Mogul Booster Club Ready For Athletic Year

The Mogul Booster Club will manage the first football concession stand this year when the team scrimmages Holliday here Friday evening. The group will again be selling homemade ice cream, and everyone is urged to attend the scrimmage to support both the team and the organization that boosts Munday's young athletes.

Gene Thompson was re-elected president of the group at its organizational meeting last week. Lee Bruce is vice-president and Jim Reid is secretary-treasurer.

The Boosters have announced that season tickets will be available at Friday night's scrimmage, then they will go on sale at the Munday Courier office for one week, beginning Monday, September 1. The charge for the season ticket reserves a seat for each game, and the ticket-holder pays general admission prices at the gate.

The Booster Club meets each Tuesday night during football season at the high school cafeteria. Films of football games are seen, and coaches and players are introduced at various meetings. All Mogul fans, whether they are parents or not, are urged to attend these meetings and support all club activities.

School Zone Speed Limit Observance Requested By Police

With the beginning of school at hand, all drivers in Munday are reminded to observe the school zone speed limit. The top speed within this zone is 20 miles per hour if the yellow light is flashing.

Munday Police Chief Henry Dancer and patrolman Coyt Smith have notified us that all persons caught exceeding this limit will be ticketed and there will be no exceptions. The fine for this infraction is $27 plus $1 per mile over the speed limit, so it can become very expensive rather quickly. This should encourage every driver to slow down to the legal limit in the school zone - in addition to saving themselves some money, it is the best way to insure that no children are involved in needless traffic accidents during the school year.

AT SERIES OF MEETINGS

Hospital's Money Woes Discussed By Citizens

The Knox County Hospital District board of trustees met July 15 with members Bernard Brown, Ray Lynn Hardin, Bill Baker and Greg Clonts present. Also present were administrator Randy Abernathy, Absent were Benny Grill, Maurine Reeder and Vernal Zeissel.

Minutes of the July 1 meeting were read and approved. Self-funding employee insurance claims were discussed and no board action was taken other than noting that the claims were already considered under accounts payable. The need to amend the medical staff bylaws to include definition, membership and appointment to necessary committees required by Medicare was addressed. Bill Baker moved to adopt the proposed amendment as presented. Ray Lynn Hardin seconded the motion, which passed unanimously.

Abernathy presented a quote for directors' and officers' liability insurance coverage from the Texas Hospital Insurance Exchange. The proposal was accepted by all present.

A tentative budget for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1987, was presented by Abernathy. He noted a 35 cent per $100 property valuation was necessary in order to meet proposed expenses. Areas

THEY EARNED THIS BREAK! A delicious sampling of sandwiches, cheese, crackers, cookies and cake was waiting for these blood donors when they had made their donation at the Bloodmobile held here Monday. Dorothy Brown, at left, became a three-gallon donor at this Bloodmobile, and Don Welch, seated next to her, gave his second gallon of blood. Freddie Caram, at right, shows the certificate he received for donating six gallons. The other men seated at the table had also given blood.

Slow Day Experienced At Local Bloodmobile

Only 46 pints of blood were donated at the Bloodmobile held here Monday, August 25. Two prospective donors were deferred for health reasons. This left Munday 14 pints short in the blood bank.

Several persons requested that their blood donations be on behalf of Keith Burnison, who is a patient at Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene. As of Tuesday morning when we went to press, Burnison had received 13 pints of blood following surgery.

Many area residents go to the Bloodmobile each time it is in our town, and several of these faithful donors reached gallon goals with this visit. Freddie Caram has now donated six gallons of his blood through the years. Reaching the three-gallon mark was Dorothy Brown, and two-gallon donors are Don Welch and Lowry Wilson, Jr. Pat Hutchinson and Waymon Alexander have donated a gallon of blood.

As always, a number of volunteers helped make the Bloodmobile visit run smoothly. Unloading the Red Cross truck were Freddie Caram, Don Welch and Buford Berryhill, and Berryhill was around to help load the truck back up for its return trip to Wichita Falls. WTU employees Mickey Jackson and James Merrell put up the street signs reminding persons to donate.

Inside the Community Center, Winters Matthews and Virginia Cary handled registration duties. Trained medical personnel who volunteered to assist were Patsy Lefevre and Pat Hutchinson. Brenda Smith presided over the bag table, and Marie Smith and Elaine Gulley were in charge of the canteen. Providing food for the donors were Drucilla Morton, Jean Kiser, Virginia Cary, Frances Parker and Bloodmobile chairman Latreace Lane.

School Days Almost Here For Scholars

Whether they're ready or not, young people in Munday from five-year-old to teenagers will return to the classrooms Tuesday, September 2, after enjoying their last summer weekend. Their teachers have been in school several days by now, attending in-service sessions here and in Knox City and preparing lesson plans and classrooms for the new year.

The first holiday doesn't come until November 27, when school will close for the two-day Thanksgiving holiday. Christmas holidays run from December 22 until January 2 this year. Instead of spring break, students will have only two days, March 5 and 6, off, and April 17 marks the Easter holiday. A teacher workday is planned for January 16, and students will have a day off at that time.

Officials say that March 9 and April 20 will also be declared holidays if they are not needed to make up days missed because of bad weather.

May 28 is the last day of the 1986-87 school year, with junior high and high school graduations set for May 28 and 29, respectively.

Elementary parents are reminded that the parking lot in front of the school is now open to parents bringing and picking up their children. Teachers will now park in the new lot provided at the east side.

Band members and football players have already become familiar with their routines, as two-day workouts began early this month. These two groups will soon be performing each Friday night on the football field. For them, and the rest of the students and teachers in the Munday school system, the summer of 1986 will soon be just a memory.

Correction

We extend our apologies to the Wren families for the error made in the Fair Store article last week. Mrs. Clayton (Ruth) Wren was a Fair Store employee for nearly 50 years. Unfortunately, none of the Courier employees have been in Munday nearly that long, and we do get names confused on occasion. Our apologies to all involved.

Paving Project Is Underway At Last

High Plains Pavers of Plainview have finally arrived in Munday to begin work on the street paving funded by a $400,000 Community Block Grant from the Department of Community Affairs and the Department of Housing and Urban Welfare. The City of Munday has also contributed $5,000 to this project.

Curbing was being done Tuesday morning when rain interrupted the work. After curbing is finished, a base will be laid on the streets to be paved, and city administrator Walter Hertel said he hoped the project would be up to that point by November 1, although much depends on the weather.

After the base coat is put on, the paving must be completed at temperatures of 60 degrees or higher, so Hertel said they might run out of warm weather before the streets could be paved. In that case the base will be maintained through the winter and the paving will be completed as soon as the weather warms up in the spring. But it is possible that the entire project could be finished this year if the weather is warm and dry enough.

Paving will begin on Jean Street and Munday Avenue on the south edge of town and progress to Houston, then to Dallas and Cisco west of 7th Avenue and on to 3rd and Dallas and 3rd and Bowie south of Osborne's. Other areas to be paved include the west end of Bowie, the streets around the apartments on North 13th, random areas in the north side of town and a section in extreme northeast Munday.

Areas to be paved were chosen based on low income families in the area. Many of these families will be inconvenienced during the construction, but Hertel said there is nothing the city can do about this, it will just have to be tolerated until the construction is finished. The City Hall has a map of areas to be paved.

The biggest worry right now, Hertel said, is the part the weather will play in the project. The paving company was delayed by about five weeks, a period during which they would have had excellent weather for the work. Now, a great deal of rain or cooler than average weather could hamper the paving by several months.

On the other hand, the new drainage ditch extension is finished, and Hertel said they are waiting on a rain to see how well it will handle the overflow from the original ditch. The farmers, too, would like to see some moisture on their crops.

So, whether it rains or stays dry, somebody is going to profit from it. Unfortunately, someone else will be hurt by either type of weather. Guess that's the price we pay for living in this part of the country!

FRIDAY NIGHT ACTION

Moguls Host Eagles In Home Scrimmage

After their first test against a larger team, Munday Mogul coaches and fans alike are encouraged by signs of another great team this year. The Moguls were impressive in their scrimmage with Hamlin last Friday night, and their performance seems to indicate that the players have an enormous desire to win.

The team is in about the same shape injury-wise, although fans were unnerved by the sight of sophomore Ronald Edrington being carried off the field. Reports this week are that Edrington was just bruised and will be able to play.

Munday fans who were not able to travel to Hamlin can see the team in action this Friday night, when the Holliday Eagles come to town for a scrimmage. Holliday always has a good team, and this should be another good opportunity for coaches to gauge the Moguls' strengths and weaknesses before regular season play begins.

The scrimmage is tentatively set for 6 p.m. at the Mogul field, but fans are advised to check and make sure that time is correct before Friday. The Mogul Booster Club will have the concession stand at the scrimmage, and will sell homemade ice cream and other items as a fundraiser for the club. Season tickets will also be sold at the scrimmage.

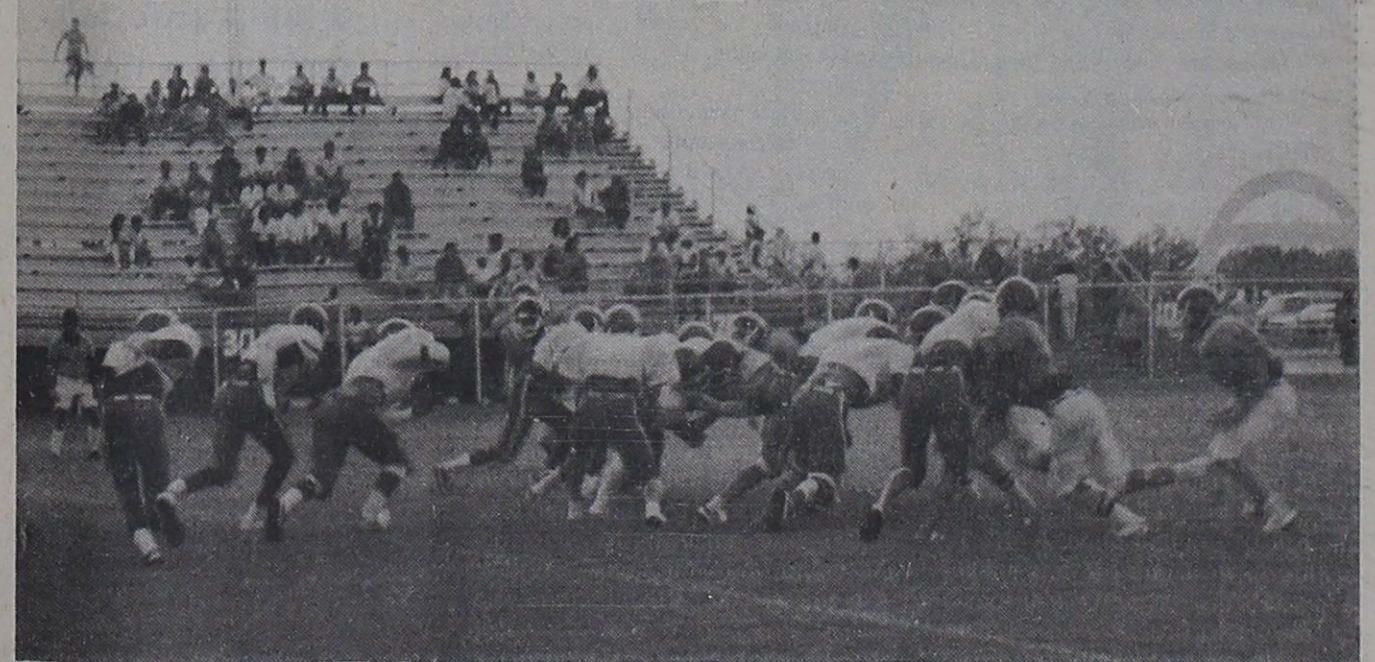

The weather's still a little warm to think fall, but school is starting and football season is almost here. So it's time to get the vocal chords warmed up for another ten weeks (or more, we hope!) of cheering for the Moguls. Don't forget to come show some early spirit when the Moguls scrimmage Holliday Friday. Your support is heard and needed.

HARD-HITTING ACTION was the focus of a scrimmage between the Munday Moguls and the Hamlin Pied Pipers in Hamlin last Friday. The Moguls represented themselves very well and gave the fans who watched them play something to look forward to when the regular season begins September 5. Munday will take to the home field Friday, August 29, when they scrimmage the Eagles from Holliday. The Mogul Booster Club will serve homemade ice cream at the concession stand, and everyone is urged to attend.

HOSPITAL BOARD

remainder of the bill with Allied Pharmacy would be paid in full.

A financial report for June was presented by Abernathy, including an aged trial balance of accounts payable. Other areas noted were the profit and loss statement, cash flow, DRG summary, cash disbursements and notes payable status. He said that since March, 1986, the hospital has paid $262,117.43 on their established line of credit with the First National Bank secured by accounts receivables and tax receipts. The existing notes payable balance was approximately $165,000. He further noted that $77,000 had been paid in the month of June due to an increase in cash flow. He stated the hospital no longer owed the Medicare program for PRO recup-ments and overpayments to the hospital for the 1984 year-end Medicare cost report. These two recup-ments exceeded $30,000 but were now paid in full. Abernathy noted paying off these recupments has helped the hospital's cash flow tremendously.

With no further discussion, Bill
Baker made a motion to authorize Vernal Zeissel to borrow $54,053.32
from the First National Bank to pay the accounts payable approved by the board. Ray Lynn Hardin seconded the motion, which passed unanimously. The meeting adjourned at 12:10 a.m.

An emergency meeting of the board was called on July 22 with all members present except Hardin and Brown present. The meeting was held because it had been learned that an election held in May, 1971, gave the hospital the authority to raise the tax rate to exceed 35 cents per $100 property valuation.

Motion was made by Baker to rescind the action taken July 15
regarding the proposed 35 cents tax rate that was approved by the board. Motion was seconded by Vernal Zeissel and passed unanimously. Baker then made a motion to propose a 41 cents tax rate for the 1986 tax year and set a new tax hearing date for August 7. Zeissel seconded the motion, and those voting for it were Zeissel, Baker, Reeder
and Clonts, with Benny Grill casting a dissenting vote. Motion carried, and the meeting adjourned.

Board members, the administrator and approximately 50 concerned residents of the county met August 7
in the Knox City Community Center. Board president Greg Clonts explained the past, present and future criteria of the hospital requiring the proposed increased tax rate. Persons addressing the board, presented their views and questioning
members of the board panel were Kenneth Crownover, Clyde Voss,
JoAnne Mattox, Joe Reeder, Barbara Barnard, R.P. Barnard, Jean Kuehler and Darlene Bellinghausen.

Clonts then announced a public meeting would be held for the purpose of a vote by the hospital's governing body to approve the proposed tax rate. The meeting was set for 8 p.m., August 19 in the Citizens
State Bank of Knox City.

Baker also made a motion to authorize Vernal Zeissel to borrow $30,000 August 8 and $15,000
August 13 from the First National Bank to pay accounts payable in the amount of $43,473.62. Meeting was adjourned.

Cleaners To Be At Furniture Store

Munday Cleaners is now open at a new location with new owners,
and local citizens are urged to try their service.

Von and JoAnn Marr have bought the cleaning operation and are moving it to Home Furniture at 111 West Main in Munday. It is now open, and they promise fast, reliable service on dry cleaning and laundry.

Hats and handbags are also included in this service, and afghans and tablecloths can be blocked.

The cleaners will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The phone number is 422-5580.

Children Invited To Library Story Hour

Story hour at the Munday City-County Library will begin next week, and librarian Jana Thompson says all four and five-year-old children are invited to join in the fun
from 10 to 10:30 a.m. each Thursday.

In addition to story telling and reading, filmstrips geared to the youngsters' level will be shown, and Mrs. Thompson promises a fun time for all who attend.

Foster Parents Are Needed In Vicinity

There is a real need in this community for person who are willing to become foster parents for a temporary period of time. An orientation meeting for persons who consider being foster parents will be held at 7 p.m. Monday, September 8, at the Eastside Baptist Church,
600 N. First East, in Haskell. Debbie Vaughn of the Department of Human Services in Seymour will conduct the meeting.

When children are removed from parents because of abuse or neglect,
the Children's Protective Service forms a plan to either return these children to rehabilitated parents or to place them for adoption. During the time the plan is being made, the agency needs families who will nurture these children and provide them with some stability.

Foster parents are reimbursed for their expenses with foster children at the rate of $8 per day for ages 0-9 and $9 per day for ages 10-17. All medical expenses are paid.

Anyone interested in this service or who wants to learn more about the foster parent plan is encouraged to attend the meeting in Haskell.

ART LAWLER

Bill Hunt has a kidney worth living with now.

It's not standard equipment, but so far his body has rolled out the red carpet and given it a heroes' welcome.

Bill, who is 51, lost his first kidney in 1979. In recent years the other one reached the point of no repair. It meant dialysis treatments three times a week. Four hours at a time.

People on dialysis have their moments. Sometimes they thank God for preserving their lives. Sometimes they curse Him for the same thing.

Bill's darkest moments - the moments when he wondered if it made any sense - he describes as his "extreme spiritual challenge."

Bill applied for a kidney transplant after 18 months. His brother, a good match, according to physicians, was prepared to give him one of his kidneys.

Instead, they discovered a tumor in one of Richard's kidneys. He felt terrible, but Bill says they were lucky to catch his brother's tumor in time.

There was still the cadaver transplant option. The risks were higher, for sure. Some poor, unrelated soul would have to die before his kidney could be implanted into Bill's body.
The chances of rejection were greatly enhanced.

Bill thought it over, then decided to withdraw his name from consideration. That was it, or so he thought.

Friends and doctors at the Dialysis Center kept encouraging him to go for the transplant option. It was an opportunity, after all, not available
to some dialysis patients.

The pulling back period, he says
now, relaxed his mind. "I was able to give up some of my panic," he says.
"It was my time of surrender. I just decided to accept whatever happened."

Bill finally put his name back in the computer and waited. Some days
he managed better than others.

Dr. James Webster is an informal physician who wears boots and jeans to work. He also has a flair for down playing the dramatic.

"What are you doing this afternoon?" he asked Bill that day.

"I'm taking some people on a (church) retreat."

"How would you like to go to Dallas this afternoon?"

"Why?"

"They've got a kidney waiting for you."

"I felt like somebody had dropped a safe on me," says Bill. "When do I have to let you know?" he asked.

"Well, I'm kinda' on long distance..."

Six hours later at Parkland Hospital, they were taking 13 tubes of blood from Bill's body. By 10 p.m.
he was being wheeled into surgery.
By midnight he had a new kidney -
and a new life.

All of this came at the beginning of Lenten season. "I'm giving up
dialysis," he told his priest, the Rev.
Charles Chatham.

Bill hasn't forgotten about the Di-alysis Center, though. He knows the struggles the patients are going through. He remembers how the cards, the letters and the visits from old friends helped pull him through his operation. Now he visits the patients at the Center and tries to offer hope
and understanding.

It's been six months since his operation. Not once has the body attempted to reject the kidney. They're calling it a picture-perfect transplant.

Bill's optimism has soared. He thinks he may be looking at 10 productive years.

Whenever he thinks about the man whose life was lost and whose family was kind enough to donate the kidney, he is humbled. "I feel like my life has been given back to me for no deserved reason," he says.

Bill now leads a morning prayer service at an Episcopal Church in his community. When it's over he goes to work as a clerk at a convenience store.

He is an educated man with a B.A.
in forestry from Colorado State, and a certificate from seminary at Oberlin College in Ohio. For 19 years he served as a Presbyterian minister.

But medical problems have limited his career. The bills have been high and the income has been modest. He lives in a small, but comfortable
home with his wife, Sally, a nurse,
and his 15-year-old daughter, Ashli.

His daughter is a polite, seemingly unspoiled teenager. When her dad had the kidney transplant she wrote a story in the school paper explaining the situation to her middle school classmates.

Her conclusion, complete with five exclamation marks, hints at a home life with meaning beyond a Ferrari in the driveway:

"I love my dad," she wrote. "He is the greatest!!!!!"

Heat And Humidity A Deadly Combination For Some Texans

Recent sporadic rains in Texas may have seemed to relieve the oppressive heat wave that broke records throughout the state, but with the moisture came perhaps a greater danger -- high humidity combined with the heat.

Even people accustomed to the Texas climate sometimes fail to realize the dangers posed by the combination of high humidity and heat if precautions are not taken. "The affect of humid heat can be deadly for the very young, the elderly, and persons already weakened by illness," said Dr. Clift Price, associate commissioner for Personal Health Services at the Texas Department of Health.

Dr. Price said a recent report shows that in an average year, some 200 people in the U.S. die as the result of hot weather. The report stated that overall mortality rates increase dramatically during severe weather. The National Center for Health Statistics has calculated that since an extreme heat wave was the unique factor during the summer of 1980, when mortality rates jumped sharply, as many as 1,700 deaths nationally may have been heat related.

Dr. Price said that high temperature alone is physically tolerable to most people, but in combination with humidity, it can cause an individual's cooling mechanism, perspiration, to work overtime. "If one fails to replace the fluids and salts lost through perspiration, dehydration or hyperthermia can occur," he said. Symptoms of dehydration are muscle cramps, nausea, dizziness, headache and low blood pressure. If fluids are not replaced, heat stroke can ensue, causing sudden weakness, severe headache, loss of consciousness, brain damage, and death if the victim is not quickly treated.

"To avoid danger of overheating, people should dress in light-colored, loose-fitting clothing. They should drink more than their normal intake of water, and be sure to have water available if they need it. They should seek good ventilation. And perhaps as important as anything else, they should remain aware of their own physical conditions and the weather conditions," he said. Persons with heart or respiratory problems, and those taking certain medications, are especially at risk.

"Nearly everyone has access to weather reports," Dr. Price added. "Television and radio reports are especially helpful to persons planning activities outside." Dr. Price said that in recent years, meteorologists have begun using the term, "heat stress" or "heat index" to describe the relationship between temperatures and humidity.

The heat stress index is a numerical table by which the National Weather Service rates the degree of discomfort a person may feel at a given temperature and humidity. Dr. Price said that although the table does not allow for the variables of wind and shade, which can greatly influence an individual's tolerance of heat and humidity, the index reading, like a thermometer reading, is useful in helping persons take needed precautions against hyperthermia.

A heat stress index reading of 105 is considered very dangerous.

To determine the current heat stress rating, use the National Weather-Service index below.

PROBLEMS WITH PEACHTREE BORERS

Peachtree borers are the most damaging pest of peach trees in Knox County. Their damage often goes undetected until the tree begins to die.

The presence of peachtree borers is indicated by large masses of gum mixed with brown sawdust at the base of the tree trunk. The peachtree borer larvae feed and develop in the trunk near the soil line. Uncontrolled larvae may eventually girdle the tree, killing it.

The adult peachtree borer moths are active from July through September. The eggs are deposited at the base of trees during that same period, with peak egg deposition occurring in late August.

There are two methods of control, spraying or the use of PDB (paradichlorobenzene) crystals. Dursban, Lindane, or Thiodan may be used as a spray. Mix the chemical according to the directions on the label. With a coarse spray, thoroughly wet the tree trunk and apply treatment in late August or early September.

If PDB crystals are to be used, apply from October 20 to November 15. Apply when the soil is dry. Place the crystals in a narrow band encircling the tree, about two inches from the trunk. Care should be taken to keep any crystals from coming into contact with the tree. Place clean soil over the crystals to form a cone-shaped mound about eight inches high around the base of the tree. The soil should be removed from around the tree in late March or early April.

Use the amount of crystals indicated on the label, based on the size of the tree. For two and three-year-old trees, use one-half ounce; for four to five-year-old trees use three-fourths ounce; and for mature trees, use one ounce.

Additional information on the peachtree borer is available at the Knox County Extension office located in the county Courthouse, Benjamin.

FOR LOCAL FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Helping People Is What He Likes Best

Most people shy away from the idea of death and related subjects like funerals, funeral homes and funeral directors. Such an occupation is so disagreeable, the average citizen thinks, and anyone who would make the funeral business his career must be really dedicated to his job.

But funeral director Richie Smith of McCauley-Smith Funeral Home in Munday says his work is misunderstood and not disagreeable at all. In fact, he considers the most important part of his job to be the care of and understanding and compassion for the families with whom he deals.

About his dedication, yes, Smith is a dedicated funeral director. But it is not the career choice he would make if he had it to do all over again.

"I wanted to be a surgeon," he said in a recent interview. "When I was a child my family lived across the street from the hospital in Paducah. An old doctor there was my idol because he always found the time to talk to me, and I grew up wanting to be a surgeon. But my family wasn't financially able to send me to medical school."

Smith served three years as a U.S. Army medic in Germany. "It was as close to being a surgeon as I could get," he explained. There he became acquainted with medics who were in the funeral business back home, and he decided to make that his career, feeling it was still in the medical field.

After working his way through the Dallas Institute of Mortuary Science, he received his license in 1962 and served his apprenticeship

FUNERAL DIRECTOR Richie Smith of McCauley-Smith Funeral Home in Munday is the picture of concerned and patient care when he talks to families about funeral and burial plans. Although he actually wanted to become a surgeon, he has spent 26 years in the funeral business and has been involved with all facets of life in Munday.

at Kinney Funeral Home in Stamford. He married a Munday girl, Mary Jeanette Albus, in 1962, and in 1965 they came back to Munday where Smith was employed by Charles McCauley, owner of McCauley Funeral Home. Smith bought McCauley out in 1968 and changed the name of the business to McCauley-Smith, and McCauley moved to Haskell where he now owns Holden-McCauley Funeral Home.

At that time, funeral homes also maintained the local ambulance service. Smith said he has had four surgeries due to the lifting associated with ambulance work. When he turned the ambulance service over to the City of Munday in 1976, he gave the city one fully equipped ambulance and sold another to the new service.

"Not having to run the ambulance is the biggest and best change I've seen since I've been in the business," he said, noting that at one time funeral homes were the most convenient location for the ambulance service, since a hearse was often the only vehicle in a town long enough to carry a stretcher.

Counting his years in Germany, Smith worked with ambulances for 18 years, including both wheeled and helicopter conveyances. And he believes being around ambulances, trauma and emergencies during his medic years was good training for the career he eventually chose.

During his years in Munday, Smith has had several employees, mentioning in particular Jack Tarter and Winters Matthews, each of whom spent about six years at the funeral home. And he's had a number of employees who later went on to become funeral directors.

But his most prized assistant is his present one - his son, Kevin. Kevin, who is also a graduate of the Dallas Institute of Mortuary Science, is the first licensed funeral director to assist in the business. And Dad is very proud of his son's license and ability. "Having him here takes a lot of pressure off me," he added.

Smith has no desire to direct funerals in a large town. "I don't like big city operations," he mused. "Bereaved families don't receive the personal care they need. I like to take families all the way through the funeral service myself."

But there is another side, he admitted. "The bad part of this service in a small community is that you know everyone. Performing the services I do is often difficult when I'm dealing with my own friends."

Smith is active in community affairs, serving as a school trustee, a Little League coach, a Munday Housing Authority director, an officer in the Lions Club and as Grand Knight of the Knights of Columbus. He also served as director of the Knox County Hospital District for 13 years, a fact of which he is especially proud. In addition, he has served all the offices of the West Texas Funeral Directors Association and was a director of the Texas Funeral Directors Association in 1978-79.

Besides Kevin, Smith and his wife are the parents of two daughters, Kristi and Kelli, both of whom are in college.

Smith thinks Munday has a "good, bright future because of the quality people, the excellent school system, the rail and highway system, the lake and good farmland and agricultural producers." But he says we need some sort of industry to create jobs and increase the cash flow during times of economical difficulty.

He golfs in his spare time, saying that he needs such an outlet in an "absolutely stressful" line of work. "Being around people who are emotionally upset because of the loss of a loved one creates a high pressure situation for the funeral director. All I can do is try my best to comfort and provide for the families, to handle all their needs."

And if he could go back to the days after he graduated from Hamlin High School, with his whole future ahead of him? "I would find a way to go to medical school. That's what I really wanted to do, and although I think I've done my best in my 26 years as a funeral director, I've never forgotten how much I wanted to be a surgeon."

EXERCISING FOR BONE HEALTH

For years, doctors have stressed the importance of daily exercise - in combination with a balanced diet - as they key to a healthy lifestyle. Today, doctors believe that, in addition to overall cardiovascular benefits, certain exercises may have a tremendous impact in preventing osteoporosis.

According to recent studies (Everett L. Smith, Ph.D., Department of Preventive Medicine, University of Wisconsin) exercise seems to be a vital factor in promoting superior bone growth and maintenance throughout life. A well-planned exercise regime may not only stimulate the development of bone mass, but may arrest any bone loss that is occurring.

Although the complex cause-effect relationship between exercise and bone health is not fully understood, medical research is studying the following relationships:

*Exercise produces a physical stress on the bones and, as a result, they become stronger and thicker. Without regular exercise, bone may shrink, weaken and become porous.

*Exercise increases the blood flow to the bones, bathing the skeleton with important nutrients that encourage new bone formation.

*Exercise produces tiny electric currents within the bone tissue that may be important for bone-building.

The best types of exercises that build strong bones are weight-bearing exercises - activities that feature movement, pull and stress on the longer bones of the body. Good examples of this include jogging, brisk walking, jumping rope, bicycling and working out on Nautilus machines. As bones are stressed from these exercises, they may become stronger and denser.

Swimming, although an excellent all-purpose exercise, is not considered as effective in strengthening bone tissue, since the buoyancy of the water minimizes stress on the bones. Swimming is recommended for women already afflicted with osteoporosis, as it allows the benefits of exercise without excessive strain to an already weakened skeleton.

THE SAFETY OF ALTERNATE SWEETENERS

There has been much controversy surrounding cyclamates, saccharin, and now aspartame as sweeteners. After a great deal of research, the experts agree that if you are using alternative sweeteners in moderation in a proper diet, there is little need to worry. But there is still some disagreement as to whether the sweeteners pose a risk when consumed in high amounts or whether they pose special threats to pregnant women, children and people with certain medical conditions.

43 Deaths Expected In Texas During Labor Day Weekend

Officials of the Texas Department of Public Safety estimate that 43 persons could be killed in traffic accidents across the state during the Labor Day period.

The 78-hour holiday period begins at 6 p.m. Friday, August 29, and ends at midnight on Monday, September 1.

"During this period, the department will have additional troopers on duty," Adams said. "We know that some drivers will be determined to violate the traffic laws. DPS officers will be taking enforcement action against as many violators as they can to increase the safety factor for law abiding motorists."

Adams said the final fatality count for the 1985 Labor Day period was 52.

"Twenty-one of the 52 deaths resulted from traffic accidents in which speed or DWI was a contributing factor," Adams pointed out. "That's why our officers will be concentrating on these violations during the upcoming Labor Day weekend."

Adams said the DPS deeply appreciates the positive response shown by Texas motorists to the safety belt law.

"We'd like to mark the first anniversary of the seat belt law by having far fewer fatalities occur than our statisticians have estimated for the holiday period," Adams said.

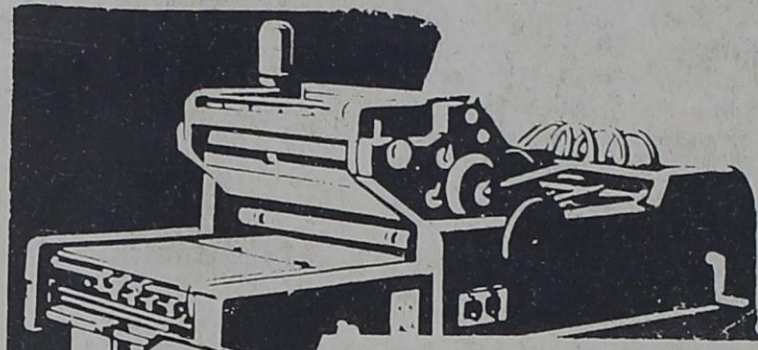

During the July 4th holiday period earlier this summer, eight of nine persons killed in motorcycle accidents were not wearing helmets.

"Though only those motorcyclists 18 and younger are required to wear protective headgear, statistics show overwhelmingly that helmets save lives," Adams said.

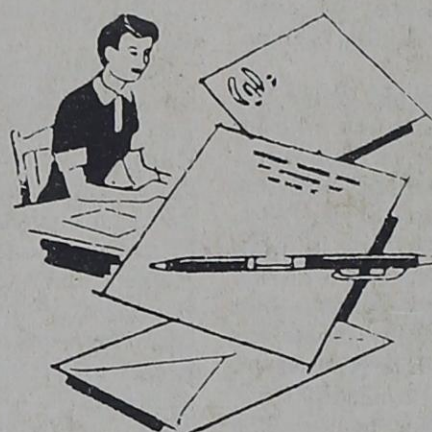

As part of the increased driving awareness program, the DPS will furnish revised fatality counts to the news media during the Labor Day period.

Troopers Investigate One Local Accident

Department of Public Safety officers investigated one accident with a personal injury during the month of July in Knox County, according to Sgt. Sam Wester of Haskell. No fatal accidents were investigated, and no accidents involving property damage were reported.

In the 21-county Lubbock District, of which Knox County is a part, troopers investigated three fatal accidents, 47 involving personal injury and 81 incidents involving property damage.

When grilling poultry use dental floss for tying it to the grill and trussing. Dental floss doesn't burn and is strong.

HANGING BASKETS AND greenery trailing up a wire trellis are the focal points in the yard of Collis and Ernestine Michels on the Knox City Highways west of town. Lots of shrubbery, standing pot plants, ornamental grass edging the flower beds and a variety of blooms combine with a well-manicured lawn and towering trees to give this Yard of the Week a neat look.

Social Security Numbers Needed For All In Household

There are several agencies that use the Social Security number for purposes other than Social Security, according to Frances Braden, Social Security resident representative in Vernon.

The Internal Revenue Service, for example, requires people to show their Social Security number on income tax returns. And if current pending legislation is passed, this will include a requirement to show all dependents' Social Security numbers on the tax returns.

Also, the Department of Defense has substituted the Social Security number for the military service number for all members of the armed forces.

Social Security numbers are also required for any person who applies for or receives benefits under any Federal or federally subsidized program, Mrs. Braden said. Today, there are comparatively few people who do not need a Social Security number for one purpose or another.

If all household members do not yet have a Social Security number, it would be wise to contact the Social Security office and make application as soon as possible. This could avoid a delay later in filing income tax returns.

More information may be obtained at the Vernon Social Security office located at 1701 Cumberland or by telephoning 817-552-9346.
