Evangelistic musician, Donald W. Burton, to be at Believers' Chapel

Donald W. Burton, pastor, music, and evangelistic musician from Vernon, will be ministering in a series of meetings at The Believers' Chapel, located two miles west of Munday on the Knox City highway, beginning Sunday morning, February 5, at 10:30 a.m. Evening services will be for four nights, Sunday through Wednesday, beginning at 7:00 p.m.

Burton was born and attended high school in Abilene, the third son of Eugenia Burton, who still resides in Abilene, and the late Willie B. Burton. He received his B. Sc. Degree from McMurry University in all level music education, with concentration in voice.

At Cooper High School, Burton was selected to sing in the High School, All-District, All-Regional, All-Area as well as the All-State Choirs. He was also chosen to participate two years in "Upward Bound", an enrichment program funded by McMurry University. At age 17 and 18, he served as youth music director at Macedonia Baptist Church for two years, beginning his career in gospel music.

Receiving the call to the Gospel Ministry in the tenth grade, Burton accepted the call in 1976. He was licensed and ordained as a minister in November 1976 at the Valley View Baptist Church. Since that time he has been minister of music and had leadership in Bible training and discipling activities in various churches in the Abilene and Albany area, and finally in Vernon, where he is the lead elder, pastor, and minister of music at Triumphant Life Christian Center, a non-denominational, Full Gospel, and Spirit-filled church, since its inception in 1985.

Through all his adulthood, Burton has ministered God's Word in preaching, teaching, singing, and playing the piano at a wide variety of denominations as well as mixed denominational and secular groups. In March of last year, he accompanied a group of 19 on a week-long Gospel Mission trip to Eastern Mexico, where he ministered as a musician and an evangelist. In addition, he has taught private vocal and piano lessons, conducted Gospel Music workshops and shared Biblical principles one-on-one as God brings people across his path. He is married to the former Brenda Harris of Knox City, and they have one daughter, Amber, who is a sophomore at Vernon High School.

Truscott-Gilliland News
By Mrs. Clara Brown

A fire at the diesel and gasoline ankey punch pumps in Gilliland on Thursday sent smoke and flames billowing. Everyone is reminded to remove the hose from a vehicle's tank before leaving the pumps. Cause of the fire is suspected to be failure to do so. Fire departments from Benjamin and Crowell answered the call and it was soon under control. Just another reminder that we all need to donate to the volunteer fire departments which have helped our communities so often.

Truscott young people are working to get ready for the Crowell livestock show February 11-12.

Truscott grandmas are to meet Thursday, February 2 to plan the Grandma's Sunday Dinner for February 12.

Frances Cook visited Mildred Cook at Munday last Friday.

Ranjel Caetano of Brazil arrived last Sunday to begin a year's visit under the sponsorship of the Crowell Rotary Club. His first host family is that of Eugenie and Jerry Bob Daniel. Ranjel has enrolled at Crowell High School and seems to be enjoying his new experiences. He went to the Haskell sales barn with the Daniels on Saturday.

Jo Heard says she has been quilting and planting fruit trees this month. Last Friday she and Loys Welch went to Wichita Falls, then returned by Olney where they visited Jo's mother, Lois Chilcoat.

The Shirley Moores were in Amarillo last weekend to visit their family there.

Ila Mae Bullion has kept busy this month watching granddaughter, Crystal Dishman, play basketball.

Bette Adkins visited over the weekend with her parents, Carrie and Harold Barry.

Northern Knox Neighbors held its first meeting January 17 at the home of Lula Baty. Membership for the new organization is drawn from the former Truscott and Gilliland home demonstration clubs. Officers are Gail Whitley, president; Barbara Home, vice-president; Lula Bath, secretary; Ila Mae Bullion, treasurer; Frances Cook council delegate; and Clara Brown, reporter.

Lula Baty was appointed quilt chairman. The quilt committee will plan the quilts to be made and given away at the 1996 reunions. Next meeting is Tuesday, February 7, at the Truscott Community Center with Clara Brown as hostess.

Everybody seems to like the wild life reports, but things are slow on the Divide this month. However, things did get pretty wild a week or so back, over to the north at Crowell.

A Foard County deputy answered a call about a hawk down in a Crowell back yard. It had a broken wing, the story goes, and might have hit a high line wire. Anyway, when the deputy got to it you might say the bird was in a pretty foul mood. When he tried to pick it up the hawk grabbed the deputy.

This is an unofficial report, and it is not know if the bird grabbed one finger or the whole hand or used one set of talons or two, but when a beady eyed, sharp beaked, hawk-sized bird has attached itself to a person's body parts in such a manner that it cannot be detached, are details important?

It was 9-1-1 time! (Maybe past time.)

The ambulance sirened up; the fire truck and volunteer firemen roared up; and you can be almost certain that in a town the size of Crowell that the crowd also included coffee shop customers, people from next door and across the street, and anyone who happened to be driving by right then.

There they were, a whole team of fully equipped, well trained firemen, an ambulance full of emergency medics, a slightly disarmed deputy, and as fine a set of bystanders as ever gathered, and the hawk was making all the points.

The rumor is that an objection was made to killing the hawk or even hurting him to encourage him to seek a new roost. (The opinion and remarks of the deputy enjoying intense togetherness with nature has not been reported.)

Someone called Quanah and requested a veterinarian and a doctor. Quanah said to load up the victor and victee and the vet and doctor would be waiting for them. So they loaded the duo and sped toward Quanah.

What hasn't made it through the grapevine and across the North Wichita is how the people at Quanah were preparing to receive the two. It seems that when the Crowell caller told Quanah that a hawk had hold of a man, that the Quanah person asked how the animal was being controlled, and was told, "with a blanket". The people at Quanah couldn't understand how what they heard was a "hog" could be controlled with a blanket, but, being good folks, they offered help anyhow. But, after getting out all those people and causing all that excitement, that ol' hawk let go just before they got to Quanah. You can't help but wonder how Quanah was going to handle that "hog" at the hospital.

The above wildlife news is presented just to let folks who have moved away from the Wichita and Pease River country, and only have drive by shootings and car jackings to deal with, know that the real country is still out here, that Mayberry lives. (This story was NOT taken from an old Andy Griffith TV script. It's the truth, or pretty close to it, and that ought to be close enough, don't you reckon?)

Clonts is guest speaker at Retired Teachers' meeting

The Knox County Retired Teacher's Association met Tuesday, January 24, 1995 at 2:30 p.m. in the Knox City Community Center with seventeen members and one guest present.

After the meeting was called to order by Dorothy Myers, president, Val Kinnibrugh led the group in prayer.

During a short business meeting, Lillian Logan gave the treasurer's report. Mary Frances Shannon, Community Service Chairman, expressed appreciation for reports of each member's volunteer service hours turned in.

Bill Baker introduced Greg Clonts, President of Citizens' State Bank in Knox City, who spoke on the Texas Homestead Act. Texans would be allowed to vote on the right to borrow money against their home equity under a proposed constitutional amendment. Currently, the Texas Constitution only allows home equity loans to pay for taxes or home improvements. The proposed constitutional amendment would allow home equity loans to pay other debts, fund businesses, and buy more real estate; even for cars, vacations and medical bills.

Bill Baker, Legislative Chairman, gave an update on important Legislature concerning the Teacher Retirement System, which had been told and promised by the past three Legislative sessions that the state's contribution would be returned to 8%. Now plans are to lower state contributions to 6%. Also we are strongly for a health care program for all active and retired school employees.

After delicious refreshments were served by Zoy Risinger, Lillian Logan and Jr. Hacker the meeting adjourned.

To be satisfied can be both a blessing and a curse. Satisfaction is both good and bad. It can give comfort, or it can be the beginning of dry rot.

When we are satisfied we might set back smug in our chair and snooze away a lifetime of opportunity. Satisfaction can cause us to lose motivation and cease in any further effort. "I am satisfied" may mean "I intend to do nothing else than what has been done. I simply plan on getting by, continuing the status quo. Things are good enough." May the Lord save us from this smug satisfaction. It would be ten thousand times better to have irritation than satisfaction if that satisfaction leads us to retiring from trying.

However, there is a good kind of satisfaction. It is the kind of satisfaction our world lacks too much of today. It is the kind of satisfaction that knows that "the grass is always greener" is nothing but myth. This good kind of satisfaction saves us from the blind ambition that has killed so many unsatisfied souls. It is a lack of this satisfaction that drives us to find a new home, a new job, a new wife, or even a new "look".

Be satisfied. Not with a satisfaction that drives away motivation and "git up and go", but with the satisfaction that enables you to be happy with life as it is, and working toward life as it can be.

"Lord, enable me to be satisfied with living, and may my living be satisfying to you. Amen."

Wellness is more than just freedom from disease or illness

Last week we looked at the new buzzword in health called "Wellness", and one of its components - exercise.

Wellness is more than just freedom from disease or illness. Wellness implies that the individual has chosen a life-style that will promote good health, that will bring him or her to their full physical, emotional and mental potential.

As part of the Knox County Hospital's commitment to bring a full scope of health care to the community, the Knox County Hospital Wellness Center has been set up to help individuals obtain the exercise they need. The Center, located on the second floor of the Knox County Hospital, was opened in November.

Those who join the Wellness Center will get an initial evaluation which consists of a test on a stationery bicycle. The staff at the hospital will combine the results of that test with information about the person's age, weight, and blood pressure. This information will then be faxed to Abilene Regional, where it will be fed into a computer which will generate a custom-designed fitness program, tailored for each person.

The initial evaluation costs $25. Following the evaluation, members will pay a flat fee of $20 per month. The fee will include use of the equipment, and aerobic classes, which will begin in the next few weeks.

The Wellness Center utilizes the same equipment that was brought into the hospital for the Cardiac Rehabilitation Program - another new service which began last year. Both services are being offered at the Knox County Hospital. There are three treadmills, two exercise bikes, an ergometer, a weight machine, a rower, and stair step-pers. It's the same type of equipment that those who belong to health clubs in larger towns have.

Hours for the Wellness Center are 1:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m., Monday, Wednesday and Friday; 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday and 8:00 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

Why not investigate how "wellness" may change the way you live. Make 1995 the year you make the commitment to wellness.

For more information about the Wellness Center at Knox County Hospital, call (817) 658-3535.

Parent educators explore keys to children's success

Cathy Albus of Munday, Jeanine Echols of Goree and Z'Ann Messer of Seymour, all from the Goree I.S.D., received three full days of intensive training from Practical Parent Education (PPE) consultant Ms. Judy Farmer with the Texas Association of School Boards (TASB).

Participants explored such topics as dealing with sibling rivalry, understanding parenting styles, communicating effectively with children of all ages, and choosing effective discipline techniques. In addition, the parent educators reviewed curriculum materials and developed and shared action plans. Armed with this information and much more, participants will have tools to begin implementation of the PPE program in their local communities.

PPE is a primary prevention program based on the idea that the most effective way to strengthen families is to educate parents and form community networks to support them in their efforts to raise children who function to the best of their abilities in their personal lives, their educational experiences, and as members of society.

PPE is not a how-to parenting kit. It is a positive program that provides parents fundamental parenting information in a supportive, interactive group setting. Covering family systems, discipline, self-esteem, communication, and other essential topics, the program's curriculum is flexible and can be used to address the changing needs of adults and children as they mature and experience the different stages of the parent/child relationship.

PPE began in 1984 in Plano, Texas, as the vision of the public school superintendent and a local businessman. In 1989, TASB and Plano ISD joined forces to make PPE available to Texas school districts. Today, more than 200 public school districts statewide are bringing the program into their communities and using it as a catalyst to form local networks dedicated to encouraging and supporting parents.

Knox County Hospital Speaks

Administrator's Column
By Stephen Kuehler

When the members of the strategic planning committee for Knox County Hospital began working on developing a blueprint for the future of health care in Knox County, the first questions they had to consider were: "What is the purpose of Knox County Hospital? What is its mission?"

The group choose their words very carefully and concluded this part of their task with this concise mission statement:

"The mission of the Knox County Hospital District is to provide compassionate, high quality health care services. We will actively promote education, preventive health care, wellness and awareness of our services, while maintaining financial viability and growth."

If you look at that statement carefully, you'll see that the group has managed to say a great deal in a few words. Notice in the mission statement that the first word that describes the hospital's services is "compassionate". One of the great assets of a small hospital is its ability to provide the compassionate, family-oriented, concerned care that is sorely lacking in many big city institutions.

The next part of the mission statement emphasizes "high quality". The emphasis on "high quality" in the mission statement gives notice to employees and patients alike that minimal standards are not enough. The goal of Knox County Hospital is to achieve "high" quality.

The mission statement then spells out specific areas that the hospital will promote: education, preventive health care, wellness and awareness of services. Knox County Hospital is more than just a warehouse for sick people. It is a growing, developing institution that will change to meet the ongoing needs of the community by offering more than inpatient treatment for the acutely ill. Effective health care is a team effort by the patient, the hospital, the physician, and other health care workers. This section of the mission statement recognizes that teamwork with the emphasis on education, prevention, and wellness.

The final part of the mission statement is important for all of us. The hospital district is committed to providing the services mentioned "while maintaining financial viability and growth". Since Knox County Hospital District is a tax-supported entity, financial viability is of great concern to all of us. Our community needs the hospital, but we need a hospital that is fiscally responsible and providing value for the money we put into it.

By defining what our purpose is, we at Knox County Hospital have a clearer view of our role in the communities we serve and the direction that role will take in the future.

Happy 50th
Jackie Green

Select Mutual Funds with successful management

You've probably heard the old saying that the three most important considerations when investing in real estate are "location, location, location". There are also three essentials in selecting mutual funds: management, management, management.

All mutual funds have access to the same securities. What distinguishes the outstanding mutual funds from the mediocre is how their managers select securities and operate the business.

The December 1993 issue of Institutional Investor featured the 10 top money management companies as determined by a survey of U.S. companies with more than $500 million in market capitalization and at least 70 percent institutional ownership. The funds on the list were not the "hottest" funds but rather those whose managers are the most dependable, consistent and successful in investing their shareholders' money. This is the way professionals select money managers, and it makes sense for individual investors, too.

With a little homework, you too can select mutual funds like a professional. All you need to do is examine a couple of statistical listings that can be found at your public library or investment representative's office. The first is a listing of mutual funds from Lipper Analytical Services. The second is the Standard & Poor's 500 Index (S&P 500), a group of 500 stocks that is one of the most respected and widely used indicators of stock market performance.

Assume you want to invest in a growth-and-income fund. As your "yardstick", use the five-year average annual return of the S&P 500, which is 14.5 percent for the period 1989-93. Now compare that to Lipper's mutual fund listing. The report lists 5,500 mutual funds currently available, 326 of which are growth-and-income. Of these 326, only 42 outperformed the S&P 500 during the five-year period. Only 14 beat S&P's 10-year average of 14.9 percent, and just eight of those outpaced the S&P over both the five- and 10-year periods.

This elimination process identifies not only the top funds but also the top managers. In the above example, two of the top eight funds are managed by the same investment management group.

This process can be used to select all types of mutual funds - income funds, international funds, or any other investment category you choose. No matter what your investment objective, you generally will keep discovering the same management groups at the top.

Evaluating mutual funds based on the soundness of their management allows you to avoid a host of distractions that can confuse your decision. Ferret out the best money managers, and you will generally uncover the most consistent funds. Rather than chasing the hottest, cheapest or most-advertised fund, select the best management group and then run with the professionals.

The Christian Life

Jeff Christian, Minister
Munday Church of Christ

We are proud of ourselves. As Americans, we have come a long way making advances in many fields of endeavor. In a more specific sense, we also take a great amount of pride in what we have: cars, houses, boats, businesses. But somewhere along the line, we seem to have lost the meaning of boasting.

In a movie called Wall Street, Michael Douglas coined a phrase: "Greed is good." But we did not need him to tell us that. We already knew that greed and pride were a part of the American dream. It is unfortunate that boasting has become such a part of life that it is considered normal to take pride in what we have. Somewhere along the line, we have missed the point.

A number of years ago, a man by the name of Paul said this: "May I never boast except in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ." (Galatians 6:14) Before thinking that Paul was in a totally different culture, it needs to be made clear that Paul was talking to a group of people who were concerned with boasting about their status in life. They boasted about themselves. Paul says that boasting is okay, but only if it is done in the context of Christ.

Let us be reminded that idolatry is not a thing of the ancient past; it is right here today. We can sometimes get so caught up in our worldly possessions that we forget to boast about what is really important: The death of Jesus.

"On A Wizer Note"

by Paul Weiser
Knox County Extension Agent - Ag.

Phones are ringing off the wall at Extension offices all across Texas. Many farmers have found out that their pesticide license/certificate will expire on February 28 unless they receive enough Continuing Education Units (CEU's). Hopefully the following information will answer some of these questions.

Anyone who has a certificate - Certified Private Applicator - has two choices. The first choice is to receive 15 CEU's prior to the expiration date. When this is done, a new certificate will be mailed. Choice number two is to let this certificate expire and test to become a licensed private applicator.

The differences between a licensed private applicator and a certified private applicator are few and simple. A certified private is unable to supervise someone applying chemicals while a licensed private may supervise. A licensed private applicator pays $50 every five years and a certified private has no charges.

No matter which you have - license or certificate - they both require CEU's. Each one requires 15 CEU's every five years. Included in this 15 must be two CEU's in Laws and Regulations and one in Integrated Pest Management.

If testing for a licensed private applicator is in your plans please note that this testing is conducted monthly in Abilene. If interested in attending please call Gary Bomar at the Taylor County Extension office at (915)674-1321. Mr. Bomar can give better details.

Those who wish to test but do not want to drive to Abilene will be able to test in Rhineland on Thursday, April 27. More details may be obtained through the Knox County Extension office.

Here are some upcoming activities which will offer CEU's. February 7-8 in Lubbock - 11 CEU's, contact Bruno Harris-Quanquin at (319)386-1730. February 8 in Anson, contact Nathan Anderson at (915)823-2432. February 18 in Lubbock - 8 CEU's, contact Tommy Kezar at (512)288-8288. April 13 in Haskell - 5 CEU's, contact Max Stapleton (817) 864-2658.

- Card of Thanks -

Many thanks for all the nice things done for me while I was recovering from surgery. We sure did appreciate your prayers, visits, calls, cards, food and flowers. It kept us going.

Mere words can't express our heartfelt thanks.

METER TAMPERING NOW A FELONY

The State of Texas has recently adopted an amendment to the State Penal Code making meter tampering a third degree felony. A third degree felony comes with a punishment of confinement in the Texas Department of Corrections for a term of not more than 10 or less than 2 years. In addition to imprisonment, an individual adjudged guilty of a third degree felony may be punished by a fine not to exceed $5,000.

Before the amendment of the new law, it was a class A misdemeanor for meter tampering unless the loss of service was more than $200. Under the new law, any meter tampering regardless of the amount of loss is now a felony of the third degree.

Meter tampering consists of, but is not limited to:

- (1) Diverting electricity from passing through a meter device
- (2) Preventing electric service from being correctly registered by a meter device
- (3) Unauthorized activation of electric service.

As a special note to our members, it will also be considered meter tampering if a meter is reset and electrical service is restored by anyone other than a Cooperative employee.

All Cooperative meters are sealed. This seal should not be cut or broken without special authorization. In cases where the seal must be cut for emergencies, the Cooperative should be notified as soon as possible so that the meter can be resealed.

Bellinghausen inducted into the Century 21 Masters Hall of Fame

Twelve years ago, when Beverly Bellinghausen came to Bakersfield, California, from Houston as the wife of a transferred oil company executive, she discovered she was on her own at finding suitable housing for her family.

That was a wake-up call. She decided at that point she would become a real estate agent who would smooth the way for newcomers looking for a home.

Two years later she had her real estate license and began specializing in corporate relocations. Her effort paid off so well she recently was inducted into the Century 21 Masters Hall of Fame.

The Hall of Fame is made up of people who have attained Century 21's Centurion Award for five consecutive years. A Centurion is an agent who has completed escrow on $5 million worth of properties in one year. This places her in the top one-half of one percent of Century 21 agents.

"Beverly is the epitome of the Century 21 professional -- caring, knowledgeable and conscientious," said her boss, Loren Stroope, owner of Century 21 Stroope Realtors.

"I do normal real estate business in town, too," she points out, clarifying that she is not an elitist catering only to corporate types.

She is a former Texas Tech coed who majored in speech, "trying to get rid of my (Texas) accent." She married her high school sweetheart and dropped out of college. She also learned an important lesson for her business: "It's better to have an accent, because you're remembered."

"I got into relocation before it even got popular. That's the reason I went into real estate. And it has paid off," she said.

Becoming a relocation specialist isn't a matter of appointing one's self to the specialty. It is a matter of hard work for certification and building up essential contacts, both among corporate personnel specialists and fellow real estate specialists.

She is a Certified Relocation Professional, a designation awarded by the Employee Relocation Council following passage of "a test about equivalent of a CPA test." There are only about 3,500 CRPs in the country. She also is a certified sales associate of Western Relocation Management, serves as secretary on the board of directors of the VIP Society of Southern California, and is a speaker with International Relocation Consultants.

Time and travel demands in the relocation business leave little time for extracurricular activity, although Bellinghausen is on two Bakersfield Association of Realtors committees this year.

Urban and Beverly Bellinghausen were engaged when they were high school students in small north-central Texas towns. They have been married 29 years now. She says her husband "totally supports my career." That would seem fair enough. She worked to put him through Texas Tech.

Urban is a senior financial analyst for CalResources, formerly Shell Western E&P. The Belling-hausens have one son, Chris, 25. Beverly is the daughter of Tommye Harlan and granddaughter of Ola Coffman, both of Munday. She is married to Urban Bellinghausen Jr., son of U. J. and Rosemary Bellinghausen, also of Munday.
