C&R Recycling To Reclaim Oil Filters

With the constant changes in environmental protection laws, one recycling firm has come to recognize the need for a more conscientious effort on everyone's behalf to plan for a clean future environment.

C&R Recycling was conceived to help shoulder some of this responsibility. The firm is currently operating out of Pampa, but would like to establish an affiliate in the Munday area to reclaim used oil and filters. As the public becomes aware of the new EPA laws and begins to comply with them, there will be a need for just such a facility.

"We hope that our dedication and perseverance will help our environment, and, in doing so, help generations to come," stated Curtis Langston, who co-owns and operates the business with Richard W. Bradley.

Mammography Unit To Be Here Saturday

Breast cancer cannot be prevented, but early detection can save many lives. Transamerican Diagnostic Services will have a mobile breast cancer detection unit available to local women on Saturday, June 20, at the Munday City Hall. Appointments may be made by calling 1-800-633-6452.

Breast cancer will strike one in nine American women. The American Cancer Society predicts that about 44,000 women will die of breast cancer this year. Experts estimate that if every woman had regular mammograms according to guidelines established by the American Cancer Society, nearly a third of the women who die of breast cancer would survive. The guidelines are: (a) begin mammography by age 40; (b) age 40-49 mammogram every 1-2 years;

showed a 24.79% decrease for the period. Their 1992 payment

(c) over age 50 annual mamme gram; (d) monthly breast self-ex amination; and (e) regular breat exams by a physician. Mammor raphy is the best means for earl detection of breast cancer.

Transamerican Diagnosia Services has been accredited by the American College of Radiology since 1989. The American College of Radiology program is voluntary and designed to insure women receive optimum quality mammographic examinations. The accreditation is done through evaluation of the facility's staff qualifications, (technologist, radiologist, and physicist), equipment, quality control, quality assurance, image quality and breast dose. Transamerican Diagnostic Services (TDS) is also approved by the Texas Department of Health to accept self referred patients and is approved by Medicare as a provider to the Medicare mammography program. TDS has recently been contracted by the Texas Department of Health to be an official provider for low income women.

For more information you may call Transamerican Diagnostic Services, Inc, at (915) 561-8888.

Exemption Granted For Maize Insecticide

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has granted a, Texas Department of Agriculture request that will allow farmers emergency use of the insecticide Asana XL on grain sorghum, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said.

"We appreciate EPA's quick response on this matter," Perry said. "Without this method of control, our sorghum farmers were projected to lose as much as $10 nillion this summer to the sorgnum midge."

The sorghum midge is a type of fly that is primarily controlled by planting sorghum early and having it flower before midge populations can seriously threaten crops. But this season's heavy rains caused sorghum crops to be planted late, Perry said.

Along with midges, Asana XL also may be used to control head-

Sun Is Welcome Sight

After the many days of overcast skies and rain, the recent sunny skies and warm winds are a much welcomed blessing for area farmers. With a little luck and a lot of help from above, this weather trend will continue, the wheat and potatoes will be harvested and cotton will be planted. . .finally!

DPS Urges Precautions During Summer Travels

It's vacation time, and time to start thinking about our summer travels and those long-planned vacations. Major Vernon Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety, says, "With some preplanning on our parts, our summer travels can be made a lot easier and a whole lot safer."

Major Cawthon suggests that before you take to the road, first check out yourself or other drivers in your group to ensure that everyone is well rested. Do not push yourself to the limit, ensure that you take proper breaks and spread the driving out over short distances. Ensure that all drivers feel good physically and emotionally and that no driver is taking medication or has had any alcoholic beverages to drink.

Make a check of the vehicle to include tires, brakes, belts, hoses, wipers, lighting and fluid levels and include spare parts for any minor repair that might unexpectedly come up. Remember to use your headlights to allow other drivers to see you in adverse conditions. At night, do not overdrive your headlights. Over 50% of all traffic deaths happen at night. Also, remember that at night, our eyes take four to seven seconds to re-adjust to night conditions after facing bright lights.

Keep posted on weather conditions. Adverse weather can affect your ability to see and be seen. In bad weather, slow down and put on the low beam headlights. If conditions warrant, it is advisable to stop and take a break. Be alen to traffic conditions, and if you are traveling at night, and especially on weekends, be aware that a lot of drivers sharing the road with you are either fatigued or intoxicated. Alcohol impaired drivers cause at least 50% of all fatal accidents. One of your best defenses against the drunk driver is your safety belt, but it is only effective if you and all your occupants wear them.

Let's all work together to make this summer a safe one on our Texas highways. Drive friendly; it's the Texas way.

The Lord's Corner

by Dr. Pete Bradfield, pastor First Baptist Church

Here are some of the wisest words ever penned by Benjamin Franklin: "Doing an injury puts you below your enemy; revenging one makes you but even with him; forgiving one sets you above

Revenge is one of the most natural - and destructive - of all human responses. Rather than trying to right a wrong by forgiving it, the most common reaction is to try to right a wrong by committing another wrong - namely, lashing out at the other person.

What is your response when someone has wronged you? Do you count to 10 before "blasting off"? Or do you "go into orbit" immediately? To help you cultivate a proper response to others, put this verse to work today:" A soft answer turneth away wrath, but grievous words stir up anger" (Proverbs 15:1). You'll find it hard to express anger - or harbor it when you whisper!

See you next week, and remenber: forgiveness warms the heart and cools the sting.

Failed Acres

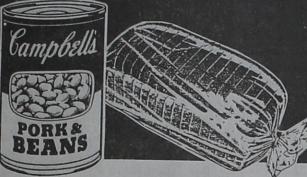

If you have a crop (program or non-program) that fails due to the weather, please sign an ASCS-574 - Application for Disaster Credit before you destroy evidence of the crop. If you plant the acres back to the crop that failed without plowing the ground or plant back right behind the plow, you would need to file an ASCS-574 since the second planting will provide crop history.

Ghost acres are only applicable following a failed program crop. If your cotton or grain sorghum fails, you must keep trying to replant the crop that failed through June 20, which is the final planting date for cotton and sorghum. Again, this does not mean that you can't plant after June 20. Ghost acres apply immediately to crops planted on failed wheat acres, but only crops planted on failed cotton or sorghum acres June 21 or later will be considered ghost.

To determine t	he calibration

To determine the calibration distance for a nozzle spacing or band width not listed, divide the spacing (expressed in feet) into 340. This will give you 1/128 of an acre.

STEP 2: Mark off the distance in the area to be sprayed. With all attachments operating and the throttle (RPMs) and gear set, accurately record the time it takes to travel the correct calibration listance. Do this twice for accu-

STEP 3: With the equipment itting still, the spray tanks filled vith clean water (no chemical), nd the engine and sprayer pump running at the previously marked IPMs, turn on the sprayer and pressureize the system to the desired pressure.

STEP 4: Catch the water from one nozzle (or group of nozzles for applications using more than one nozzle) using the same amount of time (in seconds) that was needed to travel the calibration distance. The number of fluid ounces collected equals the number of gallons applied per treated

STEP 5: Repeat steps 3 and 4 with different nozzles to check for worn or stopped up nozzles. Use an average of the nozzles to determine the rate per treated acre. As a standard rule, if a nozzle varies more than 10% from the average, the nozzle should be replaced.

Notice that on the calibration distance table, as the band width goes down, the distance increases. So for band applications, you may want to reduce the calibration distance. You can do this by simply dividing the distance on the table by 2 or 3. Just remember to multiply the time to catch the water, OR the number of fluid ounces caught, by the same num-

Whatever your method of calibration, you should not look at it as a once-a-season event. Producers should check nozzles and flow rate at least once a week and recalibrate every time chemicals are changed.

A number of factors can change the rate of flow through your nozzles. One is the type of nozzle. Plastic nozzles should be changed every two days during heavy use periods. Brass nozzles should last through planting, and stainless steel nozzles should be good for the season.

However, wettable powders tend to be abrasive and can enlarge the aperture of the nozzle, while some other materials can coat the tip with a hard film and reduce the size of the opening.

With a little practice, any rig can be calibrated in a matter of minutes.

At Your Service

by Dr. Larry Fitzgerald Minister, Munday Church of Christ

This question comes from another county in Texas, but applies to us all.

Q: At our church, we have a fellow who thinks his opinions about business matters are the only right ones. When it comes to teaching the Bible, he never says a word, and he does little to help our church. But he is always present at our business meetings. Others often don't agree with him, but are afraid to say so. What do you suggest?

A: An old saying: "It is often the most empty-headed who is the loudest." I don't know anything about your situation, but this seems to be what you've described.

The Lord intended the church to be directed by a group of men known as "elders" (presbyters), "shepherds (pastors), or "overseers" (bishops). The qualifications of these men are given in Titus 1:5-9; 1 Timothy 3:1-7; and 1 Peter 5:1-3. One of these qualifications is that an elder be a teacher (through personal work or Bible classes or preaching, etc.). This disqualifies the person you mention. If your congregation would not substitute a business meeting for an eldership, then this would not be such a problem.

For the time being, the person in charge of your business meetings needs to set rules about how long someone can speak concerning a subject and about not interrupting while others are speaking. But I suspect that until someone has the courage to oppose this man, then things will not change.

Be sure in your disagreements that you do not let your emotions rule you. You can still disagree on something while respecting and loving your opponent. Everything you do and say should be done in love (1 Corinthians 16:14).

If you have a question for Larry, write him c/o Box 211, Munday, Texas 76371.

Farm Master Universal Oil Eliminates Misapplication

PREMIUM PROTECTION FOR MOST FARM EQUIPMENT

Farm Master is a universal oil. This one multi-purpose oil replaces the two or three products normally used to lubricate modern and older farm equipment. Farm Master Universal Oil is formulated to protect the engine, transmission, hydraulic system and rear axle. And it's performance guaranteed when used as directed.

Farm Master Universal Oil can be used in most farm equipment including tractors, harvesters, threshers, combines and balers. It can also be used as an engine oil in pickup trucks, but it is not recommended for use in automatic transmissions requiring Dexron II or Mercon, or in differentials requiring GL-5 quality gear lubricant.

Farm Master has been thoroughly field tested to ensure safe and effective use for the recommended applications. It is available in SAE 15W-40 viscosity grade.

Farm work is made simpler with Farm Master Universal Oil. There's less inventory of lubricants and less chance of misapplication. Plus, servicing of equipment is made easier.
