

KNOW KNOX

The girl who sinks in his arms oftentimes winds up with her arms in his sink.

Dr. T. S. Edwards dropped by the Herald office recently and left a clipping concerning highway travel and accidents. Since we are right smack dab in the middle of summer, with many motorists hitting the highways for vacation travel the article, as Dr. Edwards pointed out—"Is certainly a needed and timely warning" . . . thus this scribe is reprinting a portion of the clipping below:

We all wonder what contributes to the "speed mania" of the person behind the wheel on the open road. Yet it's not so surprising. The vacation and holiday traveler wants to get to his destination in time for a last minute swim in the lake, or the baseball game, or just a few casts of the old fishing rod before dark.

The same traveler got a late afternoon start, he stopped en route to visit friends or relatives and he must "make up that time" by crowding it a little . . . Just a little you understand, he's not going to take any chances.

What our "hurry driving" motorist friend fails to realize is that hundreds of thousands of other vacation and holiday travelers have added their vehicles to the normal highway traffic load. We wonder if this friend of ours who is "making up time" on the highway knows that . . . Safety is everybody's job. Traffic safety is teamwork. Each individual driver must ask himself, "Can You Stop in Time?" He can if he will take time to Slow Down and Live.

You can criticize a man about almost anything except his driving, is a statement we all must admit is true. Calmly you can reason with most men that they have picked the wrong profession, they have selected the wrong section of the city in which to buy or build a home, they should save more of their wages, or they should wear Bermuda shorts in summer. But tell a man he operates an automobile carelessly . . . and he is ready not only to argue, but to fight if necessary.

Without exception every motorist believes that an accident is something that might happen to some other fellow but "not to me." When you ask the average motorist, "Can You Stop in Time?" and, according to the Texas Safety Association, he will reply, "Certainly, and under any conditions." If you ask him to "Slow Down and Live," he'll reply . . . "That's for the other fellow." Our job is to show every motorist that highway safety is EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS . . . Slow Down and Live.

Strong elastic girdles have revealed just what kind of a shape this country has been in.

The reason some girls never get married, they are too biased. It's bias this, and bias that until the boy friend is busted.

A recent survey shows that more than three-quarters of the nation's retailers expect their summer business to exceed last year's. It will take a lot of advertising to bring the expected results about. And it's significant that newspapers will continue to be the retailer's foremost advertising medium. All advertising media are tough in competition these days, with newspapers, magazines, T.V., radio, and direct mail scrapping for a large share of the ad dollar. But newspapers, despite the new media, hold their own . . . simply because newspaper ads get results. People read, remember, and buy.

Socialized medicine, as practiced in England and elsewhere, allegedly "free" medicine. It's true that the patient doesn't pay his bill out of pocket each time he obtains medical service. But he pays, and through the nose, when tax time rolls around. In the first full year of operation . . . 1959-60 in England, the so-called "free" health service cost 440 million pounds to operate. In 1958, the cost really zoomed into financial outer space . . . to 705 million pounds. This means that the service was costing each British family an average of $140 a year. The potential socialized medicine bill, should we ever fall for the scheme, makes the imagination reel.

If at least two-thirds of the growers who vote in the referendum approve the quotas, they will remain in effect for 1960-crop wheat and price support will be available to farmers who comply with their farm wheat allotments at least 75 per cent of parity. Farmers who exceed the larger of the farm allotment or 15 acres will be subject to a marketing penalty of 45 per cent of the wheat parity price on their "excess" wheat.

County's Crop Prospects Best In Several Years

Timely spring rains and additional moisture during May and June have given Knox County farmers excellent prospects for a bumper cotton, and grain sorghum crop.

An early maize crop of bumper proportions is virtually assured, with some of the earliest plantings almost mature and beginning to ripen. The cotton crop is further matured also at this time than in comparison to the same time last year.

Men's And Boys' Trousers Big Users Of Cotton

For the second year in a row, men's and boys' trousers occupied the number one spot among the largest end uses of cotton in 1958.

Preliminary consumption figures for 1958, compiled by the National Cotton Council's research section, show the production of men's and boys' trousers consumed more cotton than any other end use, accounting for 723,000 bales.

The 1959 edition of "Cotton Counts Its Customers" reveals the next four largest end uses in order were: men's and boys' shirts, 620,000 bales; sheets, 443,000 bales; towels and tueling, 372,000 bales; and drapery and upholstery fabrics, 347,000 bales.

Cotton scored competitive gains during 1958 in apparel and industrial uses and maintained its previous year's share of the household market, according to the report. Nearly 7.7 million bales were consumed in approximately 400 end uses covered. During 1958, a recession period for all textiles, utilization of cotton was only one percent below 1957 consumption. In contrast, use of competing fibers and materials, measured in terms of cotton, declined seven per cent for the end use covered.

Cotton increased its share of the apparel market from 60 per cent in 1957 to 61 per cent in 1958. In addition, the number of bales going into apparel uses showed a gain.

Although household uses consumed about 11,000 bales less cotton in 1958 than in 1957, cotton's share of the market remained at 50 per cent in both years. Cotton consumption decreased more in industrial markets than in the other two major classifications, but its competitive share in industrial uses rose from 25 per cent to 26 per cent between the two years.

In 1948, residential customers of WTU used an average of only 110 kilowatt hours per month.

TODAY, they use an average of 232 kilowatt hours per month.

WTU customers in 1958 used more than twice as much electricity... and paid 18 1/2% less per kilowatt hour than in 1948.

Uncle Ben from Benjamin says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see where a rich feller in New York wants to publish a newspaper that don't carry nothing but good news. He wouldn't be able to git out more'n one page a week. In fact, he would not be able to carry the weather forecast but about onct a month. Come to think about it, this feller has done about retired afore he got started.

Of course, I think a heap of improvements could be made on the newspapers we already got. You editors miss the point about as often as you hit it. Fer instanst, when that farmer here a while back smashed up his tractors, burned down his barn and killed hisself, the paper said the motive fere the act was unknown.

Anybody ought to know that he just got exhausted from filling out Government forms and was tired of farming. He had wore hisself out estimating his crops fer the income tax folks and rotating 'em fere the Agriculture Department. And I reckon, too, his eyesight was gitting pore from reading all them phamphlets from the farm bureaus.

I was reading a piece in the papers last night where a survey shows that wimmen use no judgment in the selection of their shoes and that 43 percent of 'em would be happier if they went barefooted. I don't know the percentage of honest wimmen in this country would run to 43 percent. The piece didn't say who made the survey but I reckon it was another one of them Government projects, like the Agriculture Department made about five year ago on the "Love Life of the Humming Bird."

Streams In Desert Places

Zelle Stephens

"Great peace have they which love Thy law—and nothing shall offend them." Ps. 119:165. The Psalmist gives us the secret of Great peace, not just a little stained peace, but great peace, the peace that passeth all understanding. The secret is in taking no offense which is the results of love for the law of God. What law? God's law of love. Love is greater than any human hurt. It sees beyond what appears to be and holds fast to the true nature of divinity. Love gives great understanding, so that you can see persons and situations in their true light. Nothing can cause offense to a loving and understanding heart.

on it was another one of them Government projects, like the Agriculture Department made about five year ago on the "Love Life of the Humming Bird."

A feller on television last night was saying that ever candidate fer president in 1960 ought to make a speech to the nation from the front porch of the White House and tell the American people his exact foreign policy. Of course, when Harry built porch to the White House he didn't aim fer no Republicans to be making a campaign speech from it. But he might holler too loud if the candidate kept the speech non-partisan. There ain't nothing that makes a little feller feel as big as when he's got a balcony under his feet. The balcony did a heap fere Mussolini, and nothing crows as cocky as a rooster when he's safe on the ridge pole of a barn.

Yours truly,
Uncle Ben

Many has eight years of experience in classing cotton at Lubbock, various south Texas points, Memphis, Tenn., and most recently, Little Rock, where he was a supervisory classer.

A graduate in agriculture from Sam Houston State Teachers College, Manly also attended Abilene Christian College. He served two years with the U. S. Navy.

The Abilene AMS cotton office serves farmers, ginners and members of the cotton trade in 29 West Texas cotton producing counties—Knox, Baylor, Brown, Callahan, Coke, Concho, Coleman, Dickens, Fisher, Glascock, Haskell, Howard, Jones, Kent, Martin, Midland, Mitchell, Nolan, Reagan, Runnels, Schleicher, Scurry, Shackelford, Stephens, Stonewall, Taylor, Throckmorton, Tom Green and Young.

In this area, there are 24 cotton improvement groups organized under the Smith-Doxey Act, representing more than 16,000 farmers.

NO MOUNTAIN CAT, MISTER...

That's a Chevy with Positraction!

That 3134 Fleetside has the sure-footed ways of a big western bobcat. Roams through high brush country that would buck the life out of most trucks. Crosses streams without benefit of a bridge. Climbs talus grades where piñon won't even grow. But that's all routine for this Chevy, equipped with Positraction* rear axle. It's hard at it every day for the Utah Fish and Game commission. Figure about 60,000 miles of mountaineering before this Chevy is traded. And yet the district officer who drives it would bet his badge the tie rods won't even need replacing! Out in that wild, climbing Utah country, Chevy's suspension and frame and brakes, its Positraction rear axle and Thriftmaster 6 power are proving themselves under rougher conditions than most test engineers could dream up. They're proving that Chevrolet's advanced engineering and design ideas pay off—in spades—when the going gets especially mean and dirty.

Positraction, of course, is a big plus on this job, providing the sure grip needed to dig through mud, snow, loose sand, whatever comes along. Could be that a Positraction-equipped ½-ton pickup is the answer for your area of operation. Or maybe a 4-wheel drive Chevy. We've got trucks that specialize in getting in and out of any kind of country. Talk to your dealer about your needs. He'll show you what tough trucks are made of.

LET NATURE BE — A group of West Texas ranchers won another round in their court fight to force a cloud-seeding firm to leave the weather alone.

National Farm Safety week has been designated for July 19-25, says the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, with the emphasis this year on "Safety bodies, carefree hours and even lives, the Council says.

Farm work accidents claim about 3,500 lives each year, more than any other major industry. About 12,000 farm residents lost their lives each year in all types of accidents, and another million or more suffer accidental injuries. The accompanying disabilities, miseries and financial troubles emphasize that "Safety Makes Sense," says the Council.

Human failure, not motor vehicles, farm implements and animals, is the basic cause of accidents. In nearly every case, human failure to recognize and correct a hazard is the real cause of accidental death and injury. Human failures include: hurry, lack of common sense, improper care and use of false confidence and lack of knowledge, states the Council.

The objective of National Farm

Safety Week is to establish safe practices in farm living. Farm safety activities, customs and environment for safe living for every member of the family every day in the year. In the vital contest of education vs. accidents, the score should be Safety Education 100 percent, Accidents zero, the Council states.

Obviously most, if not all, farm accidents can be prevented. It is a fact that in states where good safety committees with well planned, active programs are in existence, accident rates have been reduced. National Farm Safety Week has been an important factor in bringing about this reduction, and each year the effectiveness of this week-long campaign becomes more and more apparent, the Council adds.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Texas — whatever the outcome of the summer tax battle, when the smoke has all cleared, the fire won't be out. Like live coals banked in ashes, the tax issue will be ready to flame up again when new fuel is added.

Sources of new fuel are easily foreseeable. Every member of this Legislature, by his voting record, expressed a tax viewpoint. Many of them will have to face opponents attacking this viewpoint in the 1960 elections. Since a new law moves primaries up by two months, campaigning will begin long before the dogwood is out... maybe while the Christmas lights are up.

Many candidates may be wary of lighting into an issue on which it's almost impossible to take an all-around popular stand. But whoever gets elected and comes to Austin in 1961 will find the old tax monster waiting, bigger and fiercer than ever.

This Legislature will likely enact just barely enough new taxes, mostly on "old favorite" sources, to cover the budget. But the 1961 budget will have to be bigger. For some time population growth and other factors have kept budgets going up by about 10 per cent every two years.

Additionally, there will be, as always, demand for new programs, new buildings, new spending. Hale-Aikin school improvement program alone would call for at least a $100,000,000 tax bill.

Only hope for avoiding an even hotter tax battle in '61 is for 1960 voters to give their elected officials clear instructions on what they want and how they are willing to pay for it.

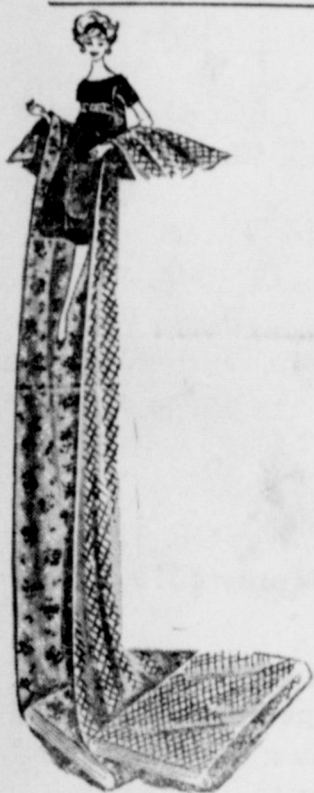

BATTLE LINES — Showdown fight of the second called session came on a $90,000,000-a-year tax bill based on about three-fourths selective sales taxes, one-fourth businesses taxes.

It was in line with expressed sentiments of the Senate, but many House members regarded it as "another insult." All the five Senators and five House members on the conference committee that worked out the bill signed the report and recommended adoptions.

It was designed to get revenue from these sources over a 2-year period:

New Ceiling On Earnings

Higher earnings, up to $4800 can now be credited to individual social security accounts, according to a reminder statement issued by Erton F. Tate, district manager, Social Security Administration.

The new earnings base for all workers under social security system replaces the old $4200 per year ceiling which was in effect from 1955 through 1958.

The increased base will apply to future social security benefit determinations as well as social security tax contributions, Tate said. It means that many individuals whose earnings exceed $4200 per year will pay more beginning in 1959 and will also get more when benefits become due.

The higher tax and benefit base reflects the general increase in earnings levels in the past

Preserve Cotton Fiber Quality

A moisture meter can be used in a gin, on the gin yard and in the field as an aid to preservation of fiber quality during the cotton harvesting and ginning season, reports Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton work specialist.

Use of the moisture meter on lint slide samples in the gin will give the information needed to adjust drying, he says. The goal should be to gin cotton at five to seven percent lint moisture for best quality preservation. Numerous tests in the USDA Ginning Laboratories show that drying to this moisture level gives a smooth sample and allows proper cleaning. Over drying should be avoided, Elliott cautions.

At a number of gins in Texas last year, the growers made money by cooperating with the ginner in a seed grouping program. Elliott says a moisture meter was used to determine the moisture content of the seed cotton in the trailers. Then, the trailers were grouped on the gin lot according to moisture and trash content or method of harvesting. This plan enables the ginner to take the time lag out of adjusting drying equipment for groups of bales and the grower receives more benefit from improvements in gin machinery, he adds.

A moisture meter can also be used in the field to avoid harvesting cotton too damp. This practice, says the specialist, will be helpful this year with the anticipated increase in machine harvesting. Last year there were 1831 spindle pickers in 78 counties in Texas and 26,692 stripper harvesters in 133 counties, saving growers $50,000,000. All indications point to a big increase in machine harvesting in 1959. Machine harvesting has brought many benefits to the cotton industry, but has also presented problems in quality preservation.

However, Elliott adds, these problems can be overcome by proper care or adjustment of machines and not operating too early or late in the day in damp or wet cotton. For further information, obtain a copy of bulletin 297, "Keep Cotton Dry, Loose and Clean" from your county agent.

QUALITY A MUST IN EGGS

Egg producers and handlers may expand their outlets and volume of sales if they meet the demands of many buyers representing such firms as wholesalers, national supermarket chain stores, local chain stores and independent stores, stated F. Z. Beamblossom, extension poultry marketing specialist. In most cases, he said, these buyers are asking for the things that will satisfy their customers, and will therefore give them the greatest possible chance for repeat sales.

Buyers generally want eggs of

JUST TALK

By JAMES HILL

Things were going pretty smooth Thursday afternoon until the wife ran in and told Al and I there must have been an awful bad wreck somewhere on the Benjamin road as the ambulance just passed and it was full of "bodies."

By the time we had gathered up the camera and all the other paraphernalia, Al made a call to the funeral home to see where the wreck occurred and found out there was no wreck at all.

They were just moving some clothes and other articles!

Speaking of the ambulance brings to mind the gentleman over there . . . Hob Smith.

Hob gets our vote as the "coolest" gent in town. Despite the terrific heat Wednesday, Hob wore a coat at the Lions luncheon. Apparently he was comfortable as could be. Most of us had our sleeves rolled up and were sizzling from the heat. If there were ever a vote on "Best Dressed" or "Most Immaculate" man in town, Hob Smith would win hands down.

For versatility, we will have to put George Houston right up to the top of the ladder, for every day we find George doing something different.

Prolific George has seen action on papers, printing—is an aviator . . . drug store man, manager of the Chamber of Commerce . . . and has been active in a number of other businesses . . . and the other day we found out he is an accomplished violinist . . . He has a degree in music! Some while back, George gave us a quick lesson in the weather forecasting business. A quick check in the Encyclopedia Britannica showed—as usual—Belvedere Houston—RIGHT.

We know only a few of George's professions, but seems as though every day he will tell us something about some business or occupation he has followed that we didn't know about.

George isn't the type that blows about how much he knows, though, it isn't talk, he can back it all up with proof.

He is a hard worker and pusher when he is trying to put through some project that he believes will benefit the town.

Remember the old saying: "Rome wasn't built in a day?"

Well, it would have been if George had been foreman.

We stopped by the swimming pool Friday morning and watched Coach Curtis Hines put the youngsters through their paces in the beginners class.

It has amazed us the way the youngsters have progressed in such a short time, and Curtis is to be commended upon the fine work he is doing with the youngsters.

Jim Anderson and Jimmy Phillips are right in there, too, with the teaching, and all of them are really doing a marvelous job.

One thing that was a standout to us was the way the kiddos behaved and listened to Curtis. Not only are they learning to swim, but we believe they are learning something just as important—to listen.

high quality, and they want to conform to known grade standards, he said. And they also want them to be of uniform quality throughout the year. Many people buy eggs on the basis of known grade standards as a means of getting uniform high quality throughout the year, Beamblossom said.

Care in handling eggs can mean much to the producers or wholesaler, because most buyers know the value of proper handling and the effect it has on the shell life of the eggs; also the effect on maintaining satisfied customers, said the specialist.

Pictures Framed In A Minute?

No, we won't go so far as to say that, but we do make them in an awful hurry, once you make a selection. We not only take pride in the beautiful mouldings we have in stock, but we also take pride in the way we make the picture frame. Ask your neighbor to let you look at her picture frame. She won't mind, for she is as proud of it as you will be of yours.

Fertilizers Have Carryover Value

Fertilizer applied in one year can result in additional profits at the end of the following year's crop. In fact, increased yields from carryover fertilizer can often pay for the original cost of the fertilizer, said W. F. Bennett, extension soil chemist.

Two demonstrations conducted by County Agent Bill Taylor in Hockley County in 1958 demonstrated these points, stated Bennett. In both cases, the fertilizer was applied prior to planting in 1957 and yields were taken in both 1957 and 1958.

On the Wayland Fred farm near Pettit, only two out of six treatments applied failed to return enough of an increase to pay for the fertilizer costs, said the chemist. One rate, a 70-70-0, returned a profit of $21.80 in 1958 over and above the 1957 fertilizer costs. There were no yield increases from these fertilizer applications in 1957 due to a poor season.

In the demonstration conducted on the Morgan Rust farm near Levelland, all fertilizer treatments in the demonstration gave a highly profitable increase in yield in 1957. Looking at 1958 yields, all treatments gave sufficient yield increases to more than pay for the cost of the fertilizer, the chemist said. One treatment in the demonstration, a 30-60-30, gave a profit above 1957 fertilizer costs of $29.35. Considering the increased profits for both 1957 and 1958, the 30-60-30 treatment returned $121.75 for an investment of $12.30.

These two demonstrations emphasized the value of carryover fertilizer. If good results are not obtained in one year such as in 1957, the carryover effect will still help to pay for the fertilizer, Bennett added.
