Laughing Around the World

Proving The Name

A DOG — a mangy appearing breedless, nondescript rabbit dog was trailing an old darky whom a friend of mine claims he met on a road in the pine woods of South Georgia. The dog ranged off into the thickets and his owner ordered him back.

"Did I hear you calling the dog 'Rover', Uncle?" asked my friend. "Naw, sub, I called him 'Over', which is short for 'Mo'over', which is de dawg's right name." "Where did you get that name and why?" "Fur good reasons, boss," said the old man, with a chuckle. "W'en I gets dat dawg he's jest little scabby pup an' allus nothin' of hisse'f wid his tongue. So I members whar de Good Book say, 'An' de dawg, Mo'over, licked his sores.' So I knowed den I had done hit on de right name fur dat pup of mine."

HOW THE AAA SOIL CONSERVATION PROGRAM MAY WORK IN KNOX COUNTY

How the new Agricultural Adjustment Administration soil conservation program may work out in Knox County is explained briefly by Walter Rice, county agent.

"Take a typical farm of 70 acres. Native pasture and the land around barn and house and lots cover a total of 13 acres, garden and orchard take up 2 acres. The remainder is normally divided between 40 acres in cotton, and 15 acres in feed mostly grain sorghums and a little corn and cane.

"The soil depleting base would be 55 acres in this case. The Minimum requirement to qualify for a grant calls for at least 20 per cent, or in this example 11 acres devoted to soil conserving or soil building crops or practices. This means that some cotton or feed land must be shifted to other uses." Since there is very little more feed than his stock needs, most of the shifting will have to be made from cotton acres.

"Suppose this farmer feels that he must have at least 20 acres of cotton to get along. That will give him 10 acres for soil improvement plantings, but he needs one more acre to qualify, so he takes out an acre of grain sorghums to make up his soil conserving acres. He may plant these to leucum or pasture grasses, or to small grains, to be pastured or turned under. There are other possibilities, but these are the chief ones.

"He finally decides on five acres of sudan grass pasture and six acres of cowpeas to be pastured off and turned under. This helps the land and at the same time makes his feed supply safe. So with 20 acres of cotton, 14 acres of corn, grain sorghums and cane, six acres of cowpeas, five acres of sudan pasture, orchard and a little native pasture, this farmer has a pretty fair farming system."

TEXAS' VICTORY OVER TYRANNY

God must have sifted the world of noble folk about.

And kept the bravest knights or all for Texas' sunny south; And he must have said as he placed them here

On the soil of freedom's land, "You're mine, you're hers; Be men, brave men

Do all that right demands".

And God in wisdom must have picked, For the task that lay ahead, Immortal Travis, with comrades brave,

For the graves of the mighty dead Ang Houston, too, to stay the tide Of the heartless wretched men, Who soon would fall with reckless sword

From Montezuma's land.

With plot well planned by Santa Ann', With treacherous blasting mien, Encroachment came on liberty's shrine From Mexico's septic main.

And dripping sword in tyrant hand Spread terror everywhere— Struck mother, babe and sire to hit And left them dying there.

Still on he pushed, this tyrant bold, To San Antonio town To crash the braves who dared defy His blood's Aztec frown;

And Aztec blood vowed vengeance more When staunch they stood as blocks of stone

Till Azrael found them dead.

Then, vengeance got in human blood, He left the smouldering town With little else to mark the spot

But victims stricken down; And he plunged, with reckless bloody march, Toward Houston's brave command

Till frenzied folk shrank eastward way In one vast caravan.

Still onward yet he pushed his troops

With haughty, jesting power, Determined still to curse the land That dared resist his power.

But all his boasting came to naught On San Jacinto's ground Where one fell swoop of Houston's men

Brought victory's glorious crown, Through morning, noon and evening star,

Thought midnight's darkest saved We love the flag that Houston saved "Twas raised through bitterest gall;

And men of honor paid the price That war must needs entail.

We honor all—love most the dead— Who fought through Peace's travail.

I Am The Texas Centennial

I am a marker on the trail of flying years, a relay station on the sands of time.

I am the birthday celebration of the domain of the Lone Star whose purchase price was not silver and gold, but blood and tears, Bowie, Travis and Crockett who accepted death but not defeat at the gates of a man-made hell.

A million scintillating lights cleave the heavens in memory of the Alamo, Goliad and San Jacinto from whose bloody battle ground valiant Texans went to unmarked graves.

I am the holiday show window of a great commonwealth displaying in orderly array the accomplishments of one hundred years.

The very mortar in my foundation is mixed with the ashes of martyrdom, the echoes in my winding corridors are the echoes of the battle cry of freedom forced from stolid lips by the galling yoke of tyranny, and in my hallowed sanctuaries commune the spirits of the men who gave for Texas what the shepherds of Bethlehem gave for the world.

A holiday is set apart, a feast is spread, and the world is invited. Even to the cosmopolite from whatsoever country or clime he may come.

My builders are sons who sprang from plains of fighting men who asked no quarters and gave none, yet today in the tradition of the aborigine I pass the pipe of peace to all the world.

I am a well earned holiday for the tolters of a commonwealth; the natal celebration of an emper; I am an inventory of the years.

View within my portals the plunging steed that has removed the hill from the highway and brought the ends of the earth close together; but do not forget that this endless domain was conquered by ox wagons whose plodding journeys between the suns was ten miles.

Let the winged Pegasus whose nostrils snort smoke and fire and whose trails are cut through the clouds remind you that the sturdy messenger of civilization charted its dim trail with a pack horse and a bed roll.

As you scan the life-shortening comforts, and sedentary grimeraeks of modern habitation within these walls, recall the chuck wagon which was the transitory home of the men who made the Texas of today a reality.

In recounting the rare excellencies of a Truitt, a Turner, a Neff or an Allred, realize that beneath their feet is a bridge whose unshakable piers were bulld by a Burleson, a Reagan, a Culbertson, or a Holand.

The golden sunrise that glints from many stately towers shines upon Texas cities set closer together than either water holes or human habitations in the days of yore.

Gilded churches with spires that pierce the azure dome attest our faith in God, and stand upon foundations laid by patient circuit riders who sowed the seeds of godliness in the hearts of pioneers.

I am an indicator of the flow of time, a beacon light on the beaten path of civilization, and the fiscal ending of a century.

I am a resume of five score years of Texas history written in concrete and steel.

I am the harvest festival in a land of plenty.

WHY LINCOLN GREW A BEARD

An eleven year old girl promoted Mr. Lincoln's beard in the midst of the 1860 presidential campaign and proof of her success along this ultra-modern line of endeavor may be seen by any visitor to Washington, D. C. The little girl was Grace Bedell, whose home was Westerfield, Chautauqua County, New York. The episode was brought to the attention of the writers who are preparing articles on the Capital for the American Guide the Government's forth coming travel handbook.

In 1860 Mr. Lincoln was clean shaven and more than a trifle gaudy. None of his masculine supporters guessed that his rather emaciated appearance would have any effect on the voters all male in those days but the ladies had a better understanding of popular psychology. Probably after having heard a good deal of talk on the subject at the sewing circles and elsewhere in her village, Miss Bedell wrote Mr. Lincoln on October 15, 1860, the following letter:

"Dear Sir: My father has just come home from the fair and brought home your picture and Mr. Hamlin's. I am a little girl only eleven years old, but want you should be President of the United States very much so I hope you won't think me very bold to write to such a great man as you are. Have you any little girls about as large as I am? If so give them my love and tell her to write to me if you cannot answer this letter. I have got four brothers and part of them will vote for you anyway and if you will let your whiskers grow I will try and get the rest of them to vote for you. You would look a great deal better for your face is so thin. All the ladies like whiskers and they would tease their husbands to vote for you and then you would be President. My father is going to vote for you and if I was a man I would vote for you too but I will try and get everyone to vote for you that I can. I think that rail fence around your picture makes it look very pretty. I have got a little baby sister she is nine weeks old and is just as cunning as can be. When you answer, address your letter direct to Grace Bedell, Westerfield, Chautauqua County, New York.

"I must not write anymore answer this letter right off. Goodby, Grace Bedell."

Mr. Lincoln saw the point and started in immediately to raise a crop of whiskers, though he felt rather ashamed of himself for doing it, as it indicated in the reply which he sent his youthful girl advisor on October 19:

"My little Miss: Your very agreeable letter of the 15th is received.

"I regret the necessity of saying I have no daughters, I have three sons one seventeen, one nine, and one seven years of age. They, with their mother, constitute my whole family.

"As to the whiskers, having never worn any, do you not think people would call it a piece of silly affection if I were to begin it now? Your very sincere well wisher, A. Lincoln.

These letters are now on display in a little cabinet at the Lincoln Museum.

The Ford - FOR ECONOMY

"The Ford V-8 uses less fuel and oil for the power it gives than any other car we have ever made

AND ITS UP-KEEP COST IS THE LOWEST"

ENTHUSIASTIC sales talk often begins and ends with gasoline mileage. Some salesmen would like you to believe it is the whole story of automobile economy. But drivers ought to know better. For, the fact is, it's way down the list. The big items of car economy are low first cost, low up-keep cost and low depreciation. Savings here can make a great deal of difference in cost per mile. Gasoline mileage is more of a talking point than an economy factor. Check up and you will find that the difference between 17 and 19 miles a gallon is less than $10 for a whole year's average driving (8400 miles at 18 cents a gallon). Here are the big items that make the Ford the most economical car:

 More value for every dollar you pay.
 Lower cost for repairs and service.
 Long life. Slow depreciation.
 Quality means economy and the 1936 Ford V-8 gives you more real quality than any other low-price car. No other car under $1645 has a V-8 engine. No other low-price car has Center-Poise Riding, safe, sure mechanical brakes and Safety Glass all around at no extra cost.

The school ensembles will be divided into three divisions namely primary, Junior, and Senior. Following the group numbers there is to be a massed singing in which every school child in Knox and Baylor counties will take part. The songs to be sung by the entire group, will be Texas Centennial and Cowboy Songs.

Saturday night the massed band concert will be held at which the decisions of the contest will be read.

The local band has four members who will play in the massed band concert. They are: Jack Varnell, Dickey Mullins, Doris Elaine Clouts, and Paul Edward Benedict.

We wish the band all the luck in the world and hope it comes back victorious and happy.

SENIOR PLAY A SUCCESS

The Knox City Seniors really looked and acted like movie stars when they gave their Senior play, "A Deal in Fish" last Friday night, April 10.

The play is one of the best ones that has been given for several years here in Knox City.

The Seniors proved to us that they could act. Each person's role fitted him perfectly and couldn't have been better.

Several surrounding towns were represented and the people seemed to have enjoyed themselves immensely.

The Knox City school band, directed by Mr. D. L. Dodgen, gave a concert before the play. Claudia Sue Moseley and a trio, Billie Bess Benedict, Lora Jean Propps and Marion Clouts held the spotlight between acts.

The Seniors made an unusually large sum of money on their play.

All in all, every part of it was enjoyed to the fullest extent.

BARKS

Dorothy Shaver, may I suggest that you be more careful where you put your clothing?

Claudia Sue Moseley always has something to say. She's the kind that doesn't run down—a good buy for someone!

The Wink Band is still exceedingly popular topic for conversation. It seems.

R. I. band isn't stuck-up at all so don't get the wrong opinion.

There is a general scramble for the Post office every afternoon. The lassies fairly get the mail, too.

I heard something about a romance between a certain head-head and a certain brunette—sophomore and seniors should be good friends, however.

Loyd Huntsman, are you a woman hater?

I wonder how it feels to be a tallor? Look forward to the Junior Play, "The Chintz Cottage" because it's grand!

Speaking of plays from all reports the Senior play was a smashing success.

Billie Bess Benedict always gets tickled at the wrong time for shamer Billie.

That band of ours is getting good. They sound like they're hard years at practice. Luck to you!

Well, it seems that Munday still comes over even if results aren't so encouraging.

Don't forget about the Junior play, "Chintz Cottage"—Friday April 24. Come!!!

REVEREND A. E. BUTTERFIELD ADDRESSES STUDENT BODY

Reverend A. E. Butterfield, of Childress, Texas, spoke to the Junior High and High School students last Wednesday afternoon. Reverend Butterfield is a former missionary who travels giving free lectures on the Kiawa, Comanche, and Apache Indian tribes.

Reverend Butterfield had Indian head-dresses and other Indian relics with him to illustrate his lectures and the students seem to have enjoyed his visit very much.

We welcome him back at some time in the future to give the students another treat.

SIXTH GRADE EASTER PARTY

Saturday night at 7:30 the Sixth Grade pupils gathered at Mrs. Joe Averitt's for a tecky party.

Instead of having an Easter egg hunt we waited until Saturday night and our room mothers gave us a party. We played several games and following the games refreshments of cookies, easter eggs and punch were served.

Doris Elaine Clouts and Rufus Doyle White were voted as the tackiest boy and girl at the party. They got a wonderful prize of an onion.

We want to thank our room mothers for being so nice and we all enjoyed it very much.

NO PAUPER'S OATH REQUIRED FOR OLD AGE PENSIONS

AUSTIN—"No 'pauper's oath' is required to obtain assistance under the new law, Orville S. Carpenter, executive director of the Texas Old Age Assistance Commission, declared this week.

"It is unfair to consider a man or woman a pauper when he or she has $5,000 or $7,500 worth of property and has $500 or $1,000 in the bank. These are the maximum amounts of property and cash an applicant may have and still qualify for assistance. The larger amounts are for married applicants," he explained.

"Broader qualifications would keep us from receiving federal aid. If our law were changed to make everyone past the age of 65 eligible, we would not obtain funds from Washington. Cooperation of the Federal Government is limited to only those states giving aid to the needy.

"The National Social Security Act reads that it was passed for the purpose of giving financial assistance to states for helping aged needy individuals (Section 1, line 3)." Mr. Carpenter stated.

"Our old age assistance set-up for administering the new law was created only after I had conferred with the Social Security Board in Washington.

"State legislators passed the Texas law in such form as to agree with the national one. The Texas Old Age Assistance Commission and our entire plan are based on the State law and rules and regulations made by the Federal Government," he added.

 "We have formulated our plan in such a way to be acceptable by the Social Security Board, which must pass upon our law and plans before matching our payments dollar for dollar," the Executive Director said.

NEW TEXAS ALMANAC

The book of 10,000 facts—the 1936 edition of the Texas Almanac—is just off the press. It is the largest volume in the history of this publication—a total of 512 pages, on better-grade of paper and more profusely illustrated. The 1936 book, although designated as the "Centennial Edition" and compiled in tribute to the grand celebration in Texas this year, misses only twenty-one years of reaching its own centennial year, having first been issued in 1857 by the Galveston News, the parent organization of The Dallas News, its present publishers.

While much new material of historical nature is included in the new issue, none of the chapters that has made The Texas Almanac the standard reference book of Texas in the past has been omitted. The names of several thousand individuals appear in its pages.

Features of the current issue include an extensive description of the Texas Centennial, including celebrations at Dallas and other points in the State, an outline of the history of Texas from its beginning to the present, an illustrated chapter on the wild flowers of Texas, lists of the different kinds of trees and wild animals found in Texas, extensive lists of historic old towns and origins of names of Texas towns, a text of the State Constitution with all its amendments and brief account of submission of all adopted amendments since adoption of the Constitution, and new farm census figures of 1935. There is much of interest for the coming political campaign, including the current poll tax payments by counties. All figures on State, county and city bonded debt are brought up to date. There are several chapters devoted to points of interest for the Centennial tourist in Texas, and a new map made in four colors especially for this edition of the Texas Almanac, entitled "Texas for Tourists," is folded between the leaves of each volume.

There are more than 100,000 facts about the history, natural resources, crops, livestock, industries, commerce, transportation, finance, government, politics, educational system, cultural institutions and other phases of Texas economic, political and social development.

The Texas Almanac, always in demand by business and professional men and women and students in the Lone Star State, will be more in demand this year than ever before. Texas history is more glamorous and richly appealing on the State's 100th birthday. Thousands of out-of-State visitors and newcomers will find this birthday edition particularly acceptable. No individual or organization is so thoroughly equipped to present in book form a compendium of Texas data. Facts and figures come from all parts of the State to find, in well-edited form, their niche in this widely demanded handbook on Texas—its past, present and future.

One may start out running with a crowd and end up walking by himself.
