Physician Assistant glad to be in small town

When Karl M. Holmes, PA moved to Munday from Aberdeen, South Dakota last April, he was looking for a professional and personal change. "I had been working as a PA to an orthopedic surgeon, and I found that somewhat limiting," he said. "I wanted to practice with a physician who sees all types of patients."

Holmes was also looking for a better climate, and a job where he could spend more time with his wife Lynn and their 15 month old daughter Ashley. "We were tired of the long cold winters in South Dakota. And I never had time to spend with my family," he said. "The pace here is much more relaxed. The people are wonderful, and I'm looking forward to the milder winters."

Holmes, who lives in Munday, practices in Knox City two days a week, and Munday three days a week. "I always wanted to be in a rural area that needed medical care," he said. "I grew up in a rural area, and I wanted to go some place where I would feel needed by the people."

Holmes brings a wide variety of medical experience to his job as a physician assistant. He worked as a cardiac rehab technician while he was going to school, and he also became certified as an Emergency Medical Technician 1 while he was going to school.

He earned his Physician Assistant certification in a 27 month program in the Physician Assistant Program School of Allied Health

KARL M. HOLMES

Professions at St. Louis University. During his training he served rotations in internal medicine, general surgery, pediatrics, primary care, emergency medicine, orthopedics, OB/GYN, and psychiatry. He is ACLS (Advanced Cardiac Life Support) certified. He completed a Bachelor of Science degree in Psychology and Premed at South Dakota State University in Bookings, South Dakota.

The Physician Assistant is licensed to perform a wide range of primary medical care, such as taking medical histories, performing physical examinations, ordering diagnostic tests, assisting in surgery, managing medical emergencies, and developing and implementing a treatment plan for patients.

"Most of the community's health care needs can be met here in Knox County. Injuries, farm accidents, and major traumas must be stabilized before the patient can be airlifted, and we can do that effectively here," he said.

Holmes works under the supervision of Dr. Shirley Barretto, and Dr. Krishna Prasanna Kumar. The Physician Assistant helps alleviate some of the time crunch for the physician, giving both the physician and the assistant more time to spend with the patient answering questions or explaining procedures.

"The people that I work with here are excellent. They are talented, honest, and very likeable," he said.

Moguls edged out 18 - 20 by Indians Friday night

The Munday Moguls played a hard fought ball game last Friday against the Haskell Indians but fell short of a win 18 to 20.

Munday received the opening kick-off and returned to the 44. Gerald Taylor didn't waste anytime moving the ball with a 29 yard scamper to the Haskell 27. Two plays later he took 10 yards to the 14. On third down the Moguls fumbled on an option play and the Indians recovered the ball.

Haskell took over at their own 10 and moved out to their 36. On the next play, Indian quarterback Cody Cypert hit Bucky Harvey for a 64 yard pass touchdown. The snap was fumbled on the PAT.

The Moguls matched the six points three minutes later when Bronco Flye sprinted in from the Haskell 43 yard line. The extra point failed.

After trading a punt each Haskell ran for a 24 yard gain but fumbled the ball and Zane Donoho recovered for the Moguls.

Munday took over at their own 35 and moved the ball for two first downs to the Haskell 39. A pass from Torres to Jeff Cook was intercepted by Indian Frankie Masias at their 20.

Haskell didn't have the ball long. On third down a fumble in the backfield was recovered by Mogul Brent Darter at the Haskell 17. Two short runs for Munday led to a third and long. Chris Torres hit Donny Browning for a first and goal at the 4. Bronco Flye one play later plunged for the 1 yard touchdown. The PAT was blocked.

Both teams went in at the half with the Moguls on top 12 to 6.

The Indians came out on the warpath in the third quarter. After three first downs Casey Lamed took the ball in from 2 yards out with 9:16 left in the third. Cody Cypert kicked the PAT.

Munday was unable to make a first down on the next possession and an almost blocked punt fell to the Mogul 41.

Haskell had a harder time moving the ball but 12 plays later Justin Lisle ran in from 4 yards out with 46 seconds left in the third. Cody Cypert kicked the PAT increasing the Indian lead 20 to 12.

The Moguls were not ready to give up. Munday had moved the ball out to mid-field at the start of the fourth. A punt gave the Indians the ball at their own 29. Haskell made one first down in 4 plays and were inches away from another, but a tough Moguls defense stopped the Indians on fourth to get the ball back.

With the ball at mid-field, Munday moved it out to the Indian 44. On third an intentional face mask penalty against Haskell but the Moguls out to the Indian 30. Bronco Flye ran the ball to the 21. Jason Hise took the ball on the next play and scampered in for the touchdown pulling Munday withing 2. A two point conversion was spoiled leaving the score 18 to 20.

*Coach Gideon Comments* They came out in the second half and took it to us after we had a pretty good first half of play. We had opportunities to win the game and at least tie it there in the fourth quarter.

We came out after half time and didn't have a good third quarter. Due to some of our alignments we didn't make the proper adjustments on the field and it hurt us. It has nothing to do with the effort of the kids but it is something that can be corrected.

Offensively I was very pleased with the progress we had made. Our passing game has still got to come a long ways. It will continually be worked on. We do not want to end up being a one dimensional football team.

Defensively I thought we hit real hard as we have shown the past two scrimmages. Our conditioning came into play tremendously. Although we're not in the

Concession stand workers for varsity game announced

Those who are scheduled to work in the concession stand during the varsity football game Friday night, September 9, are as follows:

Moguls to play here Friday against Petrolia

The Munday Moguls will take on the Petrolia Pirates this Friday night to be played here in Munday. The game is scheduled to start at 8:00 p.m.

Petrolia was beaten last week in a close game against the Alvord Bulldogs 7 to 0. With Munday's loss to Haskell, both teams will be fighting for a check in the win column.

Remember to reserve your football seats before Friday night

Football reserve seat tickets are available at the Munday Courier office.

Reserve seat ticket holders from last year are given the opportunity to renew their places first. You have until Friday night, September 9, to purchase your reserve seats. At halftime of the football game, the seats not spoken for will be available to the general public to purchase.

Old clothing needed for special style show during Homecoming

Plans for some exciting and entertaining events are underway for Homecoming '94. At this time, committee members are working on a style show.

This will be no regular style show, modeling new clothes of the 90's. Instead, our models will take the stage in styles of long ago.

If you have any clothes from your younger years that you could loan for the show, please call Becky Offutt at 422-4067 and leave a message on her machine.

They could use such things as old MHS band uniforms, cheerleader and twirler outfits, poodle skirts, or just any old style clothing.

Please hurry, Homecoming will be here before you know it!

Local dealer to show new tractor series at open house

Area farmers will be among the first in the United States and Canada to see an all-new John Deere 8000 Series tractor during an open house on Tuesday, September 13, at Quality Implement Co. in Munday, according to Floyd Reed, president of the company. The open house will run from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m., and refreshments will be served.

During the open house, everyone will have an opportunity to closely inspect the tractor and have their questions answered. Farmers and other interested people in the area are invited to attend.

Golf course closed to public and members this Saturday only

The Lake Creek Golf Course will be closed to the public and its members on Saturday, September 10 beginning at 1:00 p.m. through the afternoon and evening. The course has been rented out for private use during this time.

Annual 4-H enrollments scheduled

4-H is a youth development program which focuses on the needs, interest and concerns of young people through a variety of opportunities and experiences.

Each year enrollments for 4-H are conducted throughout Knox County. If you or someone you know between the ages of 9 (or 3rd grade) and 19 would like to become a 4-H member or learn more about the 4-H program, we invite you to attend one of the enrollments. We also encourage parents to attend as well.

Current 4-H members are reminded to attend and re-enroll in order to participate in any county, district or state 4-H activities or stock shows.

Those wishing to enroll or re-enroll may attend any of the meetings listed below or drop by the Extension office in the courthouse at Benjamin to complete an enrollment form.

September 12 - Goree School Cafeteria, 6:30 p.m.
September 13 - Knox City Community Center, 5:30 p.m.
September 14 - Munday - Brazos Valley Young Farmers Show Barn - 4:00 p.m.

For more information, contact the Knox County Extension office at 454-2651.

Mr. Jones discovers puppy thief was a big predator cat

Our Truscott and Gilliland correspondent, Clara Brown, sent us the following information about an unusual happening in her area last week. We thought it was interesting and hope you agree.

Vernon Jones settled down about 7:15 Saturday night, August 27, to watch the Ranch Roundup on TV, but he missed most of it, due to a cat.

His dog set up a howl and barking and when he stepped out the front door, she raced past him toward the east end of the house. He put his boots on and followed her to the beginning of the China Creek breaks about 100-150 feet from the house.

At that point, he decided that he didn't know what he was after and maybe he should get a gun. He did, then trailed after the dog down into the canyon, and before long met the dog coming back, running for her life. Behind her was a long-tailed, reddish-gold, big cat, closing in. Vernon fired at the cat, apparently scaring it off.

The mother dog then began sniffing around and led Vernon north to a cedar where he found the body of a freshly killed puppy. The mountain lion's stealing of the puppy near the house was apparently what set off the chase. The puppy, which weighed 10-15 pounds, was carried in the predator's mouth to the cedar. The teeth marks could be seen on the its body.

Two puppies disappeared a couple of weeks ago. It is now believed that the mountain lion got them. This was not a house cat, and it had the wrong color and was too big to be a bobcat, plus it had a long tail.

The house cats at the Jones' home slept on top of the pickup that night, for whatever good that would have done. The moral is, don't prowl around the Vernon Jones place, his attack cat may get you!

Cross Country teams to run at Abilene

The cross country relays will be held this Saturday at Abilene Christian University. Junior high and high school students from Munday will be participating.

THE MUNDAY MOGULS break through the spirit sign Friday night at Indian stadium in Haskell. It was an exciting game that kept the fans on the edge of their seats. As time ran out, the Indians were ahead by two points, and the Moguls lost their first game of the season, 20-18.

2ND LT. GARY BEATY

Beaty receives top officer recognition

Second Lieutenant Gary Beaty of Lubbock was recently honored as an outstanding army officer.

Beaty is a '92 graduate of Texas A & M University, receiving a degree in Agricultural Economics. While in college, he received his first taste of ROTC and Army life, and received distinguished military cadet status. Following graduation, he was commissioned to the United States Army.

Lt. Beaty recently graduated with honors from Armored Officer Training at Ft. Knox, Kentucky. The sixteen-week course included instruction on tank maintenance, gunnery, simulator technology, basic personnel and administrative skills, and how to run and train a platoon.

According to Beaty, the most exciting part was Mounted Tactical Training, also known as the ten day war. This allowed him the opportunity to fight simulated wars with tanks in in-ground combat.

He received airborne training from Ft. Benning, Georgia, before taking his current command as Scout Platoon Leader at Camp Pelham, South Korea.

Beaty is a 1988 graduate of Coronado High School and the son of Gary and Jan Beaty of Lubbock. He is the grandson of Allene Beaty and Ruby Myers of Munday, and the great-grandson of Agnes Myers of Abilene.

Purpose of 4-H explained, attend a meeting and join

Every September a new 4-H year begins with an annual enrollment. This year the Knox County Extension office has set dates for enrollment: Goree School cafeteria, Monday, September 12, 6:30 p.m.; Knox City Community Center, Tuesday, September 13, 5:30 p.m.; and in Munday, Brazos Valley Young Farmers show barn, Wednesday, September 14, 4:00 p.m.

The purpose of 4-H is to develop leadership skills in youth through the involvement of parents and adults who organize and conduct learning experiences in a community setting.

One misconception about 4-H is that it is only for farm youngsters. No matter what your child's interests or hobbies, 4-H has a variety of activities and projects available to meet their interests.

Some popular projects in Knox County are foods and nutrition, clothing, and livestock. In 1993-94 there were also projects conducted in photography, recreation, electricity, and many others. Plans for the 1994-95 year include a wildlife project.

4-H offers youth the opportunity to meet people from all across the state and even some from other states. They can do this by com-

Yard of the Week sign placed at the Reed home

Floyd Jr. and Phyllis Reed received "Yard of the Week" honors this week. Their spacious yard on North Munday Avenue is enclosed with evergreens, with petunias and periwinkles boxed in around the many shade trees. Miniature roses, dwarf crepe myrtles, bachelor buttons and native flowers are included in the colorful array around the house.

Due to the holidays, we were unable to get a picture of this lovely home, but they are well deserving of this honor.

Judges have chosen the round receptacle in front of W.T.U. as this month's planter pick.

Scholarships for college are available

Each year individuals preparing to go to college or graduate school face the dilemma of how to pay for tuition, room and board, text books, lab fees, and other expenses.

There are over 375,000 funding sources available to assist these students. Contrary to popular belief over 80% of the funds available to students do not depend on family need or high grades. Many are based on factors such as the student's interests, hobbies, academic focus, age, ethnic background or parent's work or military service.

Over $6.6 billion of this funding goes uncollected each year simply because people do not ask for it according to a report by the National Commission on Student Financial Aid.

For information on how to receive academic funding and scholarships send a #10 self-addressed, double stamped envelope plus $2.00 to cover handling to the National Academic Funding Administration, 26 Coe Drive, Suite 1300, Durham, NH 03824.

LOCAL NEWS

Neva and Bill Biggs of Austin visited her mother, Lala Morgan, on Sunday afternoon and took her home with them for a few days visit.

While there their son, William, came to see her. Also her son, Nolan, Martha, and Anne, Dennis and Judy Morgan visited that night.

On Sunday, after she got home from church, Dennis came and took Lala to eat lunch with them and son Kent. Also visiting there was Judy's mother, Mozelle, and Al Lee.

Neva and Bill brought Lala home on Tuesday, spent the night and left Wednesday morning.

Neva visited with some relatives on the phone. Her brother, Gerald Morgan, came to see them Wednesday morning before they left.

peting in contests such as livestock, horse or consumer judging, fashion or foods show, at any of the many livestock or horse shows, or even while competing in a youth rodeo. They also have the opportunity to attend several camps and leadership retreats offered throughout the year.

A big concern to many families is the cost of membership. Knox County 4-H does not have any membership dues. Some individual clubs will charge a small fee (twenty-five cents per month) to help cover refreshment costs or to help sponsor field trips. Most clubs get money through fund raisers that they hold on an as needed basis. The only cost to the individual members is the cost of their project.

The project, whether it is livestock, clothing, foods or anything else, requires parental support and guidance. Without the support of parents the youth often lose interest.

Anyone interested in joining 4-H is asked to attend an enrollment meeting in September. Those unable to attend an enrollment meeting, and anyone with questions should contact Jane Rowan or Paul Weiser in the Knox County Extension office at (817) 454-2651. 4-H is open to all youth ages 9 (or in the third grade) to 19.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Thank You!

We would like to thank the residents of Munday and Goree for being patient with us while we repaired the damage caused by the high wind storm August 17. We realize many of you were without electricity for some time, and you were our first priority.

Several utility poles were down on Hwy. 277 between Munday and Goree, resulting in traffic having to be detoured. A special thanks to the Munday and Goree Fire Departments for helping with traffic control, and in many other ways. When power lines are down, it is a dangerous situation to anyone who gets near them.

We still have many repairs to make, but we hope to finish in the next week or two.

Thanks again for your patience!

Exercise and better eating habits will increase your energy level

When your energy level seems stuck at zero, changes in eating and exercise habits may be all it takes to recharge your battery.

According to researchers at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, most people experiencing chronic fatigue who are not clinically ill are suffering from unhealthy behaviors. Only about one percent of people experiencing overwhelming tiredness actually suffer from Chronic Fatigue Syndrome.

"The culprits are usually poor nutrition and lack of exercise," said Dr. Ken Goodrick, Baylor assistant professor of medicine and behavioral psychologist. "Caffeine abuse may also cause fatigue rather than overcome it, and alcohol/drug abuse, stress and depression, or irregular sleep patterns can play a role."

Not eating enough, eating too much fat or not drinking enough water can cause a person to feel fatigued, Goodrick said.

To help increase energy, poor nutrition habits should be replaced by a well-balanced diet that provides no more than 30% of total calories from fat. A healthy eating plan also includes five or more servings of fruits and vegetables and at least eight glasses of water a day.

Regular, vigorous (but not necessarily strenuous) exercise also increases energy and helps with sleep as well, Goodrick said. Experts from Baylor's DeBakey Heart Center Nutrition Research Clinic recommend 45 minutes of brisk walking three to five times a week as part of a healthy lifestyle routine.

Caffeine consumption should also be addressed. Drinking two or three cups of coffee or caffeinated beverages may be all right if they are consumed at least seven hours before bedtime, Goodrick said. More than that can sap energy and disturb sleep.

"People who use caffeine to combat fatigue are not doing themselves any favors. Caffeine blocks the "tiredness signals" normally sent to the brain to trigger sleep, so we ultimately become more tired," he said.

Research from sleep laboratories also shows caffeine disturbs quality of sleep leaving the body tired.

"While chronic fatigue is not a disease, it is a debilitating condition that needs attention. If the fatigue is not a symptom of a condition that needs medical treatment, lifestyle and behavior changes are what the doctor orders," Goodrick said.

Munday JV loses to Haskell

The Munday JV squad took on a more experienced Haskell squad last Thursday losing 48 to 8. Coach Austin was very pleased with the effort put out by the kids.

"The score is really not indicative of the effort. We play a lot of freshmen on our team and I think our working as a team and coming together as a team is really going to pay off in the end," said Coach Austin. "This was a warm up for us. I think we are going to get better as the season goes and we going to work better as a team."

The JV team along with the junior high will travel to Petrolia this Thursday. The Braves will begin playing at 5:30 and the JV game will start at 7:30.

Myers' grandson plays softball in Wisconsin tourney

Lubbock's Todd Parchman was selected to the all-tournament team for the 14 and under division at the Boys Youth World United States Slo-Pitch Softball Tournament held July 28-31 in Startevant, Wisconsin.

Playing for the Texas Heat of Amarillo, Parchman batted .599 during seven games in the 18-team tournament.

Parchman, along with his teammates, guided the Heat to its third straight final-four appearance, finishing in third place.

He is the son of Danny and Diane Parchman of Lubbock and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Myers of Munday.

Quick access to poison center now available

On September 1, the Texas Poison Center Network became operational. This network, through the 9-1-1 Public Safety Answering Points, will provide citizens statewide toll-free 24 hour access to the poison centers when they need help. When a 9-1-1 calltaker transfers a call from an individual, the system will route that call to the poison center that serves the region.

Poison centers that were operational on September 1 are located in Temple, Dallas, Galveston, El Paso, and Amarillo, and another will be opening in San Antonio in January.

While 60% of all calls to poison control centers involve infants or young children, access to these centers can alleviate the need for ambulance response or hospital care by providing quick access and vital information on treatment guidelines to citizens.

Funding for the poison control program was created by the 73rd Legislature with a .3 percent charge assessed against intrastate long-distance charges on the monthly telephone bill. This became effective January 1, 1994.

As a result of machinery, fertilizers and other advances in agricultural technology, one US farmer today produces enough food for 78 persons.

KNOX COUNTY KONNECTIONS

By Jane Rowan, County Extension Agent

Get the right mix

There have been many warnings about the dangers of mixing drugs and alcohol, and you probably have heard most of them before. There also are some problems and possible dangers associated with mixing drugs and non-alcoholic drinks.

Did you know, for example, that the common antibiotic tetracycline should not be washed down with a glass of milk? Milk slows the effectiveness of this antibiotic. As a matter of fact, any dairy product should be avoided when taking tetracycline. To go a step further, health experts suggest that you check with your doctor before taking drugs with soft drinks, or fruit or vegetable juice. These beverages can create excess stomach acid which, again, might interfere with how the drug should work.

Before taking any medications, read the prescription label and follow carefully any instructions you are given. If you have any questions, get the answers from your doctor or pharmacist.

Foods That Can Choke Your Child

Young children put the damdest things into their mouths, as every parent knows. Those "things" often can be dangerous, even when they happen to be certain kinds of foods. An eastern university study on fatal choking in children under five years of age produced some surprising - and edible - culprits.

The dangerous foods that topped the list included the following: hot dogs and sausages, round candy, nuts, grapes, hard cookies or biscuits, meat chunks or slices, raw carrot sticks or slices, peanut butter sandwiches or pieces of popcorn.

How do you lessen the danger of young children choking on food? Try to feed them foods that can be softened with saliva without chewing. Cut foods into small, bite-sized portions. Finally, make sure that small children sit while they eat, because the study found that choking happens most often when children are walking or running around with food in their mouths.

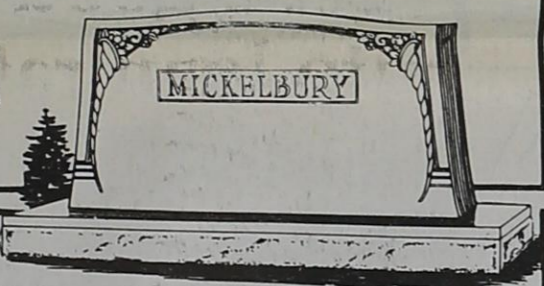

When tea is designated "orange pekoe" the name refers to the size of the leaves (these are the largest) rather than the flavor.

MOGUL MANIA is on the rise, by the evidence above. Booster club members are spreading the "fever" by painting the business windows in downtown Munday. Purple footballs with each team member's name and number surround a medicine bottle with the perscription, "Take one team of Moguls every Friday night till all opponents are defeated." As you may have guessed, it is the window at Smith Drug & Gift. If you have not been contacted about having your window painted, please call Jamie Welborn or Janice Dutton.

Lyme Disease most common tick-borne illness in the U.S. Subscriptions Due In September

Ticks are especially plentiful this year, as a result of last winter's mild weather conditions. According to state health officials, Texans need to be aware that Lyme disease is among several diseases transmitted by tick bites. The illness has become the most common tick-borne infection in the United States.

Lyme disease is caused by a bacterium, called a spirochete, that is transmitted from ticks to warm-blood animals, including humans. Early symptoms may include a rash at the site of the tick bite, headache, fever, joint pain and fatigue. If untreated with antibiotics, there can be painful - even permanent - damage to joints or the nervous system.

Nearly 1,500 possible cases have been reported in Texas since 1986. Of these, at least 409 have met the case criteria of the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's (CDC) definition of the illness, according to Julie Rawlings of the Texas Department of Health's Zoonosis Control Division.

The disease has been reported among pet owners, campers, hunters and others who work outdoors or with animals. All but a small percentage of the cases have occurred in the eastern half of the state.

Although several species of ticks can carry the disease, the lone star variety which enjoys biting humans, commonly is the suspected vector. Rawlings said that between one and two percent of lone star ticks carry the Lyme disease spirochete.

To help answer questions about the disease, its symptoms, testing and other concerns, the public is invited to call the TDH Lyme Disease Information Helpline at 512-458-7228.

While Lyme disease is treatable, knowledge of the disease and a few easy precautions can greatly reduce the likelihood of exposure to it.

When outdoors, especially in wooded areas or tall grass:

- Wear long sleeves and long pants, with pantlegs tucked into socks or boots. Tuck shirt tails into pants and use tape to seal the area where pants overlap socks or boot tops.

- Wear light-colored clothing to make ticks more visible.

- Use insect repellent containing "DEET" or "permethrin" on clothing and footwear (not on skin).

- Avoid high grass and foliage when possible, since ticks wait on vegetation to "hitchhike" on passing animals.

- Keep pets out of infested areas, and inspect them often for ticks. Both dogs and cats are susceptible to Lyme disease.

- After being outdoors, wash all clothing worn and inspect yourself and your children's bodies for ticks. Remove any attached ticks with tweezers, grasping as close to the head as possible, tugging until the tick is freed. Avoid crushing the tick's body. The less time a tick remains attached, the less likely it is of transmitting Lyme disease.

- Live ticks removed from humans can be tested at a TDH laboratory to determine whether they carry Lyme disease.

ENGAGEMENT: Mr. and Mrs. Dan Offutt are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Angie Danay, to Stephen James Harrington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Harrington of Arlington. The bride-elect, a 1991 graduate of Munday High School, will graduate in December with a degree in accounting from Angelo State University. The prospective bridegroom is a graduate of Angelo State University and is employed by State Farm Insurance of Midland. A December 31 wedding is planned at the Church of Christ in Munday.

"On A Wizer Note"

by Paul Weiser
Knox County Extension Agent - Ag.

The Fall season is just around the corner. What does this mean? Cooler, wetter weather? We can only hope.

This seasonal change represents the beginning of a very busy time of year for ag producers in Knox County. Soon it will be time to sow wheat and harvest cotton. Dryland cotton producers are praying for rain while many irrigated cotton producers in the Rhineland, Goree and Munday areas are hoping their cotton will stand-up after the August 17th storm.

For those who have nothing to do for the rest of this summer and early fall, here are some good programs to attend. Some of these are relatively close to Knox County while others are somewhat distant.

The first of these is a CRP meeting in Abilene on September 15 at the Kiva Inn beginning at 9 a.m. Topics include: Conservation Compliance, Wildlife Management, CRP Program Update, Legislative Perspective, and others. Also, on September 15 and continuing on the 16th, will be a Beef Efficiency Enhancement Forum (BEEF) in Lubbock.

BEEF will cover live cattle evaluation, environmental stewardship, private lands lease agreements, range cattle nutrition, herd health, brush, forage and water resources, and others.

If CEU's are needed there will be an opportunity for receiving some on September 22. On this date a Field Day will be held at the Chillicothe Research Station. Details on this field day are scarce but the information should roll in soon.

Many producers ask about marketing trends and helpful tips. A Cattle Hedgers Seminar is scheduled for October 6 in Amarillo.

This seminar is sponsored by Chicago Mercantile Exchange -- in other words it is free!

Because this is a free seminar it should fill up quickly. To register call 1-800-331-3332 or contact the Knox County Extension office and a registration form will be forwarded to you.

Hopefully, no one's schedule will be too full for social activities. Friday nights will be lit up by football stadium lights, while gymnasiums will be areas of interest for volleyball lovers.

Whether you are at the football stadium, the gymnasium, biking or walking down a lit street, or at any nighttime function outdoors, watch out for crickets. Large numbers of field crickets have developed this year and will move to lights at night.

Crickets will also work their way into houses where they can be responsible for damages to nylon, wool, plastic and leather fabrics. They will eat holes in cotton, linen, and woolen garments, especially those soiled in perspiration or food.

Adult crickets are difficult to control. Yellow lights can be used outside; they are less attractive. Around the outside of the house, Malathion, Dursban or Sevin might be used to keep crickets from entering. Be sure to follow label directions when using any chemical.

Crickets are nocturnal and will continue to be attracted to lights until cooler nighttime temperatures slow their movement. Large numbers of crickets may even attend those September nighttime football games.

For more information on cricket control or about the programs discussed in this article, contact Paul Weiser in the Knox County Extension office in Benjamin at (817) 454-2651.

It's A Boy!!

Kenneth and Mary Denise Groves and sons, Jared and Curt, are proud to announce the arrival of Logan Clint. He was born at 7 a.m. Thursday, September 1, 1994, at the Seymour hospital. He weighed 7 lbs 3 ozs. and was 21" long.

Maternal grandparents are Marvin and Jeanette Zeissel and great-grandmother, Mary Zeissel, all of Rhineland. Paternal grandparents are the late Charlie and Aliene Groves.

Pathways

by Randy White, Pastor
First Baptist Church

I suppose that two words that could help humanity more than any other words are "Trust God".

These words put in a nutshell show how we should go about living. These words define for us the bottom line for living in a good relationship with the Lord.

If we trust God, we will find He is trustworthy. He will never fail us. We will never fall if we lean on Him. We will never have the rug pulled out from under us if we will trust God.

Trust in God would save us from countless difficulties which arise from our poor choices. Trust in God would give guidance through the crises of life we all face. Trust in God would ease our fears about today, and about tomorrow.

In the Old Testament book of Proverbs, the Lord gives us a promise about trusting in Him. He says "Trust in the Lord with all your heart, and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways acknowledge Him, and He will direct your paths." That sounds like a great deal to me! If I will trust Him with all my heart, if I will not trust in myself, if I will recognize Him in all I do, then He will make my paths clear before me.

"Lord, give me the faith in you this week to trust you with my life, and with all that comes. Amen."

SPREADING THE FACTS . . .

Produce benefits far outweigh pesticide related risks

WASHINGTON, DC - Consumers can have confidence that fruits and vegetables are safe for adults as well as children, and are an essential part of a wholesome and nutritious diet.

A prestigious panel of the National Academy of Sciences, an independent non-profit organization chartered to advise government on health and science issues, spent five years examining pesticides in the diets of infants and children. Upon releasing the report less than 12 months ago, the panel stated that the benefits of a diet rich in produce far outweigh any pesticide related risks.

"Parents should be reassured by this very exhaustive review of the latest scientific information on pesticides and children," said Elaine Auld, MPH, director of health communication for the International Food Information Council. "The committee concluded that minuscule amount of pesticides on fruits and vegetables do not pose the health risks other non-scientific, non peer reviewed reports may suggest."

Health authorities such as the U.S. Surgeon General, National Cancer Institute, American Medical Association and the American Dietetic Association advise Americans to eat five or more servings of produce daily for good health.

According to the American Academy of Pediatrics, "The risks to children over their lifetimes of experiencing the major chronic diseases associated with the typical American diet far exceed the theoretical risks associated with pesticide residues. A diet rich in fruits and vegetables is the most healthful diet children can consume."

Furthermore, scientific studies show that most pesticide residues are significantly decreased by washing, peeling, freezing, cooking or canning. "Simple actions such as washing fruits or vegetables with clear water, or peeling the outer leaves or skin do indeed have benefits," said Auld. "These are effective public health practices."

"With respect to pesticide residues, we need to keep in mind the first principle of toxicology that the 'dose makes the poison'," said Carl Winter, Ph. D., a toxicologist and director of the Food Safe Program at the University of California at Davis. "It is the amount of a chemical, not just its presence or absence, that determines the potential for harm."

Pesticide residue monitoring conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Food and Drug Administration consistently show the vast majority of samples tested have no residues or residues well below tolerances.

CAPITOL COMMENT

U.S. SENATOR
KAY BAILEY HUTCHISON

Put the Biodiversity Treaty on Hold

The federal government not only needs to get off of our backs — but out of our fields and range lands, away from our springs and rivers. Texans have come to feel increasingly threatened by their own government. Our private property rights are under attack. Federal regulations designed to protect the environment are being used to, in effect, seize control of privately owned property and restrict its use so as to render it economically valueless.

As if that weren't intolerable enough, the U.S. Senate is being asked to ratify a treaty that may well encourage even more government de facto seizures of private property, and allow foreign countries and multinational organizations to interfere as well.

This treaty, called the Convention on Biological Diversity, outlines global rules for protecting and sharing genetic resources. Its intent is to prevent the extinction of species, especially plants, in order to promote the development of new drugs and foods.

But that high-minded statement of purpose does not begin to describe the potential for mischief the treaty contains. This is one of several agreements which grew out of the 1992 "Earth Summit" in Rio de Janeiro which President Bush wisely decided not to sign, in part because it requires industrialized nations to pay developing nations to participate.

President Clinton did sign the treaty after negotiating a series of "understandings" regarding its interpretation. The Senate, however, has delayed its ratification for a number of valid reasons: The treaty is vague, its details have not yet been spelled out.

But in practical terms, the most disturbing aspect of this treaty is the door it opens for unwarranted interference with both private property matters and state law within the United States. Since 1920 the U.S. Supreme Court has held that local and state laws which conflict with a ratified treaty are void. This treaty would override our local decisions and decisionmakers. Therefore, it is more than likely that every land-use permit, water right, waste disposal ordinance or other rule which affects the use of land and water resources in this country will be subject to challenge as not being in compliance with the broad language of the treaty. For example, both American and foreign environmental groups could challenge cattle ranches as being not "compatible with conservation or sustainable use requirements."

On August 5, I sent a letter to Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell requesting that we delay consideration of the treaty. There are simply too many questions about its potential impact on U.S. domestic law and environmental policies — which are controversial enough without international complications.

The goals of the Biodiversity Treaty are laudable. But, as usual, the devil is in the details. And, in this instance, the details could be used to bedevil the owners of private property on an even broader scale than they are being interfered with now. Until those details are down on paper, in an acceptable form, this treaty should not be ratified.

MR. AND MRS. HAROLD SHAHAN
... nee Lois Miles

Shahan, Miles united in Woodson ceremony

Harold Shahan of Munday and Lois Miles of Woodson were united in marriage at 7 p.m. Saturday, August 6, 1994 at the First Baptist Church in Woodson.

The bride is the daughter of Edward and Jo Lester of Woodson. The groom is the son of J. W. and Jimmie Shahan of Goree.

Two candelabras entwined in greenery and the unity candle decorated the church altar. The bride's nephews, Jason Lester and Scott Johnson, were candlelighters. The bride's mother and Jeanette Blake of Goree, sister of the groom, lit the family candles on either side of the unity candle.

Recorded musical selections of Your Love Amazes Me, A Love As True As Mine, and I Swear were played before and during the ceremony.

Escorted down the isle by her father, the bride wore a white, tea length dress with a lace overlay, long lace sleeves, and two rows of white fringe. She chose a white lace hat with a short veil attached. Her bouquet was made of peach and pastel blue silk roses and greenery entwined in a lace fan.

The bride's daughter, Kitty Miles of Woodson, served as Maid of Honor. A niece, Brandy Lester of Woodson, was bridesmaid. They wore peach satin dresses with short, capped sleeves.

Serving the groom as Best Man was Jimmy Miles, and Stephen Miles was groomsman, both sons of the bride. The groom and attendants wore black Wranglers, white shirts, western bolos and a blue silk rose boutonniere.

Following the ceremony, a reception and dinner was held at the Woodson Community Center.

The newlyweds have made their home in the country northeast of Munday. The groom is employed by Munday Tire and Appliance.

Social Security cards carry a new message

"Protect both your card and your number to prevent their misuse" is the message on the new version of the Social Security card issued since early summer. For years the message was "Carry your card in your purse or wallet". Times have changed and so has the message, according to Patty Brandt, Resident Representative of the Vernon Social Security office.

"Social Security now encourages people to record their numbers and to keep their cards and numbers in a safe place," Mrs. Brandt said. "The message on the stub attached to the new version of the Social Security number card also reminds people to show their cards to their employers when starting a new job," she continued.

It is important that the employer gets the employee's Social Security number and name right so that his or her earnings can be recorded correctly. Social Security benefits are based on the earnings information recorded under a person's Social Security number. Missing earnings could result in failure to qualify for benefits or lower benefits.

The Christian Life

Jeff Christian - Minister

Munday Church of Christ

Every day we hear someone shouting about "The American Dream". People fresh out of high school go in search of the American dream. Folks like you and me start businesses year after year in their quest for a slice of (you guessed it)... The American Dream.

People chasing an ideal. A whole new country began on the simple premise of a search for something better. They were fed up with the status quo. Just look at some of the names of the country's first towns, and it is easy to see communities in search of a better way of life: New Haven, New Hope, Salem (which is a derivative of the Jewish word Shalom, or peace). These people obviously wanted a change.

So whatever happened to the "American Dream?"

It is not true that the United States has suddenly fallen into a state of disarray. It's been a process going on for years. Instead, we have slowly lost sight of what the true American dream was all about. The problem began when the dream collided with the selfishness of society. Our country was built on freedom, an ideal which people have misused and abused now for years. Individual freedom, however, has tainted the very fabric of the beginnings of this nation. We depend now so much on ourselves that we no longer remember another cornerstone of our nation: "In God we trust."

Over the years the phrase has lost its punch. Oh sure, a large percentage of the population "believes" in God. But how many of us can really say we trust God? How many of us can say we let God handle the inner workings of our lives? It's one thing to pray lofty prayers in search of forgiveness. But it is an entirely different matter to trust God with the mundane aspects of daily life.

"In God we trust." Has one of the original aspects of the American dream become nothing more than a decoration on a dollar bill? It was easy to trust God when we had to fight for our freedom. But now our guise of self-sufficiency has left us drowning in a pool of self-deception. It is time we rediscover the confidence of letting God rule our lives.

"Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways acknowledge him, and he will make your paths straight." Proverbs 3:5-6.

The state of Utah is so named for the Ute Indians who live there.

He that will have his son have a respect for him and his orders, must himself have a great reverence for his son. John Locke
