The rule regarding a mattress that has been received by an ineligible family is:

"In any case, where it is definitely determined that an ineligible family received a mattress or comforter under the cotton Mattress Program, a letter will be sent to the applicant advising to return the mattress if not used, or to pay the Government the estimated cost of the material. It has been determined that the average cost to the Government of cotton and ticking material included in a full-size mattress under the Cotton Mattress Program is $6.55, and the estimated average cost for a comforter is $1.35. These are the amounts that each such family that is ineligible will be required to pay. The Eugene Bell Post of the American Legion will undertake to register all World War Veterans of the Callahan County on Saturday Feb 22, 1941. Voluntary registrations will be received at Oplin, Clyde, Baird, Putnam, and Cross Plains on that date.

This is a summons for possible important service for "God and Country", whom we served as young men in 1917-18. World War Veterans generally will welcome this opportunity of perhaps doing a bit for their country. We do not expect to be called for military service. Most of us are beyond that age. But there may be home defense duties to be performed. This voluntary registration of veterans is sponsored by the National Executive Committee of the American Legion and is merely for the purpose of cataloging the qualifications and special talents of all World War veterans for national defense. Form questionnaires to be filled out by veterans, state and national headquarters of the Legion will prepare indexes which will list the experience, education, training and other qualifications of the registrants. The information contained in these indexes will be made available to Federal State, and Local authorities when ever the need arises.

AROUND TOWN

With OTTO B. GRATE

Around Town makes invoice of Valentine's day. Otto Bordenricher of the Fort Worth Star Telegram, is certainly a Prince of a good Fellow and his interest in the outcome of Saint Valentine day for this column is balm to an otherwise injured soul. I find that in the readers opinions I am a combination fabricator, moron, and general nuisance. One lovely greeting started this way, "Its nice to be noticed, nice to be flattered, nice to be treated as though you mattered", and ended up by calling the recipient a screwball. The highest insult was from the rascal who said he couldn't find an insult bad enough for a newspaper writer and was just gonna' say "Happy Valentine's Day" in a nasty way. There were a few nice ones though, from children who were evidently to young to know what an orge a columnist can be.

The Plaza Theatre has installed some new glass in the operating booth and to cut down sounds of machines. The amount of noise in the building caused by the operating machinery is practically zero. Its a big help too.

Tiny Davis Ray Allman, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Allman is as pretty a little blue-eyed boy as you will meet anywhere, and he already knows the art of making friends. And still another loveable tyke in the same section of town is little Dianna Grace Gillit, James and Grace's baby girl. The folks have something to be proud of in that lovely lady.

The effect must not have been permanent for I see the Band Mothers are able to be about this week, but the sign in front of their cooked food sale did read, "Barbecued Chicken and Band Mothers."

Neighbor Pearce moved a new calf into his place this week and its the prettiest one yet. This one is Abbie and I think its right nice of the government to set aside the birthday of our neighbor's calf as a national holiday, Feb 12th happens to be the day.

Book if the week is "If I Have Four Apples" and its an highly entertaining fun poke at the American people whose failing is adding two and two to make eight and living at least a step beyond their means. There is nothing drab or morose about the book and the people are believable human beings who neve get so down hearted that they can't lay plans to scrape a few dollars together to make a down payment on something they'll probably lose the next week.

Spotlight of the week goes to these very special friends of yours, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Shocklee. Sr. and daughter Nan who are ideal neighbors, friends, and citizens. Whenever there is anything planne to help the town are the people in it you'll find the Shocklee family giving every effort to make that moment a success. People who know the Shocklee family count that a privilege and pleasure.

And a little wedding bell footnote, as friend Harris sez' at least cupid got a little results around the home town. Miss Helen Irwin and Robert Lowe of A and M were married last week and when this is published, (we have heard) that Lee Loper might have made his death defyleap in a stage of matrimony.

Man is what woman marries. Men have two feet, two hands and sometime two wives, but never more than one collar button or one idea at a time. Like Turkish cigarettes, men are all made of the same material, the only difference is that some are better disguised than others. Generally speaking, they may be divided into three classes, husbands, bachelors, and widowers. An eligible bachelor is a man of obstinancy surrounded with suspicion. Husbands are of three varieties prize, surprise and consolation prize. Making a husband out of a man is one of the highest plastic arts known to civilization. It requires science, sculpture and common sense, faith, hope and charity, mostly charity.

Swiped by the Kemp News and reswiped by this column. In noting the powerful posts in our national government that are occupied by Texans, (Sam Rayburn, Speaker of the House; Jesse Jones, head of the RFC and Secretary of the Interior, and the numerous House chairmanships) it should be remembered that one of the important positions is that held by United States Senator Morris Sheppard, dean of the Senate and chairman of the Military Affairs Committee.

Senator Sheppard has served in the Senate 28 years and, including his service in the House, he has been a member of Congress 39 years. Gillett of Massachusetts and Morrill of Vermont, neither of whom is now living, are the only men in history to serve as national lawmakers longer and one more term for the Texan would give him the greatest length of service of any man since the United States was founded.

a load across Texas that can be loaded onto a single truck at the Oklahoma line, a situation which prompts the Weatherford Democrat to declare editorially: "A condition of that kind is bound to interfere greatly with inter-state commerce. Texas has a particular stake in the truck load limit because there are so many perishable products here that is largely moved by truck. In our own country in 1940, we moved our peaches and other crops largely because the load limit was ignored. A new load limit low shall be passed in keeping with conditions.

Dr. Cox Says--

"The practice of medicine is frequently referred to as 'the healing art'. While this conception of the duties of the family physician is and always will be vitally important, it is by no means necessary for one to be ill in order to benefit from the services of which he is capable. To limit one's interest in the family physician to the care of sickness is to disregard entirely his capabilities in connection with the attainment and maintenance of the highest possible individual vitality," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox State Health Officer.
"The present emergency is emphasizing the need of physical fitness. All out preparedness, with the stress and strains associated with high speed production of war materials and the yet unknown factor of personal cooperation in the defense program which may be required of every one sooner or later, no longer makes half-way individual health measures exclusively a personal concern.

While neglecting to achieve maximum personal health has always been an unwise policy, this attitude, in light of the present emergency, represents also a lack of patriotism.
"It may be stated that today's armed forces have improved their preventive health measures so that the man now meeting the physical requirements and joining the services will belong to a highly protected segment of the nation's population from the standpoint of both disease prevention and health promotion. Nevertheless, the majority of Americans, however closely related their work now may be or may become to national defense, are not favored, by this unusual protection. Thus, individual initiative will have to be relied upon instead. It is at this point that a full appreciation of the services that can be rendered by the family doctor can be applied to individual and national advancement. As a discoverer of latent physical effects, he has at his command information and modern methods of detection.
"To give the family physician an opportunity to look one over physically for the purpose of detecting any insidious trouble is merely to play safe. If no defects are found, one still will have the advantage of knowing that basic physical fitness exists. If perchance something comes to light, having taken time by the forelock, the opportunity of stopping serious difficulty exists. Then, too, this contact with the family doctor affords an opportunity to discuss with him the living habits which make up ones daily life. It is not too much to say that many adults, to attain his greatest vigor of which they are capable, will need some amendments to their habits. These the physician will be in a position to indicate.

ON THE BAIRD CAMPUSES PAE

Track meet looms ahead by only a matter of four weeks and during this last month of preparation you'll find both the Baird schools tightening the reins and leaning foreword in the saddle in all readiness for that important home stretch. The next few weeks will see the local try-outs in all league contests. Bill Whit's track champs have long been stirring up heel dust on the training grounds and though the flue has played havoc with the boys the chances for Baird coming out on top in the field events are still far from low.

All matraiel for the one act play Lelia Hammock will enter in the county contest has arrived and by the end of this week the cast will be chosen and the play will get under way. There will be a complete "talent shake-down" in the school and when Director Hammock skims the cream of her dramatic classes to fill the roles. Our prediction Perfection in the finish product.

By this time you've probably heard the outcome of the county Basketball tournament in Cross Plains last week. The gals bottled things up right and skipped in home Saturday night with the county championship. This is the first year Baird has taken that honor since way back, and its something we have a right to crow about and this commentator is especially proud of a little doping we made out at the first of the season. Anne Hill, we said, was a basketball player if we ever saw one. Now come this story to show how very right we were. Ida Mae Glover, who is just about tops in that game, suffered a bad sprain and so was unable to play in the games Saturday. Coach White put Anne Hill into the fray as a forward and told the lady that her job was to keep the ace of the opposing team from scoring a point. Anne has a way of taking orders at face value and that is exactly what she did. Not only did she managed this feat but turned in 13 points to the Baird score. Coach White wasn't surpriser at all. Its his business to know the material he works with and he knew Anne could do it, but he is mighty proud. Jo Ester Jones chalked up 20 points and that ought to show how valuable the Jones gal is to the team. Roby Walker, they tell me, came out with her share and Patsy Rister and Ruth Dyer also won the applause: but why am I telling you all of this when the fact that the girls are the county champs tells you what a top-notch team they are. Bring on Bayou, they'll riddle 'em.

Last Week-end a group of Baird debaters, and other students of public speaking, attended the Central Texas Meet of Oratory. Joe Cowen, debate coach supervised the trip, and hopes that his crew will be stronger speakers because of it.

Work on the Headlight, school annual is getting along now in the last stages. Part of the student pictures are ready for the printers. Track boys, band and a few individual pictures remain to be taken. The annual will contain pictures of all high school classes, organizations, favorite section, faculty pictures and group pictures of the grade school. Around ninety three year books have been sold to date and the staff is still open for orders. If you want an annual place your order now to insure your receiving a copy.

The band members who attended the State Band Clinic in Waco last week are home again and telling the world what a fine time they had on their trip. The Band, by the way, will have new uniforms this spring. The uniforms, as described by Dale McCook, band director, will be all wool military style. Red trousers and jacket with gold buttons and white Sam Brown belt topped with a red military cap will be the Bear riggins in a few weeks.

The pencil campaign waged by the Band mothers for the past few months will come to a close and grand awards in the contest will be made Saturday night on the stage of the Plaza Theatre.

And speaking of the Band, March first has been designated as "Hobo Day" when band members will scour the town in search of odd jobs. Sove your work until that day and hire a band student to spade the garden or clean the yard or any other chore. The money made this way will be placed in the Band fund for jackets to be given the students.

CCC Enrollment

Announcement is made by Mr. J. S. Murchison, Executive Director, State Department of Public Welfare, that four additional CCC enrollment periods will be held each year.

"Beginning in February," stated Mr. Curchison, "an Intermediate Enrollment will be held for boys wishing to join the CCC. These will be held following the regular quarterly enrollment in January, April, July and October and will be a means of keeping all camps up to full strength allowing the work programs to be maintained at a constant level."

The CCC has more to offer unemployed boys of good character than ever before: training in various skilled trades is being stepped up to meet the needs of National Defense. Enrollees must now set aside $7.00 each month as savings, thereby assuring themselves of funds when they leave camp to tide them over until employment is found.

Applications should be made with the local county Welfare Worker.

Dallas Will Celebrate 100th Anniversary

Dallas was founded in 1841, when John Neely Bryan hobbled his horse, built a log cabin and started a trading post on the banks of the Trinity River. The people of Dallas are now well underway with their preparations for celebrating the one hundredth birthday of their city with a series of special entertainment features to which their neighbors in Texas and throughout the Southwest are invited.

The first special event of the Dallas Anniversary Celebrations will be the Gardens of the Americas flower show, March 29 to April 6. This international exposition, which embraces floral exhibits from Mexico, and the South and Central American Countries has already been underwritten by Dallas business interested to the tune of $100,000. The show is planned to be one of the most gorgeous and representative flower staged in this section of the country. Awards in the contests will total many thousands of dollars and the vast Automobile Building at the State Fair Grounds, which will house the exposition, will be turned into a fairyland of sparkling fountains, banks of flowers, stretches of gardens, miniature lakes and streams amid surroundings of tall forest evergreens. It will be a million dollar flower show so J. O. Labert, Jr. and Mrs. Geo. N. Aldredge, chairman in charge of arrangements, promise. Each of the 200 Garden Clubs of Texas and garden clubs in Louisiana, Oklahoma and Arkansas have been invited to participate and all of them are giving the show their active support.

Preliminary plans feature a collection of gardens typical of various parts of the United States and of Latin American countries. There will be a vast tropical garden presenting flowers and fruit from Central and South America. Mexico will be represented by a garden brilliant with the favorite flowers of that country. The gardens of the South will be centered around an old Southern mansion model after a picturesque Charleston home reconstructed in the huge show building.

It will be in this garden that magnolias, azaleas and camellias will be particularly featured. A Texas Spring garden will be bright with jonquils, tulips, narcissi and hyacinths while one of the spaces will feature a collection of rare South American orchids, brought here specially by plane. There will be a moonlight garden, a rose garden, a number of rock gardens, a snow garden in which crocuses and other of the earliest plants will peep up through a coating of snow. There will even be a vegetable garden showing how old fashioned and unusual herbs and vegetables may be grown so as to become things of beauty.

Entering the show the visitor will first enjoy a tremendous banked effect of pink, white and blue hydrangeas. Lofty forest evergreens and magnolias, which are already being shipped to Dallas by the car load from East Texas and Louisiana, will line the aisles through the exhibit building. Hundreds of fruit trees, peaches, apples, pears and plums are being shipped from Texas orchards to enhance the forest scene. Car loads of azaleas are already in storage in Dallas greenhouses being forced so as to be in full bloom for the show. Thousands of square boxes have been planted with grass seed to provide the green sod which will form a carpet for the many exhibits. At the far end of the show building will be a huge embankment of fragrant white lilies amid which fountains spurt ceiling high, their sprays ever changing in color under rays of arc lights. Complete homes will be exhibited with the gardens and artists and sculptors will aid florists in decorating in attaining the unusual mass effects. In a special formal garden, known as the "Childhood of the Gods") Venus, Mercury, Mars, Jupiter and other pagan deities will be shown in their childhood days on Olympus playing ami ferns and foliage. Professional florists of Texas have reserved thousands of feet of space for their special exhibits as have also many garden clubs. The florists, seedmen and nurserymen are busy with the preparation of unusual displays of rare flowers. A whole train load of flowers and plants will be shipped from California for show purposes and collectors of rare plants will have their specimens on display. Advance sales of tickets to the flower show will commence February 15 from Gardens of the Americas offices at Stoneleigh Hotel in Dallas. Tickets will be sold in books of six for $2.50 until a week before the opening of the show. Admission price, when paid at the gate, will be 75 cents. All profits will be given to hospitals for crippled children.

"The Sage of The Sage Hills"

TOM MARTIN SAYS

Did you ever have a calf to run over you, when you were a boy? I know of no experience that will baffle you more, than to be standing still in a cowpen, and from nowhere a calf hits you from behind like a pile driver, you are so bewildered that you get up out of the dirt, and like the little girl who saw Grand Canyon for the first time, said to her mother, "What happened." That is the way I felt some time ago when I was an onlooker at the banquet the citizens of Austin gave to the members of the house and senate.

The governor and the lieutenant governor were there, Jim and Ma Ferguson, Houghton Brownlee made a good talk, Speaker Homer Leonard delivered a fine after dinner speech, there was some horse play and all of a sudden a feller was introduced to speak for the senate. Well, boys and girls, I've heard several speeches in my life time, but this one was a new variety to me. He was like the man on the flying trapeze, he floated through the air with the greatest of ease. He touched first base on literature, rounded second on the Holy Writ, ran into third on the significant history of the universe and headed safely for home, with treatise upon government that would have made Blackstone blush with an inferiority complex. Where did he come from? It was the voluntary consensus to find out more about him.

The name is John Lee Smith who hails from Throckmorton. He represents the 24th district, which is comprised of Throckmorton, Stephens, Eastland, Callahan, Taylor Shackleford, Jones, Haskell and Fisher, Noland, Mitchell, and Scurry counties. There is a district that could be made into a better empire than some of the European countries. I'd rather live in it anyways. His father was a J. P., of the old school and John is a self made barrister, in the true sense. His district can truly be proud of its senator. He's a-going places.

—From The Austin Statesman, Saturday, Feb. 1 1941

County Fairs Would Be Helped

Horse racing would be a financial "shot in the arm" to county and district fairs over Texas it is pointed out by those favoring the bill which is sponsored by the Thoroughbred Horse Association of Texas and was introduced by Rep John Bell of Cuero.

When racing was legal a few years ago, a number of fairs, notably those in Amarillo, Seguin, Kingsville and Midland, held horse races and they proved to be one of the most popular features of the expansions. The expositions. The attractive drew thousands of persons out to see the sport and thereby provided revenue which helped to support the fairs and enable them to offer more prizes for cattle, sheep, goats and agricultural products, which, in turn, helped to stimulate the raising of better farm and ranch products.

The bill which would restore racing authorizes fair association courses in countries with cities of less than 100,000 population and where the earnings would go to no individual but to the fair association for prizes and improvements. The "take" would be 10 per cent of the amount wagered in the pari-mutuels and the State would receive a tax of 2 per cent and the license fee would be $100.

In the case of major race courses, which would be located within a radius of 50 miles of city with more than 100,000 population and could be operated by individuals, associations, corporations or partnerships, the State would collect a tax of 5 per cent on the amount going through the pari-mutuels and would levy a license fee of $5000. Also the State would receive a percentage on the concessions and on admission tickets, as well as half the "breakage" (the odd cents remaining when the winnings are distributed, the "break" being in multiples of a dime). A total of $2,500,000 in new tax revenue for the State would be provided by horse racing, with 75 per cent going to old age pensions and 25 per cent to the State public school fund.

Baptist Church

A. A. DAVIS, PASTOR

The training school which has been in progress all last week and this week at the Baptist Church has been interesting and helpful to all in attendance.

The Sunday School and Church services last Sunday were encouraging and fine crowds came to all services. We began another series of sermons Sunday night which we hope will prove helpful to all. The book of Revelation will be the theme of the Sunday night sermons for the next several months.

We believe there is a way by which we can reach the average man of the street with the word of God. We believe it strong enough to keep on trying. Sin hardens and paralyzes the best there is in people and glories in the human lives wrecked and left to face eternity. The cause of Jesus Christ and His Church is in the hands of just such people whose wrecked lives were salvaged and saved by the Grace of God. Certainly the Christian is not perfect, but the unsaved world is much the greater distance away from peace and happiness and perfection. All Christ unassally gets hold of is a dissipated, ruined life. Many are unwilling to trust their shipwrecked lives to Jesus Christ. Yet Christ constantly seeks to save the Lost and give them Eternal Life. The Average man, in his right mind, if he could really and thoroughly understand who Jesus Christ is, what He wants to do for men, that average man would listen with interest to the proclamation of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. It is Satan's Chief business to misrepresent and blaspheme the name of Christ and to keep men from listening to the Gospel Message. We fully understand this fact, but perhaps many have not thought of it in this light. We are grateful to the Lord for His presence in our services. We want others to come and share the blessings with us. As tenderly and as sincerely as we know, we invite you to attend our services.

Texas New Highway Maps Out

The 1941 spring edition of the Texas Highway map issued by the Texas Highway Department is now available to the public. The cover of the spring edition is a natural color photograph picture showing a sunrise scene on the Gulf Coast of Texas, and the new map shows all State highways, cities and towns and, as with every issue of the map, shows that pavement has been placed on many unpaved gaps since the last map was issued in the spring of 1940.

Features of the 1941 spring edition map are the new Federal census figures for Texas cities and towns. Shown on the map itself are oil and gas regions, national forests, and principal lakes and streams. Inserts around the map show in larger scale the routes into and thru larger cities. On the back is a brief description of State parks, and other attractions: facts about Texas, and interesting pictures of industry and development in the State. The data includes comparative distances showing that it is farther between some cities in Texas than from the same cities to Los Angles, Chicago and Jacksonville on the Atlantic Ocean.

The Highway Department constantly strives to improve the map, and this edition is the most complete map yet issued. While new paving is shown, it is impossible, of course, to indicate on the map the many miles of old type paving on which reconstruction, improvement and modernization has been done. The map is free to the public and copies may be obtained by writing the State Highway Department at Austin, or any of its District Offices.
