AT ELECTRA MEET

Mogulettes Capture Second Team Trophy

The Munday Mogulettes walked off with their second track meet victory in as many weeks, racking up 97 points at the Tiger Relays in Electra Saturday. Childress was second with 78 points, Windthorst piled up 72, Iowa Park had 69 for fourth and Chillicothe scored 67 points. Other totals were much lower than the top five.

In the boys' division, Childress scored an even 100 points to take home the championship trophy. Iowa Park was second with 77 points, followed closely by third-place Munday with 76. Electra, Henrietta and Seymour finished out the top six teams in the field.

Mogulette coach Gina Farmer is still surprised at her team's success this year. "If we could get some points in the field events, we could really be dangerous," she said after the meet. "I'm always surprised when we finish so high, because I see other teams making points in the field events."

"But our girls are beginning to see the chances they have to go to regional and state, and they are getting more intense. Our sprint relay had great handoffs in the final and ran their best time this year after finishing second in the prelims. I hope they can be that smooth the rest of the season. And Kathy Wilde did a super job in the hurdles. She hit a hurdle near the end and dropped back to third with not much space to make up time. But she did it somehow and won the race."

In contrast to the girls' sprint relay team, their Mogul counterparts messed up on their handoff and didn't place. That cost the team some points that would have given them a second-place finish in the meet. Coach Ron Steele said it wasn't a bad meet for Munday, but the team is capable of doing much better.

"I'm proud of the guys," he said, "because they actually did real well considering how tired they were. We had really worked them hard last week, and we're doing it again this week. They have got to build up their strength and improve their times to score any points in the advanced meets. We were missing J.B. at Electra and look forward to having him back. We'll face Childress again at Seymour, and we'll just have to see if we can do a little better against them this time."

Saturday's meet has been scheduled for the new track at Seymour, but early this week officials were not sure the track would be completed in time. Munday offered to host the meet if another site is needed, but a final decision had not been made when the Courier went to press.

WITH TOWN'S HELP

Stamford Physicians Plan Local Practice

Members of the Munday Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture medical search committee are announcing success in the culmination of meetings with a team of physicians from Stamford. Four young, board-certified family practitioners who share a clinic in Stamford now plan to re-open the clinic on East Main (Highway 222) in Munday formerly occupied by Dr. Neufeld and Dr. Barretto.

Don Buntun, chairman of the medical search committee said Drs. Zeitler, Boothe, Probst and Blair will rotate in opening the clinic for at least four afternoons each week. If the enterprise is successful, the doctors will recruit another physician for their team and he will reside in Munday.

"We think it will be much easier for these doctors to recruit another doctor than it would be for our medical search committee. They will offer him a partnership in their practice with the stipulation that he reside in Munday and keep the clinic here open. However, they will be able to assist him and cover for him so he can have some time off. That's something our committee can't promise a physician interested in setting up practice here."

The four Stamford doctors will purchase the equipment needed in the clinic and do not require a salary guarantee. They do ask that the committee pay for the rent and utilities on the clinic for a period of about six months and also provide funds for a nurse/receptionist's

NO JOKING MATTER: Caught during a lighter moment at the uniform planting date meeting held Monday night at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Rhineland are county Extension Agent David Tunmire, county crops committee chairman Larry Smith and Extension entomologist Emory Boring of Vernon. May 25 was set as the uniform cotton planting date for Knox County, and local producers are urged to plant accordingly.

May 25 Selected For Area Uniform Cotton Planting

May 25 has been set as the uniform cotton planting date in Knox County. The date was agreed upon at a meeting held Monday, April 6, at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Rhineland. Sponsors were the Knox County Boll Weevil Association and the Knox County Crops Committee.

A fish fry was catered by Stanley White of Stephenville, after which the producers and guests were welcomed by Vernal Zeissel, chairman of the boll weevil association. Result demonstrators were recognized by John Reneau, chairman of the Knox County Extension Program Council.

Demonstrators included B.M.

Emory Boring of Vernon, Texas A&M Extension Service entomologist, discussed the boll weevil outlook for the 1987 cotton crop and explained the importance of a uniform planting date. Larry Smith, chairman of the crops committee, introduced the suggested date and outlined the steps taken in reaching that date.

After the date was selected, Stanley White presented a short program featuring his well-known humorous entertainment.

City, School Elections Draw Few Voters Here

Election workers at the April 4 city and school board polling places in Munday experienced a very long day interrupted by just a handful of voters. With no contest in any of the Munday elections, few took the trouble to mark their ballots.

In the city election, incumbent councilman Jessie Andrade got 48 of the 49 votes received. The other two incumbents, Jessie Tucker and Garon Tidwell, tallied 46 and 43 votes, respectively.

Incumbent school trustees Maynard (Sonny) Moore and B.R. Winchester garnered 53 votes each to win their seats for another term. Fifty-eight votes were cast in the trustee election. Greg Clonts ran unopposed for his spot on the Knox County Hospital District board of directors, and he received 52 votes. No write-in votes were counted in any of the Munday elections.

In Goree, Mayor George Cotton got 59 votes to put him back into office. Also elected in the city race were incumbent councilman W.D. Robinson, with 53 votes, and Chester Smith, an undeclared candidate who received 43 write-in votes.

Billy Dolan Moore led the competition on the Goree school board election with 75 votes, and Leroy Russell got 54 votes, putting the two incumbents back in for their three-year terms. They were opposed by Gary L. Hale and Jimmy Harlan, who received 8 votes each. Wayne Birkenfeld, who had been appointed to and was a candidate for a one-year unexpired term, tallied 31 votes to return him to the board. Receiving write-in votes for this seat were Jimmy Harlan, 17; Richard Hutchens, 3; Taylor Allen, 1; and Leroy Russell, 1.

Knox City Mayor Derrell Marion was re-elected to office with 111 votes and no opposition. Incumbent city council candidates Marq Brockett and Barbara Barnard received 100 and 92 votes, respectively. They were opposed by Luther Clemons, who fell short with 72 votes.

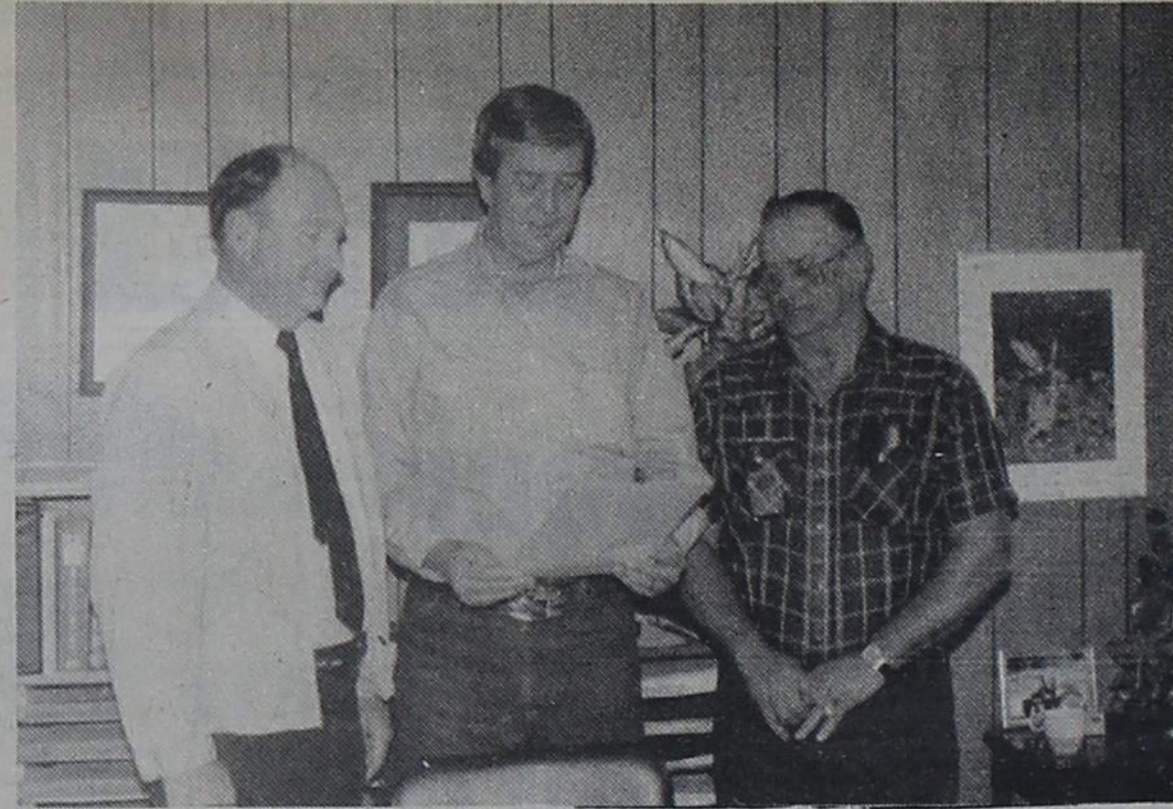

Incumbents also won the Knox City-O'Brien Consolidated School District trustee election. Top vote-getters were J.M. Emerson, 159; Larry Deering, 157, and David Albus, 147. Anthony Logsdon polled 71 votes and failed to win a school board seat.

An incumbent lost his seat on the Benjamin school board. Tracy Cartwright and Dennis Duke led in votes with 78 each, and Keith Conner also won a seat with 57 votes. Cartwright was an incumbent, as was Homer Rolston, who received 34 votes.

Buddy Tolson was elected mayor of Benjamin with 69 votes. He ran unopposed, as did city council candidates Steve Conner and Vernon Smith, who received 71 and 64 votes, respectively.

Benjamin voters also cast ballots for members of the Water Control and Improvement board in District 1. Running unopposed were Joe Barton with 79 votes, Don Hertel with 82 and K.E. Woolley, also with 79 votes.

Weinert voters didn't have much incentive to go to the polls, as there were no contests in the city, school or Water Control and Improvement board races.

LOOKING IT OVER: Judges B. O. Roberson of Haskell County, David Perdue of Knox County and Ed Wolsch of Stonewall County examine a proclamation designating April as Mental Health and Chemical Abuse Awareness Month in the tri-county area. The men signed the proclamation at a recent meeting at the Headstream Memorial Center in Haskell.

April Designated Mental Health Awareness Month

Knox County Judge David N. Perdue recently joined judges from Haskell and Stonewall counties in proclaiming April Mental Health and Chemical Abuse Awareness Month in this area. Persons in this area who have mental or chemical abuse problems are served by the Headstream Memorial Center in Haskell, an outreach division of the Vernon State Hospital.

The focus of the April campaign is to educate the residents of these three counties about the mental health services offered through the Headstream Memorial Center and to make the public aware of the effect the current economic climate will have on the operation of such facilities. Headstream Center director Sarah Meinzer said state and local governments may no longer be able to completely support the facility, and its ability to continue to provide quality mental health services will depend increasingly on private contributions of local citizens, businesses and service organizations.

TRI-COUNTY PROCLAMATION Whereas, the month of April, 1987 has been declared Mental Health and Chemical Abuse Awareness Month;

Whereas, Haskell, Knox and Stonewall Counties citizens should be made aware of the needs of those citizens of these respected Counties, that are in desperate need of services rendered by the Headstream Memorial Clinic in Haskell;

Whereas, The Headstream Memorial Clinic has certain needs that can only be obtained by outside financial support.

Now, therefore, we B.O. Roberson, Haskell County Judge, David N. Perdue, Knox County Judge and Ed Wolsch, Stonewall County Judge, do hereby proclaim the month of April, 1987, as:

"MENTAL HEALTH AND CHEMICAL ABUSE AWARENESS MONTH"

and urge the citizens of our respected Counties to contribute financially to a most worthwhile cause that may help a neighbor to have a better tomorrow.

Request To Move Stop Signs Granted

Locations of stop signs on Farm-to-Market roads 617 and 2163 in Knox County have been changed, according to Knox County Judge David N. Perdue. He recently received word from Bill Burnett of the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation's Abilene District that the signs had been moved.

The farm-to-market roads are in northern Haskell County. The stop signs are now on Highway 617, which connects Rochester and Weinert, instead of on Highway 2163, which is between Knox City and Haskell.

Judge Perdue had requested the change be made to allow emergency vehicles direct access to the Haskell Hospital.

Mrs. Deleita Sechrist and Tammy of Dallas visited her brother and family, James and Janice Merrell and Shawna, last week.

SENIOR SPEECH AND record book winner in the Knox County stocker-feeder program was Christi Whitten, a student at Benjamin High School. Christi was also the runner-up in the overall project with a profit of $169.82 per head of calves. Shown with her are Brazos Valley Young Farmers president Dale Bloxham and stocker-feeder project chairman J.M. Emerson.

"We think this is the best chance Munday's had in years to get a doctor to come here and stay," Bunton said. "We are very encouraged by the enthusiasm of the Stamford doctors, and they have promised to secure a good physician for Munday if local residents respond to their practice here. Not only will it help Munday, but it will be in their best interests to hire a doctor who is willing to work hard and cooperate with other members of the team."

"The medical search committee has received the cooperation of the Knox County hospital board on this matter, as well. All that remains is for us to raise the small amount of money needed for rent and utilities on the clinic and for a staff salary. We ask the citizens of Munday to donate these funds, as this undertaking is certainly in the best interests of the whole town. Having a doctor living in Munday will be a tremendous boost to all the businesses. And if these doctors are able to set up a practice here, we hope to see them serving a large number of patients. They feel there is plenty of business in Munday, Goree and Rhineland to support the project."

Donations for this cause may be sent to the Munday Industrial Foundation or given to Chamber manager Kay Looney. Bunton said the physicians were prepared to open the clinic as soon as next month if the money can be raised and the legalities handled in time. If, for some reason, the project is dropped, all donations received will be refunded.

Officials say it is nearly impossible to secure a doctor for a rural area without promising a salary guarantee and other various benefits, so the medical search committee members feel the proposal suggested by the Stamford physicians is the best offer they are likely to receive. Munday residents have been without a resident doctor for several years, with one brief exception, and they are urged to donate generously to this important effort.

SUGAR: IT DESERVES A SECOND LOOK
The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) announced in September, 1986, that other than the possibility of tooth decay, sugar does not present any significant health hazards when consumed at current levels.

The report indicates that sugar in the diet won't cause diabetes, heart disease, allergies, cancer, gallstones, glucose intolerance, hypoglycemia or hyperactivity.
The American Sugar Association reminds us that sugar is not high in calories. A tablespoon has only 45 calories. Compare that to 65 calories for a tablespoon of honey and 60 calories for a tablespoon of corn syrup.

This report does not give us the green light to eat as much sugar as we would like though in general, when it comes to food nothing in excess is good for us. It is okay to consume sweets in moderation.

The American Dental Association points out that sugar is linked to tooth decay. However, it is not the total amount of sugar that plays the leading role in tooth decay, but the frequency of eating sweets and the consistency of the food.

Honey is more damaging to teeth than ordinary table sugar because it comes equipped with the glue that decay-causing bacteria use to stick to tooth surfaces.

So, what's the answer to making sugar work in a balanced and nutritional diet? Common sense and good dental hygiene are your best bets.

Extension Service Boosting Livestock Industry

Livestock production accounts for more than half the cash receipts from agriculture in Texas, and educational programs being conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are focusing on keeping the livestock industry a strong part of the state's economy. However, many of these programs will be jeopardized under proposed budget cuts, says the director of the state agency.

"Our programs of on-site demonstrations and studies as well as in-depth clinics and workshops have had a significant impact on making Texas number one in various areas of livestock production," points out Dr. Zerle L. Carpenter. "A strong livestock industry can contribute much to the overall economy of Texas, and many of our efforts are directed at helping this industry. Budget cuts such as those currently being proposed (17 to 27 percent) would severely hamper our efforts to conduct topnotch educational programs to producers and would, therefore, have an overall adverse effect on our economy."

Through integrated programs involving staff skilled in various disciplines, the Extension Service has helped producers increase the efficiency of their operations and thus boost net profits at a time when profit margins have been slim. Carpenter lists some of the recent results of such programming:

--Prescribed burning of pastures and ranges has led to a 17 percent increase in calf crop percentage and a 32-pound increase in calf weaning weights for a return of $6.75 on every dollar invested.

--Use of performance tested bulls has boosted calf weaning weights by more than 100 pounds and increased the net value of calves $60 to $80 per head.

--The cost-return ratio for use of growth implants in calves has been demonstrated at about 10 to 1, while controlling stomach worms in cattle has returned $5 for every $1 invested.

--Programs focusing on calffood vaccinations to control brucellosis have saved producers an estimated $20 million in potential losses.

--Use of computerized ration balancing has helped dairymen realize a savings of almost $900 a month.

--Revenue from Angora goat production has increased from $15 million to $45 million annually during the past 10 years, and Extension programs to deal with lice infestations have been a key factor in boosting net returns by about $4.5 million annually.

--The poultry industry has benefited from increased efficiency in broiler handling and storage, boosting daily profits at processing plants by $12,000.

--Use of computer decision aids in the poultry industry have led to savings in feed costs of more than $50,000 annually.

--Programs in fish production have helped individuals realize a threefold increase in pounds of edible fish harvested per surface acre of water.

"These are the kinds of programs that can make a difference to producers and can help get the state's economy back on its feet," emphasizes Carpenter. "And, combined with new technology that continues to evolve from our land grant university system, these efforts can be expanded to be even more significant in the future."

David Tunmire, County Agent

WHEAT DAMAGED BY FREEZE

The freezing temperatures of last week did damage some wheat in Knox County. The extent of the damage is not clear and may not be clear for some time to come.

According to Al Alexander, Extension agronomist, the wheat fields most susceptible to damage were those fields planted early and grazed but pulled off early or not grazed at all. The more mature the wheat was when the freeze occurred, the greater the chance for damage. Alexander reported little damage in wheat less than one foot tall.

Last Thursday the damage was still hard to evaluate but there were some signs. The first internodes below the heads had turned to a straw colored, slightly striped appearance and were extremely weak at that point. The stems will break off at this point.

As for head damage, it is difficult to evaluate at this time. The full extent of head damage will not be known until after head emergence.

Some of the symptoms to be looking for will be white heads, trapped awns and bent heads as the heads emerge.

Foliage appearance does not tell the story. You must look at the plants. Peel back the leaf sheath from the most mature tillers and stems and look at that first internode below the head. If you split the stem and look at heads, head damage may or may not be evident.

Do not just assume your wheat was damaged. It depends on the state of growth of the wheat and the temperatures March 29 and 30. Some areas may have been damaged while others were not.

LATE COLD SNAP SEVERELY THINS FRUIT CROP

Temperatures were sent tumbling this past weekend with lows in the 20s recorded on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday morning. Unfortunately, most of the Prunus sp (peaches, plums, apricots, nectarines) were already in or past full bloom. Ordinarily, we could tolerate lows of 28° F for short periods of time in the post bloom period, however the duration of this cold snap was extremely long and was accompanied by 15-20 mph winds. In many cases the wind had an equally devastating effect as did the cold temperatures. For all practical purposes, then, the majority of prunus crop has been lost in most areas.

Another fruit crop which appears to have been equally devastated is pears. Most pears bloomed with or before the peaches and all of this fruit has been lost. Their leaves and shoots were also especially damaged by the strong winds.

Apples are in the same boat as the above crops, unless they have yet to force or bud out as in the case with some of the higher chill varieties. Varieties which had tight buds may come through and bud out with additional flower terminals.

Although the jury may still be somewhat out on the pecans, they should be ok. Few if any catkins were out when the cold weather hit. Pecans will develop secondary female flowers but not a second set of catkins. Hence, had the pecans been further along we may have had pollination problems. There have been some reports of bud death but some primary and most secondary buds appear to be ok. Time will give us the final answer.

The most evident damage from the cold snap, other than the loss of our fruit crops, has been the loss of the new very succulent young tissue. These shoots were in such a luxuriant state of growth that they really took it on the chin.

Nursing Center Sale Is Great Success

The family council of the Munday Nursing Center met Monday night, April 6, to hear a report on the recent bake sale sponsored by the center. The council sent a cashier's check for $463.50 to the American Arthritis Foundation on behalf of the nursing center residents.

The residents express thanks to family members, staff employees and other individuals who furnished baked goods for the sale and to those who purchased them in support of this cause. Special thanks go to Gordon Smith and the M-System employees who were so generous in helping set up the sale.

Plans were made to treat the residents to ice cream parties on the first Monday night of June, July and August. Nine family council members were present for the meeting along with nursing center activity director Nancy Cypert.

Book joined the firm in 1984. He is a member of the Rotary Club, Exchange Club and the Stamford Chamber of Commerce.

Munday Grad Joins Spring Mission Trip

Paul Wright of Munday was among approximately 100 students and sponsors from Howard Payne University in Brownwood who spent their spring break on a mission trip to Wyoming.

A junior music major at Howard Payne, Wright is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie L. Cooks of Munday. The young people were divided into three-member teams, which held revivals in 26 Wyoming churches, in addition to a music group, a puppet troupe and religious survey teams.

The annual HPU project, Wyoming Youth Revivals, now in its fourteenth year, also represents Baptists across the state of Texas. The $22,000 to fund the trip this year came from donations from friends and home churches of the students participating.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

Texas is competing for a basic scientific research project that could bring enormous benefits to our state.

The project—called the Superconducting Super Collider—could place our nation at the cutting edge of advances in such diverse technologies as computer engineering and nuclear medicine.

All technologies and all sciences are based on our knowledge of matter, its fundamental particles and the forces that control them.

In the past 40 years, scientists have searched beyond the proton-neutron-electron components of the atom to find even smaller particles—such as quarks—and to learn more about the forces that attract or repel them.

Smaller particles were found by forcing protons or electrons to collide in a particle accelerator. While observing the impact and breakup of these atom parts, scientists also made discoveries—some totally unexpected—that revolutionized medicine, electronics, energy, education and research.

Progress with this work, however, cannot continue with the current generation of particle accelerators. The nation that builds a more advanced particle accelerator will be at the forefront of future scientific discovery and will reap untold rewards.

The Superconducting Super Collider will be the world's largest and most advanced particle accelerator. To my way of thinking, there is no more important civilian scientific project and I applaud the leadership of Energy Secretary John Herrington in deciding to proceed with it.

The Super Collider will allow counter-rotating beams of protons—guided by recently-developed superconducting magnets—to crash into each other at 20 times the speed now possible. Ultra-sensitive detectors and computers will record what happens for scientific analysis. The proton beams will travel through a 10-foot wide, 52-mile-long tunnel—shaped in an oval and covering an area 17 miles long and 15 miles across.

Construction of the Super Collider will employ 4,500 people and cost about $4 billion over 10 years. Its permanent staff will number 3,000 and its operating budget is set at $270 million a year. The economic benefits to the state that wins this project are obvious.

Texas will be in a tough fight for the Super Collider and I will be doing all I can to make sure the competition is fair.

When the Energy Secretary announced the timetable for site selection, he pledged the process would "ensure fair and equitable treatment for all prospective sites."

There is a faction within the energy department that has wanted to limit possible locations to one site per state, something that would be anything but "fair and equitable." I think, though, that we have successfully headed off such a limitation.

I urged Secretary Herrington to reject any proposed limit of one site per state on grounds that it would stack the deck against large states like Texas. In addition, it would inhibit this nation's effort to find the best possible location for this multi-billion-dollar research tool.

The Secretary has given assurances that no limitation of this kind has been proposed and if one is, it will be summarily rejected.

This is good news. With the stakes so high, Texans can expect the competition to be tough, but we insist that it be fair.

A large crowd of Munday residents gathered at 2 p.m. Friday, April 3, at the First Baptist Church in Munday to pay their last respects to Callie Ann Combs, a 30-year Munday resident and the retired manager of the local Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. Mrs. Combs died at 4:43 p.m. Tuesday, March 31, at Saint Mary's Hospital in Lubbock after a long illness.

Junior High Teams Dominate At Jayton Meet

Munday junior high teams completely dominated the rest of the field at Jayton last Friday. Both local teams brought home championship trophies, with the second place squads scoring less than half as many points. It was a late night for the youngsters, with the finals lasting long into the evening and the buses rolling into Munday in the early morning hours.

The Braves were paced by the accomplishments of twins Terry and Perry Collier, who won six individual ribbons and helped out on two relay teams. Tyler Thompson and Brett Bruce also won blue ribbons.

In the girls' division, Munday's depth accounted for 184 points to runner-up Knox City's 61. "I'm so proud of our distance people," said their coach, Gina Farmer. "Of course, I'm proud of all the girls but the distance runners have to work so hard and they really go all out. And Chris Burnett is doing a great job in the shot and discus."

The junior high teams will host the district meet Friday, April 10, at McAfee Track in Munday and are expected to outdistance the competition. Results of the Jayton meet follow.

★ Weinert News ★

By Mrs. Myrtle Pheister

Weinert community is grieved at the loss of another of our very dear good citizens as we pay our respects to "Bud" Adams, retired farmer, who was interred in the Weinert Cemetery Monday, April 6, at 4 p.m. Bud and Lucille raised their four children here, and we offer our condolences to them. We share their grief.

It has been nine weeks since the proverbial ground hog saw his shadow on February 2, and the old saying of "6 more weeks of winter" has proven false! But we believe Spring is just around the corner. If you find any canned fruit on special, better stock up! Our fruit is surely all killed by the severe freezes we have had.

Only 25 people took time to vote in our recent election of city, water and school board members. J.E. Jetton was re-elected for another term as mayor, with Melvin Vojkufka and Lester Hutchinson as aldermen on the City Council.

Ronnie Alexander and Jerry Don Hudgens were elected to the school board. The water board members re-elected were Chesley Forehand and Joe Yates.

Mrs. Katie Hutchinson, Mrs. Andrea Estrada, and Mrs. Kelly Perry served as election judges.

The Golden Anniversary of the International Four-square Gospel Church in Weinert was the happiest, most inspirational event its members have experienced in a while.

The sanctuary was filled to capacity for many of the services held during the two-day special meetings, and the barbecue dinner and Sunday lunch were well attended.

A highlight was the presentation of a memorial plaque sent from the international headquarters of the church based in Los Angeles, California, honoring the church for its 50 years of service in the Weinert community.

Space prevents the listing of all the former members and pastors who attended the celebration, but special reference to some who may be listed here are Mr. and Mrs. Ira Frazier, of Mt. Vernon, Ohio, who are serving with the church college there.

Mr. and Mrs. Cal Leuning and children, recent pastor of the church, now pioneering a church in California, and Mr. and Mrs. S.O. Westbrook of Dallas, who serves as district supervisor for churches in this area were present for the two days.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Walls, former pastor, now serving the First Church in Dallas, were guests in the home of Rene Vojkufka for the Foursquare church celebration. Other guests in her home were Dovie Carroll and Betty Castle with sons Jim and Joe of Hale Center.

Our congratulations to this fine group of people, who have done and continue doing so much for Weinert community.

Mrs. Julian Estrada was in Snyder the past weekend to attend an area convention of Catholic women sponsored by the Snyder Deanery. Mr. and Mrs. Julian Estrada are to be commended for the work they are doing to help the aliens get forms filled out to obtain working visas in our area.

Mrs. Russ Perry reports that the jump rope marathon in Weinert received approximately $600 for the American Heart Association.

Miss Dagbjort Asgeirsdottir, of Bolungarvik, Iceland, an exchange student in the Haskell schools who is living with Mr. and Mrs. Durard Campbell and Kristen, was in Weinert last week. While here she and Kristen attended Bible study at the Church of Christ, and a Coke party at the M.W. Pheister home. Miss Asgeirsdottir (Debbie to us Texans) is in the twelfth grade, however, she graduated from her own high school last year. She said everyone graduates at 16 years of age in Iceland. Her father is a fisherman, and her mother a school teacher. She is a very beautiful and charming young lady and we are happy she touched our lives for a while.

Our sick are all improved at this time, and we are especially happy to report that R.S. Sanders is steadily improving. The doctors say he has had the quickest recovery for the amount of surgery he underwent of any case they have record of. Prayers do change things! His room in M.D. Anderson is 631, and he is hoping by this time next week to be an out-patient.

Those celebrating birthdays this week are Sarah Guess, Mondy Mayfield, Robert Horan, J.T. Alexander, Juanita Grimes and Stanley Hager. Happy Birthday to each.

Some of our children are taking part in a Good Friday pageant. They are Monica and Mollie Estrada, Reuben Castillo, Anthony Garza and Lupe Estrada.

Shirley Offutt was in Weinert to visit her parents, Eddie and Myrnie Sanders, and other relatives, and attend memorial services for L.J. Adams. Shirley and Linda were classmates.

Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Crump were involved in teaching classes at the Associated Vacation Bible Clinic held at Rule and Anson last week.

Attending the Baptist Women's Missionary union "Springfest" held at Lueders Encampment last week were Erlinda Mayfield, Betty Raynes and Debbie Crump. They reported the many classes and lectures were both beneficial for Christian living and inspirational as well.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Sanders were at the Garden Acres Baptist Church in Burleson over the weekend to help conduct a lay renewal workshop. They were accompanied by Bob and Virginia Melvin of Lubbock. Alton is directing the music for the First Baptist Church in Rochester this week as they are involved in their spring revival.

Texas Agri-Producers First In Federal Aid

Over 27,000 agricultural producers in Texas received emergency assistance during the 1986 U.S. Department of Agriculture disaster payment program, according to Robert A. Lansford, state coordinator of the DPS division of emergency management.

Knox County Judge David Perdue recently received a letter stating that Knox County was one of more than 100 in the state that received federal aid for crop losses. The disaster payment program was not a loan program but provided federal payments to farmers whose crops received damage from disasters, such as drought, excessive moisture, excessive heat, floods or hail.

Texans were paid over $132 million to rank first in the United States in aid receipts.

Parents Often Need Help In Dealing With Teen Depression

Recent highly publicized teenage suicides in other states have once again focused Texas parents' concerns closer to home.

"Like adolescents everywhere, many Texas youngsters are under a great deal of stress," says family life education specialist Diane Welch. "This stress may lead to distress and then to depression."

"Depression takes many forms and has a wide variety of symptoms. It can range in intensity from a case of the blues to a chronic and recurring state of despair so severe that outside help is needed to overcome it," she adds.

Many mental health professionals think adolescents experience masked depression or behaviors that are indirect evidence of their depression, Welch says. These indirect signs include low school achievement, school phobia, drug and alcohol abuse, anorexia nervosa, social isolation, sexual promiscuity and delinquency.

"While depression is associated with a wide variety of behaviors, it's not always clear whether depression precedes or follows the behaviors," she emphasizes.

According to the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist, parents may help reduce stress and the possibility of depression in their teenagers.

"Recognize that youngsters can be under stress even from daily school activities such as getting good grades, succeeding in sports or making friends," she says. "Major life changes such as the death of a parent, friend or family member, pregnancy, parents' divorce or starting to take drugs are even greater stressors."

The specialist advises parents to communicate acceptance to their teenagers. "Communication is a key to positive parent-teen relations. It is as important to listen as well as speak. Be willing to share your feelings as well as accept differences."

Providing clear guidelines is also important, says Welch. Even though teenagers may outwardly reject parental authority, they need clear guidelines and expectations. They will respect you for providing responsible standards and explaining the reasons behind the rules.

"Don't feel rejected," she says. "Accept the fact that teenagers turn to the peer group for emotional support and acceptance as part of growing up. The teenager is not rejecting you as much as reaching out for new relationships and independence."

Help is available in many communities for parents who want to improve their parenting and communication skills, the specialist emphasizes. Courses and workshops are offered through churches, community education and county Extension offices and other programs in most Texas communities.

"Parents who are concerned that their child is at risk of serious depression which may lead to suicide should not hesitate to call a local hospital, mental health clinic or suicide hotline for help," she advises.

Task Forces Provide Texans a Chance to be Heard

By Governor William P. Clements, Jr.

State government cannot survive without the input of its citizens. That input, traditionally, has been given at the polls as voters determine who will be the chief leaders of government.

But the citizens of Texas should have a stronger voice in their government. Citizens provide money to operate Texas government. It is only fair that they be heavily involved in determining the laws and policies that govern how that money can be used.

One way we can enhance public sector involvement in government is through the use of citizen task forces. Such groups played a major role in my first administration and continue to play a major part in my second.

Here, in a nutshell, is how the process works. First, my staff identifies a particular state problem. Then they identify citizens across Texas who are familiar with the issue. That team, once assembled, conducts a comprehensive review of the problem and proposes solutions.

The task force concept is one that has proven its worth. In addition to serving as a major research body, task forces can rally public support for particular positions.

In addition, task forces often propose solutions to complex problems that have not been considered—or only superficially—by legislative leaders. For example, my Business Development and Jobs Creation Task Force, appointed to help get the Texas economy back on track, has proposed the creation of a Texas Department of Commerce.

Such an agency, if officially created by the Texas Legislature, would be the state's chief economic development agency. Currently, Texas has an inefficient, shotgun approach to business development. Our economic development programs are scattered among a variety of state agencies in hopes that one of them will hit the mark.

Getting Texas out of its economic rut will be a mammoth task. It will be easier if we have citizens—through task forces—helping to push the wagon with legislative leaders and not merely standing by as uninvolved spectators.

Business is not the only area that can benefit from task force work, of course. Education, a top priority of my administration, also deserves the wisdom and expertise that a task force can offer.

Recently, I appointed a Task Force on the Teacher Appraisal System and Career Ladder Program. The main objective of this 14-member group will be to see that education reforms adopted in Texas do work and don't merely sound good. I have asked each member to work on the committee for the next four years.

The career ladder program and the teacher appraisal system are not working. Both have caused rifts within the educational community and have lowered morale among teachers by pitting one teacher against another.

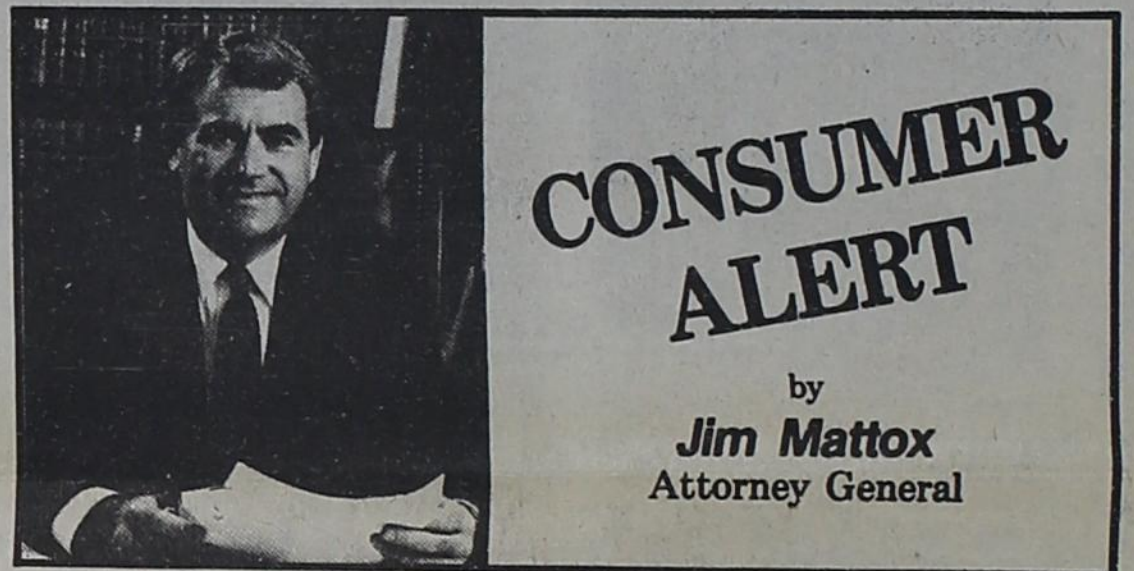

Both discourage teamwork among our educators at a time when we ought to be encouraging cooperation in the pursuit of educational excellence.

In the area of teacher appraisal, we need a system that considers student achievement, involves teachers in the appraisal process and requires less frequent reviews of our master teachers.

This task force won't be able to complete its work and provide its recommendations overnight. Education, however, is of critical importance to the future of our state, and it is my strong belief that the task force can finish its work in time to present its findings to the 70th Texas Legislature for action before the scheduled end of the session.

If that does, indeed, occur, the task force will have provided the foundation of an educational program embraced by the public, endorsed by educators and approved by government.

And that is how government is made more responsible—through the input of all its citizens.

GETTING A GREEN LAWN WITHOUT LOSING GREENBACKS

With spring and summer coming up, homeowners are busy working on their lawns themselves, while others will turn to "professionals" on yard care services.

There are many reputable professional companies that can do a great service for you. The consumer has to be careful and contract with companies that guarantee their work and provide good service.

INVESTIGATE FIRST

Consumers who are considering such services can choose those companies that specialize in jobs such as lawn maintenance, tree trimming, lawn and tree spraying, and landscaping among others. Some offer total care services with year-round maintenance or one-time service.

Whatever service is selected, consumers should investigate carefully before committing themselves to a contract for work, or paying in advance for a job.

Consumers should decide what lawn services they want performed and get at least three estimates from companies or individuals. Try to obtain information from your friends and relatives who have had these services, and check with your local Better Business Bureau and the Attorney General's Office to see what information you can obtain about the businessman.

GET A WRITTEN CONTRACT

If you are contracting for a particular service, make sure it is stated on your contract exactly what work is to be performed, the cost of the service, whether it is a one-time major job or if it is a maintenance type of agreement performed several times a year and whether the cost is monthly or annually. Consumers should beware of solicitors who are looking for large yard jobs that entail large amounts of money, especially if those yard care specialists solicit business door-to-door. The Texas Home

Solicitation Act protects you by allowing you to cancel by midnight of the third business day if the contract is signed in the home and the amount of the contract is $25.00 or more.

Sometimes these individuals soliciting are itinerants who only perform the one-time service of spraying your lawn. Perhaps by the time you find out the service is unsatisfactory, your check for services rendered has been cashed and that is the last you hear of the door-to-door lawn specialists.

FOR MORE HELP

If you need more help or information on this or other consumer problems, contact your nearest Attorney General Consumer Protection Office (in Austin, Dallas, El Paso, Houston, Lubbock, McAllen, and San Antonio). The Attorney General's Office is the people's law firm. We're here to help you.
