We have one letter from a little girl who forgot to sign her name. She wants something and a pair of pajamas. We are sorry we cannot say who this little girl is and if she wants to she may write her letter again.

Mr. J. B. Fortenberry was called to the Sun Set community last Saturday to see his mother who is quite ill.

Banquet Thrills Greyhounds

On Friday night of last week the annual football banquet for the Knox City Greyhounds was given. Other than the 23 Greyhounds present, there were the coach, assistant coach, superintendent, city mayor and the two doctors. This made a total of twenty-nine.

The Greyhounds with the other guests found one of the most attractive tables imaginable confronting them as they walked into the dining hall of The Third Year Home Economics Class of the Knox City school. The table was lined off as a football gridiron with miniature goals at each end, and centered with two megaphones which held the shining football used in the last victory over Munday. Other decorations were trophies won such as felt pennants and loving cups, as well as huge baskets of deep red chrysanthemums.

The menu consisted of gingerale cocktail, roast turkey, dressing, gravy, cranberry jelly, pineapples, sweet potatoes, green beans, buttered rolls, pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee. This menu was prepared in every detail and served by the girls in the third year Home Economics Class, under the supervision of their instructor, Miss Mabel Moorhouse.

The invocation was given by Mr. A. G. Guy. Mayor Smith gave a toast to the Home Economics girls and their teacher. Talks were made by each of the guests, not including the Greyhounds, in which the football boys were complimented on their games for the year and urged to play the game of life equally as fair and square as the games of the past football season.

This banquet, an annual affair of the Greyhounds, was a huge success. While it cost little in dollars and cents, to the Greyhounds, it was priceless.

The report of this occasion, a part of her notebook work in the third year Home Economics Class as given by Sydna Edwards, carried the grade "A".

The school children are observing Fire Prevention this week. From the first through the seventh grades, all pupils are making posters and puppets from the third through high school are writing themes.

Hospital Notes

Patients in the Hospital this week are Mrs. Wheeler Michael of Rochester, Louise Fisher of Brownfield, Mrs. Lusk of Needmore and Mr. A. E. McCarty of Haskell.

Miss Bernice Griffin of Rochester returned to her home Saturday. Miss Vetta Lakeway returned to her home in Gilliland Monday. G. W. Russell of Munday was here last Thursday for a minor operation returning to his home the same day. Truman Winchester of Munday in last Thursday for a Toniclectomy, returning home Friday.

Miss Buckholt went to Wichita Falls Wednesday for a few days visit.

Mrs. P. B. Baker says she has been promoted at the Hospital, now holding two places on the staff. In addition to her regular duties she is acting in the capacity of Janitor, and is doing the work gracefully. No doubt that would make a good statement for Ripley.

PARENT TEACHER MEMBERSHIP DRIVE BEGINS FRIDAY

Mrs. Press Clarke, president of the Parent-Teacher Association, announces this week that the drive for membership into the Association will begin Friday, to continue through the following Thursday.

This campaign is being conducted by the school children this year, a contest between the grades. Small prizes will be awarded to the grades on a per centage basis.

The outstanding point of interest about this membership campaign is that dues for the year will be only ten cents. Because of such low dues, the association is expecting to have not less than 200 new members.

LIGHTFOOT HOUSE BURNED

Early Thursday, about one a. m. the home of Mr. Henry Lightfoot was destroyed by fire. It was located just north of the Farmers Gl. Although in the city limit, the house had not the advantage of city water and the fireboys could be of little assistance. The house was completely destroyed and little household things saved.

J. E. Youngblood with his daughter Mrs. Vernon Bridges made a trip to Dallas Saturday, returning home Sunday. They went for medical advice.

Hyde is Carrier 25 Years

This week marks the quarter century of service on Knox City route one for Mr. W. W. Hyde.

Mr. Hyde has served the people on route one in a most satisfactory way, which fact is evident in the way in which his patrons greet him on his daily run. On cold mornings he is often greeted with cups of hot coffee, and fruit cake while in the hot summer days, many are the cool refreshing glasses of water and ice cream that are served at the mail boxes to the carrier.

As this quarter century service is completed we see Mr. Hyde changing from an out-of-door car to an indoor one. He is the owner of a new Ford, purchased within the last few weeks. He says the difference in comfort is remarkable and with this new car he hopes to be even more cheerful when making his daily run one route one.

Mr. J. E. Clarke, Superintendent of the First Christian Church of this city announces that Sunday is the day for the annual offering for the Juliet Fowler Orphans Home in Dallas. This home has now a total of 120 orphans and 22 aged women and is being provided for by the First Christian Churches of Texas. The local church is expecting a large attendance for Sunday School Sunday and a nice offering made for the Orphans Home.

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Reeder and son of Crowel spent Sunday here with his mother, Mrs. M. A. Reeder.

EXCELSIOR UNION TO MEET SUNDAY

The Young Peoples Division of the Methodist Church of Knox City, Rochester, O'Brien Munday and Munday Circuit, which is the Excelsior Union, will hold a meeting at the church here Sunday afternoon. Mrs. T. R. Odell of Throckmorton, district director of the young peoples division, will preside at the meeting. It is hoped that every member of the Knox City Young Peoples Division will be present, as well as a large number of other divisions in the Excelsior Union.

Meeting begins at 1:30.

Methodist Minutes

We had a good attendance at all the services last Sunday. The pastor's heart was made happy at the fine response of the people reconsecrating their lives at the morning service. We hope everyone that possibly can will come to all services.

Above all things, it is my desire to have a great revival of old time spiritual power, where Christians will find God and be saved.

If you have had financial reverses and feel the financial depression, do not let it cause a spiritual depression, in your soul. Old time religion calls for "Old time suffering". Come to our service. You will be welcome.

Sunday School at 10 o'clock, preaching at 11 o'clock.

The young people have charge of the evening service. Be sure to come. Jim H. Sharp

MRS. HENRY WHITE HEADS MISSIONARY SOCIETY

At a meeting of the Florence Smith Auxiliary of the Methodist Church Monday, the following officers were elected to serve during 1932.

President, Mrs. Henry White
Vice President, Mrs. S. M. Clonts
Recording Sec. Mrs. E. L. Huntsman
Corresponding Sec. Mrs. J. A. Wilson
Treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Smith
Local Treasurer Mrs. L. N. Bridges
Supt. Mission Study, Mrs. T. S. Edwards
Supt. Bible Study Mrs. J. B. Sharp
Supt. Children's work, Mrs. M. M. Ward
Supt. Christian Social Relations, Mrs. L. W. Graham
Supt. Literature and Publicity Mrs. C. C. Hoge
Agent Missionary Voice, Mrs. C. A. Hull

These officers together with all AT 10:00 A. M.

Let's Go Sunday! Come everybody, who are Methodist, and everyone who is not in anyway connected with the other Sunday Schools. We also gladly welcome all visitors.

Our work is going very nicely at present, but we hope to accomplish a great work this year for building of the church program, and for the spread of Evangelism bringing every member closer to God and the church, is our aim and our mission.

Lets show to the new pastor our appreciation of his leadership and give him our hearty cooperation in the fine plans he has to offer us, and avail ourselves of the greatest opportunity we have, and that is going to the house of God to Worship in church school, and preaching service.

Supt. Fortenberry
Judge and Mrs. T. R. Odell of Throckmorton will be in Knox City today, visiting at the Sunday School and church hours. Mrs. Odell will preside at the meeting of the Excelsior Union which will be held in the afternoon Sunday.

Judge Odell has accepted the invitation extended by Mrs. T. S. Edwards to teach her Sunday School class Sunday morning. She urges that all members of the Couples Class be present and hear Judge Odell.

Fifteen ladies of the Methodist church here attended the Harvest Day Meeting of the Stamford District held in Seymour on Thursday of last week.

the other officers of the church will be installed at the evening hour the first Sunday in January.

The High School Chorus and Rhythm Band will give a program Sunday night before Christmas. The chorus asks all ex-students who have been members of the chorus to help in the program as it will be almost the same as given here two years ago.

By Mrs. J. C. McGee

On Friday, December 4th the 4-H Club women of Union Grove met in the home of Mrs. J. S. Wilson in a quilting. Three quilts were in the frame and the twenty-five or more ladies present completed them before the day was done.

At noon the ladies were served in relays, there being too many to serve at one time. As twelve ladies ate, the remaining number quilted, and vice versa. About thirty people enjoyed the bountiful dinner, which included most everything in the way of "goodies".

The quilts completed belonged to Mrs. Branton, Mrs. Bill Fowler and Mrs. Clyde Wilson. All present reported having a most enjoyable day.

Twelve Hundred Farm Boys and Girls Attend 4-H Clubs National Congress

By CALEB JOHNSON

The twelve hundred brightest, most industrious, healthiest boys and girls of America took possession of Chicago last week. It was not the largest convention that has ever been held in Chicago, but to anyone who has headed to the America of the future it must seem the most important. I know it did to me. For these twelve hundred farm boys and girls are the outstanding among the 850,000 members of the 4-H Clubs.

If by any chance you don't happen to know what the 4-H Clubs are, they are the local organization of farm boys and girls through and by means of which the young people in the rural sections of every part of the United States are being taught and are teaching themselves, to be better farmers and better home makers. The four H's stand for Head, Heart, Hands and Health, and the emblem of the 4-H Clubs is the four leaf clover.

To be selected as a delegate to the annual nine day 4-H Club National Congress, which is held in connection with the Chicago Coseium Poultry Exposition, a boy or a girl must have made such a record in his or her home country and state as to stand out among all others. These twelve hundred boys and girls from forty-four different states or nearly all of them have all of their expenses of the trip to Chicago paid by local organizations and the railroads running through their home territories. One of them has been a prize winner back home, and they came to Chicago to show the results of their year's 4-H Club work and to compete for national championships in the line of various activities which make up the work program of the 4-H Clubs.

They got in a lot of sight-seeing while they were in Chicago, but the most interesting sight of all to the outsider was these young folks themselves and their enthusiasm for their farm work. They had a lot of it still to do in Chicago, they had to show themselves and their work to the best advantage to win national honors, medals and trophies, and the $150,000 in cash prizes and awards in the farm record keeping project, canning, health, crop, animal production, poultry, sewing, and other dress, revenue, leadership, and scholarship contests; the corn, cotton, peanut, potato, cabbage, clothing and home-furnishing exhibits; the egg, poultry, baby beef, pig and lamb shows; and in the crops, home economics, livestock and poultry judging contests.

I have not the space here to give the names of more than the first prize winners in the different classes. In some of the classes there were as many as a hundred prizes. For example, an even hundred boys and girls got $500 each for an agricultural college scholarship, a total of $50,000, given by the International Harvester Company to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the invention of the reaper by the first Cyrus McCormick, whose grandson, Cyrus McCormick, Jr., presented the award.

The healthiest girl in the United States is Gertrude Heikes, of Dakota County, Nebraska, and the healthiest boy is William Sanders, of Johnson County, Indiana. Both Gertrude and William made the highest scores ever recorded in the national 4-H health contest. Gertrude, who was sixteen years old last Thursday, December third, and is five feet four inches tall, made a score of 99.9 out of a possible 100, and only failed making 100 percent by the fact that some of her teeth do not exactly meet when her mouth is closed. William Sanders, eighteen, five feet nine inches tall, made a score of 99.1, a slight fault in his teeth also keeping him from a perfect score.

Ruth Carsten of Gage County, Nebraska, won first prize in the home furnishing contest with home-made furniture, or rather furniture that she had adapted from old pieces. Home furnishing and decoration is an important part of the work of 4-H Club girls. Dorothy C. Hinder of Linn County, Iowa, is the year's champion in the children's clothing contest, and Cora Ferguson of Albert Lea, Jackson County, Minnesota, took first honors in the national window decoration contest, while Georgia Fisher of Hendricks County, Indiana exhibited the best cotton school dress.

Canning vegetables, fruit and meat is, of course, an important part of the farm girl's education. Phyllis Howard of Cambridge City, Indiana exhibited the prize-winning five jars of canned vegetables, and her chum Frances Fryman, also of Cambridge City, walked off with top honors with her exhibit of five jars of canned fruits, while Marjorie Mae Brandenburg of Redfield, South Dakota, took first prize for canned meat, and Hazel Meyers of Woodbine, Maryland, showed the best jar family assortment of canned food.

It was a team of three boys from West Union, Doddridge County, West Virginia, who found themselves the best junior livestock judges of America and won jointly a silver trophy provided by the late Sir Thomas Lipton, and college scholarships, worth $1,000 given by the Chicago Association of Commerce. These boys are George Williams, James Williams, and Edwin Coratys. George Williams, in addition won the high individual score in livestock judging, which gave him another agricultural college scholarship worth $500.

George Hauger of Pennsylvania, won the high score for judging horses; Aaron Murray of Oklahoma, the high score on cattle judging; Robert Pignone of Indiana, is the National 4-H Club champion sheep judge, and Harold Kerschbacher of Nebraska, proved the best individual judge of hogs at the Congress.

"Prince of Junior animal husbandmen" is the title which was bestowed on Carl Oldham, nine, an year old boy from Charlottesville, Hancock County, Indiana, national winner in the 4-H Club Meat Animal Livestock Project Contest. Carl's prize is $200 agricultural college scholarship.

Marion Dolan of Wisconsin, and Roscoe H. Owens of Guilford, Chenango County, New York, are the year's National 4-H Club leaders. They are the boy and girl having the most outstanding record for rural leadership during the year.

Another contest in which both a boy and a girl are both winners is that for the "most representative" 4-H Club boy and girl. For their year's work Charles L. Brown, of Batle Ground, Tippecanoe County, Indiana, and Mary Teresa, Rico, of Keosauqua, Itaska County, Indiana, got silver trophies awarded by Sir Thomas Lipton.

Anybody who missed seeing these youngsters at Chicago was just simply overlooking a chance to get an eyeful of the most upstanding, outstanding American citizens of the future. Because these 4-H Clubs are not play clubs—they are work clubs. As nearly as the people who know most about this 4-H Club movement can figure it and they keep pretty close track—the value of the agricultural products produced during the past year by 4-H Club members is above $17,000,000. They cultivated more than 150,000 acres of grove in caring for their crops, forestry, garden and fruit projects. They produced more than one and one-half million bushels of corn. They raised more than twenty-one and one-half million pounds of cotton. They own more than 175,000 head of livestock. They raised more than 2,275,000 chickens in their poultry enterprises.

Four-H Club girls prepared more than three and one-half million pounds of canned goods from products of their own raising during 1931. We are proud to say that Knox County was represented at the convention by Leo Park. Having won the trip on a waste project.

Mr. B. L. White and family spent Monday in Wichita Falls.

T. J. Frizzell, Dr. Frizzell and O. L. Jackson spent Wednesday night hunting. We don't suppose there are any quails left now for the rest of the Knox City population to get. Seriously, those three must have returned home with plenty of game.

Mrs. L. J. Bumpus of Dallas is spending a few days with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. Bumpus of Tulsa. Mrs. Bumpus spends a part of her time in Arizona where her daughter is teaching.

The 4-H Club met Tuesday of last week with Miss Mary Reeder. These girls entertained their boy friends with sandwiches, coffee and ice cream.

The same club met Tuesday night of this week with Miss Jerene Cooner.

Now what do you suppose? We wonder!

Mr. Bowden of Monday, father of Mrs. C. J. Reese, died last Saturday in a hospital in Wichita Falls. He was buried in the Johnson Cemetery at Monday, Sunday afternoon. Among those from Knox City attending the service were Mrs. Reese and Miss Jackson, Mrs. M. A. Reeder, Mr. and Mrs. W. Smith, Mother White, Mr. and Mrs. Henry White, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Brown, Miss Alta Hamm and Miss Doris Stoker.

Mr. Ray Williams made a trip to Dal as the first of the week.

Mr. Will Griffith was thrown from a horse last week and was confined to his bed several days with a number of bruises and stiffness. Mr. Griffith was fortunate in that the minor injuries were not serious. He went to mount a horse on which the saddle was not tight and was thrown under the horse. It is reported that he was held by two men who were with Mr. Griffith. Mr. Griffith did not know the saddle was not right.
