ST. JOSEPH'S CATHOLIC CHURCH received damages from one of last year's storms. Repairs have been made and the church steeple now has a beautiful new look.

St. Joseph's Catholic Church repairs finished

One of the more famous landmarks of the area has recently undergone a rather drastic face lift. In September last year St. Joseph's Church in Rhineland was dealt a harsh blow by a windstorm resulting in much of the copper on the steeple being torn off or dislodged.

As a result quotes for repair were sought and eventually the steeple was recovered with more durable copper with a new fastening down process. Many who have driven down the road past Rhineland would have seen the new copper reflecting the sun and causing one to look twice to make sure that one was not seeing a U.F.O.

The scaffolding that was erected to enable the work to be done was very complicated and expensive due to the shape of the towers. Wind and weather played their part as is usual with this part of Texas and the work took longer than was anticipated. However, St. Joseph's now sports a brand new shining steeple (wind and weather are already showing their effects and the brightness is fast losing its glow and like all copper will soon be a dull brown).

As this is the centennial year of the founding of the settlement it was also decided to give the church a face lift by painting with a very good weatherproof paint. This has also been completed and the church now really looks beautiful.

Chamber Pansy Sale

The Chamber of Commerce is conducting its annual pansy sale and is taking orders through July 7. Order form inside The Courier.

It was often discussed that the front view of the building was obscured by the size of the trees directly in front. These have also been removed and a view from which we have been deprived for the last forty years has again been made available. Flood lights have also been installed and on Saturday and Sunday nights the church may be seen from many miles away.

St. Joseph's Community invites all to visit us and see our renovated House of God.

Goree native to compete in Senior U.S. Golf Championship

Turning 50 doesn't necessarily mean you're "over the hill". Just ask Jack Barger, a 1963 graduate of Goree High School and head professional at Connally Golf Course in Waco.

Last Monday, Jack teed off at the Hackberry Creek Country Club in Irving with 164 other senior golfers. They were competing in the regional qualifying for eight slots in the 1995 U.S. Men's Senior Open Championship.

After shooting even par 72, Jack found himself tied with four others for the eighth and final berth in the prestigious tournament. When Jack sank a five foot putt for birdie on the first hole of the sudden death playoff only one other player, Bob Lunn, a regular on the Senior Tour, had a chance to tie him. However, Lunn missed a two foot putt enabling Barger to win the playoff and qualify for the Open.

The tournament will be played June 29 through July 2 at the Congressional Country Club in Bethesda, Maryland. The total purse is $1,000,000.00 with the winner receiving $175,000.00. When Jack was asked what he would do if he won he said, "I'm not worried about first place, my goal is to make the cut."

All of Jack's friends in Goree and Munday wish him the best this week.

All-Stars to play July 3

The Little League All-Star teams will start tournament play this coming Monday, July 3. The 11-12 year old boys will play at Seymour, 9-10 old boys will play at Haskell and the 11-12 year old girls will play at Knox City.

THIS FAMILIAR SITE OF DIESEL TRAIN engines and grain cars will not be seen next year. Lone Star Railroad has received permission to abandon the Old Wichita Valley rail line which runs from Wichita Falls to Abilene. This will mean higher prices for farmers to ship grain to market. The first train to Munday was on June 6, 1906 and the last left on June 14, 1995.

Lone Star Railroad to abandon old Wichita Valley Rail Line

For years and years as a young kid growing up, I can remember waking up in the middle of the night from hearing a loud blast of a diesel horn. From what seemed to be someone right outside the window, was really a mile away.

The freight train pulling into Munday late at night was just warning any and all to get off the tracks. Who would be out on the track at that time of night I don't know, but that familiar sound will probably never be heard again in Munday.

The end of the line has come to shippers along the rail stretching from Abilene to Wichita Falls. The Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) has decided to allow Lone Star Railroad Inc. to abandon the 143 miles of track.

Wheat growers and grain shippers like Farmer's Grain Coop here in Munday are hung out to dry. Sonny Moore, manager of Farmer's Grain, will have to ship by truck next season. "Right now freight costs are about the same either way," he said. "But giving truckers the competitive edge, will let them set their price, and farmers will pay the difference."

In April, Brad Rowland, the county judge in Jones County near Abilene, asked the ICC to investigate Lone Star Railroad and slow the abandonment process. Rowland complained that Lone Star bought the line from Burlington Northern Railroad last summer just to abandon it.

Short line operators like Lone

Star are buying up stretches of rail all over the country, taking advantage of the simpler abandonment process ICC has for short lines, then selling them, according to observers. The practice, in fact, was mentioned as a "developing problem" in the ICC's final report. Rowland said in April that he had learned that $1.9 million of the $2.3 million Lone Star paid for the line was financed by A&K Track Materials, a salvage company in Salt Lake City. Greg Cundiff of O'Fallon, Ill., said he was sole owner of Lone Star and that the line was being abandoned because the company was losing money on it.

The ICC found nothing wrong with Lone Star's business relationship with the salvage company.

Fourteen shippers use the line, although the line is all but unused between Wichita Falls and Seymour.

The ICC was suspicious of the rate hike and pointed out that the line, as scrap, is worth $6.3 million — three times as much as it's worth in operation.

Celebration of God and country planned Sunday

The First Baptist Church invites you to participate in a community celebration of God and country this Sunday night, July 2 beginning at 7:00 p.m. at the Munday Downtown Park.

There will be a patriotic observance with hymns and gospel music. Iced tea and lemonade will be served.

The entire community is invited regardless of church affiliation.

"Under these circumstances, it can be understood why the owners of Lone Star might show a lack of concern about maintaining profitability," the report said.

But, the ICC said: "The line is clearly losing money and there is little or no opposition from affected shippers or rail workers."

That angered Moore.

"I don't see where ICC got the idea that there wasn't anybody protesting it," he said. "That's not true. It was protested all up and down the line. A lot of chambers of commerce protested it. I'm certainly going to call them."

"It's a shame. The Interstate Commerce Commission is part of the government, paid by taxpayers, and then they do something like that."

Munday farmer W.R. Moore, said the heavier truck traffic will mean more wear-and-tear on farm-to-market roads and highways in wheat and cotton country between Wichita Falls and Abilene. "And that's no small consideration," he said.

Rowland, who led the opposition to the abandonment, said: "It looks like I got beat. I thought I could give them a good, clear-cut reason to investigate it. They didn't even give the railroad a chance. They bought it and in seven months they wanted to abandon it."

Rowland said Lone Star could begin digging up the track in as few as 30 days.

The last train in Munday was scheduled to arrive Tuesday, June 20 but never made it due to a derailment outside of Anson. The official last train to Munday was June 13 and departure was Wednesday, June 14 hauling 23 cars loaded with wheat.

Munday begins to grow due to arrival of railroad

The Munday Times, August 23, 1907

While the country surrounding Munday has had a remarkable growth during the past few years, it has not developed as rapidly as the town itself. Two years ago, the town had a population of 400, and had no positive assurance of a railroad. All merchandise was freighted from Stamford and Seymour, 42 and 35 miles away, respectively.

All businesses and resident houses cheaply built on account of high prices of building material and partly on account of an idea that a railroad might some day be built near here and the town moved to it. At that time there were three general merchandises stores, two small drug stores, and a few smaller mercantile establishments, a small unpretentious bank building, one gin, and three blacksmith shops. Such, in brief, is a description of the town the newcomer who came to Munday two years ago would see, after covering the long distance of 42 miles from Stamford by stage.

But the Munday of today is quite different. The coming of the railroad put new life and vigor into the town. Her advantages and resources up to this time had been but little known, but that time had passed and her citizenry went to work to make them both known and appreciated.

The light of a grander day was fallin', full and fair, upon the mind of the intelligent citizenship of the town. The town advantages were advertised, and soon prospectors from various points began to flock here and invest in town and farm property, and Munday and surrounding country flourished as never before.

By the time the first train came gliding into town, June 6, 1906, several frame business buildings had been built and several stone and brick buildings were in course of construction. The prospector who came to Munday now is confronted by quite different conditions from the weary, travel-worn prospector reaching here, to find only a small village which only seemed to be a small speck on the broad prairie. The new comer who visits Munday now comes on the splendid passenger train of the Wichita Valley Railroad, which makes a daily round trip from Abilene to Wichita Falls.

He finds Munday to be a town of 1,500 to 2,000 inhabitants with several brick and stone buildings and graded streets. He will not be slow to observe the splendid residences and the handsome three story brick school building in the west part of town. All this change has come within about 20 months.

"On A Wizer Note"

By Paul Weiser,

Knox County Extension Agent - Agriculture

Many gardens are growing strong and producing some good yields. Hopefully the following tips will help with your vegetable production.

Tomatoes are often hit by diseases. These diseases can come from several pathogens like fungi or bacteria. They can also be caused by nonparasitic problems such as drought or heat stress.

One particular disease, blossom end rot, is a nonparasitic disease. It is most commonly noticed when the fruit is one-third to one-half grown. The initial symptoms are water-soaked spots on the blossom end of the fruit. Secondary infection by decay causing pathogens often occurs.

Blossom end rot is often caused by inconsistent availability of water, calcium deficiency, and excessive root pruning. To help avoid this problem, spread several inches of mulch or compost around the tomato plants to keep the soil from drying out too quickly. It is also a good idea to water on a regular basis to keep the soil moisture level consistent.

It is not too late to set out tomato and pepper transplants. However, the young tender plants do require more shade from the hot sun. Once the pepper plants begin to produce be sure to clip the fruit off of the plant rather than pull it off. Pulling can damage the plant.

Most of May and the first part of June was quite cool and wet. Now the weather has turned warmer and dryer. Be sure that your lawns and gardens are not abused during this type of weather change.

In order to keep a lawn lush and green, it will require at least one inch of rainfall or equivalent amount of irrigation every 7 to 10 days. If this water is not provided from the sky, and you wish to keep a "pretty" lawn, run that water sprinkler.

If your lawn does go brown and a green lawn is not necessary, do not worry. The grass will usually green up again during the late summer/early fall rains. However, varieties of turf such as st. augustine and fescue do not handle hot dry weather as well as bermuda or buffalo grass. In lawns where st. augustine or fescue is the primary turf, a hot dry summer could cause a substantial kill and allow weeds an excellent opportunity to take over.

Many lawns are showing signs of yellowing. This will probably be a nutrient deficiency. Iron is a micro-nutrient needed by most plants -- including turf grasses. When the proper amount of iron is not available for intake by the plant, the leaves will appear striped. The veins remain green while the remainder of the plant will go yellow.

To correct this, use a liquid iron fertilizer. A granular fertilizer will generally not produce adequate results. This is because most soils have enough iron in it, however, most homeowners put out too many other fertilizers which tie up the iron and make it unavailable for plants. If this is the problem, more iron placed in the soil will not help.

Having a soil sample taken from the lawn can help avoid many of these problems. These soil samples will show what nutrients are low and which ones are high. By knowing this a problem can be corrected or avoided.

Dr. Thompson needs liver transplant

Dr. W. F. Thompson, a family care physician in Knox County for the past 17 years, has received a diagnosis that he admits he would hate to give a patient.

In Dallas undergoing a series of tests for several medical problems, Dr. Thompson was told that he would only have three to four months to live unless he undergoes an organ transplant for another liver.

The failed liver is the direct result of a blood disorder called hemochromatosis, a disease that allows too much iron in the blood.

A liver transplant will cost between $150,000 and $250,000, and the minimum of $150,000 will need to be in an account before serious consideration is given to putting Dr. Thompson on the national liver transplant waiting list. The physician does not have health insurance and Medicare refuses to pay for a liver transplant.

Because of the time factor involved, active fund-raising is the only hope for Dr. Thompson to live past the next three or four months. Selling everything he owns to raise the $150,000 would take too long.

Friends, patients, fellow businessmen, and everyone else is being asked to donate whatever they can to help play for this liver transplant for the Knox City physician. Bank accounts have been set up in Knox City at Citizens Bank, in Munday at the First National Bank, in Rochester at Home State Bank, and in Seymour at both the First National Bank and Farmers National Bank.

Sonny Crawford retires after 41-year career with B-K Electric

Sonny Crawford is hanging up his climbing hooks after 41 years at B-K Electric. He was hired as summer help in 1954 at the age of 21 and has been there ever since. Many of those years Sonny was on call 7 days a week, keeping service on in Knox County and the surrounding areas. He has worked through floods, tornadoes, lightning, wind, and ice storms without a single lost time accident.

As Area Supervisor, Sonny has trained and worked with dozens of young men including the three who serve Knox County customers presently, Bill Longan, Stan Decker and Phil Loftin.

Sonny, his wife, Tommie, and their three children moved to Munday on June 10, 1958. They have all made their homes here, in addition to his nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Sonny has been an integral part of the community, even starting before he moved to Munday when he set the poles on the Little League field. He climbed the poles every spring to repair the lights, and also coached Little League for several years. He was also active in the Masonic Lodge which he served as Master.

Throughout his four decades at

B-K Electric Sonny's philosophy has remained the same. His first priority is the safety of his crew and good service to his customers, whom he counts as personal friends. Those who have worked under him over the years know that, during severe power outages, Sonny always strives to restore power to the homes of widow women first. He would work long hours past normal endurance devising ways to re-route electricity and get one more customer on. Sonny has always appreciated how patient the B-K customers are.

The public will have to get used to dialing a different number now when their lights go out after hours, and Sonny will have to break a long habit of getting up and leaving for work at the beginning of every thunderstorm. However, he looks forward to just sitting back and listening to the rain.

The First Baptist Church in Midland was the setting for the 2 p.m. Saturday, June 10, 1995 wedding of Jennifer Jolynn Bishop and Jacob David Tidwell, both of Lubbock. The Rev. W. Wayman Swopes, pastor of Greenwood Baptist Church in Midland, officiated the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are David and Robin Bishop of Midland and Joe and Claudia Tidwell of Munday. The bride's grandparents are Lu Bishop of Lubbock and Robert and Bettie Pryor of Deming, New Mexico. Mrs. Vera Tidwell of Knox City is the grandmother of the groom.

During the praise and worship time To God Be The Glory, Majesty, Glorify Thy Name and I Love You Lord were sung. The father of the groom, Joe Tidwell, gave the prayer.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a beautiful satin gown by Alfred Angelo. The soft sweetheart neckline and short full sleeves were trimmed with re-embroidered schiffli lace. The princess style bodice flowed into a full skirt also trimmed with re-embroidered schiffli lace. Jennifer's headpiece made of beaded lace complemented her gown perfectly. Two layers of edged veil completed the back view.

For something old the bride wore her great-great-grandmother's gold wedding band and pearl and diamond earrings given to her by her dad. Her dress was new and she borrowed a pearl necklace from her mother. Her blue garter was worn by her maternal grandmother at her wedding and by her mother at her wedding. Jennifer carried under her bouquet the small white New Testament given to her at birth by her maternal grandparents.

Kristen Bishop of Midland was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaid was a friend, Jennifer Davidson of Lubbock and junior bridesmaid was Taylor Fellows of Midland, cousin of the bride. Erin Tidwell, niece of the groom of Sherman, was flower girl.

Best man was Doug Tidwell, brother of the groom of Munday. Groomsman was James Tidwell, brother of the groom of Sherman. Candlelighters were Dustin Fellows, cousin of the bride of Midland, and Jai Reed, cousin of the groom of Munday. Ushers were Shannon Saffel of Midway and Jeff Stenberg of Lubbock.

Headlines From The Past

65 years ago this month Munday was hit by the worst flood on record, the following is the account as it appeared in the June 19, 1930 issue. I hope that this will be an article of historical interest.

Charles Baker.
The headlines of "THE MUNDAY TIMES" read: FLOOD WATERS DESCEND ON CITY; 5 DROWN"

A flood of water in unprecedented quantities swept down through the streets of Munday shortly after midnight Friday night and entailed loss to the residents and business concerns of Munday ranging into the thousands, and verified the statements of pioneer citizens of this section that in former years they had seen water depth in the business section to swim a horse, and while the water did not reach its depth at any point within the business section, the fact that it did not may be attributed to the fact that more provisions have been made for drainage than existed in the years referred to by the old-timers.

At any rate no citizen now residing within this section has ever witnessed the flood that visited the town and surrounding country at this time.

It began raining late in the afternoon Friday (June 13, 1930) and continued until about two o'clock Saturday morning, during which time some eight inches of rainfall were registered in the gauge maintained by Mr. A. E. Whittemore. Other citizens, however who gauged the rainfall with buckets, tubs, wash kettles etc., intend that there was from twelve to fourteen inches of rainfall.

The local rainfall, while very heavy at times, never reached the proportions of a cloudburst, and the flood waters which swept through the city came from the north and Gillespie communities where the rain fell in torrents and without warning swept through the business section. At the height of the flood the water swept over the city hall lawn at a depth of some three feet and was so swift that it was difficult for a person to stand in the current. Water stood on various depths ranging as high as eighteen inches within the business section. The postoffice stood eighteen inches in water, the Isbell-Burton Motor Company had eighteen inches of water in the building, and both banks had six to eight inches of water on their floors, and all other business houses were flooded, and many citizens were forced to leave comfortable beds and get themselves to higher ground when the water came up in their homes.

Business concerns suffered losses ranging from a few dollars to thousands, The Munday Cotton oil company was possibly the heaviest loser, having suffered a loss of approximately $5,000. Residents of the Munday section suffered heavy losses in poultry and livestock, and a careful survey of the country visited by the storm indicates that crops have suffered from wash-out only about ten per cent, however in some particular sections the loss is far more. the heaviest loser from wash-out that we have heard of was in the section north-west of the Gillespie school, where the crop damage was almost complete and in many instances the soil has been washed out to the point where it has been permanently damaged.

The flood waters came down upon the town almost without warning. While the heavy rains here had flooded the streets and low places, the real flood did not reach the city until after the rain had ceased and the stars twinkled through the scattering clouds. At about two o'clock citizens residing within the wake of the oncoming torrent were awakened by a roar, which proved to be a veritable roll of water, and as it rushed into the town and continued to rise business men hurried to their places of business to save what merchandise they could while other members of the families hurried about to save household effects from the rising waters.

Saturday, which is ordinarily a busy day for merchants, was a day of housecleaning. Business folks were busy sweeping and scouring the film of mud from their floors and walls that had been left by the receding waters, and were moving and salvaging merchandise that had been within the reach of the flood waters.

Washouts on the Wichita Valley resulted between Munday and Weinert and between Goree and Seymour, and no trains reached Munday from Friday evening until Monday evening when a relief passenger train was operated out of Wichita Falls as far as Munday and returned. No trains were operated from the south until Tuesday.

Highway No. 30 was blocked by wash-outs between Goree and Seymour, where on Lake Creek three section of concrete and the major portion of the earth embankments was washed out.

In this same issue the caption read: "MEMBERS OSCAR TIDWELL FAMILY DROWN IN MILLER"

Five lives were snuffed out and damage amounting to the thousands in the flood which visited this section of Knox and parts of Haskell and Throckmorton county on Friday night of last week. The entire family of Oscar Tidwell was drowned on Miller creek east of Goree when the flood came down and washed their home away, apparently without warning. Those dead are:

Oscar Tidwell, age 36
Mrs. Oscar Tidwell, age 29
E Etna Bell Tidwell, age 13
Oscar D. Tidwell, age 10
Mrs. Belle Gilliland, age 70

The above list includes all the members of the Tidwell family as well as Mrs. Tidwell's mother, who made her home with the Tidwells.

Neighbors discovered at day-break Saturday morning that the Tidwell home was gone and spread the news as soon as possible. A neighbor went to the telephone and phoned the news into Goree and a posse was immediately formed to search for the missing family, and citizens of the Miller Creek country joined in the search. The bodies of Mr. Tidwell and wife and son were found Saturday. The body of Mr. Tidwell was found some three hundred yard down stream from where the house stood, while that of Mrs. Tidwell was found further down stream a half or three quarters of a mile. The bodies of Mrs. Gilliland and the little girl were not found until Sunday morning and were about a hundred yards from the place where the body of Mrs. Tidwell was found.

The bodies were conveyed to Goree over the tracks of the Wichita Valley with the aid of a hand car borrowed from one of the crews at work rebuilding the tracks and were carried to the home of Mrs. T. M. Anderson. Funeral services were conducted at the high school auditorium at Goree Sunday afternoon over the five bodies by the Rev. J. P. McGee, pastor to the Methodist church, after which interment was made in the Goree cemetery.

Another interesting account of this flood is found in Iva Brewer Palmers, autobiography, "Bells Ring and Toll" who, at that time, was a teacher at the Lake Creek School in Haskell county she gives this account.

In the spring of 1930 our school ended in time for me to go the spring semester at West Texas

State in Canyon; so I decided to go for six weeks and leave the children with their daddy. He wanted to farm a little and work in the barber shop on Saturday.

I stayed in Randall Hall that semester, I saw Mrs. Hudson (a friend) occasionally, and she asked me to spend the weekend with her in Amarillo, I agreed. Well--near catastrophe came.

As we were getting ready for breakfast Mr. Hudson came from the front porch with the paper reading the headlines, and when he read that Lake Creek was out of banks I unconsciously almost snatched the paper from him saying, "Let me see that". And the first thing that I saw in addition to what he had read was "FOUR MEMBERS OF THE C. C. PALMER FAMILY ARE MISSING AND THEIR HOME IS UNDER WATER".

I cannot find words to express the terror, pain, anguish, ache, suffering and helplessness that I felt. Involuntarily I just began walking from room to room wringing my hands. Since Mrs. Hudson had no telephone she assured me that she would soon find out if the report was true by using her neighbor's telephone. She first rang Randall Hall and they had heard nothing. Since I was staying there she thought surely the folks at our community has tried to contact me there. Then she rang Munday, Texas, where Carl (her husband) worked, and they could not tell her anything for sure; but as they were trying to call someone in the area of Lake Creek School.

Mr. Grover Jones heard them on the party telephone line and volunteered to go in his wagon over to the school since he lived on that side of the creek.

Mrs. Hudson came back to her house and told me what she had learned, and tried to comfort me by saying that if the report in the paper were true that the dormitory would have been called, or it would have been known in Munday. Mr. Hudson was following me as I walked wringing my hands and crying telling me that papers often were mistaken, and that Mrs. Hudson was making another call.

She next got someone in Weinert and they told her that the house washed away, but that the family was safe. Before she heard that news, I could not understand that "four members" were lost when there were five. I thought the one saved might be Wofford (the oldest child), for at that time he could swim, or it might be Peggy (the youngest child) that had been taken to safety because she was the smallest, and that the others could not get out.

It took Mrs. Hudson about forty-five minutes to get dependable word that my family was safe at a neighbor's home. But I did enough suffering in those minutes for a life time.

During that time, Carl was told that I had read that report in the paper, and that I was frantic; so Carl went to Weinert and called the dormitory where I was staying and they directed the call to the Amarillo number, and I talked to him.

The remainder of the semester at Canyon was a nightmare to me, even though Carl assured me that everything was under control, and that the neighbors had come in and taken all the clothing and bedding and washed them, and had cleaned the mud off the furniture which was now in a little house on the land he was working.

When I was assured that my children were all alive and safe I made myself a promise which I kept, "I'll never leave my children to go to school again"

The teacherage was moved to a high side of the campus out of range of flood water from the creek. We got the mud out and cleaned it an moved back into it before school began.

Truscott-Gilliland News

By Mrs. Clara Brown

Jack Brown had a grass fire last Wednesday on the Brown home section southwest of Truscott. About 40 acres burned off about half a mile west of the house. Nobody believed pastures were dry enough to burn. There was a shower Sunday night, but the pasture still burned.

The cause was a little unusual. The fire started under a power line and went north, fanned by a south wind. Near the starting place was where J.H. Gillespie and Michael Tomanek discovered a dead heron that was both wet and singed. They figured the big bird took off from the dirt tank just east of the fire scene, got blown into the power line by the south wind, caused the hot line to spark and burn the bird, and the burning bird ignited the grass. The theory is that the grass fire wouldn't have burned the heron as it would have flown away from the fire, but the electrocuted, burning bird could have started the fire. It was "fresh dead", not a bird that had lain there for days, or even hours. The bird had wet feathers, and it was discovered before the fire trucks or the back pack sprayers got there, so the fire bug bird theory seems possible. No glass or any other possible fire starter was discovered. In many places tall grass had dried and gone to seed above the green plants and there was also a layer of dry, dead material in the top of the litter. Anyway the neighbors, passers by, the county maintainer, the Benjamin fire truck, the Crowell fire truck, Corps of Engineer men, and Jack Brown's wife fought the fire and pretty well got it out before he showed up.

He was out at Antelope Flat, apparently away from his pickup telephone when J. H. and DeAlva

Gillespie came by the house to tell the Browns that their pasture was on fire. When the Crowell fire truck arrived at the fire they reported meeting Jack going into Crowell as they were heading south. They waved and yelled to get his attention — and he waved back, and went on into Crowell. Later he said, "I wondered where they were going."

He picked minerals at the elevator and started back to Antelope Flat, planning to go by way of the North Wichita River crossing. At the Ford City turn off he noticed the smoke and decided to swing by Truscott and see what was going on before he went to the Flat. Well, what had been going on was close to over when he got to the fire. It was just as well. The maintainer had a flat and both fire departments had equipment trouble and his wife ruined a tire on a stump, he would have chewed his fingernails off up to his elbows if he had been there. Despite the troubles everyone got the fire put out, and he got there in time to say, "But I thought the grass was too green to burn," just like all the fire fighters did.

The fire burned north to the fence on the county road, but was stopped in that direction by a two year old fireguard, thrown up the summer of 1993 when all the hay bales burned, set the pasture on fire, and at one point seemed headed for the Brown houses. Jack has already make arrangements to have the fireguard around the home section reworked. After all, you never can tell when an arson minded bird will land in your pasture.

Nola and Derrell Havins of Amarillo spent Friday and Saturday night with her parents, Ruth and Shirley Moore. Sunday, the Havins and Moores went to church at Vernon with Darrell's father and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Havins, and then they all went out to eat.

Gail Whitley and her daughter, Crystal Dishman, were in Lubbock Thursday and Friday for Texas Tech University's freshman orientation. Crystal will be a Tech freshman in the fall.

Roger and Karen Hines of Abilene were Sunday dinner guests of E. D. and Mary Welch last Sunday.

June and Newell Looney, and their three children, Lee, Kay and Nancy, and three of their grandchildren attended the Looney family reunion at Dublin Saturday and Sunday. All Newell's brothers and sisters were able to attend except for one brother.

FOUND--a pair of brown plastic bifocals, probably a man's, were discovered at the Truscott cemetery Sunday, June 11 by Jackie and Mary Jane Young of Benjamin. The glasses are at the Truscott Community Center.

Curtis Casey visited Margaret Todd at the Comado Care Home in Abilene Friday, June 16. He took her outside for the first time since last fall. She took a fruit for a snack and they had a long visit outside.

Sunday Truscott visitors at the Benjamin Father's Day Dinner included Ila Mac and Paul Bullion, Clara Owens, and Edmund and Geraldine Tomanek. The ladies said it was real nice not to have to wash dishes afterwards, like they have to do at Truscott dinners.

Neal Daniel, son of Michael and Kathy Daniel of Vernon, has been helping his grandfather, Don Daniel, with cattle and working cattle.

Jerry Bob, Colton, Neal and Don have been working cattle lately.

Eugenie Daniel said she has been busy helping get ready for 4-H horse shows. Becky and Colton entered the district 4-H show at Vernon Saturday, June 17. Colton was in Western Riding and Team Penning. Becky has begun to ride her mother's four year old and competed in Team Penning, Barrel Racing, and Pole Bending. She also showed at halter in the five and under gelding division and showed a yearling filly in the Filly Futurity Class.

The Daniel's North Carolina guest, Christina Gaither, attended the horse show at Vernon with them. Becky plans to visit Christina later in the summer.

Eugenie said she'd like to thank Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Mathis for all they did to get ready for the horse shows, including helping the 4-H members in their preparations.

Trooper Joe advices caution during 4th of July

Last year, the Texas Department of Public Safety reported the worst seventy-eight hour July Fourth Holiday ever recorded in the state. The final death toll of sixty-five deaths included thirty-one people killed in three multiple accidents on July Third in Runnels County, Scurry County and Parker County. Forty-four persons died on Sunday, July third, making it the worst day in Texas traffic history.

The people of the State of Texas and the Texas Department of Public Safety do not want a repeat of last year. If the holiday goes as expected, many people will loose their lives, but the DPS hopes that this can be kept to a minimum through education and enforcement, as well as another key factor, voluntary compliance.

Trooper Joe Clement stated, "The main reasons for highway deaths are speed, alcohol misuse and not wearing your seat belts. Let's let this go hand in hand with the voluntary compliance of the speed limits."

Trooper Clement also stated, "Our attitudes control greatly whether or not we will be that good courteous driver. Let's take the two seconds that it takes to buckle up, to also adjust our attitudes so that no matter what the other person does, we will remain a good, courteous, defensive driver."

Let's all have a safe and happy Fourth of July holiday so that we will all see another Fourth of July celebration next year.

18 hole scramble planned for July 4th at LCGC

Winners at the Lake Creek Thursday evening, June 22 scramble were Gaylon Albus, Nancy Whittemore and Ken Patterson with a nine hole score of 31.

Second place went to the team of Terry Bufkin, Jimmy Harlan and Stacia Cook after winning on the first hole of play-off against Ricky Harlan, Oscar Cyfert and Chris Moore. Both teams shot a 32.

Others teams were Dee Abell, Belle Grill and Ronnie Reece with a 35 and Tom Tejeda, Bob Bowen and Leon Sellers also with a 35.

There will be an eighteen hole scramble on Tuesday, July 4 beginning at 1:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served after play. Everyone is encouraged to come out and play.

Texas Cowboy Reunion starts Saturday, July 1

Stamford will come alive as the tradition and excitement of the 65th annual Texas Cowboy Reunion will get underway, Saturday July 1 and span through the holiday weekend ending Tuesday, July 4.

With a variety of events planned, everyone who attends the TCR will find something to their interest and enjoyment.

It all kicks off at 4 p.m., on Saturday, July 1, with the grand parade being led by actor/stuntman Dean Smith. The theme for this year's parade is "65 Years and Going Strong".

There will be nightly chuckwagon dinners catered by Joe Allen's Barbeque of Abilene.

Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday night performances of the world's largest amateur rodeo begin at 8 p.m. Featuring rodeo's most exciting events and a few surprises along the way, this year's rodeo expects to turn out some of today's finest in the sport.

Rodeo fans can then head up to the TCR covered slab and dance under the stars to the western sounds of Jody Nix and the Texas Cowboys.

Throughout the four days of TCR activities, visitors are urged to see the Western Art Show in the John Selmon Memorial Pavilion and the TCR Trade Show featuring crafts, clothing and handiworks, upstairs in the Pavilion.

Sunday morning, at 7 a.m., there will be a special Cowboy Prayer Service and Breakfast at the Chuckwagon Grounds.

This is also the day for the Brisket Cook-Off and the Chili and Bean Cook-Off.

Then, the place to be at 2:30, Sunday is under the slab for plenty of humorous cowboy entertainment during the Cowboy Poetry Exhibition featuring some of the top cowboy and cowgirl entertainers in the state.

Monday and Tuesday is the Bit, Spur and Western Collectible Show in the Tri-Area Barns (across from the pavilion). A visit to this event is a history lesson in itself.

Also on Monday, area ranchers will compete for the top prize money in the Chuckwagon Cook-Off.

Then on the fourth, the TCR will light up with an array of activities including the Oldtimer's Fiddler's Contest at 9:30 a.m., and an afternoon dance at 2 p.m., in the Roundup Hall.

At 1 p.m., cowboys from area ranches will demonstrate their ranching skills in the second annual TCR Ranch Horse Show.

There's so much to see and do at the 65th Texas Cowboy Reunion in Stamford when the tradition of the old west comes alive!

For more information, call 1-800-292-5635.

KNOX COUNTY KONNECTIONS

By Jane Rowan, County Extension Agent

Food Dollar Basics

Most of us assume food prices are closely related to the prices farmers get for their crops. Actually, on the average, only 22 cents of every dollar spent at supermarkets or restaurants goes to farmers. The remaining 78 cents is what's called the marketing bill -- the cost of processing, wholesaling, distributing and retailing food.

The costs to process food and bring it from the farm to the dinner table eat up more than 75 cents of every dollar you spend for food. The biggest chunk of that marketing bill -- about 36 cents-- covers labor costs.

The next largest marketing expense is packaging at 8 cents. The remaining 21 cents of the food marketing bill is divided among other expenses like advertising, transportation and energy. After the farm price and marketing costs are deducted, what's left over is a profit margin of about 3 cents on the food dollar.

Home Canning Update Salt and Home Canning

Adding salt is not necessary when canning vegetables. Salt seasons the food but is not necessary for safety. Salt or salt substitutes may be added before serving. However, salt is critical to safety when canning pickles and fermented products. Use only specified recipes for low-salt pickled foods.

Processing Jellies

Recommended

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) now recommends that all jellied products be processed in a boiling water canner for five minutes. Paraffin or wax seals do not assure that mold will not grow in jams and jellies. Processing also helps prevent loss of flavor. Use sterilized jars for canning these products.

Canning Tomatoes?

Do It Safely

Tomatoes have traditionally been considered acid foods that can be processed in a boiling water canner. However, newer varieties of tomatoes may vary in acidity. For this reason, USDA now recommends that, to ensure safety, tomato products should be acidified by adding a specified amount of citric acid or lemon juice to each jar before processing. Add two tablespoons bottled lemon juice or 1/2 teaspoon powdered citric acid to each quart, or half these amounts to each pint.

Cheerleaders attend camp in Abilene

Cheerleaders from Munday varsity and junior high squads were among approximately 370 participants in the 1995 Big Country Cheerleader camp held on the campus of Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene June 12-15.

The four day camp was conducted by Southwest Camps of Cisco, with Mr. Eris Ritchie as camp director. Instructional staff and program were supplied by the National Cheerleaders Association.

The cheerleaders were taught new cheers, stunts, chants, and spirit ideas from a seven-member NCA staff headed up by Michael Carver, a professional cheerleading instructor from the NCA's National headquarters in Dallas.

Varsity cheerleaders attending were sophomores Jennifer Yates, Ambra Welch and Shelley Scott; juniors Mindy Zeissel, Lanesa Wilson and Kizzie Shields; and senior Lori Clem.

The junior varsity squad includes seventh graders Alishia Crownover and Jennifer Carden; eighth graders Laci Myers and Amber Reed; and freshmen Briana Alexander, Lois Reneau and Angela Albus.

The girls were accompanied by their sponsor, Debbie Pankhurst.

During the week both squads earned excellent and superior nightly evaluations, as well as spirit sticks for their enthusiasm. In addition, both squads also received TEAM awards for working and communicating as unified teams. The junior varsity squad also received a trophy for the most improved Junior High squad at camp.

Both squads will continue to work all summer, so they will be ready to get all you Mogul fans up off those stands!
