END DIET DAYS DILEMMA

DID YOU KNOW that no one food is really the cause of overweight? When dieting you should not cut out a particular food but cut down on consumption of all types of food.

on consumption of all types of food.

The reason is that you need foods from the four basic "groups" every day. Milk, meat, vegetables, fruits, breads and cereals are equally important if the body is to receive adequate vitamins daily.

The wise dieter, according to the Roerig Division of Pfizer, marketers of Viterra vitaminsmineral supplements, is the one who keeps calories down and stamina up by the careful selection and preparation of foods.

We need, we don't always eat as wide variety as we should—especially when dieting.

Other hints from Roerig to dieters or would-be-dieters are:

(1) Consult your doctor about the proper diet. Don't leave his office until you have a clear understanding of the diet he prescribes.

(2) Learn the basic facts about nutrition. This will enable you to prepare attractive meals built around the diet. Creative menu stamina up by the careful selection and preparation of foods.

All foods, for example, should be cooked as fast as possible to retain natural vitamins. Use of a minimum amount of water will also ensure that the maximum vitamin-value is retained in the food.

Another hint is to supplement natural vitamin intake with a vitamin-mineral preparation, such as Viterra. Although natural foods can provide all the vitamins
