KNOX PRAIRIE IS BENEFITED BY GOOD RAINS

Two Men Are Killed On Highway Near Truscott 2.25 Inches Are Recorded Here

Quannah Man Is Indicted On Two Counts Monday

McGee Attempts To End Life When Arrested

The Knox county grand jury last Monday indicted J. E. McGee, 67-year-old former Hardeman county judge, on two counts following the death of two Truscott men last Saturday night on highway 16, east of Truscott. McGee was indicted for failure to stop and render aid and for murder in connection with the two fatalities, it was reported.

Murder charges had formerly been filed against McGee in connection with the deaths of Ray Young, 35, and Floyd Anthony, 26, of Truscott. McGee waived examining trial and the case was taken before the Knox county grand jury last Monday morning.

Victims Walking

Young and Anthony were killed about 9:30 Saturday evening when struck by an automobile on highway 16 about one-half mile east of Truscott and 20 miles south of Crowell.

The two men were walking along the highway when they were struck by a car which failed to stop at the scene.

Charges were filed Sunday by Sheriff Louis Cartwright of Knox county in justice court before Judge A. H. Sams.

Magee, arrested several miles from the scene of the accident by Sheriff Amos Lilly of Foard county, was released Sunday on $2,500 bond arranged by his son, Fred Magee, of Vernon.

Lights Smashed

Magee, supervising construction of a hospital building at Haskell, was quoted by Sheriff Cartwright as saying he thought his car had struck a post.

Officials were quoted as saying both headlights on Magee's car were smashed. Following the accident he appeared at the home of Midge Adeock, who resides on highway 1, asking aid after his car had left the road and gone into the ditch.

The bodies were discovered by Adeock after Magee left. Young was dead and Anthony died enroute to a hospital.

Arrested by Sheriff Lilly of Foard county, Magee was turned over to the custody of Deputy Sheriff Orvel Capehart of Knox county.

Treated for Cuts

Magee was admitted later to the Knox City hospital for treatment of knife wounds on the throat, inflicted while Capehart was returning Magee in an automobile to the Knox county jail.

Sheriff Louis Cartwright of Knox county said that Capehart disarmed Magee and took the knife from him in a brief struggle. The wounds were not serious, it was said at a Quannah hospital late Sunday where he was taken following his release.

Cartwright said there was no indication Magee had been driving at an excessive speed, and said he had made no written statement regarding the accident.

Magee, a WPA official at the present time, served two terms as county judge of Hardeman county from 1929 to 1934. A resident of Quannah for approximately 25 years, Magee is also a former county commissioner.

A. P. Garrets Leave Thursday For LaMarque

A. P. Garrett and family, well known residents of the Sunset community, left Thursday of this week for LaMarque, Texas, to make their home.

Mr. Garrett has operated a grocery store at Sunset for some time, and stated that he would enter the grocery business at LaMarque, moving his stock at Sunset to the new place.

Their many friends in Knox county wish them success in their new home.

The business session at which new officers will be elected will be held at the cowboy bunkhouse July 3 at 1 p.m.

Horseshoe Pitchers Hold Tourney; Billingsley Is "Horseshoe King"

PARDON US PAUL!!

We got our Lions Club officers mixed up last week, and the result was that Paul Pendleton, newly elected tail twister for the club, registered a kick.

We stated that Austin Caughran, retiring secretary, was elected tail twister. But Austin was elected lion tamer instead. Paul Pendleton is the Lion who will extract dimes from other Lions next year.

Pardon us, Paul. We didn't intend to take your high office away from you. It was an error!

A New Boss—

Daughter Born to Mr. And Mrs. Rice At Fort Worth

We've got a "New Boss" at our house. And everybody's glad. . . . Mother and Baby are doing well. P.S.—And so is Dad!

This is the method County Agent W. W. Rice and Mrs. Rice used this week in announcing the arrival of a fine baby daughter. The child was born in a Fort Worth hospital on Monday, June 19. Her name is Martha Elizabeth and her weight is eight pounds and six and one-half ounces.

The Knox county agent added another footnote to the announcement, in which he mentioned the AAA . . . showing he still has the duties of county agent on his mind. He says:

Mr. Edgar:

Hope the AAA does not decide to "plow under" baby girls!

Mrs. Rice and baby are doing fine at the Methodist Hospital in Fort Worth.

Mrs. Cecil Stephens and little daughter, Sue, of Fort Worth visited friends and relatives here last week.

FUNERAL FOR MRS. THOMPSON HELD MONDAY

Pioneer Resident Of Knox County Dies Sunday Night

Funeral services for Mrs. Lamira A. Thompson, wife of T. J. Thompson, were held last Monday afternoon at the Thorp Methodist church.

Mrs. Thompson, who had been a resident of this county for 39 years, passed away at her home in Munday last Sunday night at 11:45 o'clock, after having been ill for some time. She was born in Missouri on October 6, 1859, and died at the age of 79 years, 8 months and 12 days.

Mrs. Thompson was a well known and beloved resident of this section, and many who have known her during her 39 years of residence in this county mourn her passing. She was a charter member of the Thorp Methodist church, and was ever faithful to this faith, living a consistent Christian life.

Surviving are her husband, T. J. Thompson; three daughters, Mrs. Maude E. Harber, Mrs. Mattie Partridge and Mrs. Judie Bevers, all of Munday; a brother, Tom Nail, of Oklahoma, 16 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at two o'clock Monday afternoon, being conducted by Rev. Marvin E. Fisher, pastor of the Thorp church, who was assisted by Rev. H. A. Longino and S. A. Sifford. Burial was in the Gillispie cemetery by the Mahan Funeral Home.

Active pallbearers were Lanham Bevers, Morrison Harber, Jasper Bevers, Leon Partridge, T. J. Partridge, Wilson Harber, Gilbert Partridge and Jimmy Harber. Honorary pallbearers were Ronnie Partridge and Howard, Kenneth and Glenn Myers.

Flower bearers were Marion Lee Partridge, Mrs. Allene Koenig, Maurine Bevers, Mrs. Agnes Myers, Mrs. Bessie Claburn, Mrs. Onie Ladd, Mrs. T. J. Partridge, Mrs. T. W. Harber and Mrs. Morrison Harber of Sweetwater.

A large group of loving friends filled the Thorpe church to overflowing as they gathered to pay final tribute to this beloved mother and grandmother.

Methodists To Hold Services At Six o'Clock

Beginning next Sunday evening services at the Methodist church in Munday will be held at six o'clock each Sunday evening instead of eight o'clock, it was announced Tuesday by Rev. H. A. Longino, pastor.

This schedule will continue through the summer months, and services will be held on the church lawn, Rev. Longino said. "We believe the membership will be cooler and more comfortable by this arrangement," the pastor said, "and we believe these services will attract those who have not been attending the evening services. We cordially invite you to come to these outdoor services."

Moore, Hobert Harvest 1,300 Acres of Wheat

W. R. Moore and L. W. Hobert, two of the largest wheat farmers of this section, have just recently completed harvesting some 1,300 acres of wheat. Wheat on their Throckmorton county farm is said to have produced the best wheat this year.

Their crop averaged around 15 bushels, Mr. Moore said.

Only a small portion of the harvest had been sold the first of this week. Some of the best grain was sold in Throckmorton for seed wheat and the remainder of the crop has been stored.

Refutes Rumor—

P. Pierce Brooks, candidate for Lieutenant Governor last year, has refuted rumors that he will be a candidate for Railroad Commissioner in 1940. Brooks says:

"From many news articles appearing in the daily press, I am being mentioned for Railroad Commissioner during the 1940 Democratic Primaries. I am at a loss to understand how or who could have encouraged this rumor. It would seem more logical for me, having polled more than 400,000 votes for Lieutenant Governor and with Stevenson a probable candidate for Governor, to run again for the same office. . . .

"I can say now definitely that I am not a candidate for any State office, and if state conditions remain as they are at present, I will not be in the lineup of candidates in 1940."

Mrs. W. H. Machen Is Buried Here Last Tuesday

Dies Monday At Knox City Hospital

Mrs. W. H. Machen, well known resident of Knox county, passed away at the Knox City hospital last Monday morning at five o'clock.

Mrs. Machen had been in poor health for about three months. She was taken to the hospital several days before her death and submitted to a major operation last Saturday. Several blood transfusions were given in an effort to prolong her life.

Ella Hope Machen was a daughter of W. F. and Molly Carter Cowser. She was born in Parker county, Texas, on March 23, 1891, and died at the age of 48 years, 2 months and 26 days. At an early age she joined the Presbyterian church and was a faithful Christian mother.

Surviving are her husband, W. H. Machen; three children, Billy Machen, Mary Hope Machen and Thomas Carter Machen, all of Munday; two sisters, Mrs. Erin Betterton of Munday and Mrs. Annie Mabry, Lamesa; a brother, J. F. Cowser of Silverton.

Pallbearers were Tom Cowser, Levi Cowser, Virgil Cowser, Ivan Gresham, R. B. Jones and Albin Homer.

A quartet composed of Don Ferris, Dr. Glenn E. Stone, Boyde Carley and Aaron Edgar sang two numbers, "The Old Rugged Cross," and "The Beautiful Land."

CHURCH VISITOR

David E. Elland of Munday was a visitor at the First Methodist church in Galveston last Sunday, according to word received here from H. I. Robinson, pastor. He is visiting his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James N. Walker of Galveston.

Knox Club Girl Is One of Texas' Gold Star Girls

Miss Leola Patterson, one of Knox County's leading 4-H Club girls, has been elected as one of the "Gold Star" club girls of Texas.

The announcement of the current year's "Gold Star" 4-H Club girls—the girls who will receive gold star pins in recognition of their outstanding club work—has been made by Onah Jacks, state girls' club agent of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service.

Miss Jacks pointed out that this honor was a particularly significant one this year in that the "Gold Star" girls were selected by their own club members.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Lea celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, June 18, at the home of their son, Mr. and Mrs. Ulric Lea, Knox City.

During the afternoon approximately one hundred friends called and congratulated the couple. They were served punch from a lace-covered table centered with a wedding cake decorated in golden morning glories and "50th Anniversary" written in gold on white icing.

Boomers Win Over Ball Bros. Sunday 7 to 3

To Play Munday Next At Rhineland

Playing without the services of four of their regular players, Rhineland went on to win from Ball Brothers of Wichita Falls 7-3 last Sunday night. The game was played in the new Scotland Park lighted field. Rain fell continuously throughout the game but it didn't seem to bother "Lefty" Decker, for he pitched one of his best games of the season, holding the Brothers to only five scattered hits and one earned run.

"Shorty" Kuhler again was the leading light of the Rhineland attack, slamming out three of the winners' 12 hits.

"Bunce" Albus played brilliantly in left field, twice pulling down line drives which were labeled for extra bases.

Next Sunday Rhineland plays Munday at Rhineland. The game is to start at 3:30 o'clock.

Skipper "Sheeny" Rayburn spoke up to say that Rhineland was just another ball club to him, and plans to snap their thirteen game winning streak.

Rayburn will present a much stronger lineup than the one he had earlier in the season. He announced that his line-up would include several boys just back from college who can really swat that ball.

Score by Innings: R H E
Rhineland . . . 120 022 0 7 12 4
Ball Bros. . . . 100 000 2 3 5 6
Batteries: Decker and O'Neal, Carr and Bell.

Heavier Rains Fall In Other Communities Of County

A smile will go a long, long way! And the type of smiles being worn by Knox county people this week also go a long, long way in showing their approval of how it rained over Knox county.

After about such a rain as this several years ago, an old boy was heard to say: "I'll bet it was worth every bit of $100 to the county." And so was Knox county's rain!

After threatening us last Sunday—it was duster and just a shower—the weather man began to act right promising again Monday afternoon. Dark clouds formed in the west and northwest, and anxious faces turned in that direction frequently, as Knox people wondered if it would or wouldn't.

It did! Around 7:30 o'clock it started in at Munday—light at first, then harder! After convincing folks it wasn't just fooling around about it, it settled down to a good steady downpour. It continued until three o'clock in the morning—so we heard.

H. P. Hill, local weather observer, looked at his rain gauge and recorded 2.25 inches. The rainfall varied in various sections of the county, reports estimating the rainfall at from three to five inches in these sections.

It was a typical summer rain, being accompanied by thunder, lightning, very little wind, no hail and lots of raindrops.

Prospects for a good crop on the Knox Prairie are brighter than they've been in 1939. Some crops will be planted over, especially in parts where moisture has not been sufficient to bring the seed up, and many loads of cotton seed were seen leaving town last Tuesday as farmers planned to get busy in their fields as soon as it is dry enough.

We wish them lots of luck and plenty of rain—just when needed.

CEMETERY ASSOCIATION TO MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

An important meeting of members of the Johnson Cemetery Association will be held next Tuesday night at eight o'clock at the Mahan Funeral Home.

Every person who owns lots in the cemetery or who has loved ones buried there are urgently requested to attend. Purpose of the meeting is to consider a federal project for erection of a rock fence at the cemetery and to plan other needed improvements. Application for this project must be made within the very near future.

"What a Man Does For Himself Dies With Him— What He Does For His Community Lives On and On"—

NINE REASONS FOR GOING TO CHURCH

1. In this actual world, a churchless community, a community where men have abandoned and scoffed at or ignored their religious needs, is a community on the rapid down-grade.

2. Church work and church attendance means the cultivation of the habit of feeling some responsibility for others.

3. There are enough holidays for most of us. Sundays differ from other holidays in the fact that there are fifty-two of them every year—therefore on Sundays go to church.

4. Yes, I know all the excuses. I know that one can worship the Creator in a grove of trees or by a running brook, or in a man's own house, just as well as in church. But I also know, as a matter of cold fact, the average man does not thus worship.

5. He may hear a good sermon. He will hear a sermon by a good man who, with his good wife, is engaged all the week in making hard lives a little easier.

6. He will listen and take part in reading some beautiful passages from the Bible, and if he is not familiar with the Bible, he has suffered a loss.

7. He will take part in singing some good hymns.

8. He will meet and nod or speak to good, quiet neighbors. He will come away feeling a little more charitable toward all the world, even toward those excessively foolish young men who regard church-going as a soft performance.

9. I advocate a man's joining in church work for the sake of showing his faith by his works.

—Theodore Roosevelt

PLAINLY IN THE RECORD

Often enough it is said that government competition with private business is standing in the way of new jobs, new payrolls, and the expanding industrial activity that means real recovery. Similarly, it is often pointed out that uncertainty concerning future actions of government affecting industry is also contributing this same slowing-up process.

Now it is beginning to become increasingly clear that the two factors are interrelated. This is the way it works:

Individuals, afraid to put their money into business enterprises, are depositing funds with banks or insurance companies. And these organizations in their turn, seeing that regulatory laws and high taxes are crippling business today, are putting the money into government instead of business securities. They see no alternative.

Recently, bidding for government securities has grown so active that, in a few cases, in the words of the New York Times, "the banks which loaned the money actually paid the Treasury for the privilege of lending it."

Why, the reader may well ask, does this trend continue?

Simply because the only choice is between government bonds and private investment—and the latter, in the face of adverse taxes and legislation and the threat of "more of the same," appears even less attractive.

On government competition and experimentation aimed in the way of private investment, the kind of investment that means jobs and payrolls and better times for all Americans?

The answer seems to be pretty plainly written in the record!

WHAT THE PRESS THINKS

Recently the annual meetings of the Associated Press, the American Newspaper Publishers Association and the American Society of Newspaper Editors were held.

A survey of the opinions of the press leaders present showed an almost unanimous opposition to discriminatory and punitive taxation or legislation against any legitimate business; general approval of mass merchandising, whether accomplished by chain stores or organized independents, and an appreciation of the immense importance of mass merchandising in promoting wider distribution of commodities, particularly those of agricultural origin, to the benefit of agriculture and industry.

Other press organizations, state and national, and representing both large and small newspapers, have gone formally on record with similar views. The typical American newspaper man believes in fair play. He believes in progress. He knows what unhampered competitive business means to his town, his state and his nation. And he knows the dangerous folly of any law or any tax designed to penalize or destroy any honest business.

WHAT THE FIGURES MEAN

During the first quarter of this year, ordinary life insurance in force in the United States increased by more than half a billion dollars, bringing the total past the $76,000,000,000 mark.

Don't think of that simple in terms of dollars. Think of it in terms of human security; of old age made happy; of dependents protected financially; of homes built and business maintained and children educated. Think of it in terms of human values.

Then you will get some idea of what life insurance—the greatest force ever created by man to meet the exigencies of the future—means to America.

Some men are known by their deeds, others by their mortgages.

AMERICA'S CRIME RECORD

Crime keeps pace with progress.

During the lifetime of middle-aged Texans the population of Texas has doubled. Crime has trebled and then some. No single industry or business, 50 or even 100 years old is comparable in magnitude with illegal activities of criminals. Their tentacles have found their way into every legitimate business and industry in the land. Even the almost impregnable forces of government have not been immune. Fugitives in their flight and in their dire need menace the safety of our people on the public highways and in their homes. Lawlessness at times has corrupted legislative halls; it has polluted segments of the judiciary; it has contaminated public office; it has even demoralized certain of our law-enforcing agencies. Its subversive forces are gradually undermining the cornerstone of our social order. The business interest of the state and nation have suffered tremendous damage from the plague of predatory activities. Certainly business can never reach the zenith of prosperity, nor the home attain to its peace and security until widespread lawlessness is curbed. And it can be.

But the curb of lawlessness must begin right here in this community. Not all the sins of the nation are committed in the East or in some distant seaport. There are crimes and criminals in every community in this fair land. This means that there is a grave responsibility right here at home, in the homes of this section, in the schools of this district, and in the law enforcing agencies of this county.

Speaking recently in Houston, Pierce Brooks stated, "It behooves every citizen who loves his state and who loves his home to help in the crises of these perilous times. It is most disturbing when one checks the statistics and learns that crime in some form or other will visit at least one out of every four homes in America unless drastic steps are taken to stay the onslaught of forces of lawlessness that are loose in the land today."

MORE THOUGHT GIVEN WORKERS

(By B. C. Forbes in Forbes Magazine)

In the company of Charles M. Schwab, while being shown over Bethlehem Steel's mammoth new Lackawanna Plant, near Buffalo, not so long ago, he remarked to me, when shown the ideal "club" facilities provided for workmen—shower baths, private lockers, drying rooms for clothes, the most modern sanitary facilities: "How different from the time I started working in a steel mill! We hadn't even the crudest of sanitary accommodations either inside or outside the plant."

I recalled this while touring U. S. Steel's gigantic new Irvin Works, outside of Pittsburgh. Workers there enjoy similar up-to-date accommodations. Two other impressions: Back-breaking manual toil has been practically eliminated and safety devices at every turn, eliminate danger of accidents. Most steel executives of today—including Vice-Chairman William A. Irwin, whose name has been given the new plant; President Benjamin F. Fairless of U. S. Steel; and John L. Perry, president of Carnegie-Illinois Steel, operator of the new mill—started at the very bottom. Hence, it is not astonishing that they should see to it that everything possible be installed for the comfort and safety and steel workers.

Progress assuredly is being made towards lightening the burden and enhancing the wellbeing of industrial wage earners.

LAMENT OF A "FELLOW TRAVELER"

Karl Marx and Velben I salute,
Earl Browder I'll defend;
John Reed and I were bosom pals
Cardenas is my friend.
To Russia I would make a loan,
For Spain I'm loyalist;
Perhaps I've leftist tendencies,
But I'm no Communist.

For business men I have no use;
I'd tax them to the wall,
And use the proceeds of this to subsidize us all.
I'd close the New York Stock Exchange;
It never would be missed.
But don't insult me to my face
And call me Communist.

I'd liquidate the blue and white
From the flag that made us
free,
So what remained would symbolize
Utopia's final spree.

Most institutions I'd destroy
(The banks are on my list)
But only Tories would contend
That I'm a Communist.

I'd legalize the sit-down strike,
And if the bosses kicked
I'd confiscate their equities
To show them they were licked.
Against the rich I'd press my grievance;
My plans they can't resist.
But Sherlock Holmes himself can't prove
That I'm a Communist.

SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED

Two of the University of Texas' most sought-after scholarships have been awarded for next year to J. W. Bullion of Eden, student lawyer, and William C. Kins, of Austin, geologist, the Board of Regents announced at Austin.

Bullion will receive the James Lockhart Autrey scholarship in law, Kins the Joseph S. Cullinan award in geology. The awards, backed by a $20,000 bequest by the late Will C. Hogg, University student and benefactor of Houston, were awarded for the first time this year. Both grants carry stipends of $750.

KEEP AMERICA OUT OF WAR

The week of June 11-18 has been designated "Keep America Out of War Week." The sponsors are "the National Committee of Keep America Out of Foreign Wars" and their friends.

Every year since its birth the great American Legion has been active on behalf of peace. For more than 1000 weeks since its birth in 1919 veterans of the World War, in their American Legion posts in every community of the nation have been conducting a nationwide campaign to discourage future wars. While staunchly supporting the doctrine of being prepared, the American Legion has become known throughout the country as the most powerful body of peace-loving citizens of proponents God's sun ever shone upon.

Legionnaires generally welcome the observance of "Keep America Out of War Week." Although it may have been thus designated by foes of America's present foreign policy, they feel that something good may come out of it. If rank partisans are in earnest and are thinking of defeating war rather than the Democrats now in power in Washington, then indeed results will be worth the time, thought and energy necessary to make the week a success.

The peace and safety of the Nation are being threatened by foreign and Communist propaganda, and during the week of June 11-18 emphasis is to be placed in urging adequate national defense, upholding the Monroe doctrine, and the maintenance of Uncle Sam's traditional policies of non-intervention, neutrality, no entangling alliances and peace.

Economic State As Planned Lacks Its "Mainspring"

Boston, Mass. IPS -- Economic planning fails wherever it is tried because it neglects the "mainspring of economic activity, personal incentive, the current issue of the New England News Letter points out.

"The prospect for profit is the mainspring of economic activity, and around this has centered our great industrial progress of the last 150 years" the letter remarks. "The release of individual energy under such a stimulus as the secret of success of the great American system and the key to progress. Individuals will work hard and long to provide for themselves and their dependents. But take away personal incentive, then the contribution of individuals to the community at large is substantially lowered.

"This has been demonstrated over and over again in various attempts at collective living. Communism was tried in New England 300 years ago. The Plymouth Colony adopted a plan whereby the colonists all worked for a common storehouse from which all were fed and clothed. But actual famine stared them in the face as the emigrants did not labor and paralysis was affecting the settlement. In consequence of this situation Governor Bradford permitted the breaking up of the contract and assigned each family its own parcel of land to raise its own food. The cheerful effort of personal energy succeeded to the sloth of communal interest, and plenty followed.

"Individual initiative has been the outstanding driving force for material progress and will most likely continue to be so for generations to come," the News Letter continued. "It is highly significant that practically all modern progress has been accomplished under private enterprise in liberal democracies. In consequence, we must safeguard and promote the profit motive with due regard to general welfare."

URGES GOVERNMENT STICK TO "UMPIRING"

Chicago, Ill.—Government should act as an umpire only, and not as a player on either team, Malcolm Bingay, editor, declared here recently, pointing out that business regimentation today represented a "dangerous threat" to Americanism.

"Uncle Sam," he said, "should be an umpire in the ball game, and not a player on either team. He now wants to pitch for one side and bat for the other, as suits his fancy, and to field any ball that comes near him, whether he is on base or the bench. That is not Americanism."

"Americanism," Mr. Bingay asserted, "is the right to live your life as you will so long as it does not interfere with the lives of others and the existing laws."

WORKERS SAFER AT PLANT, SURVEY SHOWS

Pittsburgh, Pa.—The factory is twice as safe a place as the home, according to an analysis of the accident figures of one large company here.

The figures covered 1938, and the first quarter of 1939. In the latter year, the accident frequency rate had dropped 26 per cent over the year previous.

In 1938, the records show eight deaths during leisure hours at home or in the open against none during work in one of the company plants.

More Sportsmen Hunt Quail Than Any Other Game in the Lone Star State

Austin.—Quail once thrived in practically every section of Texas, but clean and perhaps unwise farming has done much to destroy the bobwhite's food and cover. However, quail are still hunted by five times as many sportsmen as those seeking any other kind of game in the Lone Star State, it is estimated by Will J. Tucker, Executive Secretary of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission. Land owners, realizing this, and visualizing additional income from the leasing of hunting rights on their lands, are leaving more and more of their acreage, much of the part set aside being of little other use, in plots suitable for the raising of bobwhites.

To assist in this habitat planting by land owners, Phil D. Goodrum, Director of Research for the Game Department has announced that the planting of Korean lespedeza seed is proving one of the most beneficial moves tending to aid quail in their fight along the road back.

Goodrum also called attention to the fact that many of the practices permitted under the Agricultural Adjustment Act program are beneficial to wildlife and that the benefit payments under this program can be used by many land owners who wish to devote areas to wildlife restoration and thereby receive compensation in the form of hunting fees as a result of wildlife-aid improvements on the land given over to this purpose.

"Lespedeza seed can be used in these areas, along with a large number of plants, shrubs, and trees valuable to quail as shelter and food, but lespedeza seed is especially valuable to the farmer or the rancher who does not have a great deal of land to be used for game raising," Goodrum said. "Strips of lespedeza planted along fence rows and at the edge of gullies provide what appears to be the best all around plant for bobwhite food. A good stand can be established on most soils except in the high plains and in semi-arid regions, where quail do not thrive, anyway, with a minimum of seed-bed preparation. The crop is used by many species of wildlife in addition to quail and has a high feeding value throughout the winter months. Sown in the fall next to cover such as fence rows and gullies, lespedeza does not interfere with farm practices. The seed, originally imported from Korea, is moderately priced, selling at approximately 10 cents per pound in small lots at most seed stores and better rates can be obtained for larger orders."

Goodrum pointed out that landowners clearing forested areas should leave gum elastic, prickly

The time, however, will shift from Saturday at 9 p. m., E. D. S. T., to Wednesday at 8 p. m., E. D. S. T., starting July 5. Baker, in addition to his comedy routine, will feature an accordion solo on each broadcast.

ash, blackberry, sumac, wild plum, black gum, beech, and black haw standing due to the fact that they provide excellent shelter and food for quail.

"In the more open regions where farmers seek to keep their lands from eroding further, landowners can plant their gullies to such things as Georgia cane and have a veritable game bird heaven and at the same time control the soil," Goodrum said. "Among the other plants highly beneficial are dove-weeds, vetch, partridge pea, wild beans, wild sunflower, blackberries, bush clover, snow-on-the-mountain, Mexican clover and milk peas." Where the land does not already support good cover for birds, Goodrum suggested that brush piles about five feet in diameter be stacked in fence corners or along fence rows leaving space enough under them for quail to move about. They will be used by quail as cover while the land is raising the natural cover supplied by many of the plants mentioned.

"Give the birds half a chance with suitable cover, food and protection from being overshot, and you will have quail on your lands, even where the areas are not stocked if there are any birds within a mile of it," Goodrum concluded.

60,483 Texas Homes Improved By FHA Plan

Dallas, Texas.—A total of 60,483 Texas families have repaired and modernized their homes with FHA insured loans totaling $21,833,176. These home improvements, according to Mr. P. S. Luttrell, State Production Manager, Federal Housing Administration, have all been made since the Government's better housing program was begun in 1934.

The old human urge for a better looking and more comfortable home seems to have hit Texas families pretty hard this spring, Mr. Luttrell believes, and he bases his conclusion on the fact that lending institutions which have contracts of insurance with the FHA to make modernization loans have been swamped with inquiries and applications during the past few weeks.

"The FHA plan is really very simple to understand," Mr. Luttrell explained. If the house needs a new roof, or some repairs to safeguard its value, or if the inside needs new plumbing, heating, paint and wallpaper to make it more comfortable and attractive, these improvements can be made at once and paid for by the month, out of income.

FHA insured loans are not Government money, it was pointed out, but are made by private lending institutions and insured by FHA.

"These loans," said Mr. Luttrell, "may be used for almost any type of outside or inside modernization job; as an example extensive alterations, such as a new wing, or repairs such as the replacement of worn floors. Living comfort may also be increased by installing up-to-date wiring, or built-in shelves."

The FHA official advises home owners who want to fix up their property under the FHA plan to first get an estimate from a local contractor. As soon as the estimate is in hand, application for an insured modernization loan may be made to any local lending institution making FHA insured loans.

AS REPUBLICANS SEE IT

A stranger stood at the gates of Hell,
The Devil himself answered the bell.
He looked him over from head to toe
And said "My friend, I'd like to know
What you have done in the line of sin
To entitle you to come within."
Then Franklin D. with his usual guile, Stepped forth and flashed his toothy smile;

"When I took charge in thirty-three,
A nation's faith was mine," said he.
"I promised this and I promised that,
I calmed them down with a fire-side chat.
I spent their money on fishing trips,
Fished from the decks of battle-ships.
I gave them jobs on the P.W.A.
Then raised their taxes and took it away.
I raised their wages and closed their shops.
I killed their pigs and burned their crops.
I double-crossed both old and young,
And still the fools my praises sung.
I brought back beer, and what do you think?
I taxed it so high they couldn't drink.
I furnished money with government loans.
When they missed a payment I took their homes.
When I wanted to punish the folks, you know,
I put my wife on the radio.
I paid them to let their farms lie still
And imported foodstuffs from Brazil.
I curtailed crops when I felt mean
And shipped in corn from the Argentine.
When they'd started to worry,
stew and fret,
I'd get them to chanting the alphabet.
With the A.A.A. and the N.L.B.
The W.P.A. and the C.C.C.
With these many units I got their goats
And still I crammed it down their throats.
My workers work with the speed of snails,
While the taxpayers chewed their fingernails.
When the organizers needed dough,
I closed up plants for the C.I.O.
I ruined jobs and I ruined health,
And I put the screws on the rich man's wealth.
And some, who couldn't stand the gauff,
Would call on me, and how I'd laugh!
I ruined their homes, their country, and then
I placed the blame on "Nine Old Men."
Now Franklin talked both long and loud,
The Devil stood and his head was bowed.
At last he said, "Let's make it clear,
You'll have to move on, you can't stay here!"

For once you mingle with this mob
I'll have to hunt myself a job."

Traffic Safety Courses Taught In the Colleges

Austin.—Ten Texas colleges and universities—more than ever before—are including traffic safety courses in their curriculum this summer, a state police survey showed today.

Colonel Homer Garrison, Jr., state police head, commended the schools for an important contribution to traffic education.

"Most of those taking these courses are teachers themselves—a happy fact that solves one of the problems of getting safety education into more schools. In the past it has been hard to find teachers already trained in safety work," he said.

Most of the safety education courses offered this summer embrace first aid, general safety, including safety in the home, and traffic safety. At the University of Texas, where safety education now is being offered for the first time, John Lawther, assistant professor of physical education at Pennsylvania State College, is teaching the traffic safety phase and Dr. E. M. Muirhead, of the American Red Cross is giving instructions in first aid.

Other schools offering such courses are:

Southwest Texas State Teachers College at San Marcos; Sam Houston State Teachers College at Huntsville; East Texas State Teachers at Commerce; Southern Methodist University; Texas Tech; West Texas State Teachers at Canyon; Texas A. & M.; North Texas State Teachers at Denton, and Stephen F. Austin State Teachers at Nacogdoches.

A LOT of folks have had their eyes opened wide by a ride in a 1939 Ford V-8. They just didn't realize how much more value and how many improvements we've put in this car the last few years. Today's advanced Ford is a product of progressive engineering, fine materials and honest construction. It is backed by an experience of building far more cars than anybody else in the world. Gossett Makes Maiden Speech In Congress

Washington, June 21.—Representative Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls has made his maiden speech in Congress Wednesday with flying colors when he made his maiden speech in support of the Connally hot oil act.

The act was extended three years by a vote of 171 to 99. The senate voted in March to make permanent the statute which forbids interstate transportation of crude oil and its products in excess of state quotas.

Pointing out in the debate that he came from Wichita Falls, "a town which was built and is largely maintained by independent oil men," Gossett said: "There is not one major operator in my city. One hundred per cent of the independent oil men are for this bill. Many of us, I fear, have not understood the Connally hot oil act."

Against Law "Hot oil," he continued, is oil produced in violation of the law; in effect, it is stolen oil. The pending bill is a conservation bill, it is an anti-theft bill. The senate bill makes this legislation permanent. The house is called upon to make its duration only three years. Certainly, I think the least we should do is to extend the life of this legislation three years.

"An individual who buys stolen oil buys it cheaper than he can buy legitimate oil. Profiteering in hot oil, naturally, is opposed to this legislation. I am not saying that all opposition is illegitimate, but I am saying that some of the opposition to this act is by those who want to profit illegally from oil that is produced illegally. The Connally hot oil act is simply a cooperative measure on the part of the federal government."

Nobody Opposed He was asked where the opposition to the legislation comes from. Gossett replied: "Nobody in my area opposes this act, insofar as I know," and added: "The opposition comes from the independent marketer in other areas who buys cheap oil."

Gossett's speech, which was brief, was extemporaneous. He was loudly applauded when he finished it and a number of the Texas and other members of the house congratulated him.

Travis Lee is spending his vacation this week with relatives in Wichita Falls. Travis is an employee of the First National Bank in Munday.

P. & G. Servel Contest Awards Many Prizes

The nation-wide contest in which sixty refrigerators are being awarded every week grows in popularity with the women of this vicinity as the competition proceeds, according to an announcement by A. L. Smith, sales manager of the Rexall Store, pointing out that approximately three more weeks remain for entering the contest.

"Among the factors that account for the popularity of the contest are: first, the high standards of Procter & Gamble products, which are featured in the competition; second, the growing public acceptance of the Servel Electrolux refrigerator and the desire of women for that type of household refrigeration; third, the simplicity of the terms of the contest and the task of writing the testimonials being so easy.

"No one should hesitate to enter the contest as no great literary ability is needed, nor does the contestant have to have any special aptitude in writing. Just a concise, spontaneous expression of thought in the simplest language is all that is required.

"Entrants are invited to submit a statement of 25 words or less to complete the sentence: 'I like P & G White Naptha Soap because...' The sentences are adjudged for their originality, sincerity, and conciseness of thought. The awards go to those who are considered the best writers of the sentence.

"The contest is part of Procter & Gamble's 'Guiding Light' program which is broadcast over a coast-to-coast NBC network every afternoon, excepting Saturdays and Sundays. Twelve refrigerators a day are awarded to winning contestants. The contest began May 22, and will end July 2.

"Our company invites all those who have not already done so to call at our offices for contest entry blanks and for information regarding the contest."

Moffett Author Of New Bill To Help Farmers

About four years ago, the Legislature levied a tax on notes and mortgages, if the amount involved was above $200.00. The rate was ten cents on each one hundred dollars for all above the first two hundred dollars, and theoretically was to be paid by the party placing the mortgages on record. In practice, it was often charged to the maker of the mortgage.

At the present session of the Legislature, this law was amended so as to exempt mortgages applying to farm products, livestock, and farm implements. Senator Moffett, of this district, who is the only farmer in the State Senate, was point author of the amendment.

J. F. Draper and brother, H. C. Draper and granddaughter from Indianola, Okla., returned Sunday from a week's vacation. While away they visited relatives in San Antonio, Mineral Wells and Jacksboro, Texas.

Mrs. Travis Lee visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Walker of Wichita Falls, over the week end.

Of every dollar paid for electric bills, an average of 12.6 cents goes to tax collectors.

Flash of Light Saves Canoeist, Helpless in Track of Seaplane

THE tiny but powerful beam from a flashlight turned on a seaplane cutting through the water of Fourth Lake, N. Y., at 80 miles an hour saved the life of F. L. Brownell, a guide at the Adirondack Forest Preserve, who was in a canoe directly in the path of the speeding ship.

Brownell was midway of the lake when the huge craft, taking off in the darkness with only the wing tips lighted, shot toward him.

"The monster was roaring straight for me," Brownell said, "and it was too dark for the pilot to see me. I shouted at the top of my lungs but no one could hear me above the roar of the motor. The plane was gathering speed every second and heading straight for my tiny canoe.

"My flashlight — it was lying there on the seat beside me. I grabbed it and sent a pin point of light squarely at the plane. For just an instant I thought the pilot hadn't seen it for he was almost upon me.

"Then I knew that the bright flash had been noticed. The plane swerved to one side, missing my canoe by what seemed like inches. As I sat there in a cold sweat, thinking how I had been peering at death, I thanked my lucky stars that when my flashlight was loaded it had not only fresh batteries but the best ones obtainable."

Brownell, who lives in West Onondaga, N. Y., has been directing hunting and fishing parties in the Adirondacks for more than thirty years. He still traverses Fourth Lake but declares, "I hope I never again have such a close call."

"Juarez," Warner Bros. Historical Film Co-Stars Paul Muni, Bette Davis

Inspired Screen Masterpiece to Have Premiere at Roxy Tues.

In accordance with its policy of showing top-flight films, the Roxy Theatre management has secured, as its next feature attraction, opening on Tuesday, "Juarez," the magnificent historical film, starring Paul Muni and Bette Davis. Over a year in the making, his film has been unanimously acclaimed by critics and others who witnessed its recent world premiere at the Hollywood Theatre.

Warner Bros. announced their intention to film "Juarez" in September, 1937, with Jack L. Warner, vice president in charge of production, Hal B. Wallis, executive producer, and Henry W. Blanke, associate producer. Writers were assigned to develop the screen play at that time. Paul Muni was to play Benito Pablo Juarez, savior of Mexico's democracy and the greatest popular hero that republic has ever known. Bette Davis was to be co-starred, as the tragic Empress Carlota, and the plot theme was to be confined to those years between 1863 and 1867, the period during which Mexico had both a president, Juarez, and an emperor, Maximilian.

Aznas MacKenzie, research historian first assigned by Producer Henry Blanke to the story, found at once that sources available in Los Angeles and Hollywood were woefully inadequate. Book conflicts with book, printed fact with printed fact, and there were many lapses not touched upon at all. Warner Bros., through Dr. Herman Lisauer, erudite head of the studio research department, cabled book dealers and scholars throughout Europe, sent men to Mexico City, there to gather facts.

Within a month MacKenzie, together with John Huston and Wolfgang Reinhardt, now working with him on the script, had more than 300 volumes for research and reference.

Exactly one year later, on November 17, 1938, Director William Dieterle started his cameras turning under the hand of Tony Gaudio, dean of Hollywood cinematographers and winner of several Academy awards.

Around Muni and Bette Davis a breath-takingly brilliant cast of famous names had been assembled. Brian Aherne for Maximilian, Gale Sondergaard for the Empress Eugenie, Claude Rains for Napoleon III, Donald Crisp for Marochal Bazaine, John Garfield for Porfirio Diaz, Gilbert Roland for Colonel Lopez, Joseph Calleia for Uradi, the traitor—and on and on through the 50 principal parts required to tell the story.

Director Dieterle filmed more than 250 tests during the month before the picture started to assemble this hand-picked group of actors. He wanted more than just acting ability. Each player had to resemble the historic figure he or she was to portray as closely as nature and the makeup department could contrive it.

In Muni's case it meant weeks of preparation, a lengthy trip to Mexico, an exhaustive study of photographs, busts, life masks and old records available in the National Museum in Mexico City. Pere Westmore, head of the Warner Bros. makeup department, and Hollywood's wonder worker in the craft, finally, laboring with Muni, accomplished the perfect result.

The same care was given Bette Davis' transformation into the lovely and fragile Empress Carlota, 23-year-old, raven-haired daughter of the Belgian king. Nothing about her face was touched except a slightly smiling cupid's bow at lips. But her hair was completely transformed.

During those last few months of final tests and casting, all other departments of the huge studio hummed with the activity of preparation necessary to a picture of such magnificent scale.

As for the sets, on four of the vast Warner Bros. stages interiors of palaces, throne rooms, banquet halls and lowly Oaxaca and Chihuahua hovels soon appeared. These and dozens of other magnificent sets were designed by Anton Grot.

Is Successor to Roosevelt Due to Die in Office?

Every 4th President Has Died While Serving U.S.

Is Roosevelt's successor doomed to die in office?

For ninety years, every fourth man elected president of the United States has died in office. Since 1850 this fatal rhythm never has varied. The next president—the one to be elected in 1940—unless Franklin D. Roosevelt seeks and wins a third term, will be a "doomed fourth" if history repeats.

The fatal rule of four started with the death of President Zachary Taylor in the White House on July 9, 1850, from a cold. Since then, death has overtaken in office every fourth chief executive. Then came president Abraham Lincoln, who met death by violence, when John Wilkes Booth assassinated him in 1865. Lincoln was fourth president after Taylor. The terms of Fillmore, Pierce, Buchanan, intervened.

James A. Garfield was fatally shot in a Washington railway station on July 2, 1881, by a disappointed office-seeker named Giteau. He lived ten weeks but could not rally. He was the fourth president after Lincoln—terms of Johnson, Grant and Hayes coming between.

William McKinley was assassinated by the anarchist Czolgosz in Buffalo in 1901. Between him and Garfield three presidents had served—Arthur, Harrison, and Cleveland—only two-term president whose service was non-consecutive. After McKinley three presidents—Theodore Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson—served their terms before death again took a ruling executive.

By the rule of four it was Warren G. Harding's turn to die in office, and an illness was fatal to him in 1923. Next president will be fourth since Harding—Coolidge, Hoover, Roosevelt.

Marvin Myers of Crowell visited relatives and friends in Monday over the week end.

J. A. Caughnan went to Wichita Falls last Saturday and underwent a tonsillectomy at a Wichita Falls hospital. He returned home last Monday.

Mrs. Lawrence Kimsey left last Monday for Crowell for several days visit.

Earl Sams, tax assessor-collector of Benjamin was a business visitor here Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Harrell visited with relatives in Anson last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Warren returned home last Friday from a week's visit with their son in Lubbock. While away they also visited in Ruidosa, New Mexico.

F. H. Lanham of Midland, a pioneer resident of Knox county, spent several days here last week visiting with old friends. He also visited in Benjamin.

Texas Home Owners Save $12,209,000 Interest Payments During Six Years

Over forty-four thousand Texas home owners with H.O.L.C. loans have saved at least $12,209,000 in interest payments during the last six years, said J. C. Anderson, Jr., state manager of the H.O.L.C., on the occasion of the sixth birthday of the organization, celebrated this month. This amount represents the difference between the interest paid at the H.O.L.C. 5 per. rate and the higher interest being paid when the loans were refinanced. This $12,209,000 has been put into circulation in towns and cities all over the State, said Mr. Anderson, and has had the effect of increased income for these home owners.

Mr. Anderson stated that a remarkable payment record had been established by Texas home owners. In six years, $23,666,376 has been repaid—22.4 per. of the principal of H.O.L.C. loans in Texas. Of the original loans, 2,113 have already been paid in full, though most of them had 15 years to run. At present, 32,352 home owners in Texas have either paid out their loans or else are maintaining their loans in good shape and are well on the road to completely owning their homes.

Mr. Anderson pointed out that all kinds of people have been aided by H.O.L.C.'s refinancing of home loans, laboring men, professional men, mothers with families to support—all of them—people who people who were severely hit by the depression, but who have since gotten on their feet and are gladly repaying their debt to the Home Owner's Loan Corporation. In calling attention to the way the entire State has benefited from ed for the purpose of repairing homes, and that the H.O.L.C. itself had paid $2,056,161 to persons in building trades in its program of reconditioning and improving for sale the houses it has acquired. This, besides providing a vast amount of work, has resulted in greatly improved neighborhood values.

PITIFUL JEWS

Sympathy has been universally felt for 907 Jews, pathetic refugees from Germany, who tried to land at Havana, Cuba, and have found difficulty in locating place where they could stay permanently. They are only one group of a vast army who are thrown out of their native land, and thrust on the mercy of the world.

The United States, with its heavy problems of unemployment, unfortunately cannot take any large proportion of these pitiful people, but it sympathizes with them in their misfortune and suffering from injustice, and will contribute generously to their needs. The world should have plenty of unoccupied land, where they can find refuge and freedom, and a chance to build their own future without fear from tyrants and oppressors. The world is amply large enough to give all suffering people a chance to toil and create their own destiny.

Mann Rules Pension Gates Are Wide Open

All doubt that the new pension liberalization law throws wide open the gates to all pension applicants was removed by Attorney General Gerald Mann last week.

Construing the new law, Mann held that it accomplished exactly what the Legislature intended, in spite of ambiguous wording. Mann held:

1. If children of an old person refuse to help him, he is eligible for pensions.

2. He is eligible if he has cash on hand of $360; but he cannot have a private income of more than $30 per month.

3. He may have personal property of less than $1,500 (in addition to the cash) an insurance policy of $1,000.

4. The value of a resident homestead may not be considered in determining his eligibility.

5. Ownership of other real estate will not necessarily render him ineligible.

The apparent purpose of the exemptions which the new law sets up, Mann said, was to make those eligible for pensions who are in need after discounting the factors set up in the bill—ability of children to support them, personal property, etc.

"In construing an act of the Legislature," the opinion said, "there is enjoined the duty of diligently looking for the intent of the Legislature. A statute must be construed as a whole, and if possible, apparent conflicts reconciled so as to give effect to the entire act."

Need, however, remains the "basic criteria" for granting pensions, the opinion said.

W. R. Moore, Jr., who left a few weeks ago for military training at Camp Bullis, near San Antonio, returned home this week. W.R. was rejected by officials because he reported an attack of hay fever four years ago.

A. L. Smith was a business visitor on Amarillo and Lubbock the first of the week.

Billy Wilson Davy of Dallas is here this week, visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Davy.

J. P. Weaver and daughter, Betty of Leonard, Texas, visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Davy last Sunday night.

Texas Leads All Other States In Money Spent on Wildlife Restoration

Austin.—Texas is ahead of all other States in the amount of money received to date from the Federal government for wildlife restoration purposes, the Game Department was advised today by the American Wildlife Institute.

A total of $53,500, three-fourths of its federal money, will have been spent during the fiscal year ending July 31 for wildlife restoration in Texas under terms of the Pittman-Robertson "Federal Aid to Wildlife" Act passed in 1937. Pennsylvania ranks second with a total of $52,383 available at present for game work. The total cost of Texas' five-year game project now under way will be $300,000, approximately twice as much as will be made available to any other State included in the last American Wildlife Institute report.

The Pittman-Robertson Act earmarked for wildlife a fund of approximately $3,000,000 annually, an amount equal to the Federal excise tax on arms and ammunition. The money is being allotted the various States through their Game Departments, which were invited to submit projects for the approval of the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey and the Secretary of Agriculture.

Texas is one of the first States to submit a project—a long-range statewide wildlife survey, demonstration and management program intended to last five years, its purpose being to determine what makes certain species of wildlife "click," and with this information at hand, to launch game bird and animal restoration programs as soon as possible.

The project won immediate approval of Federal authorities and was started in August 1938, with 13 trained wildlife experts in the field, directed by a supervisor. The Federal government allotted $40,200 for the project, and the Game Department matched it with $13,400, as required by a regulation that each State must match Federal funds in the ratio of 1 to 3 on each project.

The research phase of the Texas program, described as the first ever proposed on a large scale, won national attention and was imitated by several States, notably Missouri and New York. Of 25 States listed as participating in the Pittman-Robertson program June 1, 17 had research programs of some kind under way. The program in Texas is expected to go a long way toward providing the sportsman more game to hunt and more fish to catch, Department heads asserted.

U. S. TOYS NOW RANK FIRST

American industrial genius has given this country's toys first rank in the world's toy shops. In 1921, their factory value was $57,208,000. It is now more than $83,000,000, an increase of nearly one-third.

Wheat is Better Than Expected in Panhandle Area

Although there has been a rumor the past three weeks that Panhandle wheat is away off in production, the short stubby stalks will fool you, says Judge Dave Shanks, who recently made a surveying trip all over this section of the country. It is the heads that count and not the stalk. Judge Shanks declared that many fields totaling many thousands of acres were making the best wheat in their history.

Except for limited areas where the wheat has been badly burned, a harvest of more than fair yield is expected over the entire north plains area, Poter, Carson, Gray, Hutchinson, Hansford, Ochiltree, Lipscomb, Hemphill and Roberts counties have more than the average yield even with the hail which cut the production in Hemphill, Lipscomb and Ochiltree counties Tuesday morning.

Unless the hail gets the crops in and around Perryton, they will harvest the best yield in the history of the county. From Perryton west 18 miles into Hansford county, then north 18 miles into Oklahoma to the Beaver river, thence east to Oklahoma, the yield could not be surpassed and will be a bumper crop.

South of Perryton the crop is yielding about 20 bushels to the acre. Judge Shanks said a drive to Perryton then east, west or north until you are tired of driving would be the most pleasant surprise. In the fence rows and on the highways there will be more wheat harvested than has been where these acres were included in the dust bowl. Where the acres were so badly blown several years ago there are now miles and miles of golden grain. With thousands of acres producing a 40 bushel crop to the acre and those acres insured against hail the Panhandle is not even beginning to be uneasy about this year's crop.—Potter County News.

Whew! Just A Millionth of An Inch Is All Huge McDonald Mirror Errs

Austin, Texas.—From a huge block of pyrex—near-pure glass—has come the "eye" for the world's second largest astronomical telescope, the 82-inch mirror for McDonald Observatory at Mount Locke, Davis Mountains.

On December 31, 1933, began the exacting process that has produced this two and one-half ton reflector which will permit University of Texas-University of Chicago astronomers to see a wider range of the universe than any other telescope has ever made possible.

Cast in the Corning Glass Works furnaces, at Corning, N.Y., the block, with a hole in its center, was then shipped to the Warner and Swasey Company plant in Cleveland, Ohio.

There optical experts ground it with carborundum, starting with grains one-sixteenth inch in diameter. For forty weeks the grain size was progressively reduced to a fine grit of 220 grains to the square inch. Then came two and one-half weeks of emery work.

Finally the disc was "rouged," or polished with chemically pure oxide of iron, or rust.

When the desired curvature was attained, varying less than one-millionth of an inch from absolute perfection, the mirror was blasted with an atomic bombardment of aluminum—which possesses a higher degree of reflecting power than the traditional silver.

Finally, after five years and almost two months in the furnace and the polishing laboratory, the saucer-like disc, 82-inches in diameter, one foot in thickness, was ready for installation in the giant telescope at McDonald Observatory.

One hundred thousand times more powerful than the naked eye, this mirror permits the astronomer to concentrate in one spot an enormous quantity of star-light. So powerful is it that a star 2,400,000,000,000,000 miles from the earth may be photographed by its aid.

McDonald Observatory, jointly operated by the Universities of Texas and Chicago, was dedicated May 4 and 5, in the presence of leading astronomers and other scientists of the world.

In the world's "astronomy league," the observatory bats first in one department, second in another.

Its 82-inch two and one-half ton mirror is second largest in the world. Its range, however, in peering the universe is greater than any instrument now built.

Located farther south than any other observatory in the country, its site adds a section of the sky not hitherto visible, numbering thousands of stars which never come within range of northern plants.

A second factor contributing to its range is the offset mounting of the instrument, a new feature in large plants. The telescope can be leveled almost at the horizon and can span the entire sky except for a circle around the South Pole with a radius of 30 degrees.

In accuracy, too, the McDonald telescope leads the field, its 82-inch mirror having been ground and polished to one-millionth of an inch of perfection.

Only one telescope in the world surpasses the McDonald in size, the 100-inch Hooker instrument at Mt. Wilson Observatory of the Carnegie Institution, near Pasadena, Calif.

Other ranking reflecting instruments are the 74-inch mirror at David Dunlap Observatory, University of Toronto, Canada; the 72-inch at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Victoria, British Columbia; the 69-inch at Perkins Observatory of the Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, and the 61-inch at Harvard Observatory, Oak Ridge, Cambridge, Mass.

Among refracting telescopes, McDonald Observatory's sister plant, Yerkes Observatory of the University of Chicago, at Williams Bay, Wis., is the largest, measuring 40 inches.

Buck Propps of Knox City was a visitor in the city last Monday.

400 Texans On Spain Nobility

Austin, Texas.—Thanks to the diligence of a University of Texas librarian today some four hundred Texans have learned of their official status as members of the Spanish nobility.

In a document discovered here—a certified copy of a royal decree dated 1730 and signed by the Spanish viceroy in Mexico City in the name of King Philip V of Spain—designated the 15 original families of San Antonio and their descendants "forever to be landed noblemen of the kingdom of Castile."

The "discovered" manuscript is part of the Spanish Archives, a rich collection of government papers transferred to the University of Texas library by Bexar County Commissioners in 1899. More than two hundred thousand pages of manuscripts and printed matter are now stored in a fire-proof vault under the library's twenty-seven story tower. They represent an almost unbroken string of first-hand Texas history, when translated by librarians, available for use by students and historians.

Public Safety Dept. Wants to Know When Name Is Changed

Austin.—It being June and all the state driver's license division today took cognizance of romance. The brides were reminded of a provision in the law requiring them to notify the department of public safety of changes of names and addresses so that corrected drivers' licenses may be issued. Such notification should be given the department within ten days of the name-changing.

All in all, the newlyweds have been fairly thoughtful in keeping the division posted on marriage data, Chief Ralph L. Buell said. "We have two rush seasons on changing names—June and October," he said. "And it looks like this June will be up to par." Sad as the news will be to Dan Cupid, the name-changing works both ways. Divorcees also notify the department when the courts restore her maiden name or otherwise make a change in nomenclature.

Applications for corrected licenses need upset no bridal budgets, since the department makes no charge for issuing the new certificates.

FSA Lightens Debt Burden For 148 Farm Folks

Dallas, June 20.—Burdens of excessive debt were lightened for 148 Texas farm families during May by county debt adjustment committees, it was announced today by Guion Gregg, of the Farm Security Administration.

Mr. Gregg said that of the 12 FSA administrative districts in the state a 24-county area in Northwestern Texas, including Knox county, had the greatest adjustment. M. B. Oat's, Wichita Falls, is district FSA supervisor.

Debts are adjusted by county committees which act as mediator between debt-distressed farmers and their creditors in working out agreements for extensions of time and reductions of interest and principal. Most of the families whose debts were adjusted were in danger of losing their land or farming equipment.

"Creditors are not unwilling to grant these concessions," Mr. Gregg said, "when they realize that by so doing they will be ahead in the long run. When an orderly repayment schedule that a farmer can meet has been worked out, the FSA will assist him with its loans and advisory service to farm profitably."

The committee, which is composed of local men, meets regularly. It has no money to lend, but its services are free and confidential. Meeting notices will appear from time to time in the Times.

Salesmen of oil drilling equipment actually struck oil at 540 feet on the grounds of an exposition at Tulsa, Okla., where they were demonstrating.

Texas Legislature Adjourns...

Tenth Attempt To Pass Sales Tax Defeated

The forty-sixth Texas Legislature ended the longest session in Texas history Wednesday when the legislature adjourned its general session sine die.

At 6:45 p. m., Wednesday, Lieut. Gov. Coke Stevenson of Junction capped his gavel and formally declared the senate had adjourned.

Similar action had been taken by the house of representatives when Speaker Emmett Morse of Houston adjourned that body at 6:42 p. m.

Adjournment of the legislature brought to an end the stormy session for the sales tax program to finance liberalized old age pensions. This was S. J. R. No. 12, which had been approved by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel.

Storm center throughout the session, the house of representatives rejected this plan when it refused to suspend rules so that a constitutional amendment levying sales-tax resources taxes, previously rejected for some eight or nine times, could be considered.

The vote was 93 ayes to 56 noes, a two-thirds majority being required for rule suspension. Had the rules been set aside, a two-thirds majority of the house, or 300 votes, would have been necessary for adoption of the amendment.

And Senators and Representatives began wending their ways homeward—and Texas still has no sales tax!

Key To Treasure Chest—

Dallas, Texas.—Lowry Martin, chairman of the Texas Press Treasure Chest Committee which had charge of the placing of copies of practically all Texas newspapers in the crypt in the founders monument dedicated at the 1938 State Fair of Texas, presents President Deakin Wells, President of the Texas Press Association with a gold key which will be used by newspapermen in 1988 in opening the Treasure Chest.

President Wells was custodian of the Key for only two days, as he turned it over to his successor, Walter Buckner of San Marcos, recently elected President of the Association. The key will be turned over each year to each succeeding president until 1988.

The presentation ceremonies took place at the recent convention of the Texas Press Association at Lubbock.

UNITED STATES LEADS IN BATHING FACILITIES

Buffalo, N. Y.—Americans probably do more bathing in the bathtub than any other people in the world.

At least all available statistics point to that fact, for 95 per cent of all bathtubs in the world are in the United States.

Thomas J. Cronin, of Binghamton, N. Y., offered this and other "bathtub strength" statistics at the opening of the New York State Association of Master Plumbers' convention.

"While six out of every ten American homes have bathtubs, in England the ratio is three out of ten, and Germany one and one-half out of ten, and in France one-half out of ten," Cronin reported. "Bathtubs are the exception in Italy."

Pair Who Robbed Oil Mill Given 5-Year Terms

"Tank" Tankersley and C. O. Colston, confessed robbers of the safe at the Munday Oil Mill on January 1, 1939, and convicted of other robberies over the state, were given a 5-year prison sentence for the oil mill burglary in District Court at Benjamin this week.

Trial of the pair came up last Tuesday. Both pleaded guilty, according to reports, and sentence was passed by District Judge I. O. Newton.

The two confessed to taking the money received when they broke into the safe, saying they threw away all other papers, which included several hundred dollars in bonds owned by T. G. Bengt, and several checks and papers belonging to the oil mill.

None of these papers have been recovered, but Mr. Bengt stated Thursday that payment was stopped on all checks.

Tankersley and Colston were brought to Benjamin from the state prison at Huntsville last week by Sheriff Louis Cartwright for trial.

Local Scout Wins Honor At Summer Camp

Other Honors Won By Local Troop At Encampment

Hugh Longino, member of the local Boy Scout troop who attended the summer encampment at Camp Boulder, Okla., last week was awarded membership in the "Order of the Arrow" at the camp last week.

This is an honorary Boy Scout organization, and to be awarded membership in this order is a worthy attainment for a Boy Scout. Hugh was one of the few attending the encampment to receive the honor.

The Munday scouts also won first place in camp cleanliness and camp policing. Munday scouts and others at the camp who were picked by Ted Longino made up the choir for church services Sunday morning.

Local scouts passed merit badge tests in swimming, camping, leathercraft and several others. They returned home last Sunday after spending an enjoyable week at the encampment.

Lions To Have Ladies Night And Barbecue

Picnic in Observance Of Installation Of New Officers

A "roar of approval" gave the Lions Club committee authority Wednesday to proceed with plans for the annual observance of installation of new officers in the Munday club.

The event will be in the form of a picnic and chicken barbecue at the site which the City of Munday has purchased for a city park. It will be held on Wednesday night of next week, and will be "ladies night" for the local club.

No special program is being planned, but Lions and their ladies will gather for a picnic and a general good time. New officers of the club will take charge at the first regular meeting in July.

Plans for Wednesday night's picnic are in charge of a committee composed of Aaron Edgar, A. H. Mitchell and Paul Pendleton.
