Opening of "The Roxy" Thursday Night Will Be Featured By Special Program

Richard Dix in "Warming Up" Is Opening Offering of Munday's New Theatre, the Result of Fifteen Year's Effort.

The doors of Munday's new and beautiful theatre "The Roxy" will be thrown open to the public on Thursday evening of this week, and the public will have the pleasure of viewing one of the most modern and beautiful theatres in West Texas. There are larger theatres, but there are none that are more modern and more beautiful than will be "The Roxy."

Indeed it is a long step forward from the little "picture show" which was opened in Munday some fifteen years ago to the present modern theatre. In commenting on the opening of the new theatre Mr. Williams said, "When the curtain has been drawn and the show has started on Thursday evening my hope and aspiration of many years will have been realized. Since 1913, when I first opened the People's Theatre with an old machine that had to be cranked, with a curtain around it for a booth, a bed sheet for a screen, a few benches and shelves along the walls for seats and an old upright piano with some one playing it for music. With an old gas engine that would go dead about three times a night I managed to give my patrons the best that was possible in those days. Then a three-reel picture was considered a long feature, and we advertised our show by the number of reels we were going to show, and even in those days I hoped and dreamed that some day I would be able to have a show in Munday that the people would be proud of, and the opening of "The Roxy" will mark the realization of that ambition, which has been made possible by the liberal patronage that has been accorded me, and which I appreciate far beyond expression."

With the opening of "The Roxy" all that is new and modern will be represented. The pictures will be projected by two machines of the most modern type, the booth from which the pictures will be projected will be of steel and of the most approved type by insurance underwriters. The electric current which will operate the machines, providing both motive power and illumination, will come from the high lines of the West Texas Utilities Company from their great generating plants at Abilene, Cisco and other points, providing uninterrupted twenty-four hour service to this and other places of business and homes in Munday and other towns throughout this section of Texas. The chairs will be of the most comfortable type and the music will be provided by a modern pipe organ, the tones of which are excelled by none, and the theatre itself will be pleasing to the eye, for in its building hundreds of dollars have been invested in interior decorations.

While there will be a vast difference in the spectacle that will greet the eye of the patrons of years gone by, the location of the theatre will be the same, for it was on the same location fifteen years ago that Munday citizens saw the first motion picture that was ever presented in this city, and throughout the intervening years the theatre has been under the same efficient management.

The opening bill will offer an old favorite to theatre goers in the presentation of Richard Dix in "Warming Up". It's a baseball story, and who doesn't love a good baseball story? In addition to the picture program there will be a special program preceding the picture program in which several Munday citizens will make brief talks, and the Munday Chamber of Commerce Band under the direction of Prof. John Hoffman, will

Aaron C. Smith and W. L. Heard Take On Barry Hdw. Store

A deal has been consummated wherein Aaron C. Smith of Stamford and W. L. Heard of Anson have purchased the interest of A. G. Barry in the business of the Barry-Johnson Hardware Company, and Mr. Smith has arrived here and taken charge of the business, and we are informed that Mr. Heard will move here at an early date to be actively associated with the business.

It is our information that Mr. Barry plans to return to his former position as traveling salesman for the Ed. S. Hughes Co. We regret that Mr. Barry is to remove from Munday and are glad to extend cordial welcome to Messrs. Smith and Heard and their families.

Miss Mildred Guinn Wins Prize Offered in Naming Theatre

To Miss Mildred Guinn goes the credit and the substantial prize of an extended pass for offering the name for "The Roxy." From the many suggested names offered Mr. Williams chose the name suggested by Miss Guinn, not by reason of the fact that one of the great theatres in New York bears that name, but rather by reason of the fact that Mrs. Williams was christened "Roxy" by her parents, and in giving the new name to the theatre Mr. Williams is paying a tribute to the good lady who has been instrumental in building the business.

While Miss Mildred will receive the big prize, Mr. Williams states that within the next few days he will show his appreciation to those who suggested names for the new theatre as well.

render a program in front of the theatre.

In arranging the programs for "The Roxy" Mr. Williams stated that well balanced programs will be presented at all times. The Roxy will operate six nights each week, showing the pick of the pictures, making four changes each week. Monday and Tuesday of each week will be feature nights, in which a feature picture, a news reel and a comedy will include the program. Wednesday-Thursday will also be feature nights, with feature pictures, news reel and two-reel comedies. On Friday night and Saturday matinee there will always be a feature picture, serial and cartoon comedy.

We believe Mr. Williams has worked out a well balanced and well arranged program that will win the approval of all his patrons, and especially is Mr. Williams proud of the fact that he has been fortunate in securing news reels that are really new, for they will come to him only ten to fifteen days old.

And, best of all, the admission to the new Roxy will be the same that it has always been to the Peoples Theatre, 15c and 30c, except special feature attractions, for which a small increase in admission will necessarily have to be made to care for the cost of presentation.

TO THE VOTES OF PRECINCT NO. 5.

The rumor that I would not be physically able to discharge the duties of the office of Public Weigher if elected, is misleading. It is a fact that I was disabled during the World War, but as I have met most of you personally, I will leave it to you to decide whether I am physically fit.

I will appreciate a fair consideration at your hands Saturday.

Quincy C. Davis.

P. C. Busby of Kansas City, Mo., was here first of the week visiting in the home of his brother, Tom Busby. Mr. Busby is a native of Texas, having been reared at Eddy, but for a number of years has been a resident of Kansas City.

Arthur Bonds and family together with Mrs. N. S. Kilgore of Benjamin, were here on Friday of last week.

Brotherhood Class of Methodist Church Is Host To the Ladies

On Tuesday evening the Brotherhood class of the Methodist Sunday school was host to the ladies of the church at a chicken dinner at Broach's Lake, where 125 men, women and children gathered for a big feast and a good time.

The affair was under the direction of D. T. Mauldin, vice-president of the class, who supervised all the details of the occasion, and that he did a most excellent job was the universal verdict.

When the members and the guests arrived they were given numbers, as these numbers were called they were assigned certain duties, with the distinct understanding that the ladies were only to supervise the work and the men were to do all the actual work. Some were assigned to the duty of frying chicken, others were called upon to build fires, others were called upon to make coffee, and others to make lemonade, others were assigned the tasks of making salad, slicing pickles, and onions and bread, and still others the task of serving cream and cake at the conclusion of the feast. So well was the various tasks arranged and organized that within a brief time everything was in readiness for the feast. And a feast it was—fried chicken with cream gravy, pickles, onions, salad, everything with coffee and lemonade.

Served army style, the crowd was served in a minimum of time, each person present passing down the line with plate, to be filled with the good things as one passed from one end of the table to the other, and despite the fact that the men-folk were called upon to do all the work, they seemed to enjoy it immensely, and especially did they show signs of perfect contentment when the time for eating rolled round.

Following the feast the men were again called upon to entertain the ladies, who after choosing two teams of four each and presenting each member with three crackers, enjoyed the contest which ensued. The object of this contest was to see which team could eat the three crackers and whistle a favorite tune first. This contest was followed by a sack race participated in by four of the men, which provided much amusement.

Judge B. F. Billingsley made a brief talk outlining the aims of the Fellowship class and urged those who were not regular attendants at Sunday school to become so, stating that it was the obligation of every citizen to give his influence to the church and its work, and this could be done in no more effective way than by regular attendance at Sunday school and church.

A brief talk was made by Mrs. H. F. Barnes, who, on behalf of the ladies, expressed thanks to the men of the class for the excellent entertainment that had been provided for the evening, and assured them that within the near future they hoped to reciprocate.

The evening was indeed a most enjoyable one and it was the unanimous verdict of all present that occasions of this kind should be held often.

Hoed Community Revival.

The revival meeting will start on Friday night, August 31st. We invite the people of the community to come and have a pray and work that we may part in this meeting. Let us have a great meeting.

A. G. Holme, Pastor Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lair left Saturday morning of last week for Atoka, Oklahoma, where they plan to make their future home. Mr. Lair has been with this paper for the last two years as linotype operator, and during their stay here have made many friends, who will regret to learn of their removal.

Mrs. R. E. Alexander and Misses Madge and Maurice Smith are visiting in Dallas and Fort Worth this week, and in Dallas they will attend the style show.

L. E. Loveless Loses Second Brother Within the Past Few Weeks

L. E. Loveless was called upon last week to attend the funeral service of the second brother to die within the past three weeks when J. C. Loveless of Christoval, Texas, passed away on Wednesday night and was laid to rest on Thursday.

Deceased was a victim of the World War, where, in the service of his country, he was gassed. Complications from the deadly gas eventually developed tuberculosis, and for a number of years he has put up a gallant and stubborn fight against the disease, but the odds were all against him, for the deadly gasses had done their dastardly work and death came to relieve his suffering on Wednesday of last week.

We extend our sincere sympathy to Mr. Loveless and other relatives in their dark hour of sorrow.

Rev. J. E. Tucker In Successful Revival in Hood Community

The Rev. J. E. Tucker of Rule, pastor of the Baptist church at Hood, closed a very successful revival meeting with that church on Monday evening, and the community has been greatly revived through the forceful sermons delivered by the Rev. Tucker, who was assisted in the song services by E. H. Foreman of Clovis, N. M. There were six conversions during the meeting and five additions to the church.

In conversation with a Times representative the Rev. Tucker stated that he was very grateful to the Methodist folks in that community for their wonderful cooperation during the meeting.

In appreciation of their efforts an old-time pounding was given the pastor at the close of the meeting on Monday night. A purse of $15.50 was presented to him as well as an automobile load of good things to eat, while the singer was presented with $42.50 and Mrs. Zellers, who played the piano throughout the meeting was presented with a beautiful dress.

Carroll Neely Will Join Faculty John Tarleton College

The following announcement has been received from the John Tarleton Agricultural College News Service Station, Stephenville, and since Mr. Neely has made such a host of friends during his residence here, we are sure that the announcement of his departure will be the source of much regret. The announcement is as follows:

Carroll Neely, formerly of Winters, Texas, and now located at Munday, Texas, has accepted a position on the faculty of the John Tarleton Agricultural College for the coming session. He will be an instructor in the History Department of that institution and, in addition to his teaching duties, he will serve as Assistant Commandant.

Neely is a very capable and admirable young man. He entered the Business Administration Department of John Tarleton as a junior in the fall of 1924 and graduated in May, 1926. He was an excellent student. During his first year in Tarleton, he made the highest average among the boys and was awarded a watch given by one of the business men of Stephenville. He was among the ten honor seniors, his average being fourth in his class.

During his senior year in Tarleton, Neely held the rank of Cadet Lieutenant Colonel, the highest rank in the Cadet Corps. He was also in charge of the Boys Barracks and very capably performed his duties in this capacity.

Since his graduation, Neely has been connected with the West Texas Utilities Company. He now holds a position as chief clerk with that company. He will assume his duties at Tarleton in September.

Rhineland Picnic Is Featured by Ball Game and Home Talent Play

The annual picnic at Rhineland was held on August 15, with only half the day being set aside for the celebration, and a most enjoyable half day it was by those in attendance. In the afternoon a baseball game between Goree and Rhineland proved to be a real contest, resulting in a victory for the Rhineland aggregation by a score of 10-9.

At 8:30 a home talent play was presented by the young people, a farce comedy entitled, "A Count of No Account," which was directed by Prof. John J. Hoffman, and was presented in a most creditable manner. The entire picnic was under the direction of the young ladies of Rhineland, and the proceeds of the play were directed toward the erection of the new church now under construction. The cast of characters in the play presented were as follows:

Archibald Waring, called "Weary" for short—Aloys Duesterhaus.
James J. Long, of the firm of Long & Short—Fritz Redder.
Marvin Short, of the firm of Long & Short—Aloys Kuehler.
Johann Kramer, proprietor of the Lion Inn—Lawrence Wilde.
Count Henri Nogoodi, of Paris, France—Louis Kuehler.
General Ima Terror, retired from active service—Alfred Diersing.

St. Perkins, Sheriff of "Boom County."—Lawrence Birkenfield.
Hans and Otto, porters at the Lion Inn—Christopher Birkenfield and Leonard Birkenfield.
Mrs. Maria Goodley, Terror's widowed sister—Agnes Kuehler.
Bessie Long, daughter of Mr. Long—Cecilia Kuehler.
Jesse Short, daughter of Mr. Short—Bertha Kuehler.
Louise, French maid at the Inn—Frances Bruckner.
Mrs. John Lane and daughter Maxine, are visiting relatives in Lubbock this week.

Run-Off Election to be Held Saturday

The run-off election will be held Saturday over the entire state, and indications point to a rather light vote being cast, especially in counties where there are not local contests of interest, for there is evidently little interest being manifested in the state contests.

On Saturday the people of Texas will decide a number of contests. They will choose between Earle B. Mayfield and Tom Connally for United States Senator. They will choose between S. M. N. Marrs and W. F. Garner for State Superintendent of Public Instruction. In the district embracing Knox county the people will vote their preference between O. C. Funderburk and B. W. Patterson for Associate Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, and within the county they will be called upon to choose between Thos. F. Glover and Thos. R. West for County Clerk, while here at home we will choose between Lee Haymes and Wash Rayburn for the office of Public Weigher.

It is the duty of every voter to go to the polls and cast their ballot in this election. The second Primary, or run-off election has been provided by law in order to insure the people that they may in reality choose their officers by a majority vote, and unless the voters go to the polls the object of this law may possibly be defeated.

KNICK-FORD

Mrs. Sallie Knick and Mr. Scott Ford were united in marriage on last Saturday at Quannah at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. E. Maddox.

Mrs. Ford is a daughter of this city and is well known here, while the groom was a resident of Munday for a number of years and is well and favorably known to most of our citizens.

After a brief visit with relatives here they will return to Quannah to make their home, where Mr. Ford has a position with the West Texas Utilities Company.

To the Voters of Knox County

We solicit your support for Judge Burette W. Patterson in the run-off primary to be held on the 25th day of August for the office of Associate Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals for this district.

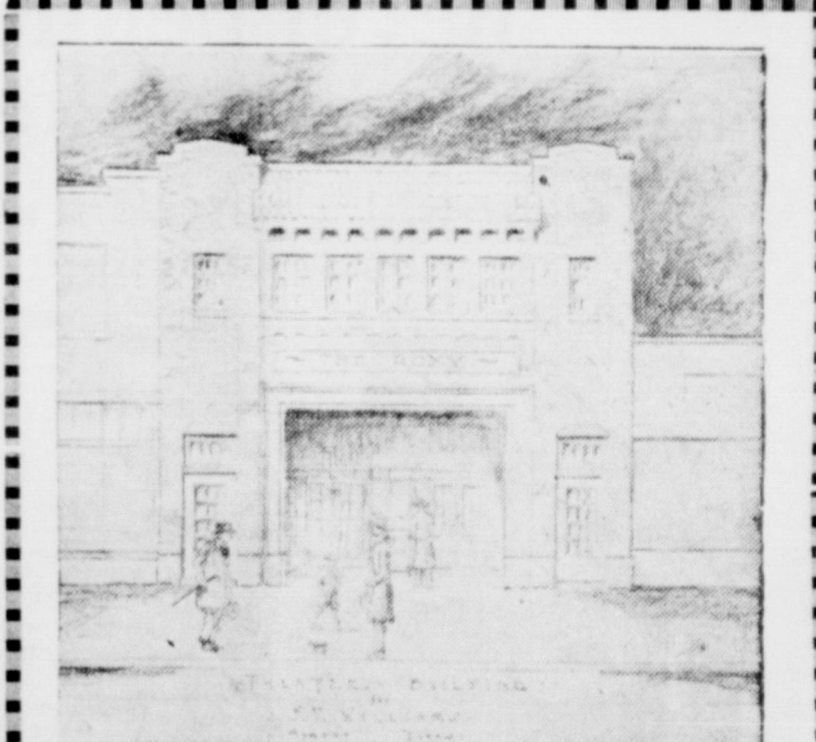

The two candidates in the race for this position both live in Eastland county. In the First Primary Judge Patterson carried Eastland county by a vote of 3694 against his opponent of 2054.

We are supporting Judge Patterson because he is fully qualified for the position, and for the further reason that his neighbors and friends in Eastland county speak in unmistakable terms on the 28th day of July by giving him a majority over his opponent of over 1600 votes in Eastland County.

The following is the vote by precincts for Eastland county:

PRECINCT	Patterson	Funderburk	Stephens
Eastland	551	872	24
Cisco (combined voting boxes)	1,055	169	44
Ranger (comb. voting boxes)	484	442	87

Thinking Out Loud!

"This election, I believe, will break finally and for all time the old Democratic sentimentality which has carried the South since the Civil War," says Dr. Jefferson Davis Sandefer, president of Simmons University, Abilene, in an interview published on the front page of the Los Angeles Times, given that paper when Dr. Sandefer was enroute to Palo Alto to attend Hoover's acceptance speech ceremonies.

From this statement one might conclude that the beloved West Texan was leaving the Democratic party permanently, since by inference one may be led to believe that in the opinion of Dr. Sandefer the Democratic party has been sustained through Civil War sentimentality.

Dr. Sandefer states also in his Los Angeles interview that stray votes taken over the state generally reveal that Mr. Hoover will carry the state from three to one to twenty to one, except in San Antonio. This statement will also prove somewhat of a surprise to the people of Texas, who well know that Mr. Hoover's charges for carrying the electoral vote of this state are very slim indeed.

It is a surprising statement to be made by so distinguished a citizen as Dr. Sandefer that Democratic sentimentality is forever dead in the South. We are made to wonder if the Civil War sentimentality will also die out in the North. We wonder if the North will continue to follow the Republican party in the face of the Teapot Dome scandal? We wonder if the Southern Democrats will cast aside the political faith of their fathers and follow such men as Andrew Mellon, who owns distilleries and sells his wares through government channels presided over by his own governmental department? Will they dash madly up to the ballot box and vote for the party that has always legislated against the agricultural interests of the South and for the enrichment of the manufacturing interests of the North? Will they walk meekly up to the polls and vote for the party that has reduced the farmers of the South and West to a state of poverty and bankruptcy while at the same time has made the manufacturers of the North and East richer and richer? If the voters of the South should overlook all the injustices that have been heaped upon it by the Republican party in the past and meekly go to the polls and vote to perpetuate their powers, then, and not until then will we agree with Dr. Sandefer that the old-time Democratic sentimentality is broken in the South.

And another good Texan has voiced his protest against the use of Woodrow Wilson's name in comparing his policies with those of the present Democratic nominee. Dr. A. J. Barton is the author of the above protest. His views seem somewhat at variance when compared with those of Frederick F. Schrader, editor of the Progressive Magazine, who in announcing that his publication would support Mr. Hoover makes the following explanation: "The Progressive Magazine will support Herbert Hoover for President. It has arrived at this determination by the ascertainment of facts which has not been generally available heretofore— influence, moreover, by the conviction that the election of Governor Smith will mean that the Wilsonian doctrines, twice repudiated by the overwhelming triumph of Harding and Coolidge, will be the guiding principles of his administration."

And quoting further from this magazine of nation-wide circulation: "We liked Governor Smith's known attitude on prohibition, but his platform is as dry as that of the Republicans, and until a congress is elected that is overwhelmingly imbued with his views, he nor anyone else who may be elected President will have the power to bring about a change. He has at all times been an ardent admirer and supporter of Woodrow Wilson and his policies. He was a 100-per cent Wilson man during the war, and the solid South under such a leader as Senator Carter Glass and his unqualified dry running-mate, Senator Robinson, will see that he stays put on these issues which were most odious to us."

Hence it will be observed that folks are inclined to view things in a very different light. Dr. Barton is an ultra-dry, and is supporting Mr. Hoover. Mr. Schrader is very wet, and is supporting Hoover. Dr. Barton states that it is an insult to the memory of Woodrow Wilson to link his name with that of Alfred L. Smith. Mr. Schrader states that he is opposed to Mr. Smith because his election would mean the perpetuation of Wilsonian doctrines, and because Smith was 100-per cent Wilson man during the war.

PAPER FROM STRAW

New methods for utilizing waste materials from the farm are attracting wide attention throughout the world, including South America, where the manufacture of paper from straw is now proposed.

A committee of Argentine capitalists are making a study of a new process and plan evolved by Senor Pomilo, an Italian scientist, and it is proposed to raise between one and two millions dollars to finance the paper-making project.

Nearer home, H. T. Herrick of the United State Department of Agriculture recently declared that a way had been found to put common mold, such as forms on canned fruit and other substances, to use in the production of gluconic acid and citric acid. He said that the possibilities of using mold formations in the manufacture of useful products were almost unlimited. The mold is a microscopic plant growth, which is easily produced on a large scale under conditions well understood by scientists.

Other heretofore waste products are now being employed

I WISH you could have come out last time, Jane," said Nancy, as they drove to the home of a Kitchen Club member. "We worked out the most adorable color scheme for Mrs. Collins' kitchen. That's the place we are going this afternoon, to see how she's finished it up and to get some new recipes. There's an inside story to her kitchen which will explain some of the things you see there."

"Mr. and Mrs. Collins have just recently married. He was a widower with the worst little boy you ever saw. Mrs. Collins is one of those motherly souls who can't let anything go hungry. Stray cat, tramp or whatever it is, it gets fed if it goes to her. She hasn't said anything about it. But we all think that her real reason for fixing up her kitchen is to get hold of that boy. Her theory seems to be that if she can make him comfortable and feel him properly, he won't be such a problem."

LEAVES FROM NANCY'S KITCHEN CLUB NOTEBOOK

Mrs. Collins' kitchen is really beautiful! She has painted the walls a delicate gray, woodwork white. Black and white tiled linoleum on the floor. Refrigerator and table white. Kitchen cabinet, delicate gray. Sink and oil range in white porcelain enamel. White swing sash curtains with red dots! Containers lacquered red. There's a red geranium in the window that completes the color scheme. It worked out beautifully!

Mrs. Collins has the prettiest oil range I ever saw. It is all white porcelain enamel, with a design and burner arrangement like a modern gas range. She says she uses simply a damp cloth to clean it. I want a range like it!

Red Containers

These were all home-made. Mrs. Collins says she took old coffee cans, tin cans, etc., and lacquered them herself. The lacquer dried almost at once, but she aired the cans before using them.

Blackboard on Wall

This was put in especially for the boy, so that Mrs. Collins could help him get his lessons. She has it on a corner wall, with a good light near it and a table. Now he can have discussions with his fractions! Mrs. Collins uses the board, too, to make notes of groceries she needs to order.

Fruit Mousse

Large can fruit salad
 Pint of cream
 2 1/2 cups of sugar
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 Four egg whites and chop fruit. Add sugar, cream and vanilla. Pack in freezer and chill for two to three hours. This is good without chilling, but if served this way, use less sugar. The fruit mousse was served with the "Crisps" described below.

"Crisps"

3 eggs
 Flour enough to make stiff dough
 Pinch of soda
 Cinnamon or nutmeg
 Powdered sugar
 Beat eggs thoroughly. Add flour sifted with soda, and then all paper. Cut out with large sifter. Fry delicate brown in deep, boiling hot fat. Drain on paper or cloth. Sift powdered sugar and cinnamon or nutmeg over each crisp.

New Fruit Drink

Take the juice from a can of fruit salad, or from a can of peaches, apricots, pineapple or cherries. Mix with juice of two lemons and two oranges. Four cups water. Sugar to taste. Serve in glasses with sprig of mint.

Mrs. Collins says the boy often comes in with hands so badly chapped she can hardly get them clean. She puts a handful of meal with soap shavings, into a pan of warm water. After he soaks his hands in that for awhile, they come out clean and with the skin much smoothed.

A movement for the wider use of bath tubs in France recalls a former custom at the aristocratic girls' school at St. Cyr, founded by Madame de Maintenon 250 years ago. Then the girls had to take "three great baths" a year, one each in May, June and July—whether they needed them or not.

All outdoors can't harm this varnish

No single varnish should be used for every purpose. For that reason we recommend LOWE BROTHERS NEPTUNITE SPAR VARNISH for all outdoor surfaces—porch ceiling, doors, and the like. Neptunite Spar Varnish has been especially designed for exterior use in resisting the sun, wind, snow, sleet, and rain. For interior use we recommend three other Neptunite Varnishes—one for floors, another for woodwork, and still another for furniture. Neptunite Varnish never turns white—won't even scratch white.

SERVANTS AT YOUR CALL

WEALTH among the ancients was reckoned by the number of servants in the home. In the yesterday of modern time one servant in a family was considered a luxury.

Today, every family—poor or rich may have as many servants at their command as needed, and all of this at a cost of but a fraction of the family budget.

The modern servant is electrical. It is always ready to do your bidding—never tiring—never complaining, and no afternoons off!

Household drudgery is now a thing of the past. Wonderful electrical devices make housework a pleasure and milady gains many hours of pleasure and social duties.

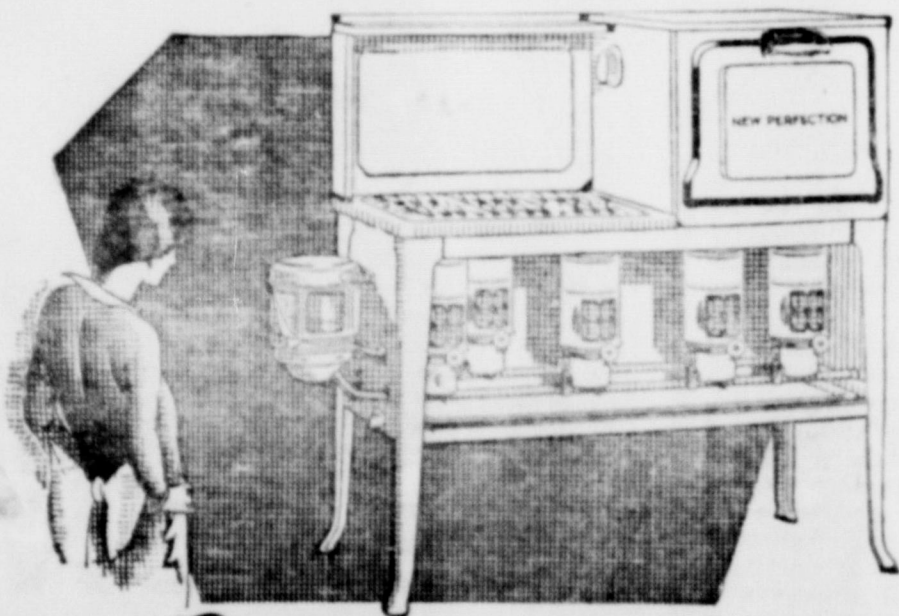

Farming and ranching are now done scientifically. The lazy and costly farm and ranch hand has passed into history.

In spite of its constantly increasing usefulness and availability the cost of this service has steadily decreased, while all other costs have increased.

Are you enjoying the full time-usefulness of these servants? One of the distinctive privileges of this company is the opportunity to explain to you without cost just how you can use these modern electrical appliances.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

Cleanliness within the refrigerator is most important—especially if baby foods are stored therein. The old-fashioned ice box should be scalded out periodically to keep it sweet and clean. In the best automatic refrigerators, however, the use of scalding water and soap is not necessary. Simply wiping the box out quickly with a cloth wet in a cold solution of baking soda and then wiping dry is sufficient.

In the automatic type defrosting the chilling unit is necessary about twice a month in order to maintain proper radiation of cold from the unit. It can be done over night. Before retiring, turn off the current—or gas, if you have one of the new noiseless refrigerators which operates by gas. By morning the refrigerator is again ready to function and the drip pan can be emptied and fresh water put in the ice-cube trays.

A Hint for the Man of the House

Except for sports wear the rumpled soft collar is yielding to the new type of light plant white collar which, altho starched to contribute neatness of neck and tie, sacrifices nothing in comfort.

CAUSES OF CRIME

In their efforts to find an explanation for the increasing prevalence of crime, many thoughtful persons have concluded that the tendency to burden the public with a growing multiplicity of laws may account for much of the lawlessness which now prevails.

Speaking before an international convention of police chiefs at Colorado Springs, Dr. Carlton Simon said: "We can limit and harass human freedom to such an extent that even the normally balanced individual feels that he is oppressed and will seek unlawful means of expressing his personality."

Through the operation of innumerable laws and the activities of government agencies employed thereunder we are restricted, inspected, spied upon, investigated and caused many unnecessary annoyances which are resented by a people who love freedom.

If more attention were paid to apprehending and punishing real criminals, while allowing greater freedom from harassment to respectable citizens, we should doubtless have a more law-abiding and happier citizenship.

RUSSIAN HEROES

Exploits of the heroic crew of the Russian ice-breaker Krassin, which saved several members of the Nobile expedition and their relief party, laboring against tremendous odds, have excited world-wide praise.

This gallant feat has even tended to soften the feelings of many toward the Soviet government, whose flag the Krassin flew. But the heroism of the Russians was not due to the fact that they were of the Soviets, but in spite of it. That the rank and file of Russians possess many noble traits of character is universally recognized. That they have preserved their generous impulses in view of the long oppression which they have undergone is added cause for admiration.

What a pity that such a potentially great people should have their aspirations repressed and their happiness denied through the operation of a Communist government, administered by cruel and selfish masters.

TALKING MOVIE SPREAD

At the present time the rapid spread of talking motion pictures is almost sensational. Already more than 400 theaters have been equipped with reproducing apparatus and it is believed that nearly 1,000 will be so equipped by the end of the year, as contracts for 400 additional installations have already been made.

The response of the public to this newest amusement device has been very gratifying. In spite of the summer heat, one New York theater took in $76,000 in a week, and another's receipts were $106,000 in a similar period.

Another development making rapid strides is that of motion pictures in natural colors. With action, color and sound, the picture film of the future will closely approximate the original performance which it reproduces. All this, combined with the radio, will bring to people everywhere a class of entertainment heretofore available to only a favored few in the metropolitan centers.

"Quick, Bok, a wild cat's just run into the house with your wife!"

"Well, he'll jes' have to get out the best way he can."

The father rushing up to the nurse as she emerges from the room and asking, "Well, will it use a razor or a lipsticker?"

The Patient: "Doctor, I snore so loudly I wake myself up!"

The Doctor: "That is easy to overcome. Sleep in the next room."

DR. FRANK CRANE SAYS WHAT IS WORTH WHILE?

The difference probably between the man of good judgment and the scatter-brain is that the former emphasizes the important things and lets alone the unimportant, while the latter is equally in earnest about them all.

A man has reached a great point in his career when he can see a lot of things make no difference to him.

He has a certain end in view and only appreciates the things that bear on that end. Other matters make no difference.

The line that divides the successful man from the unsuccessful is usually the fact that the successful man never loses sight of the goal he has in view, while the unsuccessful man runs about hither and thither like an ant. He has activity, but it is largely waste motion.

Every once in a while you hear on the street the expression, "What's the big idea?"

The big idea seems to stand for the main and informing purpose for which anything is done or said.

The big idea is like the perfect design of the building in the mind and the trestle board of the architect. He gives to every man his work and puts every piece of material in its place.

I have read some novels that seemed to be a mere frittering away of my time, for there was no dominant thought about which they were written.

Religious belief in a way simply means that a man has some big idea about his life, and all of his words and deeds must conform to this plan.

Music is only merely a pleasant succession of sounds. It must have unity and form and individuality. There must be a big idea behind it.

The idea is bigger than the man that has it. A man becomes great only when he allows himself to be absorbed in the idea.

Many people suffer because their energies are frittered away. They have no cohesive plan, and everything they do is hit or miss. They never amount to anything, because there is no big idea behind them.

Search yourself carefully to find your dominating desire, and see that it is such as can merit your giving up all your life to it.

Then you will come to success on board a big idea when you never would have attained it otherwise.

WHEN MASONS QUIT

Viewing the present prosperity and popularity of Free Masonry it is difficult to realize that in America just 100 years ago the order was almost annihilated because of popular sentiment against it.

The fierce opposition to Masonry in that day was caused by the disappearance of one William Morgan, who had published what purported to be a revelation of the Masonic secrets. Morgan was never heard from after being spirited away from Canandaigua, N. Y., in September, 1826, presumably by overzealous Masons, without authority or approval of the more responsible members of the order. His real fate is unknown.

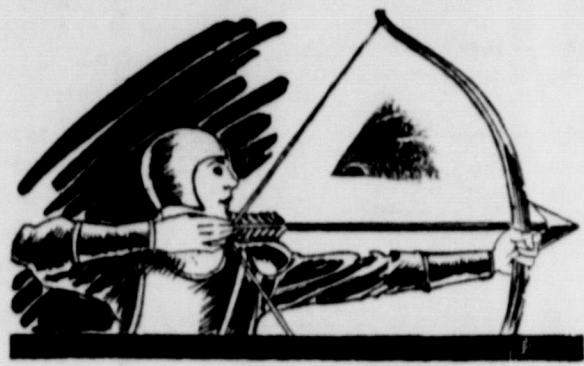

Although the various grand and subordinate lodges generally condemned Morgan's abduction and offered rewards for the perpetrators of the outrage, public sentiment was stirred against all Masons by politicians who took advantage of the situation for their own benefit. Several Masons were convicted of complicity in the abduction of Morgan and served jail sentences, while others were acquitted.

There was formed a strong anti-Masonic movement which spread rapidly. Mass meetings were held and resolutions denouncing all Masons were passed. Churches required pastors and members to renounce Masonry under pain of expulsion, and every conceivable means was employed to crush the order and nearly succeeded, as most of the Masons abandoned their lodges to escape persecution.

The anti-Masonic crusade continued for nearly 20 years, but gradually abated, and from 1845 to Masonry revived and again began to spread rapidly. Since then it has become one of the most powerful and beneficial influences in America, enjoying practically universal respect and esteem.

A lady brought her little boy to school on opening day and said to the teacher:

"Little Bernie is so delicate. If he is bad—and sometimes he is—just whip the boy next to him; that will frighten him and make him behave."

To the Voters of Knox County:

Having known Thos. R. West, candidate for County Clerk, and knowing him to be a young man worthy of the confidence of the people and competent in every respect to discharge the duties of the office, we wish to publicly endorse his candidacy and ask that the voters of the county give his candidacy serious consideration.

He is a native of Knox county, having been born at Vera 34 years ago, he being a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. West, pioneer and highly respected citizens. He grew to manhood on the farm and is still engaged in farming.

At the outbreak of the World War he volunteered his services to Uncle Sam, enlisted in Company G, 359th Infantry, 90th Division, and saw fourteen months' active service on the battle front in France. Tommy West is too modest to even mention this service in meeting the voters of the county, and he would not seek one vote in consideration of this service, but we, his friends, believe that this fact should be taken into consideration, and all things being equal, the boys who gave their services in the trying days of the war should be given preference, and for this reason we are pointing out this fact to our friends over the county. He entered the service as a private and when he was discharged had been promoted to sergeant.

We, the citizens of Vera, who know him, are glad to give our endorsement to the candidacy of this young man, and believe it but just to point out that here in his home town he received 183 votes in the first primary as against 36 for both his opponents, both of whom are excellent citizens and good men.

Let it be understood that we are making no effort to discredit the opponent of Mr. West in this election. We would not ask for a single vote for him upon the demerits of his opponent, if indeed he has any, but we are asking that the candidacy of Thos. West be given due consideration, and have pointed out the several merits which are to his credit, believing that the people are entitled to these facts in making a decision as to who will be their public servant, and we most respectfully ask that you give him your vote and lend to him your influence at the August primary, and assure you that you shall never have cause to regret having imposed this confidence in him.

Mayo-Mayes.

On Monday morning at the home of the bride's parents in Goree, Mr. Jack Mayo of this city and Miss Agnes Mayo were united in marriage, the Rev. Fuller, pastor of the Methodist church at Seymour, officiating. Following the ceremony the young couple left for a few week's honeymoon trip to Colorado.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mayo of Goree, pioneer and highly respected citizens of that community. She is a young lady of culture and refinement and a popular member of the younger set of that city. The groom is a son of Mayor C. L. Mayes of this city, and was born and reared here. After his graduation from the public schools here he attended business college, and for the past two years has held a responsible position with the First National Bank of this city.

We are joined by the entire citizenship in wishing for these excellent young people a long and happy married life.

Aycock-Blanton.

Aaron Blanton of this city and Miss Lillian Aycock of Commerce, Texas, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents in Commerce on Monday morning, and after a brief honeymoon they will be at home in this city.

The bride is well and favorably known in Munday, having for a number of years taught expression in the public schools and during the time she associated with the school has endeared herself to both the student body and the citizens, for she is indeed a talented young lady, and her excellent services in her capacity has made this community her debtor.

The groom is a grandson of the Rev. and Mrs. R. G. M. Eiland of this city, and was reared here. He is a young man of exemplary habits, and for a number of years has been associated with the firm of Spann & Huskinson.

We wish for them all the good things of life, and may their journey o'er matrimonial seas be one happy voyage.

M. E. Perry and niece, Misses Madine and Evelyn Perry, of Merkel, Texas, were guests last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McAfee.

Victor Edwards spent several days last week in Glen Rose visiting relatives and friends.

Prof. and Mrs. H. V. Standley of Abilene were visitors here the latter part of last week, having stopped over here for a few days enroute to Kirkland, where Mr. Standley has accepted the superintendency of the schools for the ensuing year. He stated that the school term there would likely open the first Monday in September.

THE FRUITS OF SERVICE

EVEN from its humble beginning fifteen years ago the Peoples Theatre has given its patrons the very best attractions that were available, and today as we rejoice with the builders of the Roxy, we are reminded that it represents the untiring effort of Mr. and Mrs. Williams to give the public the very best in attractions, and the patronage that has made it possible has been deserved, and we are glad to join in extending congratulations to them upon the completion of this modern theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kuehler and son, Everett, and Mrs. Phillip Bruggeman and daughter, Miss Minnie Bruggeman, returned Thursday of last week from a trip to south Texas and report a most enjoyable time. They visited many of their old friends while there, stopping at Hico, Taylor, Bastrop, Austin, and San Antonio. While in San Antonio they visited many places of interest, including Breckenridge Park and the Alamo. They report having made the trip home from Taylor, about 400 miles, in eleven hours.

Negro Shine Boy Of Abilene Finds Honesty Payable.

Receives Envelope Containing Money; Finds Owner

A negro shine boy in the barber shop of the Farmers and Merchants Bank has learned that honesty is not only the best policy, but that honesty also is rewarded. A few days ago the shine boy received by mail a letter addressed to himself, "Joe Burton, Abilene, Texas." Upon opening the envelope he was astonished to discover it contained a check for $25.59 payable to "Joe Burton."

Realizing that the money could not possibly belong to him the negro began to search for the payee of the order. He turned the check over to his boss. His employer found another person by the same name. He was Joe Burton, a senior of the Simmons University, and president-elect of the Texas Inter-

Collegiate Press Association. Investigation disclosed that the check had been mailed to the president of the press association and was the property of the organization.

The next day Joe Burton student, met Joe Burton, colored, and honesty received its due reward. Joe shined Joe's shoes and was paid 50 cents and a big cigar for his efforts.—Abilene Reporter.

ILLUSTRATIONS BY F. E. WATSON

"What was it, Amy?" John Drane asked.

"Oh, nothing," she said. "It was only about Robert; whether you wanted to see him now, but if you have visitors—"

"This evening, perhaps," John Drane said. "But, one minute, Amy. This is an old friend of mine—"

"Chum, black my cats, when we were kids, why don't you say, huh?" Simon Judd demanded. "He's afraid to tell how long ago that was, huh?"

"Yes, one of my boyhood chums," John Drane said, smiling slightly. "Simon Judd, in fact. And Judd, this my grand-niece, Amy."

The girl gave Judd her hand and for a minute or two they talked, the girl smiling and Judd laughing for no reason but because of his own unfeeling good humor; then she said, having learned that the jolly fat man might stay a day or two, that Bob was waiting for her and, after a word of greeting to Dart, she hurried away. She did not like Dart; she had never liked him; she could not imagine what her uncle John saw in him.

Dart stood stroking his gray beard, studying Simon Judd as the big man climbed the veranda steps. From the rear the movements of the man from Riverbank were almost grotesque as he hoisted his great bulk from step to step.

"I think," Dart said, when John Drane turned at the top of the steps, "I'll come back later on—tomorrow, perhaps."

Drane scowled his annoyance.

"Now, don't do that, William," he said. "You know I don't like to have my plans disarranged. You said you would stay the night and I have counted on it. I want to thrash that matter out with you. Don't be a fool."

"I only thought, as you had Mr. Judd here—"

"Now, that's just why I want you to stop," John Drane said. "If Sim and I get to talking boyhood days we'll never go to bed. Don't you see? We'll be talking over the old days. We'll never stop."

"Can't stop me, once I get started, that's sure enough," laughed Simon Judd. "Talkin' my long suit, and always was, I guess. But don't you folks let me bust up any plans you've made. If you want to talk, I've got a lot of stuff I've got to read over sometime—stuff I come down to New York to get hold of. I been made Chief of Police back home, John."

"That is interesting. At seventy, too, Simon," Drane said.

"Yes, I guess they got around to where they thought they needed some brains at last," Simon Judd chuckled. "Folks do, sometimes. Yes, sir; made me Chief of Police of Riverbank, sure as you're a foot high!"

William Dart had come up the steps and taken one of the wicker chairs. Se put his elbows on its arms and now began revolving his thumbs, leaning forward and looking off over the lawn.

"Yes, sir, John," Simon Judd continued cheerfully, "I been all my life tryin' one thing and another, but you can't discourage a good man; sooner or later he's goin' to find out what he's made for. There was one time I tried preachin' and it looked awhile like that was goin' to be it, but I ain't got the voice for it—when I go to let loose the voice gets squeaky on me. There was awhile I tried the butcher business, but sight of blood always did make me faintish, so I sort of gave that up, too. But I got the right thing now, John. Pretty near ever since I was a boy I've had a leanin' toward it."

"Being a policeman?" William ask.

"Crime tracin'," explained Simon Judd, turning toward the little man in black. "Huntin' out who done the crime. What you call detective work. I feel I got genius that way."

"And that's what brought you to New York, Simon?" Drane asked. "Are you on the track of a criminal?"

"Lands o' goodness, no!" laughed Simon Judd, slapping his huge thigh. "Why, I ain't started in yet, John! I don't get my badge until first of the year. No sir! I come down here to have a look around and see how these New York detective fellers manage the business. And I must say they're right kindly to strangers; told me a lot of things, gave me a lot of pamphlets and one thing and another. It's goin' to help me a lot, John; I got the genius for it, all right, but I got to brush up on the technic more or less. I guess, though, maybe I'll get along all right."

Norbert, as if knowing what was desired, appeared on the veranda with cigars—long slender light cigars of admirable quality. Dart and Drane took cigars, but Judd hesitated.

"Mostly, I smoke a pipe, John," he said, "and when I do go in for a cigar I kind of like 'em dark and strong. But, I don't know, I'll risk one. Now, if you fellers had anything to talk over—"

"We can do that later," John Drane said. "Tell me about Riverbank; not many changes, I suppose?"

"Well, yes," Simon Judd said, puffing at his cigar. "Say, this ain't such a bad smoke, is it? Yes, quite a few changes, John. Main Streets ain't changed much, but out around—you'd be surprised. Say, that niece of yours is a mighty nice girl, ain't she? You didn't say she was your niece, did you?"

"I said she was my grand-niece," said John Drane, and William Dart looked up at him suddenly. There was a question in his eyes—a question and fright. If he feared anything, however, there was no sign of anything to fear in Simon Judd's face. The fat man was finding unexpected pleasure in his cigar.

"She stays here with you all the time?" he asked.

"She's making her home with me now—yes," John Drane answered.

"That's nice—nice to have young folks around," Simon Judd said. "And, as I was sayin' about the changes in Riverbank—you know that field where we used to go to hunt rabbits? Bailey's field, John? Well, you'd never know it—all built up with houses; streets and all, gas and electric, sewers, everything! You remember little Ross Garter—father used to run the Western Hotel? He developed that part of town—"

With Simon Judd talking and John Drane asking a question now and then, they remained there on the veranda until dark, when Norbert called them to dinner.

On Sunday mornings John Drane and his household usually slept later than usual and breakfast was not served until nine. At nine, this morning, Mrs. Vincent—who for many years had sat at the foot of John Drane's table behind the coffee pot and toaster—stood in the breakfast room waiting for her employer. She stood near her chair and she seemed to be suffering for her eyes were closed and she held one hand against the small of her back. She was actually in great pain, for she was a diabetic and at times the pains caused by her condition were almost more than she could bear. Presently, as no one appeared in the breakfast room other than the maid Josie, Mrs. Vincent drew out her chair and seated herself ready to arise at momentary notice. Her face was unusually pale, of the hue natural to those suffering from her disease, but she was dressed as always, neatly.

"Josie," she said presently and with considerable effort. "I think you had better have Norbert call Mr. Drane and the other men again. They can't have gotten up."

"Yes, ma'am," the maid said. "If they felt the way I do they never would get up."

"You're not—so well this morning?"

"Oh, I feel just awful!" the girl exclaimed, almost in tears. "I don't hardly feel like I could drag through the day, I'm that weak, Mrs. Vincent!"

"Your heart again?"

"Yes, like always, only last night it rained me worse than ever it did. It was something terrible, Mrs. Vincent."

"I don't know what's the matter with us—all sick like we are," the housekeeper said. "You better tell Norbert."

The girl went to find the negro houseman. She returned almost immediately.

"He's got one of them awful catching spells again," she said. "I guess I'll have to go myself, and I don't feel hardly."

She looked at Mrs. Vincent, but that poor woman was suffering.

but that poor woman was suffering.

"I guess you'll have to go, Josie," she managed to say. "I've got to save myself for breakfast. Mr. Drane don't like it for me to be away from breakfast," and the girl went on the veranda—for it was there the small family gathered before breakfast in nice weather—Amy Drane was sitting on the arm of a chair looking through the pages of the huge Sunday newspaper, and she had just opened wide a double page of brown illustrations when she heard a piercing scream from the floor above and the fall of a body to the floor. She threw aside the paper and, swinging open the screen door, ran up the wide stairs. In the hall Simon Judd, trousersed but coatless and with trousers hanging, was coming down the passage from the yellow guest room as hastily as his huge bulk could move, and at the open door of John Drane's room the girl Josie lay stretched on the floor unconscious. Amy Drane was about to bend down to raise her when her eyes glimpsed her uncle on his bed and she stood white and speechless, petrified with horror. The old man, her uncle, lay with his head thrown back against the pillow, his glassy eyes staring at her, and the front of his pajama coat was sodden with blood from a spot over the heart to the bed covers drawn close about him.

"What's the matter?" Simon Judd asked, and then he too, looking past Amy, saw the dead man. "He's been murdered!" he exclaimed, and Amy felt something huge lean against her back. "Black my cats!" Simon Judd said weakly. "I'm goin' to faint!" and he did, his vast bulk thrusting Amy into the room as he fell across the body of Josie the maid.

Among the smartest suits for fall one sees ensembles with coats of varying lengths. The full length coat is still with us and perhaps holds first place. Two extremely chic new suits from over the seas, however, possess jackets of finger length. And a third suit—an attractive little model worn by Nancy Carroll, a Paramount player—has a three-quarter length coat of quite boxy lines. The fabric is one of the deep tones of brownish beige, the trimming a border of leopard skin. The French felt hat in a matching shade of beige has a puffy brown feather ball above one ear. Brown suede and kid shoes and beige hose complete the costume.

A Beloved Flared Theme

With the decline of flat necklines and the development of collar and scarf effects, the shirt-bosom theme asserts itself in smart and youthful ways for tailored frocks. Tucked georgette and satin in shades of beige or nude are often used for the shirt-bosom vestee; again it is of the same material as the frock, the line of its stitching being the only indication of its presence.

"New Shoes"

Among advance models shown in footwear is the one strap pump of watersnake skin in shades of brown that are soft and dull and harmonious with fall's favorite colors. Combinations of brown kid with the brown watersnake are featured, altho the shoe entirely of the brown snakeskin is equally modish.

Twill Be a Velvet Season

All indication point to the popularity of velvet—both plain and printed—for the coming season. One clever costume noted on the Avenue combined a sleek black satin skirt with an overblouse of white chiffon velvet printed in blocks indicated by fine black lines and discs in solid black. With it a handsome scarf of silver-tipped fox was worn.

Sore Gums—Piorrhea

Foul breath, loose teeth or sore gums are disgusting to behold, all will agree. Leto's Piorrhea Remedy is highly recommended by leading dentists and never disappoints. Druggists return money if it fails.—Loveless Drug Co.

The first watch was made in 1500 and had but one hand.

CANADIAN BOY STAR

It fell to the lot of Frank Williams, a Canadian schoolboy star of the Olympic Games at Amsterdam by winning the 100-meter and 200-meter sprints, a feat not hitherto accomplished since 1912. Williams incidentally edged both championships from the United States and his undisputed superiority among the young stars representing his nation. His showing was uniformly brilliant throughout preliminaries and finals.

The combined time it took him to win both final events was less than 33 seconds. The effort he put forth in his brief period lifted him from obscurity to world-wide fame as an athlete.

It Points to extra miles

THE indicator on your gasoline gauge tells the story of Conoco's extra miles far better than millions of words could tell it. And the indicator is a slow mover when you use Summer Conoco—because you go so far with so little gasoline.

Is it any wonder that Summer Conoco Gasoline enjoys such overwhelming popularity? If you're looking for more mileage, you won't have to look far. You can get it at any Conoco pump—at convenient locations everywhere.

Doctor at 83 Found People Preferred His Prescription

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxative, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of herbs and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. If grown people want to use them no one can deny them the privilege, but they should never be given to children.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and the more, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong Proposed Constitutional Amendment—Authorizing Legislature to Exempt From Taxation Parsonages, and Certain Property of Associations For Religious, Educational and Physical Development.

H. J. R. No. 20.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to Section 2, Article 8 of the Constitution of the State, so as to authorize the Legislature to exempt from taxation any property owned by a church or by a strictly religious society for the exclusive use as a dwelling place for the ministry of such church or religious society, and which yields no revenue whatever to such church or religious society, and property used exclusively and reasonably necessary in conducting any association engaged in promoting the religious, educational and physical development of boys, girls, young men or young women operating under a State or National organization of like character; providing for an election upon such proposed Constitutional Amendment, and making an appropriation therefor.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas: Section 1. That Section 2, Article 8 of the Constitution be so changed as to read hereafter as follows:

All occupation taxes shall be equal and uniform upon the same class of subjects within the limits of the authority levying the tax; but the legislature may, by general laws, exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes; actual places of religious worship, also any property owned by a church or by a strictly religious society for the exclusive use as a dwelling place for the ministry of such church or religious society, and which yields no revenue whatever to such church or religious society; provided that such exemption shall not extend to more property than is reasonably necessary for a dwelling place and in no event more than one acre of land; places of burial not held for private or corporate profit; all buildings used exclusively and owned by persons or associations of persons for school purposes and the necessary furniture of all schools and property used exclusively and reasonably necessary in conducting any association engaged in promoting the religious, educational and physical development of boys, girls, young men or young women operating under a State or National organization of like character; also the endowment funds of such institutions of learning and religion not used with a view of profit; and when the same are invested in bonds or mortgages, or in land or other property which has been and shall hereafter be bought in by such institutions under foreclosure sales made to satisfy or agree that such exemption of such land and property shall protect such bonds or mortgages only for two years after the purchase of the same at such sale by such institutions and no longer, and institutions of purely public charity; and all laws exempting property from taxation other than the property above mentioned shall be null and void.

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the State at an election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1928, at which election all voters favoring said proposed amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words "For the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas, exempting from taxes property owned by churches or strictly religious societies for the exclusive use as dwellings for the ministry;" and all those opposed shall write or have printed on their ballots the words "Against the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas, exempting from taxes property owned by churches or strictly religious societies for the exclusive use as dwellings for the ministry."

Section 3. The Governor of the State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for said election and have same published as required by the Constitution and existing laws of the State.

Section 4. The sum of Two Thousand Dollars ($2,000.00) or as much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the Treasury of the State not otherwise appropriated to pay the expenses of said publication and election.

ORDINANCE

An Ordinance Regulating the Installation of Gas Fittings and Requiring the Inspection Thereof

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Munday, Texas:

Section 1. That hereafter mains placed for the conveyance of natural gas to any house, residence, building or structure in the city of Munday shall be the following dimensions:

For house five rooms or less, main line to meter not less than 3/4 inch shall be used.

Meter to small boiler or furnace, not less than 1 1/4 inch.

First to second opening, 1 inch.

Second to third opening, 1 inch.

Third to fourth opening, 3/4 inch.

Houses over five rooms with 10 fires or less:

No. fires	Length Pipe	Size pipe
1	10	1 1/2
1	30	1 1/2
1	100	1 1/2
1	250	1 1/2
2	20	1 1/4
2	60	1 1/4
2	160	1 1/4
3	40	1 1/4
3	120	1 1/4
4	20	1 1/4
4	90	1 1/4
5	70	1 1/4
5	125	1 1/4
6	40	1 1/4
6	90	1 1/4
7	30	1 1/4
7	75	1 1/4
8	15	1 1/4
8	50	1 1/4
9	40	1 1/4
10	30	1 1/4

For more than ten fires or houses larger than ten rooms, the city gas inspector shall prescribe the necessary sizes in lengths. For houses of from five to ten rooms the pipe from main line to meter shall be 1 1/4 inch. All pipes run on ceiling or under floors shall be mechanically installed and strapped with necessary support.

All mains for gas lights to be of 1/2 inch pipe reduced to 3/8 for fixtures.

Section 2. All gas fittings used in any such houses, buildings or structures shall be safe design, all pipes shall be wrought iron and all fittings malleable iron, brass or bronze, shall be free from all defects and shall be installed without the use of lead pipe, calking tools, or rubber hose connection of any kind.

Every connection of pipe and fittings shall be made by the joining by means of thread of iron pipe, brass or bronze fittings.

No shoddy or defective parts or fittings shall be used, and no paint, cement, preparation or dope of any kind shall be used on said pipe or fittings to close cracks, openings or defects except pure white lead shall be used on the thread of every joint connected.

Section 3. Every piece of pipe, fitting or fixture hereafter installed in the city of Munday, shall be approved and inspected by the city gas inspector before any gas shall be turned on in the city, and the said inspector shall test the line and fitting by means of a mercury gauge at a pressure of ten pounds to the square inch for fifteen minutes. No gas shall be turned into lines or fittings either by the gas company or the fitter or the consumer until the same has been tested and approved by the inspector.

Section 4. Whenever alterations or repairs are made in any line of gas pipe leading from service box to any house, residence, or structure of any fitting therein, except setting stoves or lights shall be turned off, and shall not be again turned on until inspected and approved as provided for in Section 3, of this ordinance.

Section 5. There is hereby created the office of City Gas Inspector for the City of Munday.

Section 6. The City Gas Inspector shall be a resident citizen of the City of Munday, shall be appointed by the City Council of the City and shall hold his office at the Will of the City Council. He shall execute bond in the sum of One Thousand Dollars conditioned that he will faithfully discharge and perform the duties of his office. The City Gas Inspector shall receive such salary or compensation as may be fixed by the City Council in the contract of employment.

Section 7. The City Gas Inspector shall inspect all material that is intended to be used in the installation of any connections with Gas Mains or installation of gas services in buildings in the City and shall approve same if found to be of good quality and meeting required standard of such and if not such material shall reject same and require the use of material meeting requirements.

Section 8. It shall be unlawful for anyone not having a permit from the city gas inspector to turn gas off or on, at or to interfere in any way with the street box.

Section 9. Inspector's fees shall be charged by the city gas inspector as follows: Twenty openings or less, $1.00. All additional openings, 10c each.

All re-inspections after failure to stand test, same as above. Inspector's fee to be paid by parties securing permit before clearance certificate will be issued.

Section 10. Any person or persons, firm, corporation or company who shall violate any of the provisions in the foregoing ordinance shall be guilty of misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than two hundred dollars.

Section 11. This ordinance shall be in force and effect from and after its passage and

Father of Mrs. John Rice Dies Suddenly At Home Near Waco

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rice and children departed Sunday morning for Waco in response to a message advising them of the death of Mrs. Rice's father, G. W. Christian, who, according to the information given in the sad message, had been found dead in bed Sunday morning.

The Times man has been intimately acquainted with Mr. Christian for twenty-five years, and we do not hesitate to say that he was one of the best men it has ever been our good fortune to know. A devout Christian gentleman, he always wore a smile that seemed to reveal the happiness which he derived from serving his Master.

Back in the days when saloon was in vogue, and especially in the town in which the writer and G. W. Christian resided, he lived a clean, consecrated Christian life, but, with his high ideals, no man ever became too debauched or degraded to receive a helping hand upward. From G. W. Christian, and we believe that there are many boys and girls, and men and women who have been lifted to higher ideals by the exemplary life that he lived and the fatherly and ever friendly counsel that he gave, and when we learned of his death we were reminded that the world has been made better by men like him having lived.

In addition to Mrs. Rice he is survived by three sons, his good wife having preceded him in death about a year ago.

Family Reunion Held By Members Cowsar Family on Sunday

Uncle Tom Cowsar and his nephew, John T. Cowsar, had quite a few of their relatives and friends from various parts of Texas visiting them the last week, and on Sunday, at the home of John T. Cowsar, the annual family reunion was held, at which time the members of the family and a few friends enjoyed a big dinner, and in the afternoon a watermelon feast and again a sumptuous meal at supper, with several basketfuls left over.

In the afternoon, at the request of Uncle Tom, his niece, Mrs. Jesse Seroyer, of Cleburne, Texas, read the 90th Psalm. This chapter was read by one of the ancestors of the Cowsar family in Texas first and in this country, hence it is always read at these Cowsar reunions. Uncle Tom then read a prayer, after which songs were sung and speeches were made. The program continued until midnight when the happy event closed with "I'll Be With You 'Til We Meet Again."

There were some sixty relatives and friends present among whom were all the children and most of the grandchildren of Uncle Tom Cowsar, viz: Free-land Cowsar and family of Silvertown; Mrs. Bob Mabry and children of Spartenburg; Mrs. Betterton and children of Tuscola; Mrs. Hope Machen and family of Munday, then there was Aunt Mary Cowsar and her three daughters and two sons with parts of their families, of Goree.

All the brothers and sisters of John T. Cowsar except one were present. They were Albert Cowsar and some of his sons and daughters, of Olney; Mrs. Melvin Larkey of California; Mrs. Grantham and children, of Abilene, and Mr. and Mrs. Seroyer and children of Cleburne. The event was on Albert Cowsar's birthday.

Among the other guests present were Mrs. John Blackwell, an old time friend of the Cowsar family, and children of Vernon.

GOING FORWARD—WITH MUNDAY

THE ROXY is just another step forward for Munday. From an humble beginning in an old store building fifteen years ago, the business has developed into the modern and beautiful theatre that will be opened to the public on Thursday evening. Fifteen years ago Munday was a very ordinary town. Today it is one of the most beautiful little cities in West Texas, and, we, who have had a part in the development of Munday, extend to Mr. and Mrs. P. V.
