Delamont Singers To Be At Foursquare Sun. Night

The Delamont Singers from Tulsa, Oklahoma, will be appearing in Knox City at the Foursquare Church Sunday evening, April 18, at 7:00 o'clock, according to Rev. Floyd V. Bailey, pastor. Brother Bailey said that the church board felt that the program would definitely appeal to the area youth, because the group presents the "new sound" of inspirational music.

Del Delamont, the group's leader, writes the arrangements which give them their distinctive and unique sound. Taking full advantage of the best range of every voice, he skillfully blends abilities and convictions together into a rainbow of gospel sounds that is truly inspiring. He is also the author of many beautiful new gospel songs. Among his latest compositions are such songs as "Just Like Jesus", "When That Great Trumpet Sounds", "What Color is a Soul", and "With These Hands".

Mary Brown, a talented young lady from Lodi, California, is another feature of the Delamont Singers and a sparkling addition to every performance. Mary is not only gifted with an outstanding solo voice but is an accomplished guitarist.

Del's wife, Bertie, is also an integral part of the Delamont's sound. Her solid singing and bass guitar "pickin'" are known across the nation and her sincere Christian living is an inspiration to everyone she meets.

Successful Year For Basic Education

Forty-three adults from the area around Knox City registered for the three levels of classes. Their reasons for attending varied from seeking citizenship, to completing LYN training, to learning to write and speak better English. Others were, simply, seeking the self-improvement. One of the most faithful students in attendance came 25 miles twice a week to attend classes.

When the program re-opens next fall, persons desiring self-improvement are urged to enter these classes.

Srs. To Present "Desperate Ambrose" Fri. Night At 7:30

"Desperate Ambrose", a farce-comedy in three acts, will be presented Friday night, April 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium by the Knox City Senior Class of 1971.

The play, written by Donald Payton and published by Art Craft Play Co. in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, features a cast of six boys and six girls in the role of, tootin'est, funniest satire on the old West to ever gallop across the stage. It all starts when Ambrose Groves and Bert Miller, a couple of

would-be vaudeville comedians, are mistaken for the West's most fearless cowpunchers in the town of Dead Man's Gulch, the wildest, the wooliest, the roughest spot in the whole West, where everybody fights everybody else, and blood flows like Old Faithful.

Ambrose Groves, a meek and mild-mannered young feller from the East, is played by Rogers Lankford; Bert Miller, Ambrose's "podner," also from the East, played by Mike Newton; Dan'l, the hotel porter, played by Sam Tankersley; Sheriff Crandel, the sheriff of Dead Man's Gulch, played by Bobby Lewis; Hoot Owl Pete, an old-time grizzley hombre, played by Steve Lester; Stinkweed, Hoot Owl's hireling, a none-too-bright would-be rustler, played by Steve McKaye; Nancy Martin, the pretty heroine, is Betsy Ross; Anne Martin, Nancy's younger sister, played by Gwen Angle; Postie, Nancy's and Anne's maid, Jody McKinney; Beth, the mother-away-from-mother type, is Emmy Jones; Mrs. Sprool, a middle-aged, gossip resident of Dead Man's Gulch, is played by Alice Martinez; and Lena, Mrs. Sprool's daughter, is Jean Martinez.

Bobby Lewis will serve as announcer; programs will be handled by Nellie Romo and Linda Posey; prompters are Rita Howell, Nicky Johnston, and Gary Dack; Nicky and Gary will also be stage hands; advertising is being taken care of by the entire class; and Mrs. Billy G. Johnston and Mrs. David Albus will be in charge of make-up.

Class sponsors are Leon Burkham and W. R. Baker. Make plans now to attend.

Streams In Desert Places
BY OZELLE STEPHENS

"Why weepst thou?" John 20:13. The angels in the sepulcher were trying to tell Mary and all who believe there is no reason for weeping now, for victory over sin and death was completed. It was made possible, for all who will believe in Christ will have eternal life.

When Mary turned around she saw the living Christ who had come from the grave. But in her grief she did not recognize Him until He spoke her name, then she knew he was her Master.

Let Him be your Master, listen with your spiritual ears for He has many wonderful things to tell you. He loves you so He gave himself for your

Red Cross Disaster Course To Be Held April 22-23rd

A course in disaster preparedness will be held Thursday, April 22 in Knox City in the Methodist Church Fellowship Hall, and repeated in Monday April 23, at the Chamber of Commerce. Time: 6:30 - 10:30 p.m. These plans are in conjunction with the Civil Defense Organization, John Guckian, Disaster Representative, West Texas Division, American Red Cross, will instruct. Mr. Guckian is a veteran of disaster experience, his most recent assignment being Hurricane Celia. "A town without a disaster plan ready to go into immediate operation is in serious trouble", said Ralph Briscoe, Texas Department of Public Safety, regional safety officer, on the scene early in the Lubbock tornado. "Thankfully, Lubbock had such a plan." Should disaster strike Knox County, preparedness could make the difference between life and death. It would certainly mean the difference between comfort and discomfort, going hungry or being fed, having shelter or suffering from exposure. Without an effective plan assuring immediate mass care, the result is chaos. With the approach of the tornado season, the time to establish an effective disaster plan grows short. Following disaster, a community has the responsibility of meeting its own needs until help can arrive. This could be a matter of several - or many - hours. What is done during those crucial hours is of vital importance, according to Red Cross officials.

Women's Volunteer Work Helps Brazos Valley Care Home Residents

Four young mothers of the W.M.U. Circle of the Benjamin Baptist Church have visited the Brazos Valley Care Home here for the past two weeks doing various things for the residents as well as visiting with them. "This is part of our local mission work," says Mrs. Joy Jones, Mrs. Kay Lindsey, Mrs. Shirley Brown, and Mrs. Linda Griffith. The W.M.U. Circles of the Knox City Baptist Church are faithful each month in coming to help celebrate or honor those who have birthdays during each month. The April birthday party will be April 23. The residents look forward to each and every courtesy shown them.

The course, "Immediate Assistance", will cover training in mass care of disaster victims, the work of disaster action teams, and immediate assistance that will be needed. It will define the responsibilities of the community. The roles assumed by Civil Defense and the Red Cross will be explained.

Country Club Happenings

Approximately 30 ladies attended the "First Wednesday Luncheon" April 7. Guests were from Hamlin, Munday, Haskell, Stamford, and Knox City. The tables were decorated in the Easter motif. Birdie Nelson was the hostess, with Barbara Barnard and Sue Odum assisting her.

On April 13 at 7:30 p.m., anyone interested in organizing a ladies' monthly night bridge club is asked to be at the club to discuss it. For further information about this you may call Sue Odum, 628-5521.

Rings night is scheduled for Friday April 23, at 7:30 p.m. Hostesses for this evening are the Ken Crowmovers, Doris Grahams, Glen Fumlers, Henry Whites, and Bob Williams.

All country club ladies are reminded that Tuesday, May 4, at 9:00 a.m. is clean-up day at the club.

The District 16 B Golf Meet took place at the Knox City Country Club, Tuesday April 6. Teams entered were Benjamin, Goree, O'Brien, Old Glory, and Rule.

Medalist winner was Louie Conn of O'Brien, playing a sudden death nineteen hole against Steve Skelton of Goree.

Winning first place was Goree; second, Rule; third, O'Brien; fourth, Benjamin; and fifth, Old Glory.

Churches Join For Worship Services

The Convent Players from California will be leading the joint worship service Sunday at 6:00 p.m. in the Monday First United Methodist Church when the members of the First United Methodist Church of Knox City join with them for this most interesting program.

Plant analyses provide valuable information in determining micronutrient needs. To be really effective these interpretations must be combined with observations and other criteria to help establish a need for micronutrient fertilizer, he added.

Veterans Should Bring Their Separation Papers

Veterans will receive faster service on veterans' benefits claims if they will bring a copy of their separation or discharge papers, including the DD 214 with them when coming to Veterans Administration offices for service according to Jack Coker, Waco VA Regional Office Director.

Also, Coker added, veterans applying for education benefits, which vary with marital status and number of children, should bring their marriage certificate and children's birth certificates.

Legislation renewing GI loan benefits, and release from service of Vietnam veterans, have brought large numbers of veterans into VA offices seeking benefits and bringing such documents will mean speedier processing of veteran claims.

Veterans may apply for benefits at any VA Regional Office, Contact Office, or VA Hospital. In addition, the Texas Veterans Affairs Commission has authorized representatives in each county and most cities who can process claims for veterans.

Bond Sales Total $13,634 In February

Series E and H United States Savings Bond sales in Knox County during February totaled $13,634, according to County Bond Chairman M. L. Wiggins. Sales for the first two months were $34,603 - 22 per cent of the 1971 sales goal of $160,000.

Treasury figures show that Texans purchased $17,302,962 in Savings Bonds during February compared to 1970 sales for the same period totaling $11,675,196 - an increase of $5,627,766 or 3.7 per cent. Sales for the two-month period were $34,678,727 for 19 per cent of the state's goal of 181.9 million.

Nationally, sales of E and H Savings Bonds were $431 million - an 11 year peak for February. Sales for the first two months totaled $861 million - 12.3 per cent above 1970. Reservations were 22 per cent below 1970 for the lowest February in five years.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Billie Bea: I thought some of the readers might like to read a little about some South American cities - Rio, Lima - and a couple of others - Panama City, Panama, and Acapulco, Mexico, So, while we were making this excursion around here I figured I'd try my hand at writing again.

You may not have room for it, but that's okay, of course. Nevertheless, I'll go ahead and write up something on the other places and send them in, maybe you can eventually use them.

Hope you and everyone are fine at home. I'd surely like to be there instead of here at sea. However, I've only one long year more to go. No seasickness yet.

Random Ramblings

From Rio Rio de Janeiro - the city to visit in South America. There's something here for everyone, no matter what his interests may be.

The landmark which represents Rio to all the world is the Pao de Acucar (Sugar Loaf), a 1300-ft. crouching lion-shaped mountain guarding the entrance to Rio's Guanabara Bay. The other outstanding landmark in this swinging city is the huge statue of Christ the Redeemer, towering 130 feet above its host Corcovada Mountain and offering his outstretched arms in blessing to the entire city of Rio. This monument is well lighted at night and visible from nearly anywhere in the city.

Like Hawaii, Rio has its picturesque golden beaches, warm, humid weather, and lovely bronzed girls. No less than seven beaches grace the Rio shoreline, with the most popular two being Copacabana and Ipanema. The Cariocas - the Portuguese-speaking natives of Rio - have a day-to-day schedule of their own. They go to the beaches during the morning, work (or at least some of them show up at work) in the afternoon and early evening, then go out and party until 3 or 4 a.m.

Rio is only eighteen degrees south of the torrid Equator, so its climate is somewhat hot and humid. When our ship, the USS Blue Ridge, and its crew were visiting during the first part of March, the temperature was in the high eighties, as March is a summer month here in the southern hemisphere.

Precious and semi-precious gems - diamonds, topaz, aquamarine, amethyst, etc. - are the bargains in Rio, as most of them are mined and cut in Brazil. Food is cheap, too. A prepared filet mignon at the Sugar Loaf restaurant cost $1.80.

Rio is not the capital of Brazil, as most people may think. The new capital, Brasilia, is the ultra modern city in the central part of the country. Most people in Rio refuse to recognize this, but the majority could care less, for they know they live in the best city in Brazil. Rio boasts the largest "football" stadium in the world, the Estadio Maracana, which reportedly has space for 200,000 soccer fans. A couple of friends and I witnessed a soccer game there between Brazil and Venezuela and played before a small crowd of some 50,000 screaming, official-boosing fans. Just like football games in the U.S.

The Brazilians are a friendly lot. Even though English is taught in their schools only a few Cariocas are capable of speaking our language - and sometimes it's hard to communicate with them in Texas, too. It's a helpless feeling to be unable to communicate with people, but we did meet about a half dozen who knew some English and helped us out tremendously.

Transportation is also cheap in Rio - 10¢ for a cross-town bus ride - but the reckless drivers must keep their cool, as there are very few traffic regulations in the city, and it's almost like a combat zone. A driver can go as fast as he pleases, but he'd better be alert for other cars darting in and out behind him, in front of him, and to each side! At night the taxis drive with only their parking lights turned on. They use the headlights as a warning device just as they use their beeping VW horns or squealing brakes during the daytime. Despite this apparent lack of driving etiquette, the vehicles surprisingly are dent-free and spotless. There's also very little jaywalking!

Like any other major city in the world, Rio has its share of poor folks. Along downtown sidewalks sit sticky mothers with their hungry children in one starved arm, barely having the strength to reach the other hand forward for a meager handout from a passerby. The sidewalk is their home. Other poor Cariocas live in the favelas, the slum area in the steep hills of northern Rio, yet still in the shadow of the statue of Christ.

You've heard of Carnival - the Rio answer to Mardi Gras. We barely missed it by one week. Some of the street decorations were still up, to be torn down after the revelers sober up from the previous week's wild celebrations. Thirty or forty people were killed during the Carnival, according to reports, and many others probably wished they were dead!

Before arriving we were warned not to drink the water or eat any vegetables. We readily adhered to the warning when we found out why: underground mains for the water and sewage were laid side by side long ago. Lately they've been decaying away, causing seepage and intermixing. Vegetable fields are irrigated with sewage water. Reasons enough!

Brazil needs to clean up its air and water, too, just like the United States. That's Rio in a small peanut shell. Next stop is Lima, Peru, via the Strait of Magellan.
