Editor Star-Telegram: "Over in Ashley County Ark., cotton growers have voted to patronize only the ginners who will wrap their 1930 cotton in cotton bagging, immediately that ginners of that county made inquiry for 180,000 yards of cotton bagging suitable for the purpose. If every Texas farmer would vote the same way—and stick to it—there would be a market in this State for 24,000,000 yards of cotton cloth. This would keep many a spindle working full time in what is said to be a dull year in the cotton textile industry, and would furnish a good market for many a bale of low grade cotton."—Upsher Vincent Star-Telegram market editor.

Having known Vincent from his childhood and his antecedents we heartily approve the above and gladly use it as a basis for more fully demonstrating the fact that it rests largely with the farmers of Texas, especially cotton growers, that "fortune favors those who help themselves," and to further emphasize the fact that it is useless to expect any substantial aid from Congress.

About two years since, a comprehensive pamphlet was prepared, titled "Jute," fully showing it to be a foreign product—from India—and having a monopoly on cotton bagging sacks, bags and twine. Every member of Congress—House and Senate was supplied with a copy of said pamphlet, and one was sent to President Hoover, as it contained some of his campaign statements.

Congressman Marvin Jones prepared and introduced in the House a bill, as also did Senator Blandell of Louisiana, providing for a prohibitive tariff high import duty on jute, so that cotton bagging would be used in lieu of jute, thereby creating a demand for about 1,500,000 bales of cotton for bagging, sacks, bags and twine now made of jute.

As yet no relief has been secured and apparently none will be granted so that it devolves upon the cotton growers of this country to help themselves by imitating the cotton growers of Ashley County Ark. We happen to know that the home cement people are heartily in accord with the cotton growers and will buy cotton sacks in preference to jute and the wheat growers could and doubtless would join in this crusade and insist on cotton cloth for wheat sack both the cement folk and the wheat growers having it in their power to force cotton in lieu of jute and by the same token the farmers in this country could boycott—if need be—every dealer who used jute instead of cotton twine to tie packages.

Everything that has ever been accomplished originated from an idea, a little word of four letters, and Vincent's propagation of that idea of the cotton growers of Ashley County, Ark., should be championed by the intelligent press of Texas and all other cotton growing States and to emphasize the fact that the cotton growers have it in their own hands to protect themselves—the first law of nature.

It is only necessary for the cotton growers of Texas and any other cotton growing State, to notify the ginners to provide cotton bagging to wrap their cotton, and to ignore those who fail to do so, and no doubt the ginners all intelligent one—will comply for the 1930 cotton crop.

The application of such a process will serve as an entering wedge for other and further relief to the farmers of this country and to demonstrate that the farmers—producers of raw materials—have it in their own hands to help themselves.

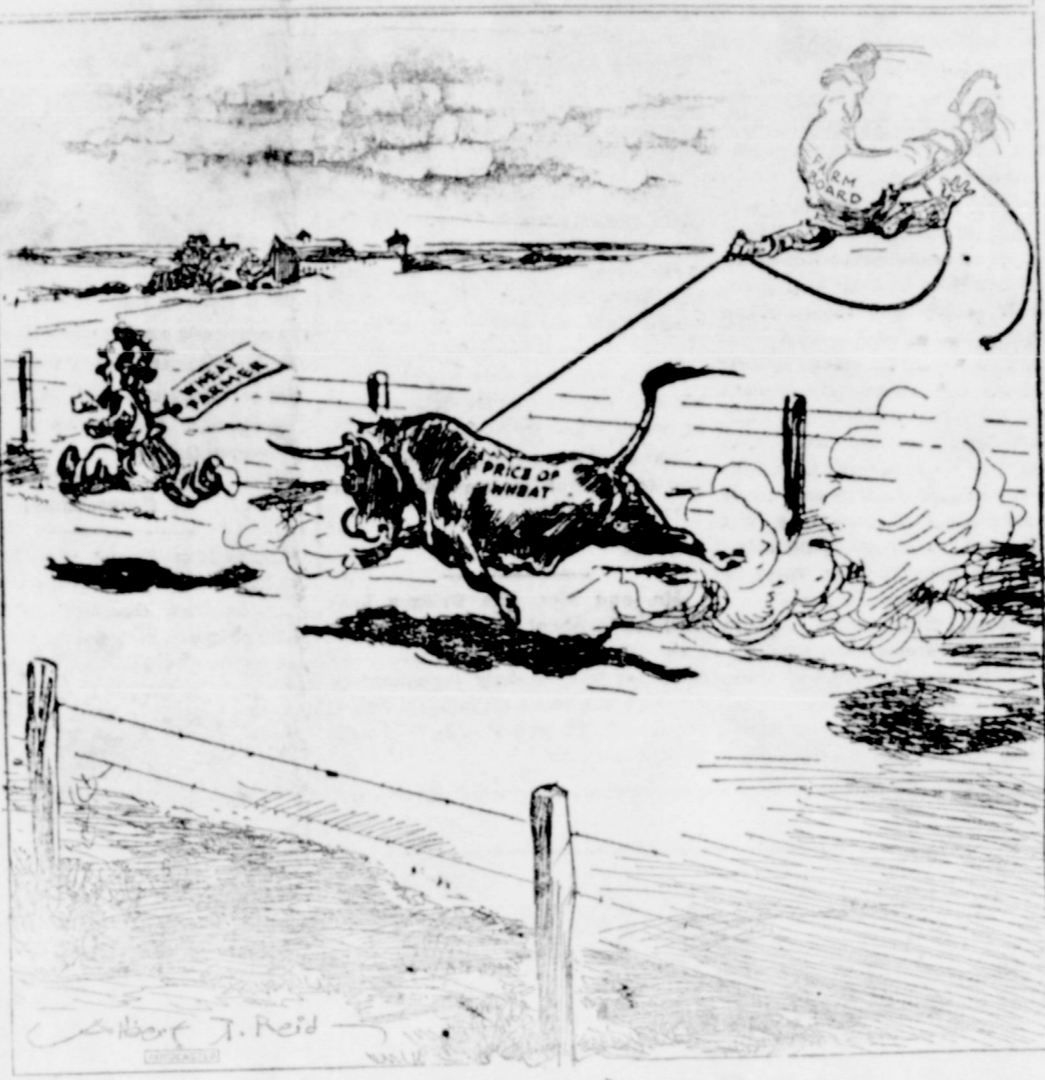

N. R. MORGAN,

Here is a way and a sure way for the farmers of the south to get some relief.

Lavaca is probably the largest shrimp market in the world. Last year it shipped out 2,500,000 pounds or enough to make 25,000,000 cocktails.

Dr. Davis of Memphis Texas stopped at the hospital one day this week to see Dr. Edwards. Dr. Davis marvelled at the wonderful hospital Knox County has and at the fact that the good work done by physicians has spread to the extent that people for many miles seek medical and surgical treatment here.

Miss Nell Brummitt returned Monday from her vacation trip to Colorado.

Miss E. Shaw left Tuesday morning on her vacation. She will visit relatives in Abilene and Stephenville.

Mrs. P. B. Baker and Mrs. Buckholt went to Wichita Falls Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. E. Q. Warren. Mrs. Buckholt will remain there and visit her daughter. She has been here some few weeks visiting her daughter who is a nurse in the hospital. Miss Bucholt.

IRA RUSSELL HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Ira Russell "Snookie" came home Tuesday from the Stamford Hospital where he has been since his fall from the Leuders Dam some three or four weeks ago. He is doing fine. His head has healed perfectly, not hurting him at all; however, it will be necessary for him to remain at home and be quiet for some time yet.

He enjoys company and it is reported that he also enjoys eating. It is good to see him home again and able to eat and like it.

TWO STORES MOVE

Two of Knox City's leading stores moves this week and last into new locations. A. J. Malouf moved last week to his new building which is only three doors north of his former location. Mr. Malouf has made a beautiful store of his place. The display windows are large and the woodwork is finished with the new decorating materials, just like the city stores. The walk is made of black and white tile with "A. J. Malouf" centered a few feet in front of the door. Two half swinging doors admit one into the store, above which a large ceiling fan buzzes, cooling the place for all who enter.

The interior of the store is equally as well finished. Everything is new, modern and made for convenience.

The H. E. Wall Dry Goods and Variety Store moved this week from his location on the corner to the Benedict building just across the street. Mr. Wall announced Tuesday that this move is a step forward for this business. The building, which he is moving is larger, has all new fixtures and will assist greatly to his making his business more modern. He is enlarging his ready to wear department and will have more room for all other department. Although the place was some what torn up Tuesday Mr. Wall stated that he hoped to be straightened out and ready for business Friday.

SURPRISE SHOWER GIVEN

Sponsored by the Couples Sunday School Class of the Methodist Church the ladies of the church surprised Mrs. J. M. Waller last Friday afternoon with a miscellaneous shower. It was given in the home of Mrs. A. S. Logan. Between forty and fifty women were present and some dozen or more children. Following a short reading by Mrs. Tom Bolin, which was unusually appropriate and well given, the gifts were presented to Mrs. Waller by a short talk from Mrs. Sweeney. Following refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

TO THE VOTERS OF KNOX COUNTY

I wish to express my thanks and appreciation to the Voters of Knox County for the support given me in the recent primary, and I shall continue to conduct the affairs of the Treasurer's Office in such manner that you will not feel that your confidence has been misplaced.

Methodist Ladies Plan Picnic

Church Membership Invited

Monday afternoon the Missionary Society of the Methodist Church met in a regular meeting in the home of Mammy Smith. Following the program the president Mrs. Hoge, announced that no definite plans had yet been made for the next meeting. She then appointed Mrs. M. M. Ward, Mrs. S. M. Clonts and Mrs. H. B. Sweeney as a committee to make plans for the next meeting. She left the entire arrangements up to the committee stating that he committee had the privilege of selecting the place of he meeting, the hour and arranging for whatever the meeting might include. Reading between the lines the committee could see the hope of a picnic or some other form in entertainment in the eyes of the president so immediately following the meeting the committee got together. As a result the ladies of the Mission Society are giving a picnic next Monday evening at Union Grove, to which they invite their husbands and all the membership of the Methodist Church. Each family is asked to fill its picnic basket and meet Monday evening at seven o'clock at the church from where the crowd will drive to Union Grove. There games will be played (there will be a leader for the adults and one for the children) and the picnic spread enjoyed. Drinks for the evening will be cared for by the committee.

TO THE PEOPLE OF KNOX CO.

I wish to take this means of expressing my sincere appreciation for the loyal support given me in last Saturday's primary. I wish to express my thanks for every courtesy shown me by my opponents and the citizenship of the county during my campaign.

Unofficial returns show that I will be in the run-off, and therefore, I wish to ask that you give me your support and influence in the next primary. I am asking for your support strictly upon my qualifications for the office of County Clerk, and if elected will do everything within my power to serve you efficiently.

Sincerely,
M. T. Chamberlain

Mr. Bill Arnold of New Mexico returned to his home Wednesday after visiting in Knox City. Mrs. Henry Hamner returned to New Mexico with him to stay about one month. She was accompanied by her little daughter.

KNOX CITY BOY GETS 'POSSUM INTO TROUBLE

A letter was received by J. E. Clarke from his son, Jack, in Waco this week telling about a new experience which Jack had just had. He started his letter by stating that he had done something that he had never done before and (right here Mr. Clarke got excited thinking Jack was in mischief) but the next line told of a 'possum which the boy knocked down from a tree and killed. Following is the article which appeared on the front page of the Waco Times-Herald.

"Possum Gets Into Trouble"

"Another Waco tree sitter paid with his life for invading the boughs of a South Waco hackberry tree Saturday morning. This tree sitter was a nice, fat 'possum discovered by Jack Clarke, Waco high school summer school student, who resides at 1700 South Tenth Street. Brother 'possum was to be served up with sweet potatoes and other trimmings for the family Sunday dinner as a sequel to the front yard hunting expedition.

ACCIDENT ON BALL GROUND CAUSES EXCITEMENT

During the game Sunday afternoon between Knox City and Rochester an accident on the diamond caused much excitement.

Knox City was at bat. A left handed batter hit the ball, threw his bat and made for the base. The bat hit one of the players, Felix Keath, behind the ear and knocked him unconscious. The game immediately stopped and the boy rushed to the hospital. The hospital was instantly flooded with boys and men clad in baseball suits with their spiked shoes in their hands. Felix received the necessary treatment and found to be in not so serious a condition. He was put to bed for a rest and Wednesday afternoon was conveyed to his home in Rule. Although he lives in Rule Felix was playing on the Knox City team.

Sunday afternoon was the first time that the editor has been present at the hospital when an emergency or rush case was brought in. Mrs. Baker states that such is no unusual and many times the cases are more serious than the Sunday case, which fact adds to the excitement and grand rush every one gets in.

TO THE PEOPLE OF KNOX COUNTY

I sincerely and truly appreciate the large vote given me in last Saturday's election. Having spent my lifetime in this part of the State, it will be my aim to justify to the fullest extent the confidence placed in me by the people of Knox County and the 114th District. I expect to use every effort to further the interests of the people of this section. In doing this, I believe that common sense and good judgement are the best guides, and I hope to use them both freely.

Again thanking you, I remain
Yours very truly,
George Moffett

TO THE VOTERS OF KNOX CO.

Respectfully submitted,
Earl Sams Tax Assessor, Knox Co.

Respectfully submitted,
J. W. Melton

The Way of Life

SITTING

Mr. Charles M. Sheldon wrote in His Steps, the book that sold a hundred million copies.

I asked him once to tell me about the greatest sermon he had ever heard.

"I don't know that I can name the greatest sermon," he answered, "but I can tell you about one of the most interesting."

"It was in London. The preacher had won a great following by the unusual character of his mind and the directness of his speech."

"On this particular morning he startled the congregation with a text which most of them did not know is in the Bible."

"In the year that king Uzziah died I saw also the Lord sitting upon a throne high and lifted up, and his train filled the temple."

"I wondered what in the world anybody could find in that text to hang a sermon on. I did not have long to wait."

"The preacher proceeded in vigorous tones: I direct your particular attention to the one word sitting. The great king Uzziah, had just passed away. You would expect that wise man climbs up on his great high throne and calmly and quietly sits.

fusion in heaven. Angels would be rushing around asking, "What is going to happen?" and "What shall we do?"

"Was that the case? Not at all. Behold the utterly unflustered Lord sitting upon a throne, high and lifted up—I want to preach to you about the eternal patience and tranquillity of God."

That story has always stuck in my mind. I like to think of the picture—the little kingdoms of the earth in turmoil, while the Lord sits quietly upon the throne, knowing that time will quiet the turmoil, and that the crisis will pass.

If you ever have occasion to write down the attributes that make men successful, do not fail to include Staying Power.

I know a man who has grown rich beyond any of his associates, though he is in many respects the least brilliant of the lot. But he had great patience and stick-to-it-iveness. When the others became excited and pessimistic, and sold their stock, he just sat tight. And time and the growth of the country have carried him high.

I read about "all the men who thought they were smarter than Lincoln—Seaword and Stanton and Chase and maybe some of them were. But Lincoln had a great philosophy. When things were at their worst he would say, "This too will pass."

Ever tough thing passes. Almost every problem becomes less hard un-der the softening influence of time. And when the turmoil is thickest the sed away. You would expect that wise man climbs up on his great high throne and calmly and quietly sits.

Miss Alma White came home last Thursday night from Canyon where she had been attending school. Alma will teach in the Martin school this coming school year.

Harold, Guy and Skeezix Martin of Lubbock were in Knox City the week end with friends. They brought their sister, Miss Emagene Martin and Miss Margaret Reeder here where Emagene will visit Margaret.

He replied: "Teacher taught us how to say 'yes, ma'am and 'No, sir. 'Is that so?'"

"Yep."

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bridges have accepted a school at Fabens, near El Paso. They have been teaching at Sylvester but recently resigned and accepted the place at Fabens. Jim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Bridges of Knox City.

BAPTIST REVIVAL GREAT SUCCESS

The Baptist Revival Meeting now in progress and which will close Sunday night, is being a great success. The services, both morning and night, are well attended. People of other denominations of the town are giving great cooperation in the meeting by attending the services.

TO THE VOTERS OF KNOX CO.

It is hard to find words to express my gratitude and appreciation to the people of Knox County for the loyal support given me July 26, and may I in nowise betray the confidence expressed thereby.

MY LOVE
By James Russell Lowell

Not as all other women are
Is she that to my soul is dear;
Her glorious fancies come from far,
Beneath the silver evening-star,
And yet her heart is ever near.

Great feelings, hath she of her own,
Which lesser souls may never know;
God giveth them to her alone,
And sweet they are as any tongue
Wherewith the wind may choose to blow.

Yet in herself she dwelleth not,
Although no home were half so fair,
No simple duty is forgot,
Life hath no dim and lowly spot
That doth not in her sunshine share.

She doeth little kindnesses,
Which most leave undone, or despise;
From naught that sets one heart at ease,
And giveth happiness or peace,
Is low-esteemed in her eyes.

She hath no scorn of common things
And, though she seem of other birth,
Round us her heart intwines and clings,
And patiently she folds her wings
To tread the humble paths of earth.

Blessing she is: God made her so,
And deeds of week-day holiness
Fall from her voiceless as the snow,
Nor hath she ever chanced to know
That aught were easier than to bless.

She is most fair, and thereunto
Her life doth rightly harmonize;
Feeling or thought that was not true
Ne'er made her beautiful the blue Unclouded heaven of her eyes.

She is a woman; one in whom
The spring-time of her childish years
Hath never lost its fresh perfume,
Though knowing well that life hath room
For many blights and many tears.

I love her with a love as still
As a broad river's peaceful might,
Which, by high tower and lowly mill Seems following its own wayward will,
And yet doth ever flow aright.

And, on its full deep breast serene
Like quiet sails my duties lie;
It flows around them and between,
And makes them fresh and fair and Green.

DAD WOULD KILL SON
BACK FROM COLLEGE

The Plainsman conducts a boiled column in the Lubbock Journal and recently gave to his readers the following story, vouching for truthfulness:

Have you heard the one about West Texas ranchmen who sent son to Texas Tech in pursuit of higher learning and whatever else saw fit to pursue? Stop me if you heard it.

The boy, fresh from Half-Cent Snake ranch came to Tech spent a whole term before going home. On his first visit the old bawdy-legged and browned years in the saddle, met his hopeful in Midland Preparatory driving to the ranch in the late fliiver.

When the kid got off the first thing his dad noticed that he wore no hat.

"Where's yore hat, son," asked.

"Replied the youngster, "college boys don't wear hats."

The old fellow didn't say anything as they walked up the street to the wagon yard where they planned to spend the night. Then he noticed that the boy was devoid of seat.

"What's the matter with your kid?" the father inquired, "ain't got no garters?"

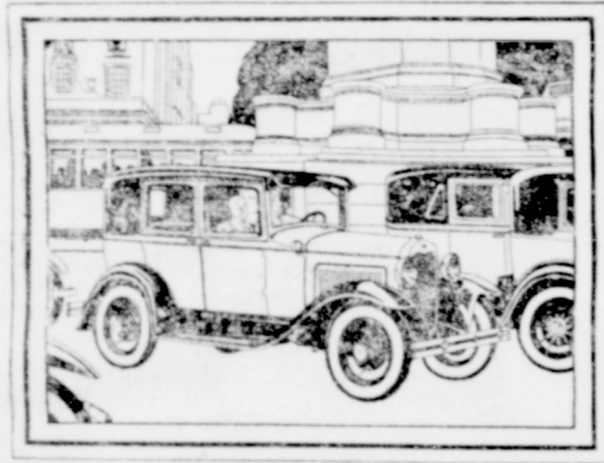

"We college boys," returned lad, "don't wear supporters."

The old man tightened his little but kept his silence, igno the strap watch and the spats boy had on. But when they got the wagon yard, began disrobing he saw a silk vest in the place the regular boy'd's the ranchman hold himself no longer.

"Wait a minute boy," he ran hitching up his trousers. "Wait minute! Don't take off them ers, College boy or no college if you've got lace on your drive I'm gonna kill you!"

Miss Lena Karriker of Abilene spent the week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Huntsman. Karriker is attending a business college in Abilene.

Meeting the Needs of Millions of People

The low-priced automobile has brought greater opportunity and added hours of recreation to millions of men and women.

BECAUSE the automobile is such an important factor in the lives and prosperity of so many people, the purpose of the Ford Motor Company is something more than the mere manufacture of a motor car.

There is no service in simply setting up a machine or a plant and letting it turn out goods. The service extends into every detail of the business—design, production, the wages paid and the selling price. All are a part of the plan.

The Ford Motor Company looks upon itself as charged with making an automobile that will meet the needs of millions of people and to provide it at a low price. That is its mission. That is its duty and its obligation to the public.

The search for better ways of doing things is never-ending. There is ceaseless, untiring effort to find new methods and new machines that will save steps and time in manufacturing. The Ford plants are, in reality, a great mechanical university, dedicated to the advancement of industry. Many manufacturers come to see and share the progress made.

The greatest progress comes by never standing still. Today's methods, however successful, can never be taken as wholly right. They represent simply the best efforts of the moment. Tomorrow must bring an improvement in the methods of the day before. Hard work usually finds the way.

Once it was thought impossible to cast gray iron by the endless chain method. All precedent was against it and every previous experiment had failed. But fair prices to the public demanded that wasteful methods be eliminated. Finally the way was found.

A better way of making axle shafts saved thirty-six million dollars in four years. A new method of cutting crankcases reduced the cost by $500,000 a year. The perfection of a new machine saved a similar amount on such a little thing as one bolt. Then electric welding was developed to make many bolts unnecessary and to increase structural strength.

Just a little while ago, an endless chain conveyor almost four miles long was installed at the Rouge plant. This conveyor has a daily capacity of 300,000 parts weighing more than 2,000,000 pounds. By substituting the tireless, unvarying machine for tasks formerly done by hand, it has made the day's work easier for thousands of workers and saved time and money in the manufacture of the car.

All of these things are done in the interest of the public—so that the benefits of reliable, economical transportation may be placed within the means of every one.

STAR DE LUXE TIRES ARE GUARANTEED FOR 40,000 MILES
 "Discovery that the price of Star De Luxe tires has not been raised because of the 40,000 mile guarantee recently placed on them in a happy surprise to the motorist who comes in to inspect this truly unusual and wonderful tire," said Mr. Ashcroft in discussing the popularity of the Hicks-built Star De Luxe.
 The combined purchasing power of Hicks stores and associated stores, together with the fact that the Hicks Rubber Company owns the Star Rubber Company, explains this situation as to price, according to Mr. Ashcroft who pointed out that 40,000 miles is a longer guarantee than is given on any other automobile tire.
 "It would seem that the tire which is heaviest and largest, and which gives the most mileage, would be the highest priced of all tires, and this would be true if we operated under the old methods of merchandising.
 We enjoy the happy set-up of being one of the more than 175 Hicks stores and associated stores that are in position to control the manufacture of the product we sell. So far as I know, there is no similar set-up in the tire world today.
 "While the trend in some instances is for the manufacturer to go into the retail business, we have things the other way and, knowing how good a tire must be to run on the roads in this part of the country we find this demand for the finest and strongest tire fulfilled in Star De Luxe. The guarantee of 40,000 miles is, like the tire itself, incomparable. We have never before sold such a tire as this, an, in view of conditions prevailing over the country, we are glad to emphasize that there is no advance in price.
 "The Star De Luxe is just one line into the Star set-up. We have the complete range, enabling us to fit the pocketbook like the tire fits the rim.

After several seasons of the most extravagant sort of flowered designs and sprawling modernistic figures there is something especially pleasing about the small dot designs that are used for some of the smartest of the new summer silks. Rather small dots, not too closely placed, on a dark background are especially attractive in combinations of white or ecru on navy blue or black.
 For a practical addition to your summer wardrobe we suggest black and white dotted silk made into a dress with short puffed sleeves, long rather full skirt and a collar with scalloped edges made of white organzie, georgette or mull.

Collars of this sort appear on a number of the new summer dresses and are not at all difficult to make.
 To cut a pattern lay any simple flat collar that fits you on a paper, and trace the outline. It should be about five inches deep at back and sides and the front should be extended in two tabs as shown in the little sketch.
 Draw two-inch-wide scallops round the edges of the collar and front tab.
 The material may be finished by machine piquet or by a fine rolled hem.
 To finish the collar at the front buy a small pearl buckle ornament and draw the ends through this so that they may be held securely in position at the front of the collar.

Gibs Says Improvement Has Been Wonderful Since Taking Argotane

Recalling the tremendous sweep with which it is spreading over the entire United States, the fame of the celebrated medicine, Argotane, is growing in Texas by leaps and bounds, since its introduction here a few months ago. Thousands of the best known and most highly respected citizens of the Lone Star State are now taking Argotane and testifying daily to the remarkable benefits they are obtaining from its use.

Mr. M. W. Gibbs, a well known employee for the Gulf Refining Co. residing on 700 E. Broadway, Sweetwater, Texas, and who has been a resident of this section for many years, makes the following interesting statement regarding the great benefits he has received from taking Argotane.

"Since the early part of 1927, I have been troubled with my stomach and habitual constipation. Most everything I ate would disagree with me, and sour, and cause gas and I got so nervous that it was impossible for me to get what you might call a good night's rest.

"I have now taken two bottles of Argotane and my improvement has been wonderful. The gaseous condition is gradually disappearing, my head is clearing and I don't have the constipation like I did. Those cramps in my stomach that used to make me feel so drowsy, are a thing of the past and my nerves are as steady as a rock. My appetite has improved greatly and I haven't a sign of indigestion any more. My wife is delig-ted over my improvement and says she now feels like taking Argotane herself."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Knox City at the Orient Drug Store.

RESOLUTION NUMBER 2

WHEREAS, it has come to the attention of the State Firemen's and Fire Marshall's Association in convention assembled in the city of San Angelo, Texas, on June 19 to June 22, inclusive, that the local Fire Marshall in many of the towns and cities of Texas is serving in the capacity without pay; and

WHEREAS, the importance of the office of City Fire Marshall has become a very important public office within the past few years due to the development and growth of the State and for the further reason that the fire loss of this State has greatly increased each year to the point that said loss has reached startling proportions in that it is costing the people of Texas many thousands of dollars each year in excess insurance premiums; and

WHEREAS, the cost to the people of the various cities and towns of Texas has been shown by the Dad Fire Record Charge that many of them are receiving; and

WHEREAS, the duties of the Office of City Fire Marshall has greatly increased due to the conditions above mentioned; and

WHEREAS, believing that it would be a great saving to the people of the respective cities and towns of said cities and towns had a regularly employed Fire Marshall receiving pay in proportion to the size of his city or town;

NOW, Therefore, Be It Resolved, by the State Firemen's and Fire Marshall's Association in regular convention assembled, that an appeal be made to the cities and towns of Texas to pay said local Fire Marshall a salary as above suggested in accordance with the size of said towns and cities and the duties performed; and

BE It Further Resolved that a copy of said Resolution be forwarded to the City Officials of each City and Town in the State of Texas, and that a copy be given to the Newspapers for publication, and a copy spread on the Minutes of this Meeting.

SEES HEAVY CLAIMS ON FUTURE BANKERS

American Bankers Association Official Declares That Banking Changes Creating Large Bank Systems Will Call for Broader Social Viewpoints.

Large-scale group or branch banking will inevitably bring a new era of banking organization and operations to the United States and bankers will have to develop "new conceptions, new administrative methods and new economic views," Rudolf S. Hecht, Chairman of the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association, recently told the members of the American Institute of Banking.

The Institute is the educational section of the association and he emphasized the point that the new era in banking demanded "that we must step up our education so that banking shall be fortified for new responsibilities."

What the Future Calls For

"We must broaden our social conception of banking," Mr. Hecht said. "Not only for the technical operations of the new banking must we fit ourselves, but both as individuals and an organized profession we must charge ourselves with serious consideration of the social problems that are involved. Already we hear murmurings and fears and doubts as to whether the changes that are coming about in banking in the extension of group and branch systems do not constitute the looming of a new financial menace, a monopolistic threat not only to the individual unit banker, but to the financial liberty of society in general. I am stating these things merely as facts that must be taken into consideration in our studies."

"Public opinion cannot be ignored by any business, least of all by banking, which is admittedly semi-public in character and is, therefore, subject to special supervision by the constitutional authorities. If banking develops tendencies that give rise to public fears, we must so conduct ourselves as to reassure all doubts."

"For this is true—that business succeeds only by serving society—that no business can permanently prosper which does not both render service to the public and at the same time convince the public that it is rendering that service. Banking, therefore, must take cognizance of what the public is saying of this new era in its development."

"It must be part of the technique of modern banking administration, whatever form our enlarged institutions take, to avoid the creation of monopolies, or even the appearance of such a centralization of financial power as to be able to exercise an undue influence over public or private finance or other lines of business. The public's right to the safeguards of fair competition must be observed."

Must Preserve Individual Initiative

"It must also be an item of management that individual initiative and opportunity shall be maintained. If America has outstripped other nations in the distribution of the benefits of its progress, it is due to the fact that there are no barriers of social caste or business tradition against advancement for character, ability, and initiative. American business has learned that it serves itself best by encouraging by every practical means individual ambition and initiative, and hurts itself most by repressing or neglecting them. Competition for efficiency, both within an organization and between organizations, will prevent any institution from long enduring in which maintenance of opportunity and recognition of initiative are not controlling principles of management. As heads of the greatest of our financial and industrial institutions stand men who started from the humblest of beginnings. Through all the grades of executive authority and reward stand men in positions in keeping, generally speaking, with their individual merits. I, personally, see no reason for fearing that the enlarged banking organizations which the future may hold would necessarily supply future bank employees with any less opportunity for achievement than unit banking."

"Again, a major consideration of administration in any multiple form of banking organization must be its public relations in every community it touches. Its foremost consideration must be actually and visibly to serve the economic upbuilding of that community. No system will be long tolerated whose local members work, or are suspected as working, to draw economic strength from one place to enlarge the financial power of another. The local unit bank has always been part and parcel of the communities where it lives—and no system can last which does not make it a major principle of operating technique to serve, and not exploit, the communities into whose business lives it enters."

Growth of Banking Education DENVER, Colo.—At the American Institute of Banking convention held here last month the growth in the effort among bank employees to provide themselves with banking education was shown by the fact, as reported by one speaker, that 11 years ago the Institute had 10 study chapters, today it has 100 and that its enrollment in the summer course had grown from 11,000 in 1909, or an increase of over 800 per cent. The graduates number nearly 15,000. The Institute is the educational section of the American Bankers Association through which bank employees are given instruction in theoretical and practical subjects relating to their business.
