to the Sadie Hawkins party the Pep squad girls are giving.
 We are all glad Halloween is over so maybe we won't be as mean and hard to get along.
 We were proud of our football boys Friday as they won over Vera 47 to 0. We hope we can do as well Friday with our game with O'Brien. We will all be there backing our boys.

JUNIOR NEWS

It looks like we have a very good chance of winning the championship of this district. We have won all the conference tilts in this half. We play Paint Creek for the championship, November 22. It will be a very good game. This week we play O'Brien at O'Brien. You did a good job Friday at Vera, boys!
 Our English is getting rather complicated. Today we were to make original sentences using such words as close, cloth, clothes and clothe in one sentence.
 All the Juniors had a good time at the Halloween party last Wednesday night, and we hope the Seniors did too. Most of us weren't at the party very long. Wonder why?
 We are very happy because we got to order our class rings last week, and are they beautiful! So very much prettier than the Senior rings, but don't feel too badly Seniors, because we know you didn't have a chance to get ours!

SENIOR NEWS

We all had a very nice time at the Junior's party, thanks for inviting us. I guess they want to come to a Senior party, but you Juniors will have to wait for one because I can't see one in sight.

There was a man that came around last week to let us choose our invitations. The Juniors will have to get something really fancy if they can beat these. I heard the Juniors ordered their rings. Is that right, Juniors? They couldn't be any prettier than ours!

That fellow came to visit the school, you know, the Deputy State Superintendent.

DOGHOUSE

I see Mary Lou and Jessie Mae, Margaret, Louise, and Reba, really had a good time with Donald Rayford and some more boys Sunday night. At least Mary Lou and Donald did.

Fred, you and Mary Sue are getting very chummy in the back seat in Travis' car—too chummy. Roxana and Bobby Lynn seem to have had a pretty good time one Wednesday night. Brad, Bill isn't going to like that—as well as another boy. Tack seemed to be a little peeved at a guy on Vera's football team last Friday.

Foxy, has your mother come in yet. You can't use that excuse any more for not going with a certain guy, can you?
 Mr. Holcomb, what's this I hear about you and Zonell? And at your age, too!

Henry L. and Sam had the odor of rotten eggs on their hands—were the victims, fellows?
 Something must be wrong—Dot and Billie O. aren't in the doghouse this week. Could it be that they've reformed?

Ann Schilling seems to like Fred a lot from the looks of them in Math class.

Protein Shortage Faces Feed Men

An acute shortage of feedstuffs for livestock and poultry, particularly high protein ingredients, has developed as a result of the large animal and poultry populations. The possible effects of the situation are so serious that Purina Mills, one of the major producers of poultry and livestock feeds, has prepared special bulletins to emphasize its importance.

The United States Department of Agriculture has made certain recommendations to help conserve and make the most efficient use of available supplies, particularly during the next 60 to 90 days. After that, the new crop of vegetable proteins will be available, and, if a reasonable adjustment in numbers of poultry and livestock is made, the critical situation should be alleviated.

Purina Mills is endorsing these recommendations in so far as it is practical for farmers and feeders to follow them.
 Poultrymen: Market as broilers and fryers all chicks hatched since June. Cull laying flocks closely. Do not expand present broiler operations. Make sure of feed supplies before buying baby chicks during the next 60 to 90 days.

Dairymen: Make maximum use of fall pastures, hay and silage. Limit the protein feeding as much as possible while pastures are good.

Hogmen: Feed protein supplements to the brood sows and fall litters first. While proteins are in limited supply, limit the feed to heavier market hogs. Market hogs which weigh over 200 lbs. can get along better without any protein supplements than a brood sow or a baby pig can on a limited amount.

Nov. 10th Is Tech Homecoming Day

Annual Homecoming day at Texas Technological College has been set for Saturday, Nov. 11. The Tech Red Raiders will play the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs in the Tech stadium that afternoon at 2:30.

Low Prices Plus Goodwill Equals Priceless Goodwill

Our specific aim has always been to keep the high cost of living DOWN to a minimum especially with regard to purchases of drugs and general drug store merchandise.

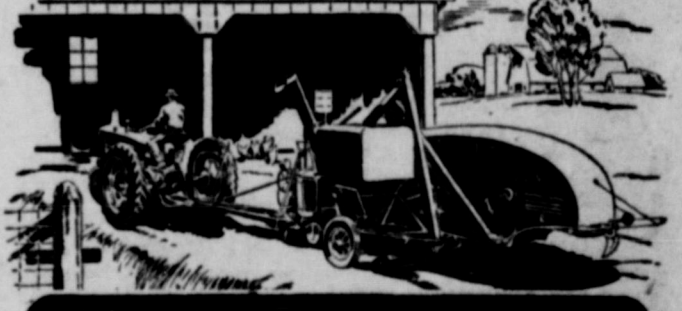

Primarily, this policy appears to be a selfish one because we know that low prices consistent with high quality influence more people to buy the REX-ALL way.

From a more far-reaching viewpoint, however, "holding the price line" enables us to cooperate to the fullest extent in keeping current-day inflationary pressures in check.

THOUSANDS OF ARMY VETERANS
NOW IN CIVILIAN LIFE

Between now and November 21, thousands of Army veterans will reenlist in Uncle Sam's new volunteer peacetime Army. Because—men who have been discharged between May 12 and November 1 of this year and reenlist on or before November 21 will be able to return to the Army with the same grade as they held when discharged.

Men with six months of satisfactory service discharged as privates will, on reenlistment before November 21, be given the grade of private first class.

Men now in the Army who apply for discharge after NOVEMBER 1 for the purpose of reenlisting in the Regular Army will also retain their present grades, if they enlist within 20 days after discharge and before FEBRUARY 1, 1946.

Pear Mincemeat Is Seasonal Delicacy

Texas homemakers who have never made summer mincemeat from late pears, have a treat in store for them, says Miss Lucile King, county home demonstration agent.

The recipe calls for some sweetening, and either honey or corn-syrup can be substituted for sugar. Corn syrup probably would be preferable, Miss King says.

Ripe pears should be used in the mincemeat. If homemakers have hard, green pears, these may be wrapped in newspapers and stored in a cool, dark place to mellow. A cool place is especially important, Miss King says, otherwise the pears may spoil quickly. Ventilated cellars or pantries would be excellent storage places.

Here is the recipe:

7½ pounds of pears (peeled or cored).

1 lemon, 1 apple (peel and all).

1 cup grape juice or other fruit juice (not too sweet).

1 tablespoon each ground cinnamon, cloves and allspice.

1 pound seedless raisins.

6 cups sugar or 3 cups honey and 1 cup sugar, or 6 cups corn-syrup.

1 cup vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt.

Grind pears, lemon and apple.

Mix with all other ingredients and boil for two hours. Pack into hot jars. Seal while hot.

Another pear recipe Miss King recommends is for pear butter:

Peel and core one gallon of late ripe pears; put in kettle and add two cups water; boil slowly; when tender put through a ricer or colander. To every four cups of pulp add two cups of sugar, 1 cup honey and ½ cup sugar may be used or 2½ cups corn-syrup. Place on stove again and cook slowly until very thick. Stir to prevent sticking. A few minutes before removing add juice of one lemon. Pack into hot sterilized jars. Leave no head space. Have lids and rubbers hot. Seal.

FARM NEWS

When winter legumes are plowed under they add a vast amount of valuable organic matter to the soil. There is no better or cheaper way of building the soil and increasing production. Every winter legume plant is a miniature nitrogen factory drawing nitrogen from the air and storing it in its roots. When the legumes are plowed under in the the spring, they add this stored nitrogen to the soil. Start a legume planting program. Farmers can earn a substantial payment under the 1946 AAA program and at the same time build up their soil.

Another good example of the benefits derived from the deep breaking of sandy cropland can be witnessed on the A. L. Smith farm in the Munday community. Crops are better and Mr. Smith stated that this land did not blow like his other land did. The AAA payment for deep breaking practice is $1.50 per acre. This payment is made to help offset the expense of the practice.

The Outlook for Wheat

Conditions in the United States are favorable for maintaining wheat acreage at around current levels for the next year or two, according to the Department of Agriculture. The surpluses of wheat that accumulated before the war in the United States and in many foreign countries have been reduced to moderate levels, and export demands for wheat are sufficient to take most of the surplus from the 1945 wheat harvest. But if farmers maintain a large acreage for several years, we'll be in trouble again. Farm production in other countries can be expected to recover in a couple of years. They'll be in a position to produce their own wheat. And if we hold our acreage at the present level PAST the time when our export demands for wheat are reduced, the United States will have to solve another problem of wheat surpluses.

Details of the 1946 conservation program are coming in, and it is expected that we will have the complete program by the first of next month. In 1946 each community will be allotted an amount of money that will help them in carrying out conservation practices. The amount of money each community receives will depend on the amount of conservation practices needed and the amount of money they have earned in the past. This watchdog over this money, or the fellow that allots it, will be the person that is elected community committeemen in 1946. All practices will have to have the prior approval of this committeeman before payment can be made.

Some remarks made by farmers about the Austrian winter peas they sowed are: Claude Richardson, Knox City, stated that he had a good stand; Lee Smith said that most of his were up and going fine; Clyde Bullion and Charlie Hamilton stated their peas were outgrowing the wheat planted at the same time; Ted Russell, Vera, believes the Austrian winter peas are what the farmers of Knox County need to build up the soil.

The USDA rural health survey, which has now been completed, shows that four-fifths of the farmers contacted favor more public clinics in rural areas, and three-fourths would like to subscribe to some flat-rate pre-payment plan to cover hospital bills, doctors and nurses for themselves and their families.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson, in an address in Town Hall, New York City, on the occasion of "Share the Food Day," said in part: "If the family next door to you were starving, you would raid your ice box and take some food over to them, even if it meant less on your table. You would want to do the same thing if the needy people abroad were brought over here so that you could get to know them personally, or if you could make a trip through ravaged lands and meet these people where they live. Of course we can't bring these folks over here and we can't all go abroad to get acquainted with them. But what we can do is to tell their story, to bring their needs home to us as directly as possible. Even though these hungry people live across the ocean, they remain our neighbors, our friends, just as if they lived next door. We must do all we can to share our food with those who are suffering from the devastation of war. We must also be realistic in facing the practical problems of getting food to places where it is needed.

The Family Altar

By Rev. Violet Myers
Co-Pastor Foursquare Church

On picking up almost any paper today, one reads of juvenile crimes. It seems to be the trend after any war, in fact crime seems to be an aftermath of war. Life has become so cheap and death has been seen on every hand, that it becomes everyday experience and not one to be dreaded as before.

You might ask, what causes war, and why should we have wars? Let us see what God's word has to say. James 3:14, "But if ye have bitter envying and strife in your heart, glory not, and be not against truth." And in James 4:1, "From whence come wars and fighting among you? Even of your lusts that war in your members. Ye lust and have not; ye kill and desire to have, and cannot obtain; ye fight and war, yet ye have not because ye ask not."

Dear friends, Jesus came into the world to bring peace to a world in deep sin. He taught the disciples a new way of living, a way wherein men loved their neighbor, and thought as much of their fellow man as they did of themselves. He taught them to love one another, and my friend, if you would love each as Jesus told us to there would be no wars, there would be no hatred, there would be no lust. But even in this day that Jesus taught those things, people still had hatred in their hearts because even as Jesus went about healing the sick, raising the dead, and on every hand doing good, we find where they sought his life, and were not satisfied until they had crucified him. The mob wanted Barabas the thief and robber instead of Jesus, and over in the war torn countries we find that the people wanted the dictator and put Christianity out of their countries, and today they realize where they failed, because some of the condemned war lords have said that the reason they lost the war was that they had forgotten God.

Dear friends, if you have children in your care, or if you are a father or mother, teach them the children about Jesus, have them accept him early in their lives that he may guide them and take care of them, and when the children are taught the love of Jesus, this country will no longer have trouble with juvenile delinquents. Remember that Jesus loved you enough to die for you, and he is coming again to receive us unto himself. Be ready for him by accepting him now. God bless you all.

Let's tear your electric bill to pieces

GO AHEAD, lady—tear your electric bill apart and see what it's made up of.

This little piece lights all your lamps. This one plays your radios. This cools and keeps your food. This washes your clothes. This takes care of the cooking and ironing and cleaning. And so on. That's a lot of different jobs to be covered by one small bill. And—hold on! You've paid for more than just electricity. About 25c of every dollar you pay for electric service goes in turn for taxes which benefit your community and help carry our heavy federal government expenditures.

Taxes UP... General cost of living UP... You'd think the cost of electric service would be up, too. But it isn't. The overall rate has even come down a little since the war began. Actually—

The average family gets about twice as much electricity for its money today as it did fifteen years ago!

This welcome fact comes from the careful planning and progressive spirit of America's business-managed, self-supporting, tax-paying electric companies.
